TIGHT SQUEEZE: "My husband (a veteran), our two children and myself live in one room because we cannot find any better accommodation. We have tried everywhere to find a house, an apartment or even two rooms. The way we live is not decent. Can I force the housing administration to hear my case?"

You can write or go to see Air Vice-Marshal G. E. Brookes, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, 371 Bay Street, Toronto, ADelaide 5484, and ask for directive. It is discouraging, but keep trying. Sometime, somewhere, something will break.

CHOCOLATE BITES: "How are the bread-chocolate fingers made? Should they be baked?"

No baking for these toothsome small bites. Cut the crusted bread in finger lengths; ¼ inch thick. Roll first in melted chocolate bars, then in grated coconut. Let stand for an hour, then eat. You will forget all about your figure as you reach for more.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA
can put ugly, tired lines on your face!

So many young girls watch the fresh color and beauty fade from their faces—wonder why tired, unflattering lines appear. They should know that such effects can come from a blood condition. If you have them, you may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Your red blood cells may be shrunken and faded—too weak to transmit full energy to your body. Many people—women, men and children—go dragging through life with this tiring Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

So, if your healthy good looks and "pep" are waning—and this common blood condition's to blame, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size. Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may be due to other conditions so consult your doctor regularly. But in a Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Take them to start your energy shifting back into "high"—to help restore your color. Take them so you can enjoy life again!

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

After a fairly lengthy absence, Cobourg is returning to the baseball wars with an OBA intermediate "A" entry in the Lakeshore League—same setup as the Petes are in this year. They'll play in the McClelland Memorial Park, once known as the old Horse Show Park, the diamond being laid out in the same spot but with new bleachers and other improvements added. A fine place overlooking Lake Ontario. It will be ready for use by May 24. The Cobourg crew are called the Legionnaires this semester and will be managed by Ed Campbell. He will build his team around a strong battery, including pitchers Bateman and Smith along with catcher Zealand. Their loss will be felt by Port Hope.

As a spring sun starts warming up stiff soup-bones, it's nice to think of the diamond sport once more. Baseball, the national game in the States, has a pretty hefty following in Canada. It's a comfortable game to view on a warm afternoon in a neat outdoor summer setting. It is not a speedy, rugged game like hockey, lacrosse or rugby—no, it is a game stressing science and skill. And it's pace is not too fast to prohibit folks from appreciating the science and trickery which is part and parcel of almost every play. Many fans, in fact, try to predict what the pitcher will try to do in a certain case, or what the batter will attempt, or on which pitch the runner is going to make his break. That sort of thing. It's a smart game.

What's What In Ball

Not long ago we received a copy of Billy Evans' handy booklet: "What's What in Baseball". This former major league umpire and manager claims the booklet is an authority to settle all diamond disputes. It streamlines the many baseball rules so that anyone can understand them. More than 40 chapters appear in the invaluable edition, indicating how important rules are in this scientific sport. When we get time and space—particularly the latter — we'll deal with simple explanations of some of the more important and tricky rulings cropping up frequently to cause arguments, and maybe fan confusion, in ball games. Nor do enough players thoroughly understand all baseball regulations.

Annual re-organization meeting of the City Baseball League will be held at seven tonight in the YMCA. Everyone interested is invited, including service club delegates, the service clubs being a big help to the minors in this sport the past several summers. Election of officers will be held at this time, so all prospective clubs and former officials should be on deck to start the re-organization plans rolling. This league takes care of a flock of teams from peewees up to junior, and is doing a valuable work for the city's youth and for baseball as well.

School Softball Set

Public School Softball League schedules have been drawn up and they open next week. This year the senior section takes in boys 14 and over, while the juniors refer to 13 and under in order to give more boys a chance to compete. At the end of the schedules, teams in first and third spots playoff in semi-finals while those in second and fourth clash in the other bracket, the victors of these two series then meeting for the league championship and trophies. A cup is given in each section to the team displaying the greatest sportsmanship as the teacher-coaches emphasize this important phase of sports. Juniors get away with four tilts next Tuesday while the seniors start with two frays the following day. Those interested should clip these schedules.

Eight members of the local Lacrosse Club travel to Toronto this week-end for the annual OLA convention. They are Clyde Cameron, Red Creighton, Vert Reynolds, Walt Murphy, Bob Peirson, Pete King, Ken Kingston and Mick Magee. Or a substitute or two if any can't make it. They're entering four OLA clubs, so are entitled to eight votes. There'll be the senior "B" entry, of course, but also juvenile, midget and bantam winners go into provincial playdowns this year. A 12-team minor circuit is being set up with a full-time coach in charge. At the annual meeting, Pete King has been nominated for an executive office, and we feel that Peterborough should be represented on the Ontario body, and that Pete King is the logical local choice.

Church Association

Protestant Church Athletic Association has been formed here among Sunday Schools to promote hockey, badminton and softball. It will work in conjunction with the Boys' Work Board and is expected to get more aid from the church and Sunday School to buy necessary equipment, with a drive for funds to start shortly. A meeting will be held April 19 to take entries for the softball league and plan for the summer season. Officers of the new association are: President, Art Reynolds; first vice-prexy, Fred Agnew; second, Gerald Power; secretary, F. Patterson; and treasurer, Alf Townsend. This seems like a sound idea, putting all church sports under one control organization instead of separate executives for each one.

Windsor Beats Ottawa

OTTAWA, April 14 — (CP). — Windsor Alumni, sporting a 21-point lead, meets Ottawa University tonight in the deciding game of a total-point semi-final series in the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association's senior playoffs. Windsor walloped the Collegians, 53-32, in the series opener here last night. Recovering from a poor start, the visitors applied pressure in the second half and tallied two points for every one by Ottawa.

Rink Squabble Ends

PORT ARTHUR, April 14 — (CP). — Squabble over the venue of remaining games in the Western Canada jjunior hockey final to-day appeared over with Ed Bruchet's annonucement that his Lethbridge club would continue to play on Port Arthur ice if the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association so ordered. His statement last night followed earlier reports quoting him as threatening to pull his Native Sons out of the running if Port Arthur West-end Bruins received more home games than Lethbridge.

The French Angel At Brock Tonight

Peterborough wrestling fans will have a look at the French Angel when he lumbers into the Brock Arena ring tonight to trade bear-hugs and headlocks and assorted holds with the Palermo Panther, John Katan. Fans who have nervous dispositions or weak eyes are advised to bring along their dark-glasses for the ugliest-looking wrestler in the world may be quite a shock at close range.

The Angel

The Angle is a horrible sight to look at but he has the wrestling equipment in his 290 pounds to give even tough John Katan a rough evening.

Handsome young Jack Page comes in from Brooklyn to try and expose the Masked Marvel in the semi-final match. Page is smart and hopes to celebrate his debut here by un-masking the Marvel.

Charley Harbin of Georgia meets Fred Wright the blond Chicagoan to start off the big evening.

Fans will likely be on hand early for good seats.

Boxers Enforce Safety Rules

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP). — Spurred into action by two ring deaths in the United States within a week early this year, boxing commissions throughout the country are applying new safety measures to the sport.

Seven states where boxing thrives — California, Illinois, Washington, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Pennslyvania and New York — recently have taken steps to protect fighters. Others have changes under consideration.

The tighter regulations call for heavier gloves, stricter examinations and suspension of fighters who hit the deck too regularly. A popular change is the rule requiring an eight-count after each knockdown regardless of how eager the victim is to resume the fray.

The safety measures began mushrooming after the death in Chicago of Sam Baroudi following a bout with Ezzard Charles Feb. 20 and the fatality a week later of Leroy De Catur in Hollywood, Calif.

Clarence Campbell, president the National Hockey League, l appear before a contract mmittee of the Canadian Ama- r Hockey Association to dis- s his proposals concerning ior hockey contracts, President Pickard of the CAHA said in gina yesterday.

Pickard said he had no comnt to make on Campbell's proals that senior amateur leagues opt professional contracts while maintaining their amateur status.

Campbell had asked to present his case to the CAHA, and was invited to appear before a committee that had been established at a CAHA meeting in January to consider the question of contracts for amateur players, Pickard said.

The committee would meet in Toronto April 22, prior to the annual meeting.

Norman Yardley, captain of England's cricket team, is taking his wife to Yorkshire so that his unborn child if a boy, can play cricket for that county. Other counties allow cricketers to qualify by residence, but Yorkshire insists of birth qualifications. The Yardleys, who customarily live in London, expect a baby in July. Their first child, born in Yorkshire last May is a girl.

Art Towne, New York, welterweight boxer, was suspended by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today pending a hearing on charges he failed to put forth his best efforts in a bout at Scranton, Pa., Monday night. His purse was held up by the commission.

An aggressive team of amateur boxers from five European countries last night fought a team of United States boxers to a standstill in scoring a 4-4 draw before more than 20,000 spectators at Chicago. The Europeans came from France, Italy, Ireland, Belgium and Czechoslovakia.

Bob Solinger, Cleveland Barons' red hot choice for American Hockey League rookie-of-the-year honors, squelched reports that he would advance to the National League by signing a new contract with Cleveland yesterday. Several National League clubs were rumored ready to bid up to $50,000 for the sensational Cleveland left winger.

Solinger, 22, capped a brilliant season by scoring 13 points as the Barons swept through eight of their nine playoff starts. Salary terms were not disclosed.

Badminton Club Playoffs Approach Finals

Ed Johnston and Bud LaBranche reached the finals in the Peterborough Badminton Club playoffs when Ed ousted Willard Elmsley in one bracket of the semi-finals after three hard-fought games. LaBranche previously had won in three from Ralph Charlton. These survivors meet for the club title on Saturday.

Marg Baker and Audrey O'Donoghue are awaiting opponents in the ladies doubles, while Ed Johnston and Ralph Charlton will be opposing Vince O'Donoghue and Bob Baker in men's doubles finals. The mixed doubles finalists nor ladies' singles haven't been declared yet. All finals, including the junior, will be run off Saturday night in the Market Hall.

Martell Turns Professional

EDMONTON, April 14 (CP)— Alberta's "Mr. Golf" delivers himself over to the game of his heart to-morrow. Constable Henry Martell is leaving Edmonton's police force to take over as professional at the provincial capital's Highlands Golf Club.

For almost 12 years Martell has reigned supreme over Alberta amateur golf, and the development renders the provincial title as wide open as the Prairies.

Meanwhile Henry has shifted his sights to higher targets. Canadian amateur champion in 1946, he hopes to swing at the Canadian open title next September 22-25 at Vancouver.

At 35, Martell has come a long way from the 14-year-old who improved a course in Edmonton's old Hudson's Bay Reserve, digging the holes and cutting the grass covering their approaches. He remains a firm believer in getting an early start at the game.

"Golf is a game at which you have got to spend a lot of time to learn it well. You don't hit the ball often enough in a game to get much out of it. It is one of the hardest to play well and needs much time and patience—there are so many shots to master."

Lorne Chabot Clinches Goalie Spot With Bruins

PORT ARTHUR, April 14. — (CP) — Nineteen-year-old Lorne Chabot, possessor of a famous name, seems to have clinched the goal-tending spot with Port Arthur Bruins after alternating through the season with another netman.

Coach Ed Lauzon said Tuesday night that Chabot, whose late father once was one of the most illustrious goalies in the National Hockey League, would be the Bruins No. 1 man for the remainder of the team's Western Canada junior final with Lethbridge Native Sons.

Chabot, after taking turns through the regular schedule and early playoffs with Gerry Zeger, has been in action for the last five games played by Bruins. He has played in the three games of the best-of-seven series played so far with Native Sons, and he was in the nets for the last two games of the series in which Bruins whipped Winnipeg Monarchs.

"Lorne turned in a top-notch performance last night when we beat Lethbridge, 7-4, and I can't see any reason to replace him now," said Coach Lauzon.

Ida Lupino Ready To Sign

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 — (AP). — "Hello, this is Ralph Edwards; you have just won $25,000 worth of prizes!"

If the receive such a telephone call, you can charge it up to some prankster with a warped sense of humor. The latest fad among telephone humorists is the impersonation of Edwards and other masters of give-away quiz programs.

NBC says it receives many inquiries about such bogus calls and advises listeners to dicount the joketers.

Abortive Attempt

Ida Lupino is talking a contract deal with 20th-Fox and she appears willing to sign. About her abortive attempt to be a producer-star: "Never again! I passed up four pictures while I was working myself practically to death on a film that was never made."

The political battle of the stars is about to begin. Eric Johnston reports that both major parties are planning campaign films starring movie players. He'll do nothing to stop them . .

None Too Well

Joan Fontaine is feeling none too well on the "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands" set. What do you wanna bet she won't do the proposed comedy before the baby? The first scene in the picture has her standing on her head. . .

Gabby Hayes reckons as how he'll slow down to two westerns a year. "It gets tougher each year for me to do the stunts and hard riding," he said on "The Wrangler" set. He'll sun in Palm Springs and fish in British Columbia. With 170 westerns to his credit, 62-year-old Gabby can afford to slow down. . .

Leafs, Wings Prepared For Crucial Tilt

DETROIT, April 14 — (CP). — Honed to a razor keenness by brisk workouts, Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings prepared to take the ice tonight for what may be the final game of the world's hockey championship.

Needing only one victory to take their second Stanley Cup in as many years, Leafs gave no sign of the terrific pressure which has been building up for the crucial game as they skated through a half-hour practice.

President Conn Smythe of the Leafs said after the practice that Leafs would stick to the same 16 players who were dressed for the last two games.

Detroit, facing elimination and the losers' share of the lucrative pool, concentrated on shooting practice and skating under Coach Tommy Ivan. He had 20 players in uniform and sent most of the regulars to the showers after half an hour's workout. The reserves were kept out a full hour.

Detroit will have its hard-hitting defenceman, Jack Stewart, back in the lineup for the fourth game of the best-of-seven series. He missed the Sunday game when a knee injury suffered in the second game at Toronto stiffened up.

In Good Shape

After the rest of his team mates left the ice he tested the knee in a light skating drill and appeared in good shape. One starter who appeared certain for Detroit is Lee Fogolin, husky rookie defenceman from Fort William. The 22-year-old bruiser gave a dynamic exhibition in his first major league hockey game Sunday night.

Probable starting lineups:

Toronto—Goal, Broda; defence, Thomson and Stanowski; centre, Apps; wings, Watson and Ezinicki.

Detroit—Goal, Lumley; defence, Quackenbush and Stewart; centre, Abel. wings, Howe and Lindsay.

ERP Aids Canada To Avoid Many Problems

By The Canadian Press

A year which so far has been crowded wtih busineess interest, finally finds matters developing a more definite trend or at least being brought into open discussion for decision.

The coming into effect of the European recovery program, for one thing, has avoided a number of problems which otherwise would be shaking the world economy.

From the Canadian point of view, for instance, the fact that there is at the moment no arrangement for financing food contracts wtih Britain is being taken with calm; whereas it would be a prime question if there were not confidence that it would be worked out in co-operation with ERP.

To review the situation briefly: Canada less than two years ago provided a loan to Britain of $1,250,000,000 with the idea that it would be drawn on over a period of about five years. However, close to $1,000,000,000 had been used up by the end of 1947, and Canada set limits on the rate of withdrawal. It was agreed that $15,000,000 a month could be drawn for the first three months of this year and this was extended to mid-April. This agreement had not been replaced or renewed.

Canada's operations under ERP are still a matter of discussion. It is recognized that she still will have to extend credits but it is taken that these will be worked out on a basis of realities—including Britain's need for food and Canada's scarcity of U.S. dollars.

HIS HAT SHOP destroyed in an explosion on Ben Yehuda street, Jerusalem, this hat merchant goes back into business. He set up a hat case on the site of his wrecked shop and a sign on the case tells customers where the shop's temporary quarters are situated. In the background is the wreckage of the Atlantic Hotel, which was also destroyed in the blast.

News Coverage Outlined For CP Members

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP).—Unremitting attention to the quality and adequacy of the nation's news coverage was urged on Canadian newspapers today by F. I. Ker, president of the Canadian Press, at CP's annual meeting.

After reviewing CP's history since its founding in 1917, Mr. Ker, publisher of the Hamilton Spectator, told the attending publishers and editors of the financial condition of the organization and of plans for its new head office building in Toronto to be completed in August.

Gillis Purcell, general manager, presented a plan for a newspicture service in which the co-operative principle, applied successfully to news for 31 years, would be used. If approved, the plan would be put into effect Sept. 1.

Mr. Purcell said emphasis in the last year was on simplicity and clarity in writing, more studied situational stories and better sports and financial copy. The record showed considerable progress.

Five transfers of membership were reported to the meeting. They were: Halifax Chronicle, from A. G. Sampson to S. Leonard Tilley; Ottawa Le Droit, from H. E. Lemieux to J. A. Gratton; Kirkland Lake Northern News, from George R. Jackson to Kenneth R. Thomson; Edmonton Bulletin, from Chas. E. Campbell to H. L. Straight; Vancouver Province, from O. Leigh-Spencer to P. C. Galbraith.

WOMAN CONDUCTS SYMPHONY—Mrs. H. B. Bowen, president, and Ethel Stark, conductor of the Montreal Women's Symphony Orchestra, were welcomed in Toronto by Toronto's own Patsy Parr, 10-year-old concert pianist. Patsy is shown presenting Miss Stark, right, with a bouquet of roses while Mrs. Bowen smiles approval. The Montreal Women's Symphony Orchestra, only all-woman symphony orchestra conducted by a woman on this continent, was founded by H. B. Bowen, in 1940, and made its debut in the Ontario capital Monday evening.

Canadian Press Subject Of Book

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—Growth of an idea to a national enterprise is traced in a history of The Canadian Press to be published this fall.

Announcement that a book covering the national news co-operative's birth and development has been written by M. E. Nichols, former president and for many years a director of CP, was made at the annual meeting today by F. I. Ker, president for the last two years.

Actual date of publication has not yet been fixed, nor has a name been chosen. Mr. Nichols, former publisher of the Winnipeg Tribune and the Vancouver Province, has been at work for a year, sorting and correlating records. These stretch back to early years of the century when groups of papers joined for news-gathering purposes in western, central and eastern Canada, later to extend their co-operation across the Dominion.

DIDN'T BENEFIT ANIMALS

The idea of early game reserves was to have a park or reserve for animals where no one could hunt except the owner, or in some cases the king, assuring him of a plentiful supply of game.

Jailed For 2 Years

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—Harry Hancox, 19, of Cornwall, was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary for theft of an automobile when he appeared before Magistrate J. B. Garvin here yesterday. Police claim Hancox and two companions, Edward Lloyd and Robert Billings, tossed coins to decide who would plead guilty when they were placed in the cells. The charge against Lloyd and Billings was dismissed.

Will Appeal Fine

TORONTO, April 14.—(CP).—The Canadian Pacific Railway will appeal the $10 fine imposed Monday for blocking a street crossing for more than five minutes, an official said yesterday. The fine arose out of a complaint by lawyer Robert G. Parker who said his automobile was held up 20 minutes at the crossing.

Britons Look Forward To Bright Spring Season

By STUART UNDERHILL

LONDON, April 14.—(CP). — Londoners take all their seasons seriously, but they welcome none more eagerly than spring, which comes capriciously, but with a certain promise of greenery and outings.

This year it was in a hurry to arrive. Bland, sunny days miraculously appeared in February and March, luring office workers away from their desks to stroll along the Thames embankment or to throng the grassy parks.

Just as everyone expected, the mild spells were followed by dreary days of showers and chill winds, with rain clouds racing low over the grey buildings. But nobody minded much. So few of the expected discomforts materialized during the winter that it seemed improper to grumble.

Grimly Ahead

London this spring looks much like it did last spring. Buildings are still shabby and neglected though here and there a few bright paint patches stand out. Reconstruction work goes grimly ahead, although a walk around almost any corner will bring you on piles of wartime rubble.

But people are feeling better than they did last year, when the long, cruel winter which forced the factories to close almost broke their spirits. Worries are just as intense — perhaps more so — but the last winter hasn't sapped their energy as much and they seem to face their difficulties more cheerfully.

Glow With Oranges

Helping to bolster the feeling of well-being was the continued appearance in the stores of many things that have been in short supply. Ever since the new year, for example, vegetable store windows have glowed with supplies of oranges, hitherto doled out grudingly, and they are expected to be plentiful until the end of April.

For the first time in years gin and rum can be obtained easily at wine stores, though no one knows how long this situation will last. Even precious eggs are appearing more ferquently on the ration.

How jet propulsion creates employment for Canadians

The principle of the gas turbine has long been known but its most recent application to the jet engine is one of the sensational developments of our time. One of the main problems in these engines is to get metals to stand up under the intense heat and stresses involved.

Development work on the gas turbine is now world-wide. Much progress in design and development has already been carried out in Canada.

To stand up under the terrific stresses at high temperatures, the important parts of turbines, blowers and combustion chambers in the gas turbine are being made of Inconel, Stainless Steel and other Nickel alloys. Without such heat-resisting metals, these new type engines would not be possible.

The International Nickel Company is co-operating to the fullest extent with the technicians who are developing these new engines, and placing all their technical knowledge regarding Nickel alloys at their disposal.

When these new engines are brought into volume production thousands of Canadians will be employed in making this entirely new source of motive power available to industry and transportation. This and numerous other present-day developments will provide new markets for Canadian Nickel, and so provide jobs for the thousands of men employed in the Canadian Nickel industry. Thus does research develop better products, create more employment.

"The Romance of Nickel" a 60-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

BOGOTA MOBS GO BERSERK—Smoking and burning overturned street cars in Bogota, Colombia, testify to the violence of the mob which took over the city within two hours after the death of Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, liberal party leader. In photo an infuriated crowd overturned trams across the street from the Granada hotel, also sacking and setting fire to the government building at right, during the insurrection which resulted in deaths of 400 people and as yet unestimated property damage. U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall blamed "international Communism" for the uprising.

Indian Facing Murder Charge

KAMLOOPS, BC, April 14 — (CP).—A charge of murder has been laid against Mike Duncan Antoine, 37-year-old Tappen Indian, the culmination of six months of police inquiry into the jack-knife slaying of Daniel Elkins, 24, of Williams Lake, BC.

Elkins died three hours after he was found bleeding from stab wounds in the throat, in a hop-harvesters' camp near here last Sept. 28.

Believed the only eye-witness, a deaf-and-dumb Indian woman was unable to describe the slayer.

Antoine was arrested on the murder charge after months of investigation and questioning of the 375 Indians who were in the camp on the night of the slaying.

Accused was arraigned before Stipendiary Magistrate D. W. Rowlands yesterday and preliminary hearing was postponed until April 21.

Bethany Friends Honor Banker

BETHANY, April 14—(ENS) More than 200 friends and well-wishers gathered in the town hall on Friday evening to wish Harold A. Padgham and family farewell. Mr. Padgham has been manager of the local branch of the Bank for Toronto for the past 14 years, and he is now being transferred to Oil Springs in the Sarnia district.

"During those years you have made many friends through business associations, church and community projects," said the Rev. T. S. Gault, chairman for the evening who read a farewell address to Mr. Padgham accompanied by his wife and two children, Nancy and John.

He praised Mr. Padgham as a "faithful treasurer of St. Paul's church for over ten years," and an active past president of the Manvers branch, Canadian Red Cross Society.

Mrs. Padgham was described as active in the Ladies' Guild and in tre War Bridge Club.

On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Padgham celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary.

Roy Jarvis presented them with a purse of money as a token of the good wishes of their many Bethany friends.

Reeve Ernest Cavano expressed his personal regret and that of the council that the family was leaving the community.

Ross Carr directed some "old time square dancing," and music was supplied by Miss Evelyn Mantle, David Masters and Mrs. Ross Carr.

Report Vote 11-6 Against 60 Cycles

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — A Toronto paper said yesterday it has learned that municipal hydro engineers disapproved by a vote of 11 to six the proposal to end flickering lights in Central and Southwestern Ontario by changing the power frequency to 60 from 25 cycles.

Previously, it was reported that three persons on a special committee of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association had voted against a report condemning the $191,000,000 project as economically unsound. They were J. Clark Keith of Windsor, Art Bromley of Kitchener and J. A. Williamson of Niagara Falls. Yesterday, H. J. McTavish, assistant general manager of the Toronto Hydro Commission, said that he had voted against the clause in the report condemning conversion.

The special report is to be considered by the OMEA May 12.

Superintendent Quits Hospital Position

SEAFORTH, April 13 — (CP) —Miss M. Denning, superintendent of Scott Memorial Hospital here for the last two years, has tendered her resignation, effective at the end of this week. Miss Denning said to-day that she had no immediate post to go to, but expected to spend some time at her home in Strathroy before taking a new position.

The resignation of Miss Denning followed the appointment of L. Delafranier as hospital business manager. Seven other nurses also tendered their resignation, following what Hospital Board Chairman James Scott termed "a lot of unfounded rumors" as a result of the appointment of the business manager.

However, Mr. Scott said, other nurses have withdrawn their resignations following discussion with members of the hospital board.

Whitby Man Jailed, Fined Sold Fake Lottery Tickets

WHITBY, April 14 — Convicted of selling tickets on a lottery "that did not even exist," Clarence Bernard Wood, 40, a Whitby man, was today sentenced to two months in jail and given the option of paying a $500 fine or serving an additional two months. In passing sentence Magistrate F. S. Ebbs stated that "thousands have been pilfered from working people in this district who were under the illusion that they had a chance of winning a big prize."

Wood had pleaded guilty last week and been remanded today for sentence. Inspector W. G. Tomlinson of the provincial police anti-gambling squad had termed the accused man's operations "the largest discovered in Ontario."

Money orders totalling $10,000 were introduced as evidence of his transactions with a Montreal lottery ring but, according to the accused man, some one usually picked the money up.

"Apparently some monies were distributed each month as bait but they were a very small portion of the thousands sent to the principals in Montreal. This has been going on over a year under the assumption that people are gullible—which they are," the magistrate commented.

Provincial officers testified last week that books of lottery tickets and a sheet purporting to show names of previous draw winners in the "gold bond" lottery were found on Wood's premises.

AIDS MOTORISTS—The self-described vehicle above spends the summer cruising Ontario's major highways, removing the metal flotsam that often plays hob with motor car tires. Consisting of two electro-magnets, powered by a motor in the body of the truck, the swinging beams at the rear pick up everything from nails to scythe blades. Driver's biggest problem is stopping to answer questions of curious U.S. tourists.

Forbid Co-Operatives Of Financing Political Party

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — Co-operatives are forbidden from making any contributions to a political party under an amendment to the companies' act given first reading in the Ontario Legislature yesterday.

The amendment, introduced by provincial secretary Michener, makes it an offence for a co-operative to contribute either money or in any other way to a political organization. Conviction under the section could result in a fine of up to $500 or a maximum of three months in jail for each director and officer of the co-operative. Mr. Michener said the change has the approval of the Ontario Co-operative Union.

Another change in the act governing co-operatives provides for a simplified system of voting.

It involves mainly large co-operatives with thousands of members for the purpose of voting, the members may be divided into districts. Each district is then permitted to send a delegate to the annual meeting of the co-operative. The delegates will have full voting power for the members in the district he represents.

The set up of co-operatives gives each member one vote regardless of the number of shares he holds. However, the dividends he receives depend on the amount of business the shareholder does through the co-operative.

In order to keep all members in the co-op from lagging in business there is another section. It provides that if a shareholder is found to have done no business throughout the year, the co-op has the power to buy up his shares. This provision can apply to cases where estates hold shares in a co-op.

Quash Conviction Over Furniture

TORONTO, April 14—(CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court yesterday allowed the appeal of Mrs. Agnes Johnson, 28, against conviction of theft of furniture on a charge laid by her husband.

Trial Judge Coleman had ordered the woman to serve a record minimum of two minutes in custody and observed at the time that although he found there had been technically a breech of law, "if this case goes to the Court of Appeal I hope the Court of Appeal finds me wrong."

Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson, announcing the decision of the higher court, said "we all feel that the action of the husand in getting out a warrant and getting his wife out of bed in the middle of the night is an abuse of the process of the court and we will not concur in it.

"The conviction is quashed."

CSU Asks Action On Violations

TORONTO, April 14 — (CP). — The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) demanded in a telegram to Labor Minister Mitchell yesterday that legal action be taken against Canada Steamship Lines and Colonial and Sarnia Steamship Companies "for continued violation" of the law.

The message sent by T. G. McManus, secretary-treasurer of the union, accused the companies of hiring unlicensed men not obtained through the office of the union and through the medium of the seamen's section of the national employment service.

'We urge national employment service to check every man aboard these companies' vessels and to remove those who have not been cleared by the selective service and the C.S.U.", the wire said.

In a telegram sent at the same time to Justice Minister Ilsley, Mr. McManus reminded the government that the National Relations Board has ordered that the 1946 agreement accepted by the men and the shippers prohibits indiscriminate hiring of personnel.

MOTHER NATURE PRODUCES SNOWBALLS — The rolling plains produce a lot more than hard wheat and good hockey teams. This field of natural snowballs, the product of Mother Nature, was photographed by Clifford R. Sparrow, a farmer, near Moose Jaw, Sask., when he awoke one morning to find his field full of the things you hear about but seldom see. The snowballs averaged about twice the size of a man's fist. Apparently the snow has to be at a very particular stage of softness and the wind at an extremely high velocity to produce the phenomenon, and conditions must have been ideal at Sparrow's farm, for he seems to have hit the jackpot.

Rutin, Extracted From Buckwheat May Aid Victims Of Atom Bomb

By LAWRENCE N. ELDRED.

CHICAGO, April 14 — (AP) — Another farm crop coming to the rescue of afflicted humankind is the good old pancake standby — buckwheat.

From this plant comes a chemical substance called rutin which, in its few months of public use, has proved beneficial for several types of internal bleeding. It does this by strengthening the walls of tiny blood vessels called capillaries.

To meet national needs for rutin, manufacturers of the medicine estimate at least an additional 50,000 acres of buckwheat will be required. The entire plant around blossom time is used for extraction of its rutin. Thus grain from this acreage would not be available for flour manufacture or for livestock feeding.

Total acreage last year was 518,000, the highest since 1930, but much of it was as a "catch" crop where corn, oats or soybeans had been rained out in the long, wet spring. Production of 7,334,000 bushels of buckwheat, therefore, was but little higher than from the much smaller 391,000 acres harvested the year before and average 415,000 acres from 1936 through 1945.

No test was made of farmers' intentions for buckwheat, such as was made by the Department of Agriculture for some other crops on March 1.

However, addition of 50,000 acres this year would run the total up to a likely comparison with many years ago when buckwheat pancakes were in vastly greater demand by a more outdoor-living citizenry.

Reports of rutin's value have appeared in various medical and scientific publications.

It has been used to prevent bleeding in the brain and in the retina of the eye when associated with an increased fragility of the capillaries. This condition has been reported to occur in about 20 per cent of cases of hypertension (high blood pressure).

Tests Continuing

Some specialized cases of bleeding from the lungs and the gastro-intestinal (digestive) tract also having been stopped with rutin, and further tests in other diseases are continuing.

An official of Abbott Laboratories, pharmaceutical manufacturers, said the action of rutin—chemically a flavanol glucoside—in the body is to strengthen the walls of blood capillaries if they have become weaker than normal. Its action is known to be different from, but may complement that of vitamin K injection, which increases the clotting factor in blood.

New research has advanced the further possibility of rutin therapy to control general internal bleeding resulting from excessive irradiation, such as sometimes occurs in deep X-ray treatments and in exposure to gamma rays in atomic bomb explosions.

Much more experimental work in this field needs doing, however, the officials said. If rutin proves valuable for this purpose methods of stockpiling it will have to be devised for emergencies.

It is not considered an immediate and outright cure for ailments in which it is effective, but must be continued for some months. Some doctors administer it with dosages of vitamin C on the theory a deficiency in this vitamin may sometimes account for the occurrence of bleeding, and the two substances will work together. Doctors have found that when a patient under rutin therapy must be given sulfa drugs too, the rutin dosage must be heavily increased, since the sulfas appear to inhibit the normal action of rutin.

Claim Cleveland Show Sound Tourist Investment

Ald. P. J. Anglesey, chairman of the industrial committee of the council, delivered last week to Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland a Peterborough ham, product of Canada Packers and gift of G. S. Matthews. "I got it over there all right," Ald. Anglesey told the Examiner yesterday, "took it to the Mayor's office and told him it was small token of appreciation of the ties between Peterborough and Cleveland people, strengthened every summer during the holiday season. It was a real surprise for Mayor Burke, and in the same sentiment of goodwill he presented me with a key of his city. I was also invited to a meeting of their council of 33 members, and duly attended."

"This was my first experience at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show, and I think it is well worth while. Ald. Dick Raine was with me four days. I heard nothing but good words spoken of both Peterborough and this district, and from hundreds of people. They'd come up to our booth and generally say something like this: "Peterborough, eh! I go up there every year. I know it so well it seems almost like home." The pleasant thing about these conversations with people was their welcoming spirit and the warmth of their greeting. Promotion of goodwill across the border strikes me as

Bingo Produces $565.56 For New Arena

Cooperation of the Lions Club in staging a mammoth bingo Tuesday night for the Civic Arena campaign brought $565.56 to the fund. This was the statement released by Allan Cameron of the Lions Club, who is also treasurer for the Arena Fund.

More than 1400 people jammed the Brock St. Summer Gardens 500 above the average crowd for these entertainments. There was $500 worth of prizes distributed during the evening. The Lions staffed the venture and provided the equipment giving everything without charge.

Stanley McBride, chairman of the publicity committee reported today that employees in many of the large city industries have asked for payroll deduction in filling out their pledge cards, and the committee is still hoping heads of industry will grant that concession. Pledge cards have now been distributed in most of the plants, and returns will start coming in early next week.

At present donations total $1800, with 103 individuals and firms having donated.

Sam. Whitehouse, general manager of Canadian Sealright Co., announced to arena campaign officials this morning that he would make a personal donation, that the company would make a donation, and that payroll deductions would be permitted in the factory.

"I am 100 per cent in favor of this project," Mr. Whitehouse said.

This morning the Beaver Lumber Company, and the C. W. Wood Lumber Company announced that payroll deductions would be permitted for all employees wishing to support the drive.

Chamber Plans To Hire Assistant Sec'y

Wilson M. Gemmell was elected president of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the newly-elected Board of Directors on Tuesday night. The complete executive for 1948 which went into office by acclamation, included Mr. Gemmell, president; J. E. Girven, vice-president; Blake Bell, treasurer; and James Dorris, secretary.

These officers were elected from among the fifteen executives who were voted in on April 8.

Much discussion was heard on the advisability and composition of a proposed National Affairs committee. Some directors felt that in the past the Chamber had not shown sufficient interest in this committee. Frederick Overend, J. E. Weir, and T. J. Carley, K.C., were appointed to form the nucleus of a committee on national affairs with power to add both members and non-members.

Max J. Swanston, alderman, said the Chamber of Commerce had a big job in civic affairs as it can help to bring public opinion to bear on some particular subject under discussion. It was then decided that a Civic Affairs committee consisting of Clarence B. Neal, chairman, Ed Riley, and E. C. Braund should be set up to study local problems.

The Chamber asked that two directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce be invited to sit in with them at future directors' meetings.

Plans for the future were discussed at length, particularly with a view to extending the work. It is considered likely that a full-time assistant will be employed to relieve the secretary of some of his present work as well as increasing the scope of present Chamber of Commerce activities.

Beginning in May the meeting date will be the second Tuesday in the month, for every month but August.

Several members expressed the hope that there would be a large increase in membership during the year.

Lakefield Woman Stricken On Street

Mrs. Hartley Minifie, 58 of Lakefield, was shopping with her six-year-old grandchild Tuesday afternoon in a George St. store when she was stricken with an ailment and upon advise of Dr. S. Y. Walsh was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital, where she died upon admission.

She was born in England Jessie Mabel, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sears. She leaves besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. R. Manley (Beryl) of Otonabee, and two sons, William G. of Port Hope and Harold H. at home.

The body lies at the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield, from where the service will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. The Rev. George Kelly of Lakefield United church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. George Murray of Keene United church. Burial will be at Keene cemetery.

MARKS 60TH ANNIVERSARY — Capt. William Miller and Mrs. Miller, Toronto, marked their 60th wedding anniversary last Friday at a family luncheon held in the Royal York at the suite of their son, Col. F. W. Miller of Farnham, Que. Both were born and married in Peterborough. The celebrants are shown with three grandchildren, Joan Dimma, Janet Miller and Barbara Miller. Capt. and Mrs. Miller lived for some time at Niagara-on-the-Lake, where Captain Miller was alderman for four years and Mayor for two. They also lived in Brantford before settling in Toronto. Mr. Miller has a brother and four sisters in Peterborough: Gordon Miller, Misses Ada and Ethel Miller, Mrs. F. S. Schneider and Mrs. H. O. Fisk.

WHO IS RIGHT?

The odds along the main street are two to one that the Toronto Police Force will not locate the principals in the Mrs. Gordon abortion death in Toronto. Apparently there has been so many unsolved cases in the Queen city that the main streeters in this city are losing confidence in "Toronto's finest."

DRAT THE SQUIRRELS

Squirrels may be friendly looking animals but they can be pests of the first water. This week Mrs. Stanley Lowe, 600 Water street hung a pair of hand-knit men's socks on a clothes rack to dry. The rack was on the back verandah. When she went to get the socks, there was only one left, and the other was found on the verandah eave where it had been carried by a red squirrel. The rodent had eaten more than two inches off the top of the sock — for reasons unknown, unless it was after some nice warm wool to line its nest. —McG.

Opera Bulbul Worthy Effort 20 Plus Club

In their first public entertainment, the comic operetta Bulbul, YWCA 20 Plus Club members made a worthy showing Tuesday evening in the Collegiate Auditorium. The production went along smoothly with no sign of confusion among the actors even when the intricate lighting system went berserk during the first act. Familiarity on the stage brought content and voices were noticeably stronger and clearer in the second act.

Miss Nicolette Humphrey as the Princess Bulbul, portrayed well the tragedy of her life as she faced betrothal to an unknown Prince of a neighboring country. Her beautiful soprano voice brings out the corrowful, heartbroken thoughts of a sweet young girl whose dreams of romance have been thwarted by a cruel father. However, Don Landry, who is really the handsome Prince Caspian whom King Iamit (Doug Landry) has chosen for his daughter's husband, anticipates her feelings and plans secretly to win her as a man. So it is that the Princess falls madly in love with a humble peddlar and decides to throw away her heritage to marry him.

Miss Doreen Groombridge in the part of stately Lady Ida, the court chaperon, also has her eye on a crown and makes open advances to the King, whose incurable vanity delights in her admiration but seeks to emphasize his power and greatness by brushing her off. A third romance springs up in the last act between Alain, soldier guardian of the Prince, whose part is taken by Dave Graham, and Lilla, the Princess' closest friend, portrayed by Miss Elsie Wagstaff. The finale brings forth wedding plans for all and the song on everyone's lips is "I'm going to be married on Tuesday."

Fine accompaniments were provided by Gwen Craw and Mr. Charles Allen, who used two pianos for introduction and choruses.

Songs Fresh And Lively

Songs in this production which was directed by Mr. Quirt McKinney are fresh and lovely and the choruses most pleasing, making up for some slight weaknesses in the solo parts.

Costumes of the disguised peddlars, some of whom are particularly good actors, are Robin Hood suits in light green with cocky feathered caps and knee-high leggings, and their leaders in hunter's green with woodland brown trim. In the last act they turn military as soldiers of the Prince. Lords and ladies of the court are handsome and lovely in most col-

Expenditure of $9,323 Meets Opposition; Public Demand Said Strong

"It's only two months since we adopted our budget for the year. We have $2,400 left in the miscellaneous fund, and we are now proposing to spend $9,000. That is all I have to say. I'd hate to go into next year with another $30,000 in the red, as we did this year. That was close to a mill." This was comment of Ald. Max Swanston on a proposal in finance committee to build a bandstand at northwest side of Nicholls Oval at an estimated cost of $9,323.

Mayor Wm. Ovens said he hoped to get some revenue from the sale of Wartime Housing properties to which the city had made certain contributions in land and services.

Opposes Site

Ald. Grant Miller reminded the council that Victoria Park had served the city for 25 years or more as a band concert centre. "It is still the centre of the city, and it is just as convenient as ever for those who do not own automobiles."

Ald. Miller said a bandstand could be built in Victoria Park at much less cost than the structure proposed for the Oval. If industries of the city wanted a stand built at the Oval it would be agreeable to have them put one there.

To Ald. Hurrel Dodds' explanation of the plan for a stand at Nicholls Park, advocated early in the war by former alderman, Robert S. Cotton, Ald. Grant Miller said it all sounded well,—"but we haven't made provision for it in our estimates. I'm a stickler for keeping within our budget."

The concrete stand planned by City Engineer R. E. Chalmers is 40 ft. by 60 ft., of concrete, wiring, footlights, most of the details, but no provision for plumbing.

Ald. Herbert Young said the CGE Social and Athletic Club was recently inquiring about the intentions of the council. Mayor Ovens and Ald. Dodds said the slope at the Oval was a natural amphitheatre, and the stand was proposed to be a centre of summer attractions, concerts, theatricals, picnic programs and so on.

In its first conceiving it had been suggested that dressing rooms would be included in the layout under the stage platform. Lavatories would also be available for swimmers, and a detail of the project was a subway under the railway to the river bank.

Why Cut Out of Estimates?

"I'd like to know, if it was so essential, why was it was cut out of the estimates?" said Ald. Doug. Miller.

"I suppose the answer is that we did not have the engineer's estimates at that time," said Ald. Swanston. "It seems to me there are two points, the lack of money in the budget, and the question whether that is the best site for a stand that will be of use to the most people."

Ald. Young said Nicholls Park had many traffic outlets, ample parking space, "and we couldn't find a better place."

Ald. P. J. Anglesey: "Should the stand be nearer the centre of the city? Some place nearer than the Oval would be an advantage to a lot of people who have to walk."

Ald. Dodds said that Peterborough's big industries and their employees wished to have their picnics at home, and particularly at the Oval. "If we let them go off to Cobourg we lose that purchasing power."

City Clerk E. A. Outram said the applications for use of the north Ashburnham Park every year was surprising. From the first week in June throughout the summer picnics were held every Saturday and holiday; Wednesday afternoon were also filled, and families held dinners or reunions nearly every day in the week.

Ald. G. Miller: "I agree that Nicholls Park is a natural spot for community picnics, and is a great credit to the city, but the present question is whether we are ready financially to do it?"

Ald. Young: "The time to do it is while the people have the money."

Mayor Ovens: "All the big picnics are employee picnics and Sunday School outings. They are people who are ratepayers."

Ald. Armstrong and Ald. Raine moved that the estimates be further considered by Mayor Ovens and Ald. Swanston with the request that they report as soon as possible.

Ald. D. Miller: "See if we can get a contract bid. The estimated cost might be entirely too high."

BASEBALL

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP).—Hank Greenberg, the big stick and swivel chair man, may become the first "playing vice-president" in baseball history at the Cleveland Indians' opener next Tuesday. The veteran home-run slugger, who has insisted he would play "only in an emergency," was faced with that emergency in the ranks of his chattels to-day as the injury plague hit the Tribe. Greenberg has been in tip-top condition for his "trouble shooters" role — and Manager Lou Boudreau plans to keep him that way.

Leo Durocher marks his first official appearance in a Brooklyn uniform at Ebbets Field to-day since the 1946 season when his Dodgers meet Montreal Royals. The Dodgers have a two-game set with the Royals and then meet their first major league opposition of the spring when the New York Yankees visit Friday and Saturday.

Pitcher Hank Wyse and Catcher Clyde McCullough of Chicago Cubs were on the injured list to-day. Wyse has an aching shoulder, McCullough has rib pains. Stan Musial notified Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer that he will rejoin the club in Little Rock, Ark., on Thursday. He has been visiting his sick father.

Some Nerve

WINNIPEG — (CP). — John P. Winters, 27, was sentenced to one month in jail here for a novel form of shoplifting. Evidence showed that Winters slipped a scarf from a counter, got a paper bag from another department, then returned to the counter and asked for a refund on the merchandise.

Chilly March

REGINA — (CP). — A month-end weather summary shows Regina had an all-time temperature low of 41 below for March. The record was set March 10. Highest temperature was 42 above, a long way from the record 76 experienced in March, 1910.

WHERE THE MASTERS SOUGHT—Top linksmen, including tthe greats of yesteryear, competed in the annual Masters' Tournament over the Augusta National golf course (left) at Augusta, Ga., April 8-11. This view of the course is looking from the clubhouse. Jimmy Demaret (right), dapper Texas star, was the defending champion, and was seeking his third win in Masters, something no golfer has accomplished. Claude Harmon of Mamoroneck, N.Y., captured the Masters tourney this year.

Tigers, Ottawa Clash Again On Toronto Ice

TORONTO, April 14 (CP). — The "tired old men from Hamilton," who caused many an uplifted eyebrow Monday night when they upset Ottawa Senators in the first game of the Eastern Canada Allan Cup final, are not happy about the prospect of playing an other game away from Hamilton.

But the Tigers, accused by supporters of the opposition of making excuses before they even entered the series, pulled off a surprise in Ottawa on Monday night that recalled memories to many Bengal fans. Two years ago the Tigers met Montreal Royals in the Eastern final as underdogs, and they waltzed out of Montreal in three straight games to the Canadian final.

Again the Tigers threaten to repeat. This time against one of the greatest array of players ever collected by Thomas P. Gorman and Jimmy McCaffrey in Eastern Canada.

Money Grabbers

Coach George Redding of Hamilton voiced disapproval at the outset of the series when he said it was "d——d unfair" that Tigers could not play at least one game in the best-of-five series at Hamilton. He termed the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association "money grabbers."

To-night's game is scheduled to be played here.

Senators lost 5-4 to the cagey Bengals Monday although they outshot, and outplayed their opponents throughout the contest.

Probable starting lineup:

Ottawa—Goal, Fraser; defence, Stahan, Mathers; centre, Emberg; wings, Greene, Smart.

Hamilton — Goal, Childs; defence, C. Smelle, Laurent; centre, Shillington; wings, J. Conick, T. Smelle.

TENSE SITUATION — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein at left, is hardly the person to give way to public display of feeling—his reunion with his only son, Lieut. David Montgomery, at right, though pleasant is slightly on the formal side. The chief of the imperial general staff, in Germany to look into the growing tension between the western allies and Russia, met his son at Helle airdrome and went on about his duties. General Robertson, commander-in-chief of the British occupation forces, is in the centre (facing camera).

Underground Travel

LONDON, (CP)— The London Transport executive has announced a new scheme to speed travel. An illuminated signalling system will allow 20 per cent more trains to run on the underground in the busiest hours. Rush hour trains already run at less than two-minute intervals.

Sailed Blind

LONDON,— (CP) —A British steamer, the Topaze, now on North Sea crossings, claims to be first ship to maintain regular sailings by radar. Recently the captain decided to cross from Antwerp in a thick fog and with visibility zero, docked at Tilbury using only the radar equipment.

Fenelon Falls Bridge To Be Started Soon

LINDSAY, April 14—(ENS)—The county has been given a semi-official "go ahead" signal to proceed with plans for construction of the Fenelon Falls bridge. county road superintendent H. D. Wilford said Tuesday that tenders will be called immediately, and actual construction will begin as soon as possible. Cost of building the bridge has been estimated at $100,000, of which Victoria County's share will be about $20,000.

Mr. Wilford said 19 firms made application when the county called for tenders for annual construction supplies, and these were considered at a meeting of the road board on Monday. The R. A. Blyth Company, general contractors of Toronto, was awarded the contract to crush and haul 20,000 cubic yards of gravel for county road purposes. No contracts for other supplies were awarded. Instead, Mr. Wilford was empowered to obtain other materials when and where necessary.

Ease Jap Censorship

TOKYO, April 14 — (AP). — Occupation censorship is slowly relaxing and within a few months the Japanese press will not be required to submit articles before publication, headquarters officials said yesterday. A system of censorship after publication will continue, however, to minimize "destructive criticism of the occupation and Communist propaganda," said Col. R. S. Bratton.

Police Study Comics

DETROIT, April 14 — (AP). — The Detroit police department's "red squad" yesterday began thumbing through piles of comic books searching for what city officials termed evidence of Communist propaganda, racial prejudice, or sexy or gory material. Charging that many of the youngsters' favorites were filled with such stuff, police commissioner Harry S. Toy assigned two "red squad" teams to the investigations.

No GI's In Bogota

WASHINGTON, April 14 (CP). —The defence and state departments said yesterday that there are no American troops—as the word is ordinarily used—in Bogota. There are American officers assigned to the embassy and to a military mission in Colombia. But officials said they found it impossible to believe that any American military men would have fired shots during the Bogota rioting.

Stole Gold Watches Gets Month in Jail

Vernon Dunford, 16, of Young's Point, was sentenced to one month in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in court today when he pleaded guilty to two charges of theft of gold watches.

Provincial Constable George Stevens gave evidence of recovering a stolen watch from the accused's truck at Young's Point. Later, he said, information was received that three other watches had been stolen from a store under circumstances which indicated the accused. Visiting him at the jail, where he was being held in connection with the first arrest, he also admitted the other three. One of the three had been in his possession when he was checked in at the jail, the police witness said.

The youth had no previous record, it was said.

Will Dissolve Party

PRAGUE, April 14 — (AP). — Dissolution of the Slovakian branch of the Social Democrat party has been voted by its leaders in Bratislava, it was announced today. Bratislava is the capital of Slovakia. The left-wing newspaper Mlada Fronta said party leaders have urged members to join the Communist party. Three left-wing Prague newspapers have donated six freight carloads of newsprint to left-wing newspapers in Italy, the Communist official organ, Rude Pravo, reported.

Citation Still Rated Among Best

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP). — The KTDF (knock down the favorite) club has been in almost continuous session since Saggy sprinted home in front of Citation at Havre De Grace Monday . . . But Citation is proving a hard one to knock down as far as the Kentucky Derby is concerned . . . Most observers agree that in spite of the sticky going, the Calumet colt would have won over a longer distance . . . So the only question is whether Citation lost enough prestige to award My Request an equal rating and, if so, what the KTDF club can do about knocking both of them down.

Claude Harmon, 31-year-old winner of the Masters golf tournament, plans to have a shot at the PGA United States open and British open titles this summer . . . When Joe Louis returned from England he brought a pair of pedigreed poodle pups named Peter and Paul. The scribes promptly changed their names to Mike and Sol.

When the Chicago White Sox checked into their hotel at San Antonio, Texas, the hotel's "greeter" welcomed Manager Ted Lyons: "Right this way, Mr. Lyons, I'll show you to your room. It's 630." . . . Whereupon former pitcher Lyons solemnly replied: I didn't realize anybody still remembered my batting average."

Feel Churchill Will Embarrass Attlee Government

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, April 14—(CP). — Winston Churchill as the spark-plug of a united Europe movement may cause the Labor party and the Government embarrassment in a House of Commons debate soon.

Discussion will range about the motion signed by 190 members, including some Government supporters, calling for a Europeapn union which would involve limitation of sovereignty of participating countries.

Its objective is united action to establish a political union strong enough to save democracy and a trading area large enough to achieve economic recovery.

The Government is willing to endorse such a policy as an ultimate goal but in the meantime thinks it has done well enough to achieve agreement on Western unity among Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg, on the Government level.

Suits Churchill

But the motion fits well with Churchill's ideas. The former Prime Minister would unite not only the Government programs but also the various parties and individuals in various countries who think alike on this subject. In this he has the support of several Labor members who think the administration with Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin in the lead, has not gone far enough.

Churchill's British united Europe movement now is part of an international committee with similar French, Belgian and Netherlands organizations and a conference on future action has been arranged in The Hague May 7-10.

Attlee said that the Labor Government would not participate in The Hague meeting. Churchill then wrote War Minister Emanuel Shinwell, chairman of the Labor Party, and received the reply that the Labor executive would discourage party members from taking part on the grounds that the "subject of European unity is much too important to be trusted to unrepresentative interests."

Gave Russians Chance

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP). — The Saturday Evening Post said yesterday that Anglo-American concessions to Russia at the Yalta conference in 1945 "helped considerably to prepare the ground for the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia last February. In an article entitled "Roosevelt's Secret Deal Doomed Czechoslovakia," Demaree Bess, a Post editor, declared the late President and Winston Churchill agreed at Yalta that the liberation of Prague would be left to the Russian army.

Prices Group Nears End Of Butter Investigation

OTTAWA, April 14.—(CP). — The special committee on prices today neared the end of its butter investigation.

Several witnesses remain to be called but Fabio Monet, committee counsel, indicated that examination will not be prolonged. One witness was identified as an insurance man who had purchased butter in large quantities.

"We intend to ask him why," Mr. Monet said.

The committee yesterday completed its investigation in a Canada Packers Ltd. transactions in inferior butter in Halifax. Three officials said that through a mistake 'below third grade' butter had been sold at the first-grade price.

The officials were Arthur Child of Toronto, assistant treasurer; Ford Wiggins, also of Toronto, production manager, and Stan Prescott, manager of the Halifax branch. They appeared twice before the committee to explain the transaction.

The explanation was that when no butter was on hand company salesmen had taken orders for butter and marked their invoices for top quality. When a shipment of inferior butter arrived, the orders were filled from it but 6,912 pounds were sent out before the discrepancy between the quality and the invoices was discovered.

Correct Mistake

The company then began correcting the mistake, a process which in some cases took two or three days.

Questioning by committee members made it clear that, in the meantime, some of the butter was probably passed to the public at top prices.

Company officials emphasized that in the end none of their retailers paid more than the legal price for the butter and that the correction was completed "long before" they learned that the Prices Board was taking an interest in it.

CCF Opposes Sales Tax Legislation

By The Canadian Press

With a view to completing the 1948 session business this week, the Ontario Legislature planned to sit today from 2 p.m. until midnight.

It was learned budget debate in the New Brunswick Legislature will end Friday. The House at Fredericton probably will 'prorogue April 29.

New Brunswick's Premier McNair yesterday expressed disappointment that the request of seven provinces — New Brunswick included — for deferment of imposition of new railway freight rates had been turned down. The Maritime provinces opposed the 21-per-cent increase.

The rates boost also came under fire in the Nova Scotia Legislature where D. Durell, Sutton (L.-Kings) advocated shipment of Nova Scotia produce by water. The province was not now taking full advantage of its waterways, he said.

The CCF opposition yesterday fought second reading of the British Columbia's sales tax bill and three divisions in three hours were called. Three times Opposition attempts to give the bill to impose a three-per-cent tax on most retail sales a six-month hoist were defeated.

Support Speaker

The House supported the ruling of Speaker R. H. Carson that the motions were out of order. The Speaker said acceptance of the motion would mean rejection of the bill.

The Manitoba Legislature unanimously passed a resolution which urged the Federal Government to provide rehabilitation benefits for members of the wartime Merchant Marine in an amount equal to those of the other services.

The House also approved appointment of a select special committee to consider enactment of legislation permitting any Hutterite, when leaving a colony of which he was a member, to take with him an equitable share of colony assets.

The Royal Victoria Hospital now serving Barrie was built in 1903 as a 55-bed institution and frequently has to accommodate 90 and more patients. An architect's drawing of the new building is shown above.

Need Hospitals

MONTREAL — (CP). — Local hospital accommodation for treatment of children now is critically short, Dr. John de Belle, general superintendent of the Children's Memorial Hospital, reported. On one week-end alone, 12 children needing hospital treatment had to be turned away, said Dr. de Belle.

Prime Minister King Breaks Liberal Party Insurrection

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—By the political cratsmanship of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, the backbone of a dangerous party insurrection has been cracked.

Two days ago, the other political parties thought they had the Liberals on the run in the most ticklish crisis since conscription—freight rates.

Today, it was acknowledged the opposition was beaten and the Liberals would ride roughshod over two non-confidence motions.

When Liberal members filed into an emergency caucus on the verge of the non-confidence debate yesterday, there was incipient rebellion in the air.

Maritime and Western members were torn between conflicting loyalties. If they supported the government, they would run smack against the views of their provincial governments — mostly Liberal—and perhaps against the views of the voters.

On the other hand, a vote the other way might overthrow the government.

Some insurgent spirits in the party professed to be ready to toss party-line discipline overboard and let a general election come if it must.

But when the caucus broke up 1½ hours later, all was sweetness and light. The Liberal ranks had been closed.

King Magic

Members who had been denouncing the 21-per-cent award of the Board of Transport Commissioners, which touched off the crisis, announced happily they were voting with the government.

The explanation for this political metamorphosis was that Prime Minister King, who has often been accused of letting time take care of things, had done what he usually does when the chips are down. He had laid it right on the line.

He told his cohorts that defeat on the vote would mean a general election. He said the freight-rate issue was not a good one for the principal issue in a major battle. And he asked the individual members how many of them thought they would be back in Ottawa after the people had chosen.

Then, the old strategist recalled gently, he had promised he never would lead the party through another general fight.

That recollection brought up the spectre of a party without a rudder steering into an election storm. It helped leave the members chastened—also enthusiastic for government freight-rate policy — as they emerged from the caucus.

THE STAMP OF APPROVAL—The world's most beautiful postage stamp is the Canadian 50 cents dark blue issued in 1939 and depicting the schooner "Bluenose," a group of 60 well-known American philatelic experts have decided after meeting in New York to pick out the best from 50 specimens submitted to them. Canada has produced many excellent designs but the "Bluenose" stamp has been rated the most beautiful on more than one occasion by philatelic societies. The New York decision came after several ballots had been taken, and following keen competition. The U.S. one dollar "Omaha" issue was rated next.

Banquet, Street Dance To Welcome Carrier

English conducted the meeting and extended invitations to functions of various organizations, calling particular attention to the paper collection this week, and the association's spring tea on Wednesday afternoon, April 28. Mrs. R. L. Hale outlined the program planned for May meeting. Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Rothchild's class.

Working Wives Discussion Topic

A meeting of Knox United Church Young Married Couples group was held Monday in the church parlors. The Rev. H. G. Douglas played favorite hymns on the piano as members arrived. Mr. Wm. Haskin opened the meeting and Mr. Douglas lead in prayer. Mrs. Norm Hughes read the scripture lesson.

These of the devotional reading, by Mr. John Donaldson, was "Work is love," which brought out that "work is invisible unless done with love of God."

A paper prepared by Mr. E. McIlraith entitled "Working Married Women" was the discussion topic. He presented the reason for so many married women continuing in their jobs they took over during the war as financial gain. In many cases the couples are trying to purchase and furnish a home. Others have only a room or two and do not have household duties to occupy them. He also dealt with working mothers of small children.

It was felt that the need for a woman to work depended on her ability and qualifications and other outlets for her services. Members thought a budget could be balanced by spending less more judiciously as well as by earning more.

Conclusion of the majority was opposed to mothers working, but young married women with small accommodation and time on their hands are wise in occupying themselves. One side of the debate showed that welfare work could also be a worthwhile spare time job. All agreed the woman who keeps her home and family has the most important occupation of all.

Bowling under leadership of Mr. and Mrs. H. Murduff was enjoyed for the recreational period. Lunch was served at the close by Mrs. W. Tape, Mrs. W. Gaskin and Mrs. B. Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwin left immediately after the ceremony for Toronto and other western Ontario points. They will live at Roseneath.

No Neutrality Delegates Told

HAMILTON, April 14 (CP). — Mrs. Lionel H. Millen, Port Nelson, president of the Ontario Chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, told 500 delegates to the 28th annual convention opening here today that they could not afford to be "neutral in thought."

"Communism and democracy cannot both flourish in Canada," she said in the opening ceremonies. "Unless we see that our freedom of democracy is not abused, there will be no freedom and no democracy."

Resolutions were passed expressing the Chapter's loyalty to the King and Queen and to Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson.

Greetings from the Provincial Chapter were brought from president Mrs. Ryland New of Oakville.

In her presidential address Mrs. Millen urged classroom training in the fundamentals of democracy.

"A more thorough knowledge of British history would make the youth of the present day more appreciative of the blessings of life in a democratic state and help to overcome the blindness and inertia to the traditions which have been developed over the ages and handed down to us."

Mrs. W. L. McFaul of Hamilton, provincial secretary, reported that two regional conferences were held during the last year, at Kingston and Peterborough.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Not All Men Prey to Wiles Of Women's Blandishments

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a friend who contends that any woman who sets her heart on winning a man can get him, regardless of whether he is married or single. I am rather inclined to think that there are some men who can be absolutely trusted. What is your opinion?

TWO WOMEN.

ANSWER: I think that you are right. I have seen plenty of women who were beautiful and young and charming, exert their every wile to fascinate men who are as impervious to their blandishments as if they had been stone images. I have even heard these men speak admiringly of these women's attractions, but they simply made no personal appeal to them.

We cannot explain why we love nor why we are indifferent any more than we can explain why we have a taste for some particular article of food, while another is distasteful to us. Nor when we tire of a person can we explain that. All we know is that the touch of one hand leaves us cold and another thrills us. That we never weary of the society of one person and another one bores us to tears. That we can forgive any fault in one individual and are critical even of the virtues of another.

Hopeless Task

So, of all impossible tasks, none is more hopeless than trying to kindle the flame of love in an indifferent breast, or to blow into flame again the ashes of a dead love.

Of course, there are some weak, vain silly men who can be cajoled or flattered into thinking themselves in love with any woman who feeds their egotism by trying to take them away from their wives, but these are poor creatures incapable of a real love. And there are thousands upon thousands of other men whose hearts are so securely in their wives' keeping that they never give even a passing sentimental thought to any other woman.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman in my late twenties. Have a good job and am considered attractive to men. So far I have not met the man whom I could really love, and as it begins to look like I never will I have recently started to have affairs with several men. I cannot see that my so-called unconventional life will harm me, nor why society should condemn me as long as I do nothing to hurt anyone else. What do you say?

RUTH J.

ANSWER: You say your conduct does not harm yourself. What an awful mistake! Some day you will meet a man with whom you will fall in love and then you will pay with your heart's blood for every minute of your stolen pleasure. If he is a fine man, with high ideals, he of woman that you have become. will not want to marry the kind And if you marry him without telling him of your past, you will never know a minute's peace, because you will live in dread of his finding out your secret.

Society condemns you because you are not playing the game. You are breaking the rules that religion and civilization have laid down for the relationship between men and women. And in order to enforce this law society has turned its thumbs down on the women who defy it.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy 17 years old. My father is very good to me and gives me almost everything I want, but he insists that I go to school. I hate school and I want to go to work. We are constantly arguing over the matter and I am thinking of leaving home. What's your idea?

A BOY.

ANSWER: A lot of boys are driven to go to work at 17 because they need the money, but you are lucky that you can go to school, for the more education you have, the better you will be fitted to your lifework and to make a success of it.

Evidently your father loves you dearly and is doing everything in his power to help you, so why don't you make a proper return for it by showing him that you are grateful and how fond you are of him? And don't leave home at your age. You are bound to encounter hardships if you go out and try to make your own way in the world before you have fitted yourself for it. Why, you haven't a trade now. You wouldn't even know how to earn a living.

For Thursday, April 15.

A particularly clever and intelligent direction of the forces and faculties, with energy and initiative trained on major objectives, might be the means of promoting concrete and solid projects or propositions of constructive importance. But the mind must be led by logic and sound tactics, since confusion, complications and treachery might shatter the highest imbitions and defeat excellent work. Safeguard all avenues for duplicity and subtlety or intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is have an excellent chance for putting over important projects or plans, by a keen sound and intelligent use of forces and faculties. With clear, prudent, well-executed plans and teachniques, it may be possible to circumvent schemes, trickery, betrayal, and all manner of undercover tactics for shattering sound ideas and major objectives. Confusions, wavering, pernicious involvements, could have power to undermine the best laid plans. Real loss could be due to bad management and duplicity.

A child born on this day has excellent prospects and talents for progress and success. But it may have "blind spots" or become engulfed in confusion, sinister plots or intrigue.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart,
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by his wife, sister and brother-in-law Herb.

IRWIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Andrew Irwin, who passed away April 14, 1945.

6—In Memoriam

OWEN, L.A.C. James Ernest—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, who was killed seven years ago today, in the battle of Britain.
He is gone but not forgotten
And has gone by another year.
In the lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by mother, dad, Annie and Fred.

OWEN—In loving memory of our dear brother L.A.C. Earnest Owen, killed serving with the R.C.A.F. overseas, April 14, 1941.
He is gone but not forgotten,
And as years another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by brother and sister-in-law, Gladys and Thomas.

OWEN, Ernest J.—In loving memory of a brother and uncle, who was killed in action seven years ago today.
Not dead, but passed beyond
The mist that binds us here,
Into the newer, larger life
Of that unclouded sphere.
—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood, Jim, Grace, and Stanley.

being a first class investment in itself."

"Pete McGillen, city editor and outdoor editor of The Examiner was a tower of strength," said Alderman Anglesey. "He seems to know every lake, road and lodge, and can discuss fishing, duck hunting and deer hunting with veterans. Hundreds of Americans came to the booth and said 'Where's Pete.' They had remembered him from last year or from meeting him in Peterborough. This year The Examiner was only able to space him for seven out of the ten days, and as chairman of the industrial committee of the council, I'm deeply grateful to Mr. Garner and Mr. Craw for permitting him to make the trip." Ald. Anglesey also explained that because of newspaper connections, Mr. McGillen was able to get valuable publicity for the district from the outdoor editors and travel editors of the three big Cleveland papers.

A Sound Investment

Peterborough's display booth at the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show impressed Ald. Dick Raine as a sound investment.

"Thousands of people were there, and our booth was busy near all the time," he said. "Some periods of the day and evening were busier than others. Most of the enquiries that came to me were about accommodation. Others were asking about 'a quiet place to fish.' Those people would tell you they were not much interested in dancing and night life. They were after 'a nice holiday, away back where the fishing is good.'

"It is a fact that most of them appeared to be primarily interested in fishing and rest. As to resorts, you don't feel like singling out any one when you are there representing the whole district. That is one thing you are careful about. Any way, I think this matter of accommodation is something the resorts should do something about for another year."

Ald. Raine said he met some people who had lived in Peterborough at one time, and others who were summer visitors. Among the former was a Mrs. Robinson, daughter of the Rev. J. C. Wilson, who was a Methodist minister here years ago. "Chick Halford recalled his fishing trips to Rice Lake with Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians, Chris Graham, Tom Hooper and others.

orful attire, the men in elegant red velvet and the girls on their arm is pastel shaded formal gowns. Eight dust maids, who delight with a gay chorus of their own, are in checked gingham frocks with white frilled aprons, and they carry the tools of their trade.

Maids of honor add much to this production with their songs and they wear printed daytime gowns in the first act and dainty evening dresses in the second. They are Misses Shirley Siddall, Isabel Carveth, Jean McIntyre, Audrey Metheral, Jackie Ballantyne, Pat Humphrey, Hilda Northey and Helen Hajnik. Claude Shewen is a servant of the King as Dosay, keeper of the royal spectacles, and his fine baritone voice is heard alone only once. Gordon Lupton takes the part of Justo, keeper of the royal cash box, and his attendant who carries the load is Walter Howell.

Mr. Jack Schieder deserves a great deal of apreciation for the splendid lighting effects he had produced, and the moonlight scene especially. Effective scenery was designed and constructed by Ed. Stevenson, Miss Doris Russell and George Mustard and Gordon Lupton was in charge of properties. Costumes were suggested and designed by Miss Eva Clark and Mrs. W. Piercy, and Miss Margaret Cummings was in charge of the make-up.

Twenty Plus Club membership is more than 90 and all have taken some part in staging this production with the assistance of Miss Annabeth Reidel.

Farquhar Oliver Urges Liberals Prepare For Summer Election

TORONTO, April 14—(CP). — Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, last night urged the Ontario Liberal Association to prepare for a provincial general election this summer.

He said at the annual dinner:

"I am frank in saying that we would be better prepared for a contest a year from now than we are at present.

"While we believe the Government has no right to go to the country this summer, as Premier Drew has served only three years of his five-year term, we haven't the power to say that he cannot do so. We must be prepared to meet the challenge."

The association yesterday denounced Communists and Communism. It urged the Provincial and Federal Governments to discharge public servants found to have engaged in Communistic activity.

Suggest Survey

A survey "to ascertain the extent of Communist influence" in educational institutions was urged in a London resolution adopted by the annual convention's 500 delegates.

But when a resolution which apparently would have backed Premier Drew's anti-Communist stand was put before the meeting, it was withdrawn. The resolution pledged the convention "to support the stand of the Ontario Government on this "anti-Communist issue."

"Somebody must have got all mixed up," exclaimed a woman member of the Toronto Eglinton delegation, sponsors of the motion. "No matter how right (Premier) Drew might be, I wouldn't support anything he did."

Carried were resolutions urging gasoline tax reductions, a survey to seek ways of economizing in Provincial Government departments, leaving cadet training to the Federal Government and no "undue interference" by the Provincial Government in municipal handling of electric power."

"Wonderful Roads"

A Brantford resolution approved by the convention urged that revenue obtained from motorists be spent only on highway improvement. Commented delegate W. H. Eddy:

"If all the money from the gasoline tax was used that way, the roads throughout the province would be studded with diamonds."

The gathering re-elected Norman O. Hipel of Hespeler, a former Speaker in the Ontario Legislature, as president. Mr. Hipel announced that Brig. Colin Campbell, former Ontario Public Works Minister, would head the association's election board.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

AVOID THAT BUZZ SAW

IT DOESN'T PAY to monkey with the buzz-saw. That advice, given to visitors around a machine shop, is just as sound to a member of the rank and file who gets up against one of the top-ranking bridge players. Over-aggressive bidding on hands of doubtful strength will not upset such able performers. It merely gives them an option between doubling your head off and going ahead with their own bidding. And, if they choose the latter, they are pretty certain to use against you every particle of information your bids have gratuitously conveyed.

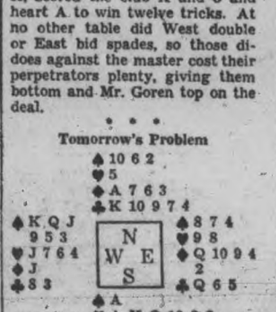
3 NT

Both West and East thought this was a fine time to be fancy, since they were not vulnerable and were up against one of the greatest players of all time, Charles H. Goren. West lived to rue that weak double, and East the weak spade bid induced by it, as Mr. Goren proceeded to use all that volunteered information to gain a terrific top score in the tournament, in which he had decided to seak maximum to overcome lost ground—all of which he did, to win a brilliant victory.



Doing so, he used tactics he will explain to the big convention of bridge teachers and prospective teachers he has called at the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago for May 11, 12 and 13. In his headquarters at Chancellor Hall, Philadelphia, he has selected this deal, among many others, to illustrate particular points.

After West led the spade 3, East playing the Q, he decided to count West for the A, also the one missing K and two Q's, and East for the spade 10.

Now see what that meant. He won the opener with the spade K, finessed the diamond J, then the 10, then the Q, finessed the spade 9 to force the A, won the returned spade with the J, finessed the club J, led the 10 and took the covering Q with the K, scored the diamond A, led to the heart K, scored the club A and 5 and heart A to win twelve tricks. At no other table did West double or East bid spades, so those di-does against the master cost their perpetrators plenty, giving them bottom and Mr. Goren top on the deal.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

If West had inserted a spade bid, how would you play for 6-Clubs in the North after East leads the spade 8?

Top Entrance Pupil To Get $5 Prize

MARMORA, April 14—(ENS)—The nature and scope of the work of the Children's Aid Society was interestingly dealt with by W. L. Lochyer, assistant superintendent of the society for Hastings county at the monthly open meeting of Marmora Home and School Association Monday evening. He impressed upon the large group that it is a charitable organization under government supervision. He mentioned that there are 53 county units of the society in Ontario and that 10,000 children came under the protecting care of the society last year. The talk was succeeded by the showing of a colored sound film, "Who Is My Neighbor?" The president, Mrs. H. Rennie, was in the chair.

It was decided to give an award of five dollars to the pupil passing the Entrance this year with the highest standing. The matter of purchasing a record player for the school received consideration. A motion was passed that the Association purchase one.

The president announced that the closing date for receipt of nominations for next year's officers had arrived that evening. The new slate of officers will be announced at the annual meeting on May 10th.

The attendance of parents was then taken. Carol Romobugh played a pianoforte solo. Students of Grades 3 and 4 gave two vocal selections under direction of Miss R. Stringer, music teacher of the schools in the district. Marion Chrysler followed with a pianoforte selection.

E. C. Prentice hen introduced the guest speaker, who was applauded on motion of Rev. E. M. Cadigan.

JEWS DEFEAT NORTHERN ARAB ARMY

Hamilton MPP Is Killed Another Injured; Hit By Car At Queen's Park

Two Members Struck Down On Way Back To Attend Night Sitting; Fort William Mayor In Serious Condition

TORONTO, April 15—(CP).—William Robertson, 51, CCF member of the Ontario Legislature for Wentworth, died in hospital early today following an accident in which he and Mayor Garfield Anderson, CCF member for Fort William, were struck down by an automobile driven by a 22-year-old youth. Doctors worked feverishly over the Legislature member for most of last night in an effort to save his life, but he succumbed to head injuries following a last-minute operation.

Hospital authorities described the condition of Mayor Anderson as "serious."

Two members were struck down opposite the Parliament Buildings as they were returning for a night sitting. With them was William Docker, CCF Member for Kenora. He was walking ahead of the two victims and was not hit.

Dangerous Driving Charge

The driver of the car, Gordon Hume, a student at Emanuel College, was remanded to April 23 when he appeared in court today on a dangerous driving charge. His bail was increased from $1,000 to $3,000.

Mr. Docker told the police that he and the two others had just finished eating and were returning to the Legislature when he heard a screech of brakes. Turning, he found his two friends lying on the roadway.

Mr. Robertson was born at Bothwillhaugh, Scotland. He came to Canada in 1926 and worked as a laborer before his election to the Legislature in the general election of 1943. He was re-elected in 1945.

The two members were lying 60 feet apart when the ambulance arrived. Police said the car was northbound on Queen's Park Cres. The driver is said to have told police he did not see the two men.

Health Minister Kelley said last night the government has arranged for TCA transportation from Fort William to bring Mrs. Anderson to her husband's bedside. A government car is being provided to meet Mrs. Anderson at Malton Airport and take her to the hospital.

For a short time last night it appeared that the night session might be cancelled because of the accident. Both Premier Drew and Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver left it up to CCF House Leader Grummett. The CCF House Leader decided the session should continue.

Gasoline Tax Kept To Help Pay For Roads

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — Ontario is going to keep its 11-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax to help pay for the government's road construction program.

The word that the tax will stay for at least another year was given in the legislature yesterday by Highways Minister Doucett, who said the government soon will be spending $100,000,000 a year on roads. Last year's record high was $61,000,000.

Municipalities will receive three cents of the tax on each gallon for road development.

Mr. Doucett said the road construction program — "if not in the immediate future, certainly in the foreseeable future" — includes:

Construction of a four-lane highway from Toronto to Windsor, completion of the new four-lane highway from Toronto to Barrie and rerouting of Highway No. 17 from Sault Ste. Marie to Sudbury, North Bay, Ottawa and the Quebec border.

The gasoline tax statement came as the Legislature drove toward a cleanup of sessional business in the hope of proroguing Friday. The House was due to assemble at 2 p.m. today, an hour earlier than usual, with a view to completing budget debate. Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Liberal opposition, and Premier Drew have still to speak before the House votes on a Liberal amendment and then on the budget itself.

J. B. Salsberg (L.P.P.-Toronto St. Andrew) said Communists did not want hard times but sought a prosperous province.

Review British Credit In Sept.

OTTAWA, April 15 —(CP)— Government sources said today the status of the Canadian credit to Britain, now suspended, will be reviewed in September. The credit now totals $235,000,000.

Interim arrangements which permitted Britain to draw upon the credit for the financing of food purchases in Canada ended at midnight last night. From now on, Britain will pay for the foodstuffs and other raw materials with funds made available under the United States plan for European recovery.

Officials here said the question of whether Britain will be allowed to resume drawing on the loan after the September review depends on a number of things. One of these is Canada's own external trade and financial position. Another factor would be how Canada's wheat and other crops develop during the growing season.

Ask Freight Briefs Be Filed By May 25

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP) — The Board of Transport Commissioners, as a first step in its general inquiry into freight rate inequalities, today called for briefs from provincial governments and other interested parties claiming unfair treatment under the present freight rate structure.

All submissions should be filed with the secretary of the board at Ottawa by May 25, the statement said. The board will then forward copies to the railways, who are to file answers by June 30.

Have War Jitters

COPENHAGEN, April 15—(AP). — Rumors that war had broken out between the United States and Russia caused near panic today in Jutland, in Northern Denmark. Newspaper telephone lines were jammed. The origin of the rumors could not be determined.

Consider Truce Proposal For Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, April 15. — (CP).—A United Nations truce plan was studied today by the warring Jews and Arabs of Palestine.

Security Council delegates, reported to be in virtual agreement on most of the plan's provisions, vote on it this afternoon.

There was no immediate comment from representatives here of the Jewish Agency and the Arab Higher Committee which previously failed to agree on a truce.

Meanwhile, the Palestine Partition Commission appeared today to continue its assignment of dividing the Holy Land into Jewish and Arab States despite the fact that a special assembly opens Friday to reconsider the problem. The special session was urged by the United States following its withdrawal of support of partition, voted last Nov 29 by the U.N. General Assembly.

Besides urging a halt of all acts of violence, terrorism and sabotage, the truce plan appealed to Jews and Arabs to:

1. To refrain from bringing into Palestine armed bands or individuals capable of bearing arms. Thus all Jewish immigration except women and children would be blocked and infiltration of Arabs from neighboring countries halted.

2. Halt importation of all weapons and war mtaerials.

3. Stop all political activity pending the special session's decision. This would stop Jewish moves already well advanced, to effect partition. It would also prevent the Arabs from implementing their plan for a single state.

It was understood the truce plan was designed to start immediately and continue until a successor government to the British mandatory power is established. Britain would have the responsibility for maintaining peace and order in Palestine. She would supervise the execution of the truce and keep the U.N. informed.

Two Armed Bandits Rob Garage Safe

OSHAWA, April 15 — (CP) — Two young armed bandits broke open a service station safe at Courtice, three miles east of here, early today and escaped with less than $10. The safe was empty but the youths took the money from a cash register.

Roy W. Nichols, night watchman and brother of the owner, said he would recognize one of the party, who stood over him with a gun as he lay bound with adhesive tape.

BULLETIN

MANILA—President Manuel A. Roxas is dead, Malacanan palace announced early today. The 56-year-old president of the Philippines was stricken ill at Clark Field only yesterday afternoon, shortly after he made a strong speech against Communist aggression.

Dead Man Threatens Peace In Riot Wracked Colombia

BOGOTA, April 15.—(AP).— A dead man threatened political peace today in a riot-wracked Colombia.

He was Jorge Eliecer Gaitan, assassinated leader of the Liberal Opposition to Conservative President Mariano Ospina Perez.

His widow said yesterday—the day set for his state funeral—she would not let him be buried until the president resigned. The funeral was postponed.

Gaitan's fatal shooting last Friday touched off a Colombian rebellion that ravaged this capital and interrupted the Pan-American conference here. The meeting resumed yesterday.

Over the government radio last night, Finance Minister Jose Maria Bernal announced that the United States export-import bank has offered, and Colombia will accept, a $10,000,000 reconstruction loan.

Mrs. Gaitan made her statement to correspondents, U.S. army officers and Uruguayan diplomats. She told the Uruguayans "the people do not want" her husband buried while Ospina Perez holds office.

The President has set up a Liberal - Conservative Cabinet and claims to have put down what he and others call "a Communist insurrection." But many feared a public funeral for Gaitan may undo the party truce.

Bogota still is uneasy. Snipers exchange fire with soldiers and sailors on patrol in tanks, trucks and automobiles.

State Secretary Marshall of the United States, who took no part in yesterday's debate, has given the conference to understand Europe has priority over Latin America for United States economic aid.

The Colombian capital, where the conference convened March 30, was pillaged in last Friday's rioting. Yesterday's meeting was three miles away, in a classroom of a suburban school.

Colombian troops stood guard outside.

Plane Hits Runway; 30 Killed

Constellation Crashed On Second Try; No Canadians Aboard

SHANNON AIRPORT, Eire, April 15—(AP—The "Empress of the Skies," a Pan-American World Airways Constellation, crashed coming in for a landing here early today and 30 persons died in the blazing wreckage. There were no Canadians aboard but 19 Americans died.

Marc Worst, 38, of Burbank, California, was the sole survivor. He said the force of the crash threw him out through the baggage compartment. His wife, waiting to meet him, witnessed the tragedy.

There was no immediate explanation concerning the cause of the crash. Basil Warnock, American Overseas Airlines station master at Shannon, said weather observers reported three-mile visibility at the time of the crash. Other sources said the ceiling was about 400 feet.

The crash occurred as the big plane came in for a second try at Shannon's main air strip. Witnesses said it apparently hit an obstruction, skidded along the ground for a ways and then burst into flame. The wreckage burned more than three hours.

Second Crash

The last bad crash here occurred last December, when the Constellation, Star of Cairo, flew into the ground, killing 13.

Mrs. Worst, who was told first there were no survivors and then learned her husband was the only one, commented:

"You cannot imagine how I felt."

Then she added:

"We are going to California immediately. And by Constellation too. You can quote me on that."

Bodies of the dead were removed from the wreckage by mid-morning. One of the victims was named by the India office in London as Sir Homi Menta, 77, Bombay millionaire and a director of the Central Board of the Reserve Bank of India. He represented India at the League of Nations in 1933-4 and also in negotiations last year with the British government.

The plane was bound from Karachi to New York.

Czech Charter Cuts Freedom

PRAGUE, April 15—(Reuters). —The draft of the new Czechoslovak constitution just published provides for establishment of "a people's democratic republic" with equality between Czechs and Slovaks but "deprived of hostile elements."

The existing Senate is abolished in favor of a single parliamentary chamber to be known as the National Assembly, with 300 members elected for six years instead of four-year parliaments as at present.

The head of the state will be the president, elected by the National Assembly for a seven-year term of office, and the supreme executive will be the government, appointed by or dismissed by the president and responsible to the National Assembly.

The new constitution does not contain the declaration of the rights of national minorities which figured in the 1920 constitution.

Tons Of Water Recede From Toronto Homes

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)— All was calm today on the Toronto islands where yesterday 10-foot breakers hurled tons of water over breakwaters to surround cottages and make lakes of island roads.

A few families who had been forced from their homes yesterday returned today. Islanders were boarding ferries as usual for jobs in the city.

When flood waters reached their highest levels yesterday, three feet of water stood in many front yards.

BLACK WIDOWER LOOKS AFTER THE CHILDREN — The black swan from the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill's Shartwell estate, near Westerham, Kent, is settling down to the job of looking after his six motherless offspring on a lake at the London Zoo. The mother swan was killed by a fox which attacked the family at Chartwell and Mr. Churchill asked the zoo authorities to take charge of the widower and six cygnets.

Russian Troops Block Road To US Air Base

VIENNA, April 15 — (AP). — Russian troops today set up a road block which isolates the American air base at Tulln, 14 miles west of Vienna.

The Russians demanded "grey" identification cards.

Some US air force personnel travelling to work from Vienna, were permitted to pass after long arguments. Others were refused clearance.

The road block was manned by one officer, four men, and a civilian interpreter.

Harold Voeth, Vienna manager for Pan-American Airways, said American military police at Tulln were not allowing his employees to return to Vienna.

It is not yet known what action American authorities here will take. The "grey card" identification demanded by the Russians can be obtained only after a 72-hour delay. Grey cards never before have been required for the trip to Tulln along the occupation corridor road.

Austrian police set up a block on the road to Tulln yesterday, but it was only to check on Austrian automobiles.

Declares Russ Planes Did Fly Over Alaska

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, April 15 —(AP)—Publisher William L. Baker, writing for the Ketchikan Chronicle after a three-week tour of Alaska, said today that Representative Margaret C. Smith (Rep. Me.) is "correct" in saying that Russian planes "have violated Alaskan skies."

The article added, however, that both American and Russian planes have crossed the border into each other's territory over a period of several months.

The publisher said also that a "mystery submarine," first reported seen in Kiska harbor by an American pilot two weeks ago, lingered in Aleutian Island waters for about 10 days. The article stated that the navy had a fix on the submarine by radar several times and awaited word from Washington as to what action to take.

To Expand Air Force

WASHINGTON, April 15 — (AP).—The House of Representatives today passed and sent to the Senate a bill providing $3,198,100,000 to start expanding the United States air forces. Most of the fund is in contract authority for the air force and the naval bureau of aeronautics. This means the actual cash will have to be put up later. Included in the contract total is $822,000,000 added by the House to the $2,373,100,000 proposed by the appropriations committee.

Judge Postpones Decision On Lewis Until Monday

WASHINGTON, April 15—(AP).—Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today heard arguments in John L. Lewis' contempt trial and put off any decision until Monday. H. Graham Morison, assistant Attorney - General, argued for the Government that Lewis and the United Mine Workers were clearly in contempt of court for continuing a coal mine work stoppage for a week after a court order was issued for it to end.

Lawyers for Lewis made only a one sentence argument:

"The Government has failed to prove its case."

That came from Welly K. Hopkins, chief of Lewis' eight-man battery of counsel.

Judge Goldsborough then adjourned court until Monday.

Now the only thing left in the contempt case is the Judge's ruling—and the punishment if the ruling is for conviction.

In his argument, Morison hit hard at Lewis' position that no coal strike ever was called.

Silly Statement

The government lawyer said that contention was an "affront to common sense."

He said Lewis and the U.M.W. are in contempt of court "for their failure to obey the explicit terms" of an April 3 court order to end the coal strike.

Morison, told Goldsborough a finding of guilt "is the only one consistent with the undisputed facts."

It has been shown, he said, that no action was taken by the union or its president on a court order for a resumption of work in the mine fields for seven days after it was issued.

Marshall Plan Charter Set Up

PARIS, April 15 (AP)—Foreign Ministers' deputies of the 16 Marshall-Plan countries act today on a charter setting up a European organization for economic co-operation.

The ministers themselves will take up the document tomorrow. They appointed the 18-member working committee that finished the charter yesterday after working since last month.

An outline shows the organization is copied from the United Nations in many administrative respects. These bodies are provided for:

1. A council of ministers from all countries taking part. The rule of unanimity will apply on all major policy decisions and on membership applications—such as any from Spain, for example.

2. An executive committee of seven members elected for a year.

3. A general secretariat. This would be headed by a secretary-general and two assistants, chosen by the council and responsible to it.

The economic organization is to help carry out the European Recovery Program approved by the U.S. Congress with a starting authorization for $5,300,000,000 in aid to Europe.

Find Burwash Man Mile From Camp

SUDBURY, April 15 —(CP)— John Percy Zona, escaped prisoner of the Burwash Industrial Farm, was recaptured last night a mile from the main camp. He was the fourth escapee from the farm in 10 days.

Zona escaped from the farm's power plant Tuesday night, and offered no resistance when found wandering through a bush area.

Of the four runaways, his was the shortest period of freedom. Theodore Dockstater, Muncey Reserve Indian, who escaped April 5, was at large four days.

Abolish Death Penalty In Britain For 5 Years

LONDON, April 15.—(CP). — In an historic seven-hour debate on the sanctity of human life which brought scenes of tumult to the House of Commons, Parliament last night decided to dispense with the hangman's noose for an experimental period of five years.

Thus Parliament, if confirmed by the House of Lords, has rescinded a judicial punishment as old as the laws of Britain.

By a vote of 245 to 222, in which party lines crossed and Prime Minister Attlee voted with Opposition Leader Winston Churchill on the losing side, the House decided to abolish the death penalty except for such offences as treason and piracy.

When the result was announced, Home Secretary Chute Ede, who had instructed all government supporters to retain the death penalty, slumped in his seat. He said that the time was not ripe for suspending capital punishment. Britain's small, unarmed police force now was faced with the "emergence of the armed gangster criminal type."

The Commons decision was a triumph for the back-benchers. The motion, which adds a new clause to the criminal justice bill, was moved by Sydney Silverman, Labor member for Nelson and Coline, and seconded by M. C. Hollis, Conservative.

Labor party discipline was relaxed for a free vote, but ministers were expected to abstain if they disapproved retention of the penalty. One hundred and seventy-three members did not vote, among them Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Hartley Shawcross, Attorney-General, Foreign Secretary Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones.

Report 200 Casualties Among Arabs

Cairo Hdqts. Fears Bey's Situation Becoming Precarious

JERUSALEM, April 15—(AP). —Jewish sources said today 4,000 Jewish fighters have scored a 'decisive victory" over the Arab volunteer army led by Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji in northern Palestine.

The informants reported 200 Arab casualties and said the Jews captured seven field guns

The Arab League in Cairo had reported that Fawzi Bey's forces at Mishmar Haemak, 15 miles southeast of Haifa, had been encircled by 12,000 fighters of Haganah, the Jewish militia, but an Arab spokesman here declared the reverse was true.

Seek Sympathy

The spokesman, Ahmed Hilmi Pasha of the Arab Higher Executive, said that the Jews were being surrounded by Arabs. However, the Arab League headquarters in Cairo had taken a grave view of Fawzi Bey's situation. A Jewish source said the Cairo announcement was a stunt to gain more help for the Arabs.

The Mishmar Haemak battle between Hagana and part of Fawzi Bey's army has been going on for more than a week.

One Jewish report said a British commander of a gun crew was among the Arab army dead.

Meanwhile the Jewish militia Hagana announced it had captured the Tel Litwinsky camp near Tel Aviv today after a house-to-house battle in which at least 21 Arabs were slain. The camp was built by U.S. forces as a recreation and hospital centre during the second world war. It was abandoned yesterday by British forces. Arabs

Strikers Hit Police Inspector

HULL, Que., April 15.—(CP). —A limping police inspector said today a heavy cordon of police will be thrown around the strike-bound Woods manufacturing plant here to prevent further outbreaks of violence.

At least six persons were injured in two outbreaks yesterday, including Police Inspector J. Maxime Lavigne. One woman is facing charges of causing grievous bodily harm to another woman.

The first outbreak began early yesterday when a fleet of automobiles attempting to pass through the week-old picket lines was met by a barrage of stones. Four automobiles were damaged and five persons injured.

As shattered glass and stones flew through the air, an 11-man squad of Hull police moved to control the strikers. Before the battle was over Police Inspector Lavigne had been stuck by a rock fragment; a union organizer, Gerard Rancourt of Montreal, had been hit by a car door and thrown to the ground, and Miss Cecile Pilon of Hull and two other company employees received head injuries from strikers' stones

Hungarian Missions Sent Home By Clay

FRANKFURT, April 15 — (AP). —Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, ordered two Hungarian missions today to leave the American zone of Germany within 48 hours.

They were the repatriation mission of four persons and the restitution mission of 11. The former directed the return of Hungarian displaced persons from Germany to Hungary. The latter handled the return of property looted by the Nazis during their occupation of Hungary.

An official announcement said the missions were ousted in retaliation for the looting of an American repatriation train and "maltreatment of United States personnel and other undisciplined acts by Soviet troops and officers on Hungarian territory on Jan. 23, 1948."

Italy's Political Campaign Enters Last Phase, Communists Losing Ground

ROME, April 15—(AP).—Italy's bitter election campaign entered its last phase today with the Communists apparently still losing ground. Meanwhile, the government mounted guard for any last-minute Leftist manoeuvre in the country's "Red North." A government decree closes campaigning at midnight tomorrow, allowing a 32-hour cooling off period before voting starts Sunday morning.

Premier De Gasperi, Christian Democrat leader, has warned that the government will not tolerate trouble on election eve, and has promised it has enough troops to maintain order.

An Interior Ministry report that the Communist-dominated Chamber of Labor at Mantua had called a general strike in the northern province of Mantova could not be confirmed. Police at the scene said last night it had not been called yet.

The ministry said the reported strike call was in protest against the arrest Tuesday of Cleanti Armondi, Communist mayor of Serravale, near Mantua. It said a cache of small arms was found in his home.

Police at Ostiglia, south of Mantua, said a crowd, gathered by agitators who wanted to release Armondi from jail, attacked reinforcements coming to the Carabinieri barracks, but that order was restored. They said three hand grenades and a shower of stones were thrown by the crowd and that the police used their arms to stop the disturbance. Three persons were wounded.

Have Demonstration

Six thousand Communists led by workers with anti-De Gasperi signs demonstrated in Milan last night.

Campaigning by all the politicians went into the last, strenuous round.

Pieto Nenni, pro-Communist Socialist leader, told an audience at Savona the Communist-promoted popular front has no revolutionary intentions.

De Gasperi, who has been campaigning so vigorously that his aides have feared for his health, covered Italy from north to south in one day. He flew from Milan to Rome, where he conferred with Foreign Minister Count Carlo Sforza, then went on to Sicily where he talked at Palermo.

Firmer Trends Prevail But Golds Still Sag

TORONTO, April 15—(CP)—Firmer trends prevailed for all groups on the Stock Exchange today but the golds which continued to sag on a majority of mild losses. Base metals turned strong. Steels and newsprints headed a firmer industrial list. A feature of the trading was international uranium, a base metals speculative, which turned over more than 200,000 shares, for a gain of six cents.

Volume for the first three hours was 657,000 shares, about 246,000 more than yesterday's similar period.

Leading industrials ahead were Abitibi, Algoma Steel, Aluminum New, Brazilian, BA Oil, CPR, Dominion Steel, Dominion Stores, Eastern Steel, Ford, Great Lakes Paper, Hinde and Dauch, Imperial Oil, International Metal, International Petroleum, Winnipeg Electric, United Steel, International Paper and BC Pulp.

Golds were easier on losses for Bordulac, Campbell, Canadian Malartic, Dome, Kirkland Lake, Lake Shore, MacLeod and Louvicourt but base metals were stronger on gains for Quemont, Sherritt, Waite Amulet, Noranda, Nickel, Highland Bell, Golden Manitou, Eureka, East Sullivan and Smelters.

CNR Deficit In 1948 Likely At 23 Million

OTTAWA, April 15. (CP)—A Canadian National Railways budget forecasting a 1948 deficit of $23,400,000—larger than last year by $7,500,000—was tabled in the Commons today by Transport Minister Chevrier.

However, the budget did not take into account two big potentials in the National line's 1948 operations — the recently granted 21 per cent freight rate increase and the demands of employees for wage increases.

On the basis of possible added revenue of around $30,000,000 through rate increases, the system might have an indicated surplus of some $6,000,000 without wage increases. These boosts might run to $80,000,000 if full employee demands were granted.

Besides the operating forecast, the minister made public the CNR'S capital budget for the year, calling for the expenditure og $81,697,000 in new equipment, additions and betterments to property and minor expenditures. This is almost four times last years.

Inquiry Cost $20,034

OTTAWA, April 15 — (CP). — The Board of Transport Commissioners' recently-concluded freight rate inquiry cost the Dominion $20,034, Transport Minister Chevrier informed the Commons yesterday.

Build Air Raid Shelters

A Jewish source said nearly 200 public air raid shelters are being built in Jewish sectors of Jerusalem, because of a possibility of air raids from neighboring Arab countries.

Jerusalem's power plant was menaced for a time today by a fire at a waste oil dump which fire chief Albert Roy said was accidentally started by Arab children at play.

Heavy black smoke drifted across the railyards and the old city before the flames were quenched.

Meanwhile, a Jewish agency spokesman officially answered an appeal by the high commissioner, Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, for a truce in the Arab-Jewish fighting.

"The Arabs started attacking the Jews," he said. "The moment they cease fire we shall do so too."

Commenting on the alleged plans of other Arab governments to send regular armies to Palestine, the agency spokesman said:

"We would take up this challenge and regard it as tantamount to a formal war declaration."

Mine Operators Criticized On Pension Plan

By The Canadian Press

Mine operators and workers came in for criticism in the Nova Scotia Legislature yesterday for their attitude toward a proposed three-way contributory pension plan for miners.

Speaking on a budget allotment of $120,000 for such a scheme, Labor Minister L. D. Currie criticized both the Dominion Coal Company and District 26 of the United Mine Workers (CCL). He said that although he promised government support at last year's session, neither operators nor union had yet come forward with any concrete help.

Lands Minister R. J. Gill told the New Brunswick Legislature that the government will tighten timber policies in an effort to conserve large tracts of woodland. At the same time, steps will be taken to co-ordinate steps to develop new industry.

At Winnipeg the law amendments committee of the Manitoba Legislature was urged to amend the government's proposed labor code so that members of any police force in Manitoba would be barred from joining a trade union.

In a report to the British Columbia Legislature last night, County Judge H. J. Sullivan said the "only real and permanent solution of Doukhobor problem lies in education and assimilation."

Birthdays Are Happy Occasions

Today is our 21st Birthday. May you join us as we mark the day by looking back over our record of 21 years continuous service to Peterborough.

We are glad to recall that it was in response to the insistence of the Mayor and City Council that we formed our company to supply the city with its most needed service, safe and dependable bus transportation. The future for a bus system in Peterborough looked dark at that time. The company which had operated the street cars for years at financial loss had refused to continue its service.

In this emergency we agreed to try to give Peterborough a reliable bus service. Our fleet of seven stalwart busses which we placed in the service of the city on April 15th, 1927, was greeted with enthusiasm by the public.

You will pardon us if today we draw attention to the fact that it has been our privilege to serve Peterborough for 21 years, and during that whole period, which included the dark depression years when many public and private bus operations had to cease operations, we have constantly striven to give you the best in public transportation facilities obtainable for a city of Peterborough's size and needs, although always handicapped through lack of equipment, which is not obtainable.

Today we have a fleet of 23 busses operating on the streets. All of these busses are comparatively new and are in excellent condition. We have six busses on order and as soon as delivered they will go into service. We must advise you, however, that at his time it is difficult to secure delivery on new busses because of the Government restrictions on imports.

On this our 21st anniversary we assure you of our appreciation of the confidence Peterborough has placed in us.

Our planned program of expansion and our most recent substantial investment in another building for servicing our equipment is evidence of our own confidence in Peterborough's continued growth.

We will continue our best efforts to merit your confidence.

TORONTO, April 15 (CP)—A Progressive increase in the number of convictions for drunkenness in Ontario each year since 1944 is shown in reply to a question tabled in the legislature today.

Ross A. McEwing (Lib.—South Wellington) asked for the figures on drunkenness convictions for each year since the Progressive Conservative government came into power. Convictions for 1944 were 16,388; 1945—17,543; 1946—21,847, and 1947—29,069.

Reply to another question disclosed that the salary of Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, is $14,000. Vice-chairman George Challies and second vice-chairman W. Ross Strike are paid $8,000.

The replies showed further that 45,000 kilowatts (60,322 h.p.) of Hydro electric energy are being exported to the United States. The rate is $16.75 per kilowatt for the first 40,000 and 5,000 kilowatts at 2.55 mills per kilowatt hour.

Cost of the Royal Commission on Milk totalled $54,154, including printing of the report. The agricultural committee of enquiry to date has cost $15,130.

Landlady Fined $20 On Rentals Charges

LINDSAY, April 15—(ENS)—Mrs. Charles McDonald, Lindsay, was fined $20 and costs in police court here Wednesday when she pleaded guilty to charges of fixing rentals without authority from the rental appraiser, charging more than a reasonable rental rate, and renting at a higher rate than authorized by the WPTB.

Maurice Campbell, who had rented two rooms in Mrs. McDonald's house, said the rental board had fixed the rate on the rooms at $5 a week. He said in February Mrs. McDonald ordered him to pay $7 a week or vacate. Campbell left. He told the court that four adults and a baby had been living in the two rooms and they had been furnished with heat, light and water.

Similar charges against C. C. Deck, local landlord, were dismsised by Magistrate E. A. Gee. C. H. Owen, a tenant, testified that Deck had charged him $30 a month for three rooms.

"Also I had to agree to help tend the fires, but even at that we were cold most of the time," Owen said.

Cool Weather Empties Coal Bins

Cool weather is creating a steady demand for coal in small quantities, as householders are finding that they have burned more coal this winter than they anticipated. Each cold day brings almost immediate demands on the coal dealers.

Coal strikes in the United States have created shortages, particularly of bituminous coal, but the supplies have been sufficient to carry over the strike period and meet the demands from the public. However, the outlook is none too good, and dealers are not optimistic about supplies for next winter.

Women's Institutes gave donations and substantial amounts were contribute by fire insurance companies, co-operatives and creameries. However the bulk of the money came from the thousand or more "little" donations from individuals, ranging from 25 cents to $10.

LINDSAY, April 15.—Clarence Armstrong, RR 6, Lindsay, 21-year-old machinist, who clipped two cars in a 60-m.p.h. sweep along Kent St., pleaded guilty to a drunk driving charge in police court here Wednesday morning and was sentenced to seven days in jail. Baldwin, of Brooklin, Graydon Goodfellow of Whitby and Walter Thomson, KC, of Pickering, were nomintaed from the floor, but all withdrew in favor of Mr. Gifford.

In accepting the nomination from the Ontario Riding Liberal Association, the candidate-elect assailed a speech made by Mayor Frank N. McCallum of Oshawa, Progressive Conservative candidate, when he accepted his nomination a week ago.

"The Tory candidate said that the federal government should not show a surplus of $700,000,000. Yet the next day the Ontario government reported a surplus of $26,000,000. Did any one read where McCallum said the Ontario surplus was unjust?" he asked. "That is typical Tory tactic."

A Bill Of Rights For Canada?

The Right Honourable J. L. Ilsley moved last Friday in the House of Commons:

That it is expedient to appoint a joint committee of both houses of parliament to consider the question of human rights and fundamental freedom, and the manner in which those obligations accepted by all members of the united nations may best be implemented;

And, in particular, in the light of the provisions contained in the charter of the united nations, and the establishment by the economic and social council thereof of a commission on human rights, what is the legal and constitutional situation in Canada with respect to such rights....

The resolution is not unlike other resolutions proposed in other years, but this year it is more cogent. There is alarm about communism, here and abroad; special U.N. committees have drafted and submitted to member nations a convention and a declaration on human rights on which Canada must take parliamentary action; legal and constitutional experts have stated that the Federal Government cannot legislate on human rights without infringing on provincial jurisdiction.

There are many demands that Canada should have a formal Bill of Rights which will give itemized, constitutional guarantees to safeguard the fundamental rights and human freedoms of every Canadian and which will be in line with U.N. declarations. Speakers during the parliamentary debate have pointed out recent specific abuses—the segregation of loyal Japanese-Canadians and the expropriation of their property, the treatment of various sects in various provinces (Jehovah's Witnesses, the Hutterites), the lack of the right of appeal against governmental departments' decrees, the encroachment of government and its agents on individual freedom—a state of things greatly aggravated by the voluntary surrender to war-time regulations and orders. There is the general tendency for human rights to be jeopardized through time, unless watch-dogs are baying, a tendency commented on in these words by the Marquess of Reading a year ago in the House of Lords:

> Personal freedom had for so long been the current coin of life in this country that we had been apt to forget that currency may be slowly and stealthily withdrawn from circulation, that coinage may be debased without any very evident outward signs, and it may even be deliberately counterfeited without immediate detection.

• • •

Is a Bill of Rights necessary in a country like Canada, where there is a vast body of precedent and a history stemming from Magna Carta to sustain freedom, where liberty of the subject is a birth-right unlegislated but real? When we speak of fundamental rights are we not referring to matters beyond the scope and power of a document? A doctrinaire approach to liberty and freedom is understandable in peoples who have never had freedom in the marrow of their bones. It may be a good thing to have a Bill of Rights in the United States, where in the last century hordes of immigrants fleeing restriction and feudalism sought freedom and cherished a stated declaration of human rights as a timorous, fearful bride cherished her marriage lines. The Canadian tradition is not to legislate a static policy, but to grow from precedent to precedent.

• • •

Is it possible to codify freedom, to draw up a formal, comprehensive, timeless document which will not be so vague as to be meaningless, not so specific as to sew liberty into a straight-jacket? We have now specific laws, access to the courts, a Supreme Court, a Parliament to legislate and guard our welfare, a goodly measure of free speech. Are they enough?

Some scientists now believe that man's ancestry is older than the ape's. This raises a rather alarming suspicion that man is the ancestor of the ape. Where are we going?

The Partition Of Germany

Through the speech of General Sir Brian Robertson (the British military commander in Germany) at Dusseldorf last week, Britain has made a direct appeal to the Germans to accept the division of their country as definite and to join the West under the Marshall Plan. Already "Bizonia" has been created by the Americans and British: a French negotiator, Maurice Couve de Murville, has been in consultation with the British and Americans with a view to amalgamating the French Occupation Zone with "Bizonia". The split between Russian-occupied Germany and the western provinces is obviously inescapable—the Iron Curtain is down pretty firmly—but it is not therefore desirable.

Germany is the most important nation in central Europe. The economic health of Europe depends on a good and balanced German economy. It will be difficult to secure this in a divided Germany, for the Russian zone is the food-producing area; the west, with two-thirds of the total population and wealth, is industrialized: it needs the eastern zone's food. It may, of course, be possible to reach a satisfactory trade agreement with the Russian-dominated provinces.

A second argument against the partitioning of Germany is the argument of history. The settlements of the Congress of Vienna after the Napoleonic Wars could not prevent the Franco-Prussian war and the unification of Germany under Bismarck. The Italian autonomous states had to give way to the united Italy formed by Garibaldi, Mazzini and Cavour. The Peace of Versailles of 1919 has been blamed for many of the troubles which led to the last war, chiefly because Europe was carved up without due regard for ethnological and old national boundaries. The partition of Germany and the partition of Palestine and India, are second-best measures, compromises which cannot endure. However, the best has to be made of a bad job; we must accept present political realities as the bases of present political action. The Germans may accept the division of Germany as a temporary expedient, but in the marrow of their bones they will crave for the day of a united Reich.

Canada's Part In E.R.P.

The European Recovery Program (the Marshall Plan) was ratified in the United States a week ago. Canadians are still officially thinking things over, though they have known for months that E.R.P. in some form would be authorized by the U.S. and that Canada would have an important direct share in it. The Government has made no specific plans and has taken no action other than to name a co-ordinator of E.R.P. for Canada and to set up a series of committees headed by Mr. St. Laurant. So far, the co-ordinator has nothing to co-ordinate.

There is some excuse for our slowness. E.R.P. is primarily an American proposal and until Congress accepted it, Canada could not have taken positive action. There is the further condition that Canada is short of American dollars and cannot undertake to supply goods to Europe which would deplete our dollar reserves. It is estimated that E.R.P. will mean that at least 800 million American dollars will be spent in this country, chiefly on food.

The Government must soon clarify Canada's position in E.R.P. We must have our own program, devised in consultation with Washington. The recent formation of the special committees is a sign that Canada is getting down to E.R.P. business—though tardily. Canadians are now in the embarrassing position of knowing that their past contributions to the relief of Europe's economy have been great, that there is every intention of further large assistance, but that the intentions are formless and without reality to the rest of the world, and even to ourselves. The uncertainty of the effect of American E.R.P. dollars on our trade and of our own direct contribution should be quashed by a declared program.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An Iowa man, now 83, has had his first bath in 66 years. It's not likely to become a habit at his age.

A philosopher has brought forth sixteen proofs that life is not worth living. Our experience of philosophers, however, leads us to believe that he will go right on living it.

The Chatham Police Commission is providing the local constabulary with arch supports, in an attempt to discredit the term "flatfoot"—a rude word which some underbred people apply to policemen. The next move, of course, will be to send them to a plastic surgeon for a built-in smile.

On Parliament Hill

By
A. J. THOMAS

THE members of the House of Commons reassembled on Monday April 5th, after a comparatively short Easter recess of eleven days. The Senate is still on holiday, for the more leisurely Chamber is having a three and a half week recess.

Many M.P.'s must have thought the holiday too short, for attendance on the opening Monday was meagre. At question time, the Minister for External Affairs stated that Canada associated itself with the proposal to return Trieste to Italy. The day was devoted almost entirely to a debate on the Transport Commissioners' grant of a 21 per cent. increase on railway freight rates. Maritime and western members, despite their party affiliations, spoke vehemently against the increases after Mr. Coldwell (C.C.F. leader) introduced the subject as a "definite matter of urgent public importance". He ably covered most of the usual ground of complaint which the west has been digging up for fifty years and gave a few C.C.F. quirks to it.

ON Wednesday (the 7th) the Minister of Transport, Mr. Chevrier, said that the request from seven of the nine provinces for a thirty day stay of execution of the new rates would not be granted. He announced that the Board of Transport Commissioners would be asked to "make a thorough investigation of the rate structure....with a view to the establishment of a fair and reasonable rate structure which under substantially similar circumstances and conditions will be equal in its application to all persons and localities". This did not placate the opposers of the new freight rates. The Oppposition said that the Board already had this power and that the new instructions were merely a sop.

In a clever parliamentary move Mr. Coldwell used a Government motion to go into supply to introduce what amounted to a want of confidence resolution over the freight rates. Both C.C.F. and Conservatives made the most of the opportunity, though Ontario P.C.'s and some Labour C.C.F.'s were on a path they didn't quite like. The Government set about mustering its forces. Mr. Chevrier gave a long and careful explanation in the House last Tuesday. Mr. King had to do some plain talking to Western and Maritime Liberals to bring them into line. If the C.C.F. resolution were to be carried the Government would have to call a general election on the issue of the freight rates.

TUESDAY (the sixth) was an important day for House business. The Bill to subsidize gold production — "Emergency payments to assist in meeting increased cost of production" — was given second reading after lying fallow since December; the Minister of Labour introduced the new labour code bill; the Minister of Veterans Affairs introduced a bill for increasing allowances and pensions.

As a result of the gold subsidy bill, passed the next day on third reading, mining companies will be paid part of their increased costs of production for increasing their output. The Conservatives clamoured for a free market in gold; the C.C.F. were afraid that the subsidy might encourage many companies to undertake developments at the country's cost on which they would capitalize in later years. Mr. Coldwell thought it remarkable that the Government was prepared to subsidize gold mining but not milk. This point of view was preciously expressed by Mr. Hansell (Social Credit):

Mr. HANSELL: Perhaps the Minister of Finance is wearing a nice pair of shoes.

Mr. ABBOTT: An old pair.

Mr. HANSELL: Let him remember that some poor cow had to die before he could get those shoes; and no cow ever lived without grazing on the green grass of the field. The Minister of Finance may be wearing a cotton shirt. Some cotton plant had to yield its bloom; and no cotton plant ever existed except it gained nutriment from the ground. I have mentioned food and clothing and I can also mention shelter. I do not know what kind of house the Minister of Finance lives in, but if it is a frame house the material had to come from the forest, and the trees were sustained by the ground. If the minister lives in a brick house it is just the same.

Mr. KNOWLES: He probably lives in a glass house.

Mr. HANSELL: Well, it would appear that he does.

An hon. MEMBER: Even the minerals for that come from the ground.

Mr. HANSELL: Yes; as my hon. friend says, even they come from the ground.

What I am trying to say, Mr. Speaker, is that the very lifeblood of the nation comes from the industry of agriculture; yet we can subsidize a fictitious metal that nobody eats, nobody wears and nobody builds houses with, while we permit the very lifeblood of the country to be sabotaged.

Mr. SMITH (Calgary West): It is used for paving in heaven, you know; that is what the song says.

◇ ◇ ◇

MR. MITCHELL'S new industrial disputes and relations bill is designed to replace wartime regulations which were extended as part of the emergency post-war legislation. It will apply to industries only under federal jurisdiction (like railways, radio) but paves the way for Ottawa to assume jurisdiction in other industries where the provinces give it authority. The bill provides chiefly for a cooling-off period between the time a dispute arises and the time it may result in a strike: until seven days after a conciliation board has reported to the Minister of Labour or until the Minister of Labour has advised that he does not intend to appoint a board, there can be no strike, no strike vote, or no union order to strike. Another clause states that a union must represent a majority of employees (not union voters) in the plant (or craft in the plant) in order to obtain certification as the exclusive bargaining agent. The terms of the new bill seem to be meeting with the approval of union leaders, though the second clause cited is not to the liking of some.

MR. GREGG (Minister of Veterans Affairs) introduced an amendment to the War Veterans Allowance Act which was sharply debated in committee on Friday. The Opposition parties made extravagant (uncostly to themselves) charges of the "cheese-paring", "niggardly" attitude of the Government; one Social Credit speaker said that Canada was morally bound to provide an "abundant life" for her veterans. The new amendments will supplement allowances for half the 13,000 veterans receiving them by $10 a month and probably for others. There is a means test attached to the amendment, and it is that which caused much of the Opposition's verbiage.

On Thursday Mr. Howe introduced the first parliamentary motion having to do with E.R.P. and that came about rather indirectly through a motion to amend the Export-Import Bill. The amendments, unique for peacetime, provide for government control of exports by permit, so that the Government can direct Canadian goods to E.R.P. countries and cut off Communist countries. The Bill as it now stands was used to curb the export of goods in short supply in Canada, and to prevent "back-door trading", as Mr. Howe termed it, through Canadians re-exporting goods imported from the U.S. which the U.S. would not allow to be exported to other countries than Canada. The Bill and its new amendments will be valid until 1950.

◇ ◇ ◇

A PERENNIAL private bill is a Bill of Rights for Canada. Mr. Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, wants a standing Committee of the House on Civil Liberties; the Government motion is for a special joint committee of Commons and Senate to inquire into the matter. Both Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Coldwell spoke at length, both referred to such infringements of liberty as the Japanese-Canadians suffered, and both were cautious about denying freedom of speech to certain persons whose points of view were inimical to the generality of the people. They were probably anticipating the private bill which Mr. LaCroix is sponsoring to outlaw Communists. Mr. Coldwell gave a good general statement of the problem when he said "If violence is used against those who believe in violence ... we invite and justify their violence later on".

SPRING PLANTING

Can Birds Reason?

(ST. JOHN TELEGRAPH-JOURNAL)

THERE is plenty of scope for argument in the experience of a Milton, N.S., sportsman, Mr. J. Foy Gordon, who went walking through a woodland trail with his spaniel on a leash. Suddenly a Canada jay flew in front of his face, scolding noisily, and then swooped through the air to alight on a low branch of a spruce tree 50 yards away, where it kept up its racket. The hiker started to walk on—and again the bothersome bird darted around his head, jabbering excitedly, and again it flew away to the spruce bough.

When this was all repeated still once more, the inquisitive man strode over to the tree—and saw the jay's mate on the ground, with one leg held fast by a weasel trap. He freed the bird, and though its leg was broken it could fly with ease. The two jays vanished into the upper branches of a tall tree, where their agitated chatter could still be heard as they apparently talked over the narrow escape.

Now, the question is: Did the first jay come to the human being for aid? Most of us would like to think so. We're too old now to believe as we once did, that Peter Rabbit and Jimmy Skunk carry on normal conversation in very good English. But we imagine, perhaps unconsciously, that animals and birds have their own languages in which they discuss topical questions and that their actions are governed by thought-out motives rather than instinct—especially the rabbit that knowingly tries to discourage our gardening by nibbling the tender pea shoots the day before we plan to fence the place off, and the sly robbins that eat up the red-ripe strawberries while we're in the Summer cottage hunting for the gauze net covering we used the year before. No one can tell us they don't think; in fact, they even know what we're thinking, too.

The naturalists, however, coldly objective men that they are, are inclined to believe that the Canada jay in question was not seeking help. Like any other member of the crow family, the stupid little bird-brain was raising a fuss over seeing its mate pinioned by the trap, and then, seeing the man and the strange dog approach, it flew at them in an attempt to drive them away. It was not trying to lead them to the wounded bird; it was simply alternating between two perils—the trap and the two strange beasts.

There is, as we say, lots of room for debate about this. Just let the owner of a pet canary or budgee get the ear of a naturalist and he will wish he hadn't cast doubts on bird intelligence.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time ...

Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ. (I Pet. 1: 3-5, 13.)

Letter To The Editor

SAYS C.C.F. CHASED BUT CHASTE

Sir: Put that eye-dropper away and save that tear. The C.C.F. has been followed by the Communists' whore before, and is not embarrassed.

To them we were 'stinkers' in the early thirties, acceptable in the late thirties and repugnant during the war. Apparently once more our charms are recognized.

However, dump the whole bucket for the Liberal party. Perhaps you recall the war years, the last general election and the North Grey by-election? According to the advertisements in North Grey it looks as if the Liberals walked right in under the red globe, while the C.C.F. as a party has always stayed outside.

Judging by their speeches the King boys are worried, hoping the public would forget this fiasco. To hide their shame they are making the most of what they now term "the C.C.F. embarrassment". The Tories have missed the fun altogether. They're too frigid.

Yours very truly,
WM. C. GRANT.

Why We Don't Work Harder

Only through more production of goods and foods is there any hope of getting prices down and removing the threat of inflation. To accomplish that means greater output for every worker. One doesn't have to be an economist to realize that simple lesson and yet in practically all industries output per worker is not increasing but in many cases it has diminished.

Why?

Robert P. Jellett, President of the Royal Trust Co., in a national radio address last week, answered that question bluntly. Taxes, he said, are too high.

A workman in any occupation, pointed out Mr. Jellett, is working Monday and Tuesday of every week for the Government. Directly and indirectly taxes absorb up to a third of his weekly pay cheque. True, for this money the government collects it gives us many services, but the average human being does not relish the prospect of someone else spending such a large proportion of the money he earns. Mr. Jellett put it this way:

High taxes, more perhaps than anything else, depress incentives; and if production is to be stimulated, the extra effort must receive the extra reward. To expect people to work harder, and to be practically penalized for doing so, is not to deal in the realities of human nature in a free society.

"For this reason, it would seem more realistic, and therefore more effective, if taxation upon earnings were lowered, so that the greater impetus might be given to the added effort."

Anyone with the slightest practical experience in the working of human nature must agree with that forthright statement. But getting taxes substantially reduced is not going to be easy. It will require the real cooperation of every citizen. Above all there must be a drastic change in the all-too-prevalent practice of looking to the government to provide security and services the individual should and could supply himself.

French Angel Destroys Katan While Record Crowd Shudders

By CEC. PERDUE

Maurice Tillet, the French Angel, won the main mat bout here over Katan last night. It was this writer's first view of the Angel and he is praying it will be his last. If the angels who sit in ringside seats in the hereafter even faintly resemble the French Angel, he will settle for a seat in the "greys"—or even standing room!

Some 290 pounds distastefully cover the freak form of this odd French grappler. He has large feet and powerful legs but the knees are incompatible and keep some distance apart. The legs are short and bowed to hold up a barrel body, which in turn—without benefit of neck—tries to support a head. It is a grotesque head if head it may be called—and may the writer be forgiven for a gross understatement in using the word "grotesque." He also wears arms like a clock pendulum with huge hands hanging off the ends.

Oh, That Head

But to return to the head (you couldn't get away from it) which drew gasps at first glance, and even later stare, from the record crowd of well over 2,000 in the Brock Arena. It resembled those head masks worn at the Mardi Gras or by medicine men in devil dances. It was huge, it was ugly, it—well, the writer didn't sleep at all well last night. In fact he only toyed with his steak at breakfast and shudderingly passed up the dessert of angel cake—and he screamed when the missus asked: "Don't you feel well this morning, angel?"

John Katan, at 243 rough pounds, is not a popular wrestler in this town, but one felt sorry for him in there facing the Angel in the main bout. And John was confused. He tried a choke hold, but found that you can't choke a person who has no neck. He tried to pull hair but the 43-year-old Angel and his hair have parted. He tried everything—while the Angel stuck to straight, powerful wrestling and that awful look—and finally settled disgustedly to gouging his odd opponent's eyes. The referee (as well as Tillet) took a dim view of this and actually interfered—he was a new one here, one Ernie Marcheesi. So John knocked him on his southern exposure a few times. Then he gouged some more till Ernie got back in the picture and awarded Maurice the fall. It took 24 minutes but seemed longer.

No Fallen One

And the Angel was not the fallen one the next time, either, as he took the bout in two straight falls. No time was registered on this one as the clock stopped. Katan is no beauty himself and he has knocked about the world for some 40 years, but he seemed to be weakening as he looked Angel-ward when the gong went—if squeakily. The referee wisely kept his face averted and warned John frequently even when he was only combing his hairy chest with his fingers. John did make a few half-hearted attempts to rough it up and gouge a bit, but the Angel—playing it straight like a Farmer Burns or Frank Gotch—finally clamped him with a bear-hug and after a few attempts flattened Katan. He got a hand, though no one rushed up to embrace him at the finish.

Ere reason reels, it should be mentioned that the Masked Marvel, bumping the beam at 257, won from popular Jack Page, 228 boyish California pounds, in 21 minutes of the semi-final. He used a rolling front headlock which neither he nor his bobby soxers' screams could shake. On points, Jack earned the fall as he had the rough Mask in trouble with first a standing split, (2) a stepover toehold, and (c) a series of flying tackles. The Mask escaped out of the ring but returned to conquer as boos showered his hooded head. He is a tough hombre in any language.

Let's See Now

Oh, yes, the prelim. And if one thinks of pleasant things like a raise in pay, that blonde on that beach that summer, or three fingers of orange juice—properly mixed, of course—one can partly forget the Angel, and what newsmen do for their public. So there was a prelim. and Charley Harbin, 235, won it in 24 minutes over Fred Wright, a mere 224, when Wright said he was wrong and conceded the fall. They were pretty clean—in every way—and turned in a tame effort at the start. Later Harbin roughed it up some but it wasn't too lively till near the end when Chas. got some sort of grip on the other and made him say "uncle". But that Angel...

Out-shooting Winnipeg 53-32, Edmonton ran up a five-goal lead in the first period, all within three minutes and 40 seconds, sank three more in the second and added another in the third.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Cage season here winds up Saturday aft and eve at the Collegiate when the OABA midget championships are held. PCVS plays Napanee at 2.45 as Kitchener clashes with Hamilton at 4.00. The two losers have a tilt at 7.30 p.m., and the two winners go at 8.45 for the Ontario title. St. Jerome's of Kitchener qualified by rubbing out St. Thomas, while Hamilton coasted into semi-finals over Toronto YM HA. Not much is known of the Napanee Collegians, except that they played in the EOSSA junior series and recently eliminated Regiopolis of Kingston to reach these semi-finals. PCVS are made up of seven boys who recently defended the COSSA junior championship. Barry Lowes of U. of T. and Bob Dyer of Peterborough are referees, along with Pick Leeson, the OABA secretary.

Knife and Fork League is pretty active again this spring. Lot of bean feeds lately, and more coming up. Men's City Bowling League trundlers won't be picking any head pins as they pull up to the table tonight at the Kawartha Club. And at Legion Hall on Saturday, the OHA senior "B" group champs, wives and officials will start the evening off with a dinner. Next Wednesday will see the Girls' Basketball League wind up their successful season with a spread, and the Girls' Bowling League have their "do" on May 4. These are but a few coming up, a number of clubs having dined heartily en masse in recent weeks.

According To Frost

Provincial Treasurer Leslie Frost of Lindsay hints that the amateur sports clubs may not have to pay the full 20 per cent amusement tax, according to Dan Odette. "We are considering applying the tax on the same basis generally as it was applied by the federal government," he said. "The Dominion government has not entirely moved out of the field as yet. It isn't our intention to carry it through to the point where it will become a nuisance tax. The whole bill is still being considered with what is uppermost in our minds. We are interested in doing away with any nuisance features that may arise. Hospital costs concern every person and they must not be shared by only a few."

* * * * * *

That is all to the good but political promises have paved many a long forgotten platform, and we still feel that sports associations should register with the treasurer strong disapproval of this tax on amateur athletics—few of which can afford it. The OHA and the Intercounty Baseball League are two organizations so far to have lodged official kicks, but the others should, too. Local Lacrosse Club officials inform us they will meet with other sports' bodies here—if the latter are interested—and help draft out a formal objection to the provincial proposal. Okay, but someone had better call the meeting.

"Angel Face", Ouch!

Hope no one around us whistles "Angel Face" for at least a few days as our mood is not angelic. Not after viewing the French Angel in a mat bout at the Brock last night. Even at noon today we had the missus worried by mumbling: "Only two or three chops today." Maurice Tillet is enough to take anyone's appetite. A real freak in any ring with that huge head and odd body. He had the record crowd gasping when he first appeared and they never did get used to him. The Angel is 43, stands five-nine on bowed legs, and jars the scales at 290. A powerful wrestler who uses straight tactics—no fast or fancy stuff—and he took Katan in two straight falls of the main go. A fine semi-final was served up but the fans were sore when the Mask flattened Jack Page. A fair prelim with Harbin winning over Wright.

Phonse Brioux was elected president of the City Baseball League at the annual meeting last night, and this hard-working veteran ball official earned the honor. Jack Turner is vice-prexy, Jack Billingsley secretary and Gord Young treasurer. Pat Calladine, Fred Scates and Ray Pammett so far have been named to the executive committee, with several more to be appointed yet by the officers. Financial report was presented and a general discussion took place on zones, grounds, finances, equipment and such like. Application for grounds will be made right away and another meeting called in the near future for entries. Jack Turner will attend the OBA annual this weekend.

Leafs Are Champions

Wise guys who said Leafs couldn't win last p.m. in Detroit on account of a big gate awaiting 'em Saturday in Toronto are no doubt feeling their necks today. Leafs not only won but made it a runaway with a 7-2 smirk. So they retain the Stanley Cup and it took but four final frays to convince the Wings and everyone else that they are champions by a wide margin. And the historic old trophy will stay on this side of the border at least another year. Kennedy and Watson counted two goals each last eve while Bentley scored one and aided on another. The Turk was almost unbeatable in his cord cottage. Yeah, Leafs are a great team.

What's What In Baseball

NEW YORK, April 15.—(AP). Washington Senators have turned down a deal to send pitcher Mickey Haefner to Philadelphia Phillies for shortstop Jack Albright.

Instead of adding Haefner to their roster, the Phils, barnstorming their way north with the Senators, will face him in an exhibition game.

Jack Conway, Cleveland Indian castoff, appears a cinch to open the season at second base for the New York Giants.

Conway has been filling in for the injured Bill Rigney and has fielded well and held up his own at the plate. Rigney, who has an ailing arm, has been advised by physicians to rest it from six to eight weeks.

Brooklyn Dodgers have announced that Al Gionfriddo, little outfielder who leaped to fame in the sixth frame of the world series last year against New York Yankees with a sterling catch, has been released outright to Montreal Royals in order to make room for two rookie pitchers—Dwain Sloat and John Hall.

Phil Marchildon of Philadelphia Athletics, ace pitcher, was rained out of his last pre-seasonn workout against Lexington of the North Carolina State League last night. But nevertheless he'll get the call for one of the games in Monday's opening double-header against the Red Sox in Boston.

POPULAR POLICE DOG DEAD

SYDNEY, N.S. — (CP). — Prince—idol of hundreds of school children, vital link of the R.C.M.P., and leader of canine aristocracy in the city—died recently The 70-pound, six-year-old Doberman Pinscher had more than 150 police cases to his credit.

Phonse Brioux Is Elected Prexy Of The Minor Baseball League

Phonse Brioux was elected president of the City Baseball League at the annual re-organization meeting last night in the YMCA. It was not very well attended. Jack Turner was elected vice-president, with Jack Billingsley named secretary, and Gord Young returned as treasurer. Pat Calladine, Fred Scates and Ray Pammett were chosen on the executive, with the officers having power to name three more.

Alex Kay occupied the chair for the election. Gord Young presented the financial statement, showing the league had broken about even—a few dollars up—last season. There was a general discussion on grounds, zones, finances and equipment, and the secretary will apply to the City Council, Fair Board and Board of Education for use of grounds this year. Another meeting will be called soon for entries.

Leafs Recapture Stanley Cup After Walloping Detroit Red Wings 7-2 In Final

DETROIT, April 15—(CP).—Labelled the best in history of Toronto's professional hockey clubs, the current edition of the Toronto Maple Leafs finally relaxed today — victors over Detroit Red Wings in the final for the Stanley Cup, emblem of world professional hockey supremacy. The Leafs reached the hockey heights in decisive fashion by walloping Detroit Red Wings 7-2 last night. That was their fourth victory in a row in the best-of-seven final series for the Stanley Cup. They defeated Detroit 5-3 and 4-2 at Toronto and 2-0 and 7-2 at Detroit.

TED STRICKEN—A recent appendix attack has sidelined Ted Williams, Red Sox ace hitter, and he may yet have to undergo an operation, keeping him out of action for some time.

To reach the final the Leafs beat Boston by four games to one. That was after they had smashed the Wings in two straight games at the climax of the league schedule ending March 21 to win the National Hockey League title.

"There's no doubt about it," said Conn Smythe, managing director of the Leafs last night. "This is far and away the greatest of the Toronto teams. They never failed to do what was asked. Not once did this bunch require a pep talk. They keyed themselves to rise to every occasion.

Defending Cup

Leafs actually were defending the Stanley Cup, which they won a year before in the final against Montreal Canadiens.

Clarence (Happy) Day becomes the first hockey coach to direct four Stanley Cup winners. Three other coaches have a triple win record—Pete Green of the old Ottawa Senators, Lester Patrick of New York Rangers and Dick Irvin, the latter with Leafs once and Canadiens twice.

Here's a few more Staney Cup figures:

It's the first Stanley Cup winner that Dipsy-Doodle Max Bentley has been on, although he's been a star forward for years.

Wally Stanowski and Nick Metz become the first Toronto players to play on four Stanley Cup winners. Don Metz was on the roster each time, but Don played only in two of the semi-finals this year.

And it's the third, and probably the last, Stanley Cup triumph for big, fast Sylvanus Apps, captain and centre of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Apps, after 13 seasons in the big time has said that this time he's definitely finished with active hockey.

Little Argument

The Wings put up little argument in the final game. Leafs led 3-0 in the first period, 6-1 after the second. Big Harry Watson and speedy Ted Kennedy each got two goals, with Apps, rookie Les Costello and defenceman Garth Boesch scoring the others.

Leo Reise and Pete Horcek were the only Detroiters to beat Toronto's Turk Broda.

Broda again was brilliant last night and probably earned ranking as the number one star of the whole final series. He's already clinched the NHL goalie championship over Detroit's Harry Lumley before the final opened.

CAPTURES MASTERS TOURNEY — The coveted Masters title—the blue-ribbon honor of golf—went to Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y., when he finished with a record-tying goal of 279 at the Augusta, Ga., national course. Harmon, a compact clouter, who spurns the regular pro tours because of bigger money at his home club, scored a 70 on his final round. That made it three 70's and a 69 in four days. Above, a cup of ice-water is being given to the happy winner by his equally happy wife.

Minneapolis Trounces Houston Huskies 10-2

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 15.—(AP). — Minneapolis and Houston wind up the United States Hockey League season tonight with the winner donning the playoff crown worn by Kansas City Pla-Mors for two successive seasons.

Minneapolis Millers pulled back into contention for the crown last night with a slashing 10-2 victory over Houston Huskies. The victory evened the count at two games apiece in the best-of-five playoff series.

Stan Smith and Bus Wycherley accounted for the victory. Smith scored three times, each score coming in the first period and each tally being registered with an assist from Wycherley. In addition, Smith picked up an assist later in the game, and Wycherley added a third period goal to his assists.

STILL RIDING TITLE TRAIL — Georgetown Raiders, winners of the OHA Intermediate "A" crown after a thrilling series with Markham Millionaires, start chasing the Eastern Canada title tonight in Oshawa. Mike Garlash Scores Decisive 3-Round Win

HAMILTON, April 15.—(CP). —Mike Garlash of Hamilton, scored a decisive three-round decision over Ray Levere of Niagara Falls, Ont., last night as 20 Ontario boxers battled for berths on the Canadian Olympic boxing team.

Garlash, 118, displayed plenty of skill to gain the victory over Levere, also 118.

Brian Kelley of Niagara Falls, avenged his fellow townsman's defeat later when he scored an easy three-round triumph over Pat Kelley of Brantford. Kelley, some 15 pounds lighter than his adversary, weighed in at 97 pounds in the 112 pound class.

Senators Grab 2-1 Victory Over Hamilton

TORONTO, April 15 — (CP). — There may have been many closely matched Eastern Canada senior hockey finals in previous years, but the two games played so far of the 1948 series won't take a back seat to any of them. And the remaining games promise to be in the same vein.

Ottawa Senators last night scored all their goals in the third period to squeeze out a 2-1 victory over Hamilton Tigers to even their best-of-five series at one game apiece. Last Monday at Ottawa the Tigers took a 5-4 decision from Senators.

The two goalies—Legs Fraser of Ottawa and Art Childs of Hamilton—put on a sensational duel as they came up with amazing acrobatics to stop labelled shots time and again. Childs, who handled more shots than Fraser, was especially good in the middle session.

Flashy Stu Smith was pay-off man for the Ottawa crew, firing both their goals midway through the final frame. Tigers' lone tally came from John Conick in the third period.

After scoreless first and second periods, Ottawa climbed into the lead after little more than eight minutes of play, in the third. Smith took big Butch Stahan's pass to skate right in and watch his shot trickle into the net off Child's leg. Tigers came back to tie the score four minutes later when Johnny Conick tallied, assisted by Tom Smelle and Ab Conick.

Just 21 seconds later, Smith scored his second and winning goal by taking Bobby Copp's short pass right in front of the net to slip the rubber into the corner.

Third game is scheduled for Montreal Saturday night, Senators home ice being used for a skating carnival.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Under a plan announced yesterday by the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, organized hockey will invade the smallest Ontario village. The OMHA series will be increased to 12 with the addition of juvenile D, midget D, and bantam D leagues.

A committee appointed to plan classes for referees includes A. E. Hick, Lindsay, chairman; V. M. Burr, Oshawa; Herb Parker, Stratford; President Ken Waters and Secretary Jack L. Christie.

Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott signed contracts at New York yesterday for their return title match at Yankee Stadium June 23. The champion and challenger placed their names on four separate contracts covering radio, television and movie rights as well as the fight itself.

President Al Pickard of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association announced last night at Regina that if a seventh game becomes necessary in the Lethbridge-Port Arthur best-of-seven junior Western Canada finals it will be played at Toronto April 21, and the opening game of the Memorial Cup final will be played April 23. Otherwise the Memorial Cup series will open April 21 and the Western junior series will finish at the Lakehead.

Hamilton Aerovox last night won the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B championship by defeating Toronto St. Michaels 4-3 at Hamilton. Goal-getters for Hamilton were Ankowski, Russell, Kraftcheck, and Walton. Holmes, Imonti and McDonagh scored for St. Mikes.

Plans for a lineup of Ontario and Quebec lacrosse play during the coming season will be put before a meeting of the Ontario Lacrosse Association by Quebec lacrosse officials. The plan will be discussed at a Quebec Association meeting at Quebec City Friday, will be put before the Ontario meeting and results will be discussed by the Quebec Association in Montreal Sunday.

Pitching Corps Biggest Question Mark For Leafs

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Toronto Globe and Mail

PORTSMOUTH, Va., April 15—(CP)—The pitching corps—which can make or break a baseball team—appears to be the biggest question mark with Toronto Maple Leafs this season.

Like the rest of the 1948 International League Leafs, most of the hurlers are rookies. Of nine pitchers on the present roster, only four have had a triple-A experience. All were with the tail-end Leafs last season.

Over-all, the Leafs will have the youngest and most inexperienced club in the circuit. A working agreement with Philadelphia Phillies of the National League produced plenty of potential big league material in the Leafs' Florida training camp.

Paradoxically, the Leafs will also have the oldest player in the circuit in Luke Hamelin. The 42-year-old righthander is old enough to be the father of most of the kids with whom he works.

Other Holdovers

Other holdovers from last season are southpaw Jock Thompson and righthanders Don Carter and Jim Konstanty. All but big Jim have shown promise of having a good season.

Hank Biasatti of Windsor, is the regular first baseman. He is here on option from Philadelphia. Slim Van Harrington is a holdover at second base. Puddinhead Jones, up from Terre Haute, and Jim Ackeret, from Utica, are waging a battle for third base. Shortstop is a big problem in manager Ed Sawyer's book. Rookie Dan Hasenmayer from Terre Haute has been filling the gap to date.

George Bennington, 1947 holdover, appears to be waging a losing battle for some choice Philly hands for an outfield spot. Favored so fare are Ed Sanicki, Jesse Levan, Wally Jakowczyk and Barney Lutz.

Stan Lopata, a 210-pound slugger will be the No. 1 catcher. He hit .325 with Utica where he was voted the most valuable player in the Eastern league last year.

Griffith Picks All-Star Team

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP) — Since it is part of the spring baseball ritual to recall the feats of famous old-timers, Clark Griffith (a famous old-timer himself as well as a modern club owner) consented to pick an all-star team of men he played with and against.

Here it is as relayed by Ernie Lanigan, director of baseball's Hall of Fame: Pitchers—Walter Johnson, Rube Waddell, Christy Mathewson, Cy Young; catchers — Johnny Kling, Roger Bresnahan; first base — George Sisler; second — Napoleon Lajoie; third — Jimmy Collins; short — Hans Wagner; outfield — Ty Cobb, Ed Delahanty, Tris Speaker; subs — Eddie Collins Joe Jackson.

And, brother, wouldn't Griff like to have that team at Washington now — that is until payday came around?

End of the Line

Mike Jacobs is due back in town Saturday to take charge of preparations for the Louis-Walcott fight (over his doctor's protests).

Mechanical Age Item: Doc Parshall, the veteran harness race driver, has equipped his sulky with a rear-view mirror so he can watch his rivals without turning his head.

Russians Let Convoy Through

VIENNA, April 15—(Reuters)—Russian guards today allowed a British convoy to pass through their control point on the Semmering Pass, Austria, after only a 10-minute holdup.

The convoy, four trucks carrying British soldiers, was commanded by a major.

Two other trucks were also allowed through when their drivers produced the grey four-language pass which the Russians had previously claimed was insufficient identification.

A British note of protest was to be delivered to the Russian commander in Austria, Col.-Gen. Vladimir Kurassov, over the refusal of Russian sentries to allow a British courier, carrying foreign office mail, through a Russian check point yesterday.

It was expected that the western allies would call an early meeting to discuss the "mushrooming" of Russian permit-checking points around Vienna in the last few days.

Woman 77 Homeless Can't Even Get Room

KITCHENER, April 15—(CP)—The case of a homeless 77-year-old woman points up the problem of housing for the aged. She visited the city hall yesterday to state her case.

"Babies and old ladies are just not wanted," she said, adding that she now faces the most critical situation of her lifetime. The room where she has been living is no longer available. The House of Refuge here is filled to capacity and newspaper advertisements have failed to produce results.

Miss Nora Macklin, a welfare official says that the situation now is at its worst and a number of people over 70 may be put out on the street.

Coal Strike Costs 1,400,000 Tons Steel

NEW YORK, April 15—(AP)—The coal strike in the United States will cost about 1,400,000 tons of steel, the Iron Age, a trade publication, said today.

The magazine based this estimate on the assumption the steel industry will get back to a pre-strike production rate in the next three weeks or so.

"Taking the most optimistic viewpoint possible," the publication state, "there is no chance that the steel shortage will be eliminated this year."

Charge Hughes Involved In Corrupt Deal

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—A report to the United States Congress yesterday labelled as "obviously corrupt" the wartime negotiations between the millionaire plane builder Howard Hughes, and Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers.

The Senate War Investigating Committee which drafted the document called for a law to deal with any future case of the kind.

It said such a law should demand that both private citizens and officials "report promptly all attempts at bribery, extortion or other corrupt acts in connection with the negotiation of government business."

The report includes these other findings and recommendations:

1—That War Department and Army Air Force leaders failed to conduct an adequate investigation into previous charges against Meyers and later "deliberately tried to conceal" facts from the Senate Committee.

2—That all future inquiries into "corrupt or improper activities" on the part of Air Force, Army, Navy, or other officers be conducted by a separate agency to avoid "a tendency to cover up or whitewash" cases involving officers of high rank.

3—That the Hughes Tool Company, in which Hughes holds all the stock, faces a possible "tax deficiency" for 1940-1946 of almost $8,500,000 although these "preliminary determinations" are subject to review both by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the courts.

4—That John W. Meyer, free-spending public relations man for Hughes, paid expense accounts totalling $169,661 during the five war years in an attempt to win favor of Air Force and other officials handling contracts.

DRUG PROLONGS LIFE — Little George Jason of Westminster, Mass., four, is one of a group of leukemia patients who have had at least temporary relief and a new lease on life through the use of a new drug, aminopterin. Doctors do not say that the drug is a cure for the dread disease, but say simply that in two-thirds of the tested cases it has prolonged the lives of the patients. Soviet Delegate Claims Canada Would Impose Fascism In Europe

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 14.—Canada got the accolade this week of a rubbing-over from no less an authority than Mr. Andrei Gromyko. Mr. Gromyko said Canada and Britain "do not like the existing orders in Eastern European countries and would like to see them replaced by others of a reactionary Fascist or semi-Fascist type like those in Greece and Spain."

Mr. Gromyko was upset by the notion that Czechs who had fled their country after the Communist coup might get a hearing at UN.

"Are there no Canadians," he asked, his voice throbbing in the lower register, "who would give evidence against the Canadian Government?"

The attack climaxed a very successful day for the Canadians. At the morning meeting of the Security Council, held behind closed doors in Manhattan, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton had suggested a Security Council commission to supervise a truce in Palestine.

Proposal Supported

It was a straw but ten other nations grasped at it. With three days to go before the special General Assembly meets, the contending forces in Palestine, Jews and Arabs alike, have shown a sturdy indifference to any talk of truce. While the Council was meeting, in fact, the Jewish Agency was pledging itself to set up its own state in Palestine by May 16.

The Council found itself in a decidedly uncomfortable position. Already under attack in the United States Senate, it was being flouted abroad by two half-recognized and inconsiderable groups. The Security Council is used to being flouted by major powers, but its members are not used to this total disregard by the small, weak peoples.

The Canadian suggestion, which was not sponsored by the Government of Canada, but was merely a delegate suggestion, reportedly hit the delegates as forcibly as if someone had opened a window and introduced fresh air to their discussion. Here was a way out, a way to maintain dignity.

Gromyko was present at the closed meeting and apparently agreed that the Canadian solution had merit. This did not prevent Russia from attacking Canada in the afternoon session, which was an open one and devoted to the Czech case.

The attack itself is regarded as something of an honor.

There is a strict protocol about Soviet attacks. The delegate of the USSR usually devotes himself to excoriating other members of the Big Five or some member nation which stands directly in the Soviet path. Small and middle powers are usually attacked by Ukrainians or White Russians, or by other Soviet breeds beyond the pale. Thus in the past the most bitter Soviet diatribes at Canada have been hurled by Dmitri Manuilksy of the Ukrraine, at sessions of the General Assembly.

Yesterday Gromyko himself singled out Canada.

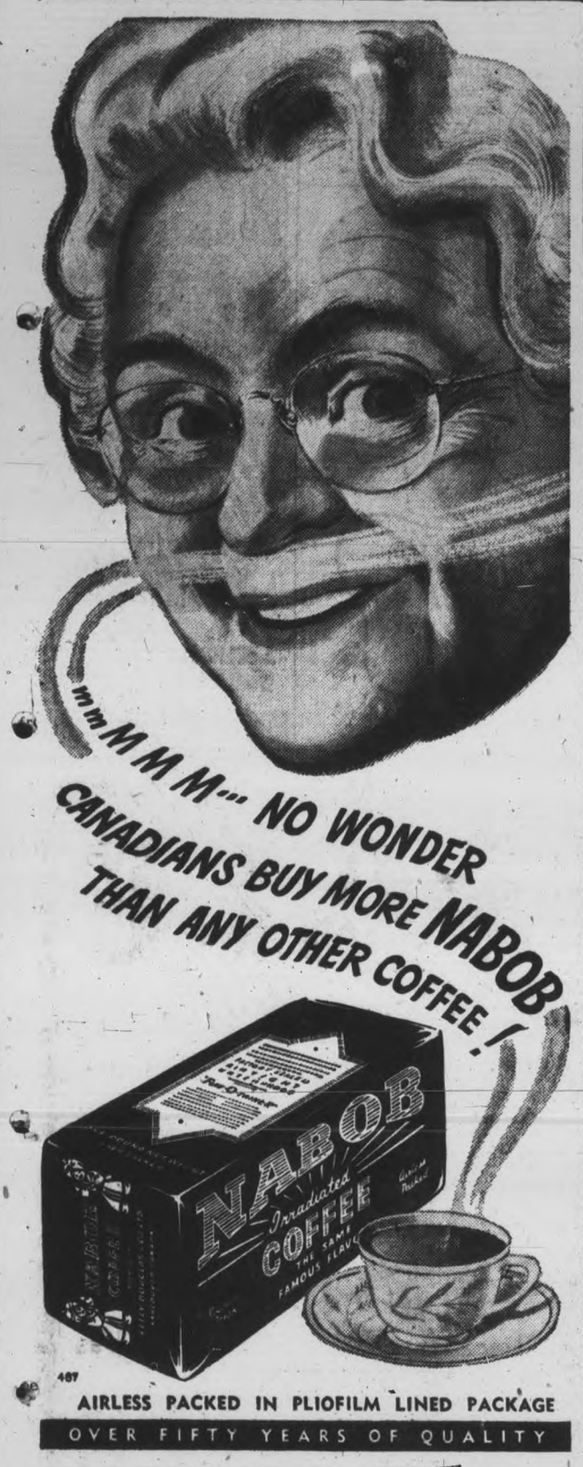
No Motive Apparent

There was no immediate and apparent motive for this attack. Canada had urged a free and full hearing for the Czech emigres, but Canada has not been too much to the fore in this debate. Canada, moreover, has no diplomatic relations with Franco Spain and has taken no part in the affairs of Greece.

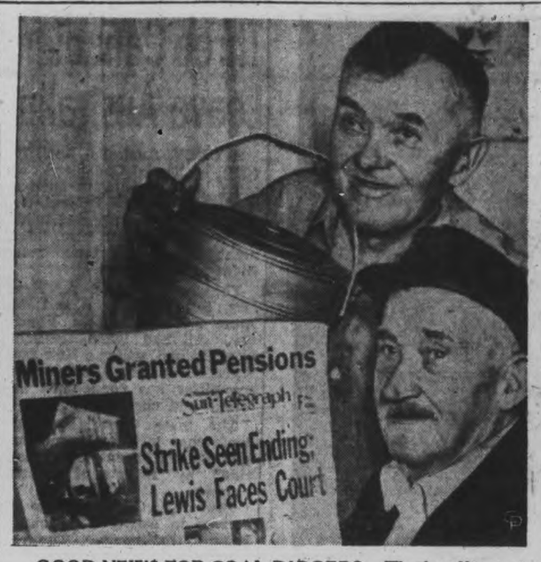
But Canada has gained something of the importance in the Security Council that she already had in the Atomic Energy Commission. In each case before the Council this year—Kashmir, Indonesia, Palestine or Czechoslovakia—General McNaughton has come forward with a review of the facts just about the time debate was reaching an impasse. In each case he has prevented the debate from quite falling to pieces and his suggestions have more than once shown the harried delegates a way out. Apparently this has drawn Soviet fire.

Strictly Unofficial

It must be emphasized that the "Canadian proposal" is not a Government-sponsored proposal at all. It came out during secret, roundtable talks yesterday in which Canada took part.



Gen. McNaughton, who will lead the Canadian delegation to the special session of the General Assembly, was present at the talks. The supervised truce plan was ascribed to Gen. McNaughton by the U.S. State Department briefing officer, who was not present at the talks and who in turn got his information from Warren Austin.



The drive to instal Gen. McNaughton as president of the special General Assembly has stalled, at the general's own wish. The Canadian is not likely to be in the chair of the Special Assembly. The chairmanship of the first committee, which L. B. Pearson had during the special session last year, will likewise be shunned by the delegate from Canada, although he may be talked into it.

Canada and other Commonwealth countries are known to favor Sir Carl Berendson of New Zealand for the presidency of the General Assembly.

The possibilities are being considered today behind closed doors as leading UN delegates confer with Trygve Lie and his assistant, Andrew Cordier.

Today's session has no official standing at all, but it will probably determine the presidency, which the Russians want for one of their own satellites. A majority are opposed to this capture of a strategic post by the Slav bloc.

GOOD NEWS FOR COAL DIGGERS—The headlines are good news to these two Coverdale miners, Frank (left) and Lawrence Grousoskey, 69 and 64 years old respectively. Both are eligible for pensions under the compromise pension plan agreed to by UMW leader John L. Lewis. The brothers started work in the Pittsburgh area back in 1907, soon after their arrival from Poland. Frank was forced to quit the mines last year because of asthma. Lawrence says he is ready to return to the pits as soon as they reopen. Pension for miners 62 years old who have put in 20 years of work in the mines is $100 a month.

Five Members Of Opposition Express Views On Rail Increase

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 15—(CP). — Anti-climatic votes on two motions of non-confidence in the Government may be recorded today in the Commons. Approximately 10 members remain to speak in the debate on the motions, moved by the Opposition when the Government refused to delay application of a 21-per-cent. increase in freight rates. Should other members decide to speak the votes may be delayed until Friday or next week.

Five members were heard yesterday. They explained why they would or would not vote confidence in the Government and gave their views on the Canadian freight-rate structure.

Gordon Isor (L-Halifax) and William Sinnott (L-Springfield) said their own provinces would suffer from the rate increase. Both concluded by saying they would support the government on the votes.

Two Opposition members—E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) and A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal) deprecated the fact that the government had not delayed the increase pending an appeal by the provinces. F. S. Zaplitny (CCF-Dauphin) argued that the increase could be blamed on the government's action in removing price controls too quickly.

First Vote

The first vote will be on the Progressive Conservative amendment for not withholding the increase until the provinces could appeal. It also urged the House to express regret that the government had failed to correct existing inequalities in the rate structure before allowing the increase.

The second vote will be on the CCF motion, moved before the rate increase became effective April 8. It urged that the government reconsider its decision and not allow the increases to become effective until the appeal of the provinces is heard.

Besires the debate, there were these developmnts:

1. Finance Minister Abbott said the government had refused to see an anti-price-rise delegation of men and women because it did not feel justified in "facilitating Communist propaganda."

2. Members agreed to re-establish the committee which annually studies the financial reports of the Canadian National Railways, Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian National West Indies Steamships.

3. Transport Minister Chevrier tabled a C.N.R. budget forecasting a 1948 deficit of $23,400,000.

4. External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said there has been no occasion for official conversations with Russian representatives since he had taken over the post of external affairs more than a year ago.

POSTERS MIX WITH PUGILISM—Pre-election feeling runs high in the streets of Rome as the fateful 18th of April (election day) comes closer. Rival groups splash walls with posters and the opposition follows to cover them up. At the left, an anti-Communist banner makes its appearance bearing the legend "Vote, or he will be your master." In the centre, a youthful billboard man pastes a red poster over it and at the right a group of belligerent political opposite numbers argue as to which has the right to do what with which poster.

Three Canadians Leave Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, April 15—(CP). — Three Canadians who came to Australia to undergo treatment by John Braund, Sydney layman who claimed to have discovered a cancer cure, left tonight by air on their return flight to Vancouver.

They are Harold A. Evans, Mrs. Ruth McIntyre and Mrs. Anne Northam, all of Vancouver. All had taken treatments from Braund, whom a New South Wales Government investigation committee has condemned as a "fraud and charlatan."

The three Canadians held a conference last week and Evans said he had been "taken for a ride" by reports of Braund's prowess.

Four other Canadians also have arrived in Australia to take the Braund treatments. They said they were in favor of Braund despite the scathing nature of the government report on his methods.

One of the other four, Mrs. Rose Otto of Victoria, will return to Canada as soon as she feels strong enough to make the flight.

Londoners Want To See Troops Reappear In Bright Pageantry

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, April 15 — (CP).— War Secretary Shinwell faces the summer with the sure prospect of having to explain again why he can't dress a few soldiers in scarlet and blue and issue some steel breastplates.

When the voice of the cuckoo is heard in the land, the Englishman's thoughts turn to cricket, country walks — and pageantry. For those who like their history in motion, the military Guards are the perfect entertainment, always the same, always free.

Battalions of children, tourists and a few adult Londoners always turn out to see the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, stare at the mounted sentries at the Horse Guards in Whitehall and watch Guardsmen drilling.

The strangers and the extremely young are content with the sparkle of quick-stepping boots, the gloss of patient horses and the glitter of long sabres. But the veterans of London life snap them into reality with:

"Oh, that! Well, you should have seen them before the war."

Before the War

Before the war, the men who now go about their traditional tasks in plain khaki were like the lilies of the field with something to do. The mounted men at the Horse Guards were glorious in bright tunics and breastplates, imposing plumes nodded from their helmets and their jackboots were like mirrors.

London had a glimpse of what it now misses when troops of the Household Cavalry, in red and blue, turned out for Princess Elizabeth's wedding, with a valiant jingling of spurs and rattle of swords.

The foot soldiers, once spots of color on the parade ground, have not been seen in their scarlet tunics and bristling busbies since the war began.

Why Pomp Is Lacking

When Shinwell is asked why these amenities have not returned, he ruffles his notes and explains:

1—Difficulties of clothing the Guards in scarlet and busbies are insurmountable.

2—An officer's outfit even before the war cost £200 to £300 ($1,200), and there are few wealthy enough to pay all expenses without cost to the state.

3—Pre-war uniforms usually are well-worn before they were put in storage and they cannot be counted on for present-day needs.

All these explanations are heard by the Commons and the matter is shelved—until the next time an MP passes the Guards on Whitehall and thinks how nice it would be to see them in bright raiment once more.

Criticize Milk Bill

TORONTO, April 15 —(CP)— Representatives of the AFL Milk Drivers and Truck Drivers Unions yesterday criticized Ontario's new Milk Control Bill. Dave Gambel, secretary-treasurer of the Milk Drivers Union said the union objected to government control of delivery routes and the number of deliveries that can be made during a week. He said in an interview that if Sunday work is prohibited, drivers may have to carry double loads on Saturday.

COSTA RICA REVOLT — A spreading revolt in Costa Rica threatens the government of President Teodoro Picado (above), according to reports. Port Limon, principal Costa Rican port on the Atlantic is said to be in rebel hands and the capital San Jose, itself is threatened. Mother Kept Shirley Temple Unspoiled Girl

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (AP). —Here are some words of advice to the new "Little Miss Marker" from the original one— Shirley Temple.

Receiving this counsel is a pert-faced, auburn-haired five-year-old from Pasadena named Mary Jayne Saunders. Chosen from 2,000 girls to play in a remake of the Damon Runyon story, she has a chance of following in the fabulous Temple footsteps. Now a wife, mother and screen veteran, Shirley was asked for her advice to Mary Jayne.

"If her mother is like mine, she won't have to worry," said Shirley, who celebrates her 19th birthday this month. "At so young an age, children don't think for themselves. They need wise mothers to keep them on an even keel.

"My mother saw to it that I led as normal a life as possible. My studio work was done like play. Mother explained the scenes to me and I learned the lines for fun."

Should Be Shielded

Shirley added that a child actress should be shielded from the thoughtless grown-ups. "She should not be allowed to hear many compliments about her work," the star advised.

She illustrated with examples of how not to treat child performers. She recalls seeing another youngster who was testing for the "Marker" role. Her mother was slapping and beating the girl in a dressing-room to work up emotion for a tearful scene (What a memory. Shirley was four at the time.)

Horrid Example.

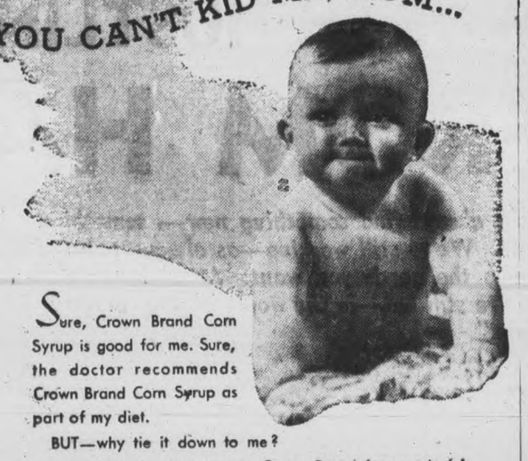
She remembers another horrid example—when a brainless director contrived to get Mrs. Temple off the set for a little while. Then, in order to get Shirley in an emotional state, he said her mother had just been maimed in an auto accident. Shirley was hysterical and her mother was furious when she returned.

Shirley agreed that mothers themselves should be tested before children are selected for the movie careers. Mrs. Temple was many times cursed by studio bosses for not bending to their demands on Shirley's services.

But parental strictness has had results. Even though she has been a film star since she can remember, Shirley is a normal, happy American girl. I imagine that is all the thanks that Mrs. Temple desires.

War Scare In U.S. "Terrifies" Visitor

LONDON, April 15 — (Reuters). — Frank Owen, editor of the Conservative Daily Mail, referring to his recent visit to the United States here today, said that the war scare over there "was not only terrific but almost terrifying."



Speaking at a club luncheon he declared: "They are in a bigger flap over there than our foreign office here last week, and that is saying somthing."

"Mr. Bevin (Foreign Secretary Bevin) might think that the Russians were coming on Wednesday but he would recover his nerve by the end of the week. But the Americans thinks the Russians are coming every day of the week, including Sunday.

COLOMBIA'S "JOHN D." TELLS OF REVOLT—Jesus Mora, who is described as the "Rockefeller of Colombia," is shown (right) with his secretary, Juan Lega, in his New York hotel suite as he told a press conference how he witnessed an orgy of rioting and burning and robbing in his revolt-torn land. Senor Mora arrived by plane from Colombia. He was in Barranquilla when, he said, mobs put the torch to churches, newspaper offices and radio stations. Many in the mob, Senor Mora said, carried the Red flag of the Communist and Liberal parties.

SEARCH FOR CANCER SOLUTION—At Canada's Chalk River atomic centre, a fourth weapon in the fight against cancer has been developed—in the form of radio-active isotopes. In picture above a research worker is using a complex apparatus to extract radio-active phosphorous isotopes from sulphur which has been irradiated in the atomic pile. Pictured below is a "Health Supervisor" at Chalk River using a portable Geiger Probe Monitor to check the equipment used by the cleaning staff for signs of radio-active contamination. Elaborate precautions must be taken to protect against dangerous radiation.

Ancient Remains Analyzed By Chemist To Chart History Of "Lost Civilizations"

By M. D. PORTMAN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 15—(AP)—A professor at Ohio State University is using detective methods to help find out how people in "lost civilizations" lived.

Dr. Earle R. Caley does it with "archaeological chemistry," by learning the chemical composition of remains found in prehistoric market places and tombs, the chemistry professor helps the archaeologist to identify materials, reconstruct trade routes and detect historical forgeries.

For instance, uranium, essential for the atom bomb, was not new to the Romans. Dr. Caley says research has uncovered evidence the Romans used a uranium mineral soon after the beginning of the Christian era.

It was found in a glass mosaic mural on the eastern side of the Gaiola Hill near Rome. Dr. Caley said chemical tests showed the green glass contained about 1.5 per cent uranium. Archaeologists at first concluded its use was accidental; apparently something a glass maker just picked up.

Chemical research, however, established the Romans sought out the uranium as something special.

Dr. Caley, who was staff chemist for excavations at Agora, the ancient market place of Athens, Greece, fingered a test tube of white powder.

"This was taken from a woman's grave of the fourth century B. C.,"

Poisonous Cosmetics

It was white lead, evidently used as a cosmetic by Greek beauties. In using it, they apparently risked death, for the lead was poisonous.

Accurate identification of ancient materials is important to the archaeologist trying to make up a true picture of ancient civilization.

"For example," Dr. Caley said, "it might not seem important to determine whether a given object is composed of brass or bronze. But a very wrong conclusion as to time of manufacture could be reached by a failure to appreciate the significance of the distinction.

"Brass was first made about the middle of the first century B. C. Bronze was used some 20 centuries earlier."

Here is how archaeological chemistry is used to detect old trade routes.

Dr. Caley said copper ore was found in prehistoric mounds in Ohio. Yet there are no copper deposits in that state.

Chemical tests showed the copper was from the Lake Superior region some 700 miles away. Obviously it was brought here by traders.

Chemical researchers delving into prehistoric European trade routes discovered that amber found in many places along the Mediterranean was dug from the shores of the Baltic, about 800 miles distant.

This showed that early European traders got around more than a little, Dr. Caley reasoned.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Strong, Newlyweds, Feted

BETHANY, April 15—(ENS).—Friends and neighbors gathered at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Strong on 7A Highway, west of Bethany, on Monday evening, offering their congratulations on the occasion of their recent wedding.

Mrs. Strong was the former Marion Sanderson of Wilberforce, and for some time was employed in the CGE, Peterborough.

The evening was spent in dancing to music supplied by Miss Evelyn Mantle and Percy Mantle.

During the supper Edgar Beer read an address of welcome to the bride and expressing the good wishes of the neighbors to both Mr. and Mrs. Strong. The committee in charge of the arrangements presented the newly married couple with a studio couch. Mr. Strong replied with thanks.

Canvassing 15 Industries Arena Drive Progressing

Drive for funds to build the Peterborough Civic Arena was given new impetus this week with the announcement that several heads of industries had stated they were one hundred per cent. behind the project, and would support it with both personal and company donations.

He said his experience with boys has shown that the ones who take an active part in athletics are rarely seen in police court.

Alderman Hugh Waddell, of the B. F. Ackerman Company, said "a secondary rink would be a great thing for the youth of Peterborough."

Frank Edgar, manager of the Lucky Strike Bait Company, said 'I am solidly behind this venture and the men who are spending so much time and energy pushing this project deserve congratulations. I intend to support this project with my personal donation and pledge cards may be distributed in the plant."

More than 15 of the largest industries are now being canvassed by voluntary workers, who are distributing pledge cards The finest response to date came from the watch department in the Western Clock Company where every one of the 68 employees contributed a total sum of $135.

Plan Re-survey To Locate Rich Ore Bodies

The mineral fields of east Peterborough will be resurveyed this year, Hon. Leslie Frost, Minister of Mines, announced in the Legislature Wednesday.

"Research parties are to be sent into eastern Ontario in the hope of reopening the area," according to a news report of the Minister's promise of a new examination of the territory including the eastern and northern townships of Peterborough and a section of Victoria county.

"Eastern Ontario may again become a great centre of iron ore mining," Mr. Frost said.

The assertion that the Blairton area was once "a great mining centre" is an overstatement of the development that was carried on there for a few years nearly three-quarters of century ago. It is a fact, however, that extensive iron ore deposits were discovered east and north of Havelock, British capital was invested in a productive operation that was eclipsed by iron mines that were opened in the Lake Superior district.

Excessive cost of transport in those early days was too heavy a handicap to the Blairton industry. Its ores had to be carried by rail to Trent Bridge, by boat through Hastings and Rice Lake to Harwood, thence by rail to Cobourg where the material was transferred to Lake Ontario boats, unloaded at United States ports with further haulage expense by rail to interior steel plants.

Had 700 People

At one time Blairton was a community of some 700 people with stores, school, church, numerous houses, railway station and mine buildings. Remnants of the place are few, but there are still heaps of tailings on the south shore of Crow lake.

Estimates of the value of the iron resources of Belmont have been increasing during recent years with improved facilities of transport, increased working facilities and diminishing ore content in other fields. The late John Sexsmith, Member of Parliament for East Peterborough for three or four terms, was typical of many of the residents of the township who died in the conviction that some day their neighborhoods would become active mining centres.

Hon. Mr. Frost promise of renewed examination of the territory is an answer to hopes and requests for a thorough investigation of the rock country on both sides of the Peterborough Hastings boundary and up through Chandos into Victoria. The nepheline discovery was one of the evidences of rewards which might be expected from expert survey in adjoining sections of that field.

The Examiner published in 1935 a series of articles discussing mining possibilities of Peterborough county. One of them was devoted to the prospects of Belmont township particularly in the resources of magnetite "the ore from which steel can be made".

Has Many Minerals

Of the Blairton area he said: "I was all around this property in company with a famous mining engineer who knew its history. It is my belief that other deposits of magnetite will be found which will compare favorably with the ores of Sweden, which are nearly always quoted in engineers' reports when speaking of the desirability of Ontario magnetite...

To the northeast of Belmont township is a gold property with extensive surface and underground equipment. A number of years ago I was one of a party who were taken through the buildings and across the property, through the courtesy of the then resident manager, and my own observation was that the English backers of it didn't expend such large sums in equipment, unless they thought gold was there."

Other deposits mentioned by Mr. Moore are basalt, limestone, mica, traprock feldspar slate, and so on. One of his comments was: "The whole area of igneous rocks is worth looking after."

Hon. Mr. Frost is not concerned only with Peterborough county, but with other areas of eastern Ontario in which mining has been carried on sporadically and in a few instances with considerably continuity for 70 or 80 years. This is one of the government's promises which will appeal to residents of the eastern section of Peterborough county.

WINS PROMOTION—Harold A. Padgham, manager of the Bank of Toronto branch at Bethany for the past 14 years, has been transferred to Oil Springs, where he will manage the bank in a new building there. He will have a staff of six.

Boy 5 Injured Struck By Car

Richard Whatby, five years old, of 218 Westcott St., suffered a broken thigh-bone and other injuries when he was struck down and run over by a car about noon Wednesday.

Ray W. Turbill, 235 Barnardo Ave., was driving west along Aylmer St., near Lake St., shortly after 12 a.m. As he approached the intersection he saw Whatby run across it diagonally. He told police he swerved to miss the child but struck him with the front bumper, knocking him down. And before he could stop the car a front wheel ran over Whatby.

Turbill stopped and together with a passenger in his car, William Williamson, 245 Woodbine Ave., carried the injured boy to a nearby store, where Dr. C. F. Cahill was called.

Whatby was then taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his injuries were diagnosed as lacerations to one ear and a hand and a broken right thighbone. He is also said to be suffering from shock.

PC Douglas Farthing investigated.

District Association Formed By Hotelmen

Twenty-four hotelmen out of 33 operators in the district met at the Grand Hotel here to form a Peterborough-Lindsay and district body within the Ontario Hotelmen's Association. E. T. Johnston, Peterborough, was elected president; M. McLarney, Port Hope, vice-president; F. K. Sheedy, Peterborough, secretary-treasurer. They appointed J. Kelly, Cobourg, and A. Dawe of Lindsay directors of the organization. The new district comprises Minden, Coboconk, Lindsay, Hastings, South Beach, Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg and Newcastle.

Their object is to enable operators to keep in closer touch with each other than is possible with the larger parent association and generally improve the hotel industry.

Parking Stickers

Nearly 200 parking stickers for delivery trucks have been sold to date by the police department. At five dollars a ticket, there is already more than $1,000 in the city coffers through the plan. Last year, when the stickers were free, there were 574 isseud. The police expect that there will be an equal number sold this year.

DOG REGISTER UP

The Social Record of the Canine World of Peterborough is now over the 350 mark at the Police Station. It is reported that this is a slight increase over this time last year, but that there is still a large number to be duly listed.

Judge Awards $398 Damages In Assault Case

William Thomas Hughey, 47, Monaghan Rd., was awarded $398.40 damages by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke in county court on Thursday in an aciton against Cameron Perritt, 23, Monaghan Rd., arising out on an assault which took place on October 25. Judge Smoke ruled that despite conflicting evidence as to who started the fight, Perritt had used "a great deal more force than was necessary."

Medical and dental bills, and the loss of three weeks' earnings while he was convalescing at home, as well as an award for pain and suffering, were included in the judgment.

Dr. Robert J. Young, physician, said he treated Hughey for injuries to his head, nose and eye on the night of the assault and subsequently treated him several other times.

Mr. Hughey walked into his office, he said with a bruise on the left side of his head, a bruised left eye, cuts on the nose, a badly broken nose, and a nose-bleed. Dr. Young said he smelt liquor on his breath and believed he "had a little too much," and was staggering. When cross-examined by the Hon. G. N. Gordon, KC., appearing for the plaintiff, he said he could not accurately determine how much was due to alcohol and how much was due to shock.

Operated On Nose

Dr. A. R. Stevenson, physician, said he treated Hughey two days later. He corroborated Dr. Young's description of the facial injuries and said he subsequently operated on the plaintiff's nose, removing part of the bone. Dr. Stevenson said this left Hughey with "reasonable breathing, but there is bound to be some permanent deformity."

Dr. E. C. McKee, dentist, said he repaired a damaged denture for the plaintiff, replacing several teeth.

Both plaintiff and defendant admitted they had been drinking in a local beverage room on the afternoon of Saturday, October 25. Hughey said he had not seen Perritt that day until he was struck a violent blow from behind while passing a laneway on the east side of Aylmer St. near King St. When he picked himself up he recognized the man as the defendant. He said he could give no explanation of the attack.

Perritt claimed that Hughey had approached himself and a mutual acquaintance, Ralph McQuade, Monaghan Ave., just before closing time; and Perritt said he agreed to drive Hughey home. When the three got outside and were about to step into a car driven by the defendant, he said Hughey swore at them and refused to go, at the same time striking him in the chest and knocking him backwards against the fender of the car.

Perritt said that in self defence he then struck Hughey three times knocking him down each time. He denied that he had jumped on the plaintiff, kicked him in the face, or used anything other than his fist.

PC Douglas Farthing testified that he and PC McDonald were just passing in the cruiser when he saw Hughey get up from the sidewalk and stand with his hands at his sides while Perritt punched him in the face. Neither constable saw Hughey knocked down, jumped on, or kicked.

Judge pointed out that the law allows a man to use force enough to defend himself and no more. And he contended that Perritt used more force than was necessary, particularly in view of Constable Farthing's evidence.

4 Major Building Projects Started Downtown; 3 Stores Sold On Water St.

The building permit for the Hayward-Reilly block of stores and offices on the west side of George St., north of Sherbrooke, is estimated at $93,000. This is to be a solid brick building in three stories. The enlargement of the Bell Telephone Co. office calls for an expenditure of $140,000. Work is under way on both these buildings.

The permit for the Cherney building at the southwest corner of George and King Streets is only a partial $8,000, indicating that a section of the work is to be undertaken at present. Ed. English is the contractor.

George Baker, who has occupied the part of the Hamilton building at that corner which was previously tenanted by the late D. D. C. Dawe as proprietor of a printing plant, is moving to Water St., and will have to be on the wing before the end of the month. Mr. Baker has bought three stores on the west side of Water St., 372-374, and will occupy the centre one for his own office and build at the rear to provide space for his own printing establishment. A news agency has been one of the tenants of the property now owned by Mr. Baker.

His immediate plan is to occupy the stores with his business until the rear extension is completed. He will then overhaul for rent the stores on either side of his office. The Baker investment is another step in the slow process of getting Water St. back on its feet, and adding another improved business street to the downtown section. It has been suggested to members of the council that the R. L. Dobbin plan of new street lighting should place Water St at the top with a demand for parity in illumination with George and Charlotte Streets.

Mr. H. J. Pearton, Bethune St., has taken a permit for a store at the southwest corner of Orpington and Monaghan Roads. Estimated cost is $3,200.

Braden Northey of Huntsville has renewed his $7,000 permit to convert into a store the dwelling at the northwest corner of Charlotte and Reid Streets.

A permit in the name of C. Harloff indicates that the former Knox building on Queen St., in later years the home of Boorman beverages, is to become a refrigeration plant. Ernest Dummitt is contractor. Estimated cost is $25,000.

Permits for eight dwellings probably amount to more than $50,000. This is not a complete list of building activities actual and prospective.

There is a steady flow of new members joining the Canadian Legion. A dozen ex-servicemen have joined during the past month.

MOH Favors Complete Survey To Combat TB

"We hope that Peterborough will have the opportunity in the next year or two of city-wide mass X-ray survey to combat tuberculosis," said Dr. R. A. Kelly, medical officer of health, in an interview on Wednesday.

"Tuberculosis is a very insidious and highly infectious disease. It can easily be passed from one person to another by people quite unaware that they have the disease, as they are not acutely ill, consequently widespread surveys are the only answer to the problem," Dr. Kelly explained.

In 1944, a mass chest X-ray survey was carried out of industrial workers in 20 local industries. Out of 7,504 people X-rayed, 62 were found to be suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis and another 11 were classified as suspects.

A smaller voluntary survey was carried out in 1945, when 1,019 people were X-rayed and three cases found of tuberculosis. Eight cases were found in 1946, in a survey of 1,977 secondary school pupils and food handlers.

Last December, arrangements were made with the two local hospitals, whereby the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association financed a bi-monthly clinic. These are held on the first Wednesday of every month at the Civic Hospital and on the third Wednesday of each month at St. Joseph's Hospital. Appointments are made through the family physician for X-ray suspects and contacts.

Doctors agree that if cases are diagnosed early enough and treatment instituted, cure can be almost assured with the minimum loss of time and money.

IT'S TIDE

. . . you've never used anything like it!

TIDE is the postwar miracle you've been waiting for! Developed as a result of wartime research, Tide does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! Expect to see something entirely different when you use Tide. Even the suds look and feel different! And those wonder suds billow up instantly even in hardest water . . . form none of that disagreeable hard-water scum . . . leave no cloudy deposits on clothes or round the tub!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

1. Washes clothes cleaner!

It's a real washday miracle, the way Tide gets the most stubborn dirt out of heavy laundry . . . even heavily soiled work clothes and greasy overalls! Tide not only leaves clothes free from ordinary dirt, but actually removes dingy soap film as well! That's why Tide washes cleaner!

2. Actually brightens colors!

Tide washes away dulling soap film left from former washings . . . leaves dainty washable colors so thoroughly clean and fresh-looking that brightness perks up like magic!

3. Never "yellows" white things!

Turn to Tide for dazzling white washes that stay white, week after week! Tide can't turn white things yellow, no matter how often you wash them or how long you store them.

4. Gives more suds—prove it in your dishpan!

Kind-to-hands suds! Faster suds! Longer-lasting suds than any soap in hardest water! Tide cuts grease like magic . . . washes dishes cleaner than any soap! No scum in the water! No greasy ring round the pan! No cloudy film on dishes and glasses! That's why they rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

Directions:

To make the Baked Bacon Slices, trim off most of the fat for the slimmers, spread with thin layer of French mustard, place in lightly buttered shallow baking dish, cover with skim milk and bake until half of milk boils away—and top is tinged brown.

The deep dish meat pie is made from 1 1-lb. strip skirt steak cut into inch cubes and floured. Saute these in about 3 tablespoons bacon fat and when golden, add enough boiling water to cover and simmer until tender—about 2¾ hours. Have ready parboiled cubes of turnip and potato, parboiled carrots, and about one-half can of drained peas. Add these vegetables to the meat. Meanwhile line sides of a deep baking-dish wtih hot water pastry. After flavouring and thickening the meat mixture, pour it into the baking dish, cover with thick top crust which is well-gashed, and crimp edges well. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes, then at 350 until pastry is baked. To give it a professional appearance, brush top with evaporated milk 10 minutes before it is finished baking. NOTE: If filling lacks liquid add some of the vegetable liquors to it before filling pie.

Your Bridge Club Friends Will Sit Up and Take Notice

By MARY MOORE

There is an undeclared but stimulating rivalry between the gals in a bridge club, the fringes of which I sometimes sit in on.

The fun of it is that two of them are close friends of mine, and when it is each ones turn to entertain the crowd they telephone me to ask for menu suggestions that are totally different. Neither one know the other telephones me. Actually anything I tell them is not so sensational—but it is merely helpful in pushing them out of their food ruts.

I heard by telephone after the party last week, that we really rang the bell. I wish I could have seen the tray of openface sandwiches I suggested that Kathryn make. She said the girls doubted that she had made them—that was the compliment supreme!

Bring out your best silver trays or chop plates or large glass sandwich plates for this—the larger the better, for it gives an impression of delicious sumptuousness and extravagance.

Openface Sandwich Suggestions

(for entertaining the bridge club)

(1) Shrimp: Some of the fish dealers are selling fresh shelled-out shrimp for $2.00 per lb. One-quarter of a pound of these, or 1 7-oz. tin will go a long way in making openface sandwiches.

Cut bread ¼-inch thick and cut into round about 2½ or 3 inches in diameter with sharp cookie cutter. Spread with butter or a canned fish spread. Place 1 shrimp in centre. With pastry bag and tube or "frosting piper" pipe stiff genuine mayonnaise around edge. Put slice of stuffed olive in centre of shrimp. Chill, covered.

(2) Egg: Slice chilled hard cooked eggs. Spread small rounds of white bread with butter which has been slightly flavoured with finely chopped green onion. Spread thickly. Carefully remove the white ring from the slices, and press into butter on round of bread. Sieve the hard-cooked egg yolks. Without mashing it, put about 1 teaspoonful of the sieved yolk in each ring of white. Around outside edge sprinkle either finely chopped parsley or place a thin ring of green pepper, or strips of canned pimiento.

(3) Cheese: Oblong strips of bread about ½-inch thick. Spread with mixture of white cream cheese and butter creamed well together. Down centre place a firmly jellied strip of tomato jelly strip of tomato jelly. Trim outside edge with half slices of stuffed olive to give a scalloped effect.

(4) Meat: Ham Spread mixed with relish spread on triangles of brown bread. Garnish with 1 slice mustard pickle, cut lengthwise to extend over full length of triangle.

General Rules

Since this type of sandwich requires time and patience and must be chilled, place the finished sandwiches on plates or platters you can cover with a lid. If you cover them with wax paper and moistened tea towel it is liable to sag and spoil your pretty garnishing effects.

Rolled Sandwiches

Cut fresh bread as thinly as possible and remove crusts. Spread with butter or creamed butter and cream cheese. Put well-salted celery stalk, or asparagus tip or watercress extending from one end. Roll firmly and pack closely until well-chilled.

Quick Pinwheel Sandwiches

Cut crust from long side of sandwich loaf and cut bread into slices lengthwise of loaf. Spread long slices with 3 or 4 different soft colorful fillings. Roll each long slice up tightly and wrap well and chill. Slice thinly just before serving time.

Write to me if you would like other fancy sandwich suggestions.

FIVE-INCH STOVE PIPE—The silver white straw hat, above, is one of the new stove pipe crown models, this particular one draped with tulle and veiling to resemble something between a medieval princess's headdress and a romantic eighties' riding hat. The crown is wide and quite five inches high, set upon a minimum lip of brim, and worn back from the brow. The veiling drape of white is dotted sparsely with black chenille, and is mounted (except over the face) on white maline. Both swathings cascade far down over the wearer's shoulders.

Here's A Pie to melt in your mouth . . . a Benson's Corn Starch Recipe to cut out and paste in your book of favourite recipes . . .

BUTTERSCOTCH PIE
1 baked pastry shell (9")
2½ cups scalded milk
½ cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
3½ to 4 tbspns. Benson's Corn Starch
½ tspn. salt
½ cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
¼ cup cold milk
2 eggs, separated
2 tbspns. butter
1 tspn. vanilla

Scald milk in top of double boiler over boiling water; stir in Crown Brand Syrup. Blend Benson's Corn Starch, salt and brown sugar with cold milk; add to hot milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thick. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour a little of the hot mixture over slightly beaten egg yolks, then return to double boiler and blend. Cook 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat, add butter and vanilla; beat with rotary beater until smooth and creamy. Pour into baked shell and top with a meringue prepared from the two remaining egg whites.

Baby's Mealtimes may cause confusion in the kitchen — but they're lots of fun for you and baby, too—when you feed him Heins Strained Baby Foods! He'll love them . . . they're cooked to his taste—just right for his tummy—for they're vacuum-sealed and so easy for him to digest. After his first birthday, when you vary his diet with Heins Junior Foods — he'll grin with delight when he tastes those good chopped and diced vegetables—the three desserts and the complete Vegetable Beef Dinner! And when you're buying Heins Baby and Junior Foods . . . remember—they're backed by that famous HEINZ reputation for quality!

Know What's in that Bowl? Good health, for one thing . . . energy to burn . . . and fine flavour. All Was Quiet in the Little Auto Camp just outside of Vancouver. Suddenly, from her cabin window, one of the guests saw a glare in the distance. A trailer in which 74-year-old Thomas Whittaker was sleeping had burst into flames. Running to Jack Somersby's cottage, the woman told him of the fire. He told her to call an ambulance and rushed to the blazing trailer. Wrenching the door open, he entered the fiery vehicle and in a few seconds had Mr. Whittaker outside and on the ground. The old man's hair and clothing were on fire and Jack Somersby, in desperation, used his own hands and body to extinguish the flames. Minutes later, both Thomas Whittaker and his rescuer were on the way to the hospital where, in spite of Jack Somersby's heroic rescue, the older man failed to recover. As a tribute to his gallantry . . . the DOW AWARD, including a $100 Canada Savings Bond, is being presented to Mr. Jack Somersby of Vancouver, B.C. The DOW AWARD, presented from time to time to a Canadian hero or heroine for outstanding bravery, is sponsored by DOW BREWERY in Montreal.

Further organization will take place later and a name will be chosen for the group. Members continued work on a handsome quilt and enjoyed a pleasant social hour. All were most interested in reading a letter received by one member from her relative in England who was Lieut. Philip Mountbatten's schoolmaster. As a guest at the royal wedding in November, he was able to describe it in detail. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting, with members of the Soroptimist Club assisting.

Fight Communism In Every Way IODE Warned

HAMILTON, April 15 (CP)—The national president of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire last night warned Canadians to fight Communism if they wanted to prevent a "bloody revolution" in Canada.

"If we don't fight Communism when we find it we will be letting down the men who died for us in the Second World War," said Mrs. Ryland H. New of Oakville. She addressed 500 delegates to the 28th annual convention of the Ontario chapters of the I.O.D.E.

If it wasn't possible to fight Communism in the open, then Canadians should play the Communists' game and "fight any way we can." Young Canadians should keep their eyes wide open, because they were the ones who would shoulder the burden if another war broke out.

Mrs. New said Communists intended to infiltrate organized youth organizations and had already subtly made their presence felt in church young people's groups nad Sunday schools. To achieve their ends, Communists were advised to join churches when necessary.

The program today called for the delegates from all parts of Ontario to elect 60 officers for the coming year, to consider resolutions and to hear an address tonight by President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto. The three-day convention will end tomorrow.

Afternoon sessions yesterday were devoted to reports of provincial conveners who presented a record of achievement described as "far surpassing anything hitherto recorded in their chapters."

A total of $108,485.08 had been spent by the provincial chapters in postwar work. Tons of clothing and food had been sent overseas to war ravaged countries and the work still continued.

Suitable motion pictures for children also came up for discussion. Mrs. D. W. McGibbon, of Toronto, said that the I.O.D.E. had been urging theatre managers to show only non-adult pictures during Saturday matinees.

In her presidential address, Mrs Lionel H. Millen of Port Nelson suggested classroom training in democratic principles. She later was presented with a life membership in the national I.O.D.E chapter.

Mrs. W. Logan Heads Bowlers

Ladies' Bowling Club of Knox United Church held their closing banquet and annual meeting on Tuesday evening in the lecture hall. The Rev. H. G. Douglas was chairman and Mrs. W. G. Atkinson, president, welcomed the guests. The Rev. Wm. McDonald was a special guest and gave a fine talk on the work of the church and the friendship circle.

In the election of officers, Mrs. W. Logan was chosen as president. Others are: Vice-President, Mrs J. Lancashire; Treasurer, Mrs. W Cowan; Secretary, Mrs. M. Linsey; Games Committee, Mrs. G Hill; Telephone Committee, Mrs G. McIntyre and Mrs. W. Atkinson; prizes, Mrs. H. Lewis and Mrs W. C. Bennett. Business of the year was reviewed and Mrs. Cowan gave a financial report.

A presentation was made to Mrs. G. McIntyre by the president in appreciation of excellent work during nine years' service on the games committee. Mrs. H. Lewis presented Mrs. Atkinson with a nice gift in recognition of four years' service as president. Bowling prizes were presented by Mrs. H. G. Douglas, assisted by Mrs. Lewis. Winning teams were: first, Mrs. G. Smith; second, Mrs. H Lewis; third, Mrs. O. Hurrle; consolation, Mrs. W. C. Bennett. Attendance prize was won by Mrs. R. Shadgett's team.

During the evening Mrs. Norman Hughes sang two solos, accompanied by Miss Phyllis Kidd.

B. B. Mothers Are Winners Use Earnings for Layettes

A record crowd gathered early Thursday in the tea room of Trinity Church parlors to see the Rev. Dr. Gordon and members of the Baby Band take part in making a recording for a radio broadcast. Mothers of children under six years who appeared as contestants were Mrs. L. W. Thompson, Mrs. Oscar Jamieson, Mrs. Roy Phillips and Mrs. Ron Kempt. A special prize of $35 was won by Mrs. Phillips and smaller amounts by others. The total sum will be used to buy material for the layettes which are made by members for shipment overseas and in answer to other calls. Samples of this work were on display.

Guests were received by Mrs. W. R. Philp, president; Mrs. D. B. Gordon and Mrs. Eric Edmondson, vice-president. Ticket convener was Mrs. D Delaney Following the program, Mrs. N. E. Elliott, convener of the annual spring blossom team, invited all to stay for refreshments. Mrs. O. Jamieson, Mrs. H. D. Dobson and Mrs. R. Kempt entertained with musical selections.

Booths for home cooking, novelties and greeting cards were made most attractive with frilled paper decorations in pale green and yellow. Those selling baked goods were: Mrs. R. Burnside, Mrs. W. Taylor, Mrs. K. Barltrop, Mrs. G. Woodcock, Mrs C. Huffman, Mrs. M. Johnston and Mrs. C. Spearin. At the "white elephant" table were Mrs. C. Kernahan, Mrs. C. McIntyre and Mrs. J. McFadden, and the cards were for sale by Mrs. R. Roberts and Mrs. J. Nicholls.

Birds, butterflies and spring flowers around the walls gave the illusion of being in a lovely spring garden, in spite of cold winds and rain outside. Beautiful pink snapdragon, in a low silver bowl, centreing the tea table, were in keeping, and yellow tapers glowed warmly, held high in triple silver candlebrae. A handsome Madeira linen cloth was used and beautiful silver tea appointments. Pouring tea were Mrs. E. Alton, Mrs. S. D. Carver, Mrs. A. Legon and Mrs. V. Skitch.

The tea room hosteesses were Mrs. R. Allen and Mrs. M. Elliot. Serving were Mrs. R. Dimma, Mrs. N. Harrison, Mrs. F. Heard, Mrs. R. Kempt, Mrs. L Labrash, Mrs. K. McVety, Mrs E. McWilliams, Mrs. G. Northey, Mrs. J. Carter, Mrs. R. Ritchie, Mrs. J. Skitch, Mrs. F. Stenson, Mrs. R. Seabrooke, Mrs L. W. Thompson, Mrs. G. White, Mrs. E. Wellman, Mrs. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. Wishart, Mrs. J. Miss Jean Fairburn delighted with two fine readings.

A vote of thanks to the guests was moved by the president, and to the WA members who served by Mrs. V. Grainger.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Advancing Age is Friend Not Enemy of Femininity

The reason that women hate Time so bitterly is because they believe that it robs them of all of their good looks, but it bestows beauty quite as often as it take it away. Nevertheless the one thing that women fear and dread more than anything else in the world is age. They consider that Time is their deadliest enemy.

Most women envy young girls. They need not. In reality, a young girl is a poor, defenceless little creature, with only one ace in the hole. Good looks. And if Nature fails to lavish upon her a peaches-and-cream complexion, a willowy figure and naturally wavy hair, she is lost. Sunk. She has nothing with which to cover up her defects. No artifice with which she can camouflage her lack of attractions.

Dorothy Dix

Not so the middle-aged woman. She has a thousand resources at her command, and if she loses out on one she can cash in on another. Above all, she has acquired the skill of playing the game that only experience can give. For to know how to live you must have lived. You must have learned to know other people and how to adjust yourself to them. You must have learned to be adaptable to circumstances. You must have learned how to give and take. You must have learned not to be overly puffed up by success or too cast down by defeat.

Age Lends Serenity

No young girl can know these things, but they are the consolation prize that Time brings in its hands to a woman, and it is what gives the middle-aged woman her serenity, her tolerance, her philosophic viewpoint, and makes her a companion of whom you never weary, whereas you tire of a sweet young thing as soon as you have had a good look at her pretty face.

Then by the time a woman is middle-aged she can have made herself so interesting that her looks do not really matter. It is only after a woman has been through the vital experiences of life, after she has known love and marriage and birth and death and struggle and strain, and has laughed and cried and thought and tried to solve the meaning of things, that she has anything to say that is worth listening to.

Intelligence may not be a substitute for youth and beauty at first glance, but it beats them out for the long pull. As a matter of fact, we never think of a woman's age or looks, as long as she keeps us entertained and amused. When you hear it said that a man has forsaken his wife because she is old, it is generally a misstatement. What he has really left her for is because she is dull and stupid and bored him to death.

And chief of all the good things that Time brings a woman is understanding. Sympathy. Knowledge of how to smooth other people's fur the right way. No young girl has that. It is the treasure-trove of years of living, and when a woman has acquired that, then Time and experience have given her a charm far above any that youth possesses.

If women would only have the wisdom to accept the gifts that Time brings them, they would come to know that the passing of the years are not to be looked upon with such dread.

CHARMING AND USEFUL—It takes a good piece of sartorial know-how to create a dress, that while it has a casual air about it, can appear with aplomb at any after-dark occasion, save that of a very dressy or formal type. A good dress of this genre, and young and pretty, is this torso-hugging bodice of red and green pure silk foulard. Waist-whittling and tight-fitting over the hips, it wafts into a wide skirt of emerald green pure silk, tissue-thin taffeta.

CANADA'S SUNDAY SCHOOLS

MONTREAL — (CP). — Nearly 1,000,000 Canadian boys and girls are being trained in Sunday schools under 100,000 voluntary leaders, Rev. Nelson Chappel of Toronto, secretary of the department of Christian education of the Canadian council of churches, told a meeting here.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 16

It may be difficult to gain much headway against stubborn blocks, defeats and frustrations holding over from a period of trickery, fraudulent contacts with designing persons intent on ruin and sinister purpose. This may have reaction on the public mind, as well as inducing lack of cooperation from those whose aid influence and finances may be vital. Maintain calm and integrity rather than make any attempts to force the issues. Time may prove to bring complete vindication and final success.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are likely to be thwarted by a sinister intend at trickery, intrigue and other forms of illicit and sordid purpose, Such involvements may find regrettable reaction on public opinion and be responsible for the want of support or personal approbation of those whose good opinions and trust are of urgent importance. It would be well to cultivate an attitude of calm and steadfastness rather than to blow up fires of resentment and vindicativeness. Postpone activity until a normal turn of the tide and final vindication.

A child born on this day may be the vicitim of intrigue and suspicion, precipitated by consorting with unworthy or designing persons.

"Catch on, Mother?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

REVERSE PLAY PRETTY

"REVERSE dummy" play can be extremely pretty. This term is used to describe tactics whereby the declarer treats the dummy as the master hand, ruffing out losers with his own trumps instead of with those in the dummy. It is especially neat to watch if the dummy's trump holding is of only about three cards. Fine players ordinarily employ this method only when the dummy is nearer to being set up than their own holding. It can result in making many a contract which would be hopeless otherwise.

Edmund Freneau, of Summit, one of New Jersey's leading entrants in New York's Union League Club tournaments, put up brilliant play to gain a fine score on this deal. You would think that, if the club finesse was guessed wrong, the declarer would have a hard time of it, but not he.

The spade 8 lead was taken by the singleton A and, after study, Mr. Freneau decided to establish the dummy instead of his own hand. He scored the club A and finessed the J against West because the latter had bid, but the Q won. East then led his diamond Q to knock out the K as a side entry for dummy's hearts, but it was allowed to run to the A. Now the club K cleared trumps, the 10 was used for a discard of the diamond 8—itself an unusual play—and the heart A, K and Q were scored.

When those tricks showed West still holding the heart J, a ruff of the heart 2 by the last club, the 9, set up the suit. The diamond 3 to the K furnished entry then to complete the play with the heart 10 and 3.

How would you try for 6-Spades after West leads the spade 7?

6—In Memoriam

ILLINGWORTH— In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Harry Illingworth, who passed away April 16, 1938.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps her ever near us,
Though she died ten years ago.
—Remembered by Husband and Family.

KENT—In loving memory of Jessie Elizabeth, who passed away April 15, 1943.
Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because she was one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

KENT—In loving memory of a dear mother, Jessie Elizabeth, who passed away April 15, 1943.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find.
—Always loved and remembered by daughters, Pearl, Hazel and Ella.

PRESTON— In loving memory of my dear mother, Hannah Preston, who passed away April 15, 1943.
Another year has passed
Five in all, it's true,
Still we cherish
Loving memories of you
Many changes have come to pass
Since you went away,
Ming Toy is gone,
And Buster, too,
Each one holding
Fond memories of you.
Memories of you
In our garden fair,
Beside the pool
In your favorite chair.
Memories that crowd in
On my lonely hours,
As I sit all alone
With no one around.
My joys or troubles to share.
How I miss your smile,
Your words of cheer,
Your helping hand,
And loving care.
But I try to be brave
And my grief not to show
Yet many a tear is shed, 'tis true,
When I'm all alone
With only my memories of you.
Still I carry on and do my best,
For whatever happens
Or comes to pass
Your memory will linger
Right up to the last.
—Sadly missed by Sherman.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of Lieut. Fred Williams, 48th Highlanders, killed in action in Holland April 15, 1945.
Father in Thy precious keeping
Leave we now our loved one sleeping.
—Ever in our hearts, mother, grandmother and sister.

WALL—In memory of mother, Mrs. M. Wall, who passed away April 15, 1932.
God knew how she was suffering,
And could not bear her pair
So he took her home to Heaven
Where we all will meet again.
—Ever remembered by son Harold and family.

WALL — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Maude Wall, who passed away April 15, 1932.
Only a memory of bygone days,
And a sigh for a face unseen.
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
Sometimes it's hard to understand
Why some things have to be;
But in His wisdom He has planned
Beyond our power to see.
—Ever remembered by Cressa and Kenneth.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of my dear brother, Lieut. Fred Williams of the 48th Highlanders, killed in Holland April 15, 1945.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget
And though the years be many or few
We'll always be thinking dear Fred of you.
—Dearly loved and remembered by Haddie, Paul and children.

WILLIAMS—In loving memory of Lieut. Fred Williams, killed April 15, 1945, in Holland.
The garment of his soul has passed away
The shining spirit and the love light stay,
The echo of his voice, his eyes, his smile,
Just as they were with us all the while.
—Remembered by June Wilkinson.

Two Men Admit Making Butter Profit

OTTAWA, April 15 (CP)—The special committee on prices today is scheduled to complete its investigation into butter and turn its attention to meat.

Two witnesses remain to be called before butter is finished. However, committee members indicated one of them might not be heard.

Yesterday in its probe into butter prices the committee questioned two witnesses who admitted they had bought butter on speculation and profited by it. They were Moe Baron and Joseph Souliere, both of Montreal.

Mr. Couliere said he had bought 24,860 pounds last July and sold it 17 days later for a profit of 3¼ cents a pound. Asked why he had purchased it when his normal occupation was selling insurance, he replied:

"I figured with rationing coming off it was a good buy."

Mr. Baron said he had bought two lots last autumn and sold both at a profit. Committee members pointed out to him that an order-in-council forbidding the purchase or holding of larger quantities of commodities than is reasonable in a man's business still is in force.

Didn't Know Law

When R. H. Winters (L—Queens-Lunenburg) asked Mr. Baron if he felt he had observed the order, the witness sought the protection of the chairman on the advice of committee counsel, Fabio Monet. He had earlier explained that he believed the order was not in force when he made his transactions.

The committee decided to refer to the Prices Board the case of a Port Arthur Man who had admitted by letter having made a gross profit of $10,000 through purchasing more than 200,000 pounds of butter.

One man summoned reported that he was ill, but had provided the information requested by the committee. His case was dropped.

A third, A. Guild of Montreal, also reported that he was too ill to attend but had not replied to letters asking for information. The committee decided to follow up the matter.

Hope Major Flood Averted Along Ohio

CINCINNATI, April 15—(AP).—Hopes of averting a major flood disaster in the Ohio River valley brightened today with forecasts of little rain for the next two days.

The Ohio, already at its sixth highest level in 64 years, still rose about four inches an hour. However, rivermen predicted only a little more damage than is usual each spring—unless there is more rain.

Two deaths, in West Virginia and Kentucky, were attributed to the swollen streams as flood conditions entered their fourth day. Meanwhile, the Red Cross cared for almost 3,800 families flooded from lowland homes in Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Fined $10 And Costs

Only drunk case before the court today was that of Philip Cloutier, 377 George St., South, who was found guilty on the evidence of being drunk in a public place, and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate Philp. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Blames Sabotage

LONDON, April 15, (Reuters)—Air Vice-Marchal D. C. T. Bennett, former chief executive of British South American Airways, suggested to a court of inquiry here yesterday that the loss of the Tudor IV air liner Star Tiger on a flight from the Azores to Bermuda last January was more likely to have been caused by sabotage than by "any wild suppositions of flying nature."

Trent System Free Of Floods

Spring conditions in the Trent waterway system have been normal this year according to a report from the superintendent's office in Peterborough. People who reside here and maintain cottages at close-by resort areas are naturally interested in how spring has fared with them individually. Officials state they have had no reports complaining of flooding conditions or damage caused by ice. The water was higher than average but did not reach dangerous proportions.

The Trent system is divided by a watershed that follows a line roughly from Cannington to Dorset. This height of land determines the flow of water east into Lake Ontario and west to Georgian Bay. Spring flood conditions in the western section are reported to be normal.

Honor Ross Munro

TORONTO, April 15 —(CP)—Members of the Canadian Press today paid formal tribute to Ross Munro, former war correspondent, on his resignation from the National News Co-operative to join the Southam newspaper group. Maj. H. B. Burgoyne of St. Catharines presented Munro with a silver tray in behalf of the CP membership.

West Coast Strike Settlement Expected

VANCOUVER, April 15—(CP)—Immediate settlement of the 45-day strike of west coast deep-sea ships' officers was anticipated today following announcement by shipowners that no penalties would be imposed.

The question of "penalization," deduction of two days pay for each day the officers were on strike, previously had been claimed by officers' spokesmen as the sole obstacle to settlement. The walkout of the three unions in both coasts, which began March 2, was settled earlier this week on the east coast.

George McKee, secretary-treasurer of the Shipowners association (Deep-Sea) of British Columbia, said last night the striking unions have been informed:

"We are prepared to agree to a settlement of the current dispute on the same conditions as those implemented by east shipowners."

Cut Cost Of Airport By $50,000 Amount

KITCHENER, April 15.—(CP).—Cost of the proposed Kossuth airport to the five municipalities concerned will be cut by at least $50,000, it was learned today.

A Department of Transportation survey has cut the number of acres needed from 1,100 to 620 and so cut the purchase price of the site almost 50 per cent.

The Wellington-Waterloo Airport Commission, which is formed by the municipalities of Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Guelph and Preston, was to assume $170,000 of the project's cost. The Dominion Government's share remains at $520,000.

Talk About Election Still Tells Nothing

TORONTO, April 15 —(CP)—There was talk of elections in the Ontario Legislature yesterday—but it was questionable if the talk threw any light on the possibility of a provincial general election this year.

Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell said he had been impressed with references publicly made by the leader of the opposition and the leaders of other groups to the probability of an election this year.

"Personally I have heard no discussion about it in government circles," he said. "This discussion which is initiated by the leader of the opposition, the leader of the C.C.F. and of the Communist party is merely an indication that if those different parties had the record of this government they would immediately hold an election."

Russ Influence Up To Canadians

MONTREAL, April 15 (CP)—Walter Harris, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, said last night the "real question" for Canadians is how far they are prepared to see Russian military influence spread.

Communism is a major problem in world affairs, he told the Westmount Rotary Club.

"First of all," he said, "let us tolerate no nonsense within our own borders from people who wish to take advantage of our free institutions to betray the interests of this country."

"Second, let us realize that Communism has never established itself in any country without the support of Soviet troops."

"The real question, therefore, is how far we as individuals in Canada are prepared to see the military influence of the Russian government spread. Where must we draw the line against the expansion of Soviet military power?

Economic Battle Going Better

By The Canadian Press

If the world weren't so beetle-browed just now, it might well stop for a moment and give a cheer to what it is accomplishing in perhaps the closest and most fateful economic struggles of all time.

For the last year or more it has, even in the midst of great activity, been on the edge of economic disaster. Europe seemed virtually helpless in problems which seemed likely to bring political chaos in its train. The pound sterling and the area which operates on it were on the brink only a few weeks ago. There were signs that even North America might be slowing down.

The struggle goes on, but for now at least, there are rays of hope.

Sir Stafford Cripps yesterday, though refusing to be over-optimistic, conceded that production figures for the first quarter of 1948 are on the whole an encouraging index to the country's industrial recovery. He summed things up when he said that by the time the European Recovery Program ends Britain and the 15 other participating western countries must be able to stand on their own feet and be independent of extraordinary outside aid.

That, of course, is the crux of the situation — the prospect that E.R.P. will supply the aid needed to get a producing and trading world going again.

Margaret C. Wrong Dies

TORONTO, April 15. (CP)— Word was received yesterday of the death at Gulu, Uganda, East Africa, of Margaret Christian Wrong, 61-year-old secretary of the International committee of Christian Literature for Africa. She was a daughter of Prof. George M. Wrong of the University of Toronto's history department and a sister of Hume H. Wrong, Canadian ambassador to the United States.

GOOD SAP FLOW

WOODSTOCK, Ont. — (CP). — A good flow of maple sap is reported here and "boiling" operations are in full swing. Residents are tapping from two to six trees in front and back yards with excellent results.

Plans To Assist Race Tracks

TORONTO, April 15. (CP)— Ontario has decided to extend assistance to race tracks so that they can continue to operate, provincial Treasurer Frost told the legislature yesterday.

He forecast government action while explaining a bill which amends the Race Tracks Act. The bill, approved in committee, gives the province authority to change the provincial tax on race tracks at any time during the year. At present the tax may be changed only at the beginning of each fiscal year.

Race tracks lost substantial amounts under current operation, Mr. Frost said. Breeders and owners of horses could not have operated last year without the increase in purses to $1,350. This increase cost $325,000 for the year and meant that all tracks except Fort Erie wound up with a deficit.

Another cause of the track deficit was the higher cost of upkeep and operation, Mr. Frost said.

He did not say exactly how the province plans to aid the tracks although under provisions of this bill the province could do it by reducing the amount of provincial tax.

At present the province takes 10 per cent while the Dominion gets five per cent. The track takes from two per cent to seven per cent of the money bet. This take is not enough for them to operate, Mr. Frost said.

If present conditions continue it might mean that the tracks in Ontario would not open at all this year, Mr. Frost said. If this were to happen Ontario horses would be transported across the border to the United States and Ontario's breeding stock would be "irreparably damaged."

Wage Contract Talks Lag

DETROIT, April 15 — (AP). — Wage-contract talks with two of the three largest automobile companies took a definite turn for the worse yesterday.

An emergency call to leaders of United Automobile Workers (CIO) in a Chrysler Corp. plants to gather here Saturday touched off strike talk for the first time since the auto industry's 1948 negotiations started six weeks ago.

At General Motors, biggest car producer of all, a company-union row over forthcoming union shop elections snagged discussions of a new contract covering 225,000 employees. The U.A.W. accused G.M. of trying to hold down the vote in an attempt to defeat a union shop.

The Chrysler action brought speculation that a strike would be authorized by delegates representing 70,000 Chrysler workers.

The announcement of the delegate meeting made no mention of the word strike. But Norman Matthews, the union's national Chrysler director, said the union representatives will "evaluate the union's position and take whatever action they deem necessary to expedite the winning of our demands."

All strike notices required by Federal and state law have been filed. Negotiations got under way Feb. 27 but they are reported deadlocked. The union is asking Chrysler for a 30-cent hourly wage increase, company-financed health and pension funds, improved vacations and a guaranteed weekly wage.

Western Europe Signs Charter To Stabilize Their Tottering Economy

Believe Recovery Plan Strongest Move To Secure World Peace; Briton Named First President Of Group

PARIS, April 16—(AP).—Western Europe formally bound itself today to stand united in order to avoid falling divided into deeper poverty and war. It did so in a 3,000-word charter signed in Paris. The charter created a "European organization of economic co-operation." This organization is designed to assure efficient use of the $5,300,000,000 the United States has pledged in the European recovery program.

The charter was signed at a meeting of representatives of the 16 Marshall-plan countries and occupied western Germany, among them many foreign ministers. The meeting was called to order by Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain in the French foreign ministry's clock room.

The organization elected Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium as chairman of the Council. He was nominated by Foreign Secretary Bevin. Britain's Sir Edmand Hall-Patch was named president of the guiding executive committee. Robert Marjolin of France, was named secretary-general.

Named to the executive committee for a one-year term were representatives of Britain, France, Italy, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the Netherlands.

The preamble says, "a strong and prosperous European economy will contribute to the maintenance of peace."

The document names these contracting powers: Austria, Belgium, Britain, Denmark, France, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Norway, The Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the French, British and American zones of Germany.

Cocktail Bars Cut Drinking Drew Declares

TORONTO, April 16 —(CP)— Premier Drew last night defended Ontario's liquor policy with the statement in the legislature that since the introduction of cocktail bars there has been a decrease in the consumption of hard liquor.

Since April, 1947, when cocktail bars first went into operation, there was consumed 55,784 gallons less than the same period of the previous year, the premier declared.

"This is the first positive evidence we have been able to show of our practical attempt to guide the people toward a temperate approach to the liquor problem."

Premier Drew said Ontario's liquor program was one designed to "bring people out of the bedrooms and into the open." He declared that before institution of cocktail bars hotel bedrooms were the centre of great abuses in drinking.

Taught In Schools

Answering what he said was criticism of the Ontario approach to temperance education, Premier Drew said there is "extensive temperance education" in the schools of this province. There was some teaching in the elementary schools and advanced education on temperance in the high schools.

The reason there was not more awareness of this teaching was that it was not segregated in Ontario schools. Premier Drew said it is the opinion of his department that it is much better to teach temperance in the broad field of health instead of making it a separate subject which from the psychological viewpoint might defeat its own aim.

Premier Drew said "prohibition could not be considered a practical approach to this problem." For one thing, he said, it could not be properly enforced and it had never worked. Thus the government decided on "legislation to establish laws which can be enforced."

Flood Fears Fade

CINCINNATI, April 16.—(AP).—Hundreds of Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana residents scrambled to higher ground today as the crest of the flooded Ohio river rolled past West Virginia on its way to the Mississippi. Damage fears faded. Drier weather apparently had robbed the swollen stream of the record depth and destruction feared by river men.

Committee Begins Meat Investigation

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP). — The prices committee today started questioning a series of witnesses on meat prices. Coupsel H. A. Dyde estimated the process will last through the next 15 sessions and occupy the committee for at least a fortnight.

The probe into meat prices started yesterday when Mr. Dyde placed before the committee a mass of background material, largely statistical. He invited members to study it as a useful approach to the subject.

Mr. Dyde suggested that the committee might usefully tackle a difficult subject — deciding where the customer's dollar goes when he buys meat. He explained that the breakdown of costs in the meat industry is extremely complicated and that experts to whom he had talked could not say what proportion of the retail price went to retailers, wholesalers, packers and producers.

Ask Germans Join Plebiscite

Communists Snub Allies On Unification

BERLIN, April 16.— (AP). — Russian-backed German Communists went over the heads of the western powers today with a direct appeal to all Germans to join their plebiscite on German unification.

The appeal was broadcast over the Soviet-controlled Berlin radio by the pro-Communist "German People's Council," which has proclaaimed its aim to succeed the Allied Control Council as the governing body of Germany.

The Communists' appeal came only two days after they announced they had notified Americans, British and French military governors they would seek a referendum on German unification.

The office of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States military governor, said yesterday it had received no such notification.

The Communist broadcast was regarded by western authorities as a direct snub to the United States, Britain and France, who barred the People's Council and its parent organization, the Communist "German Peoples Congress," from their occupation zones as falsely claiming to represent all classes of Germans.

The Peoples Council and Congress are recognized only in the Russian zone. The Council, which convened in Berlin yesterday, called on Germans in all zones to rally for the unification of Germany.

Find 'Poor' Charwoman Hiding $16,000 Fortune

BRANTFORD, April 16—(CP).—The finding of five-year-old unwrapped Christmas presents in the debris-filled home of a charwoman led searchers here to a modest fortune of $16,000 in old currency. Relatives of the woman, Mrs. Rosina Birkett, who died in hospital last month after spending a frugal life, were surprised yesterday when an old mattress yielded $8,000 neatly bundled in one, two, five and ten dollar stacks.

Mrs. Birkett's uncle, Jack Clouse, and his niece, Mrs. Jack McInnis, were searching through the junk-filled house in search of the dead woman's will when they uncovered the hidden cache. They said they believed the money was put into the mattress by Mrs. Birkett's mother, who died 17 years ago.

Mrs. Birkett occasionally slept on the mattress but used a couch in one of the paper-filled rooms most of the time.

$8,000 In Bank

Further investigation disclosed she had deposited $8,000 under her own name in a local bank despite the fact that she told her doctor shortly before she died that "I'm too poor to quit work."

Many of the old bills uncovered in the weather-beaten old home represented many banking institutions long closed. They included the Bank of North America, Home Bank, Standard Bank, and Bank of Hamilton.

Friends and relatives of the woman said they did not suspect her of having even small sums of money. Mrs. Margaret Cavan, a friend who looked after Mrs. Birkett when she was sick, said the aged woman always complained of poverty.

The money was turned over to Mrs Birkett's sister, Mrs. Annie Chamberlain of Flint, Mich.

City officials yesterday condemned the house after the department of health was forced to take four truckloads of dirty rags, papers and other junk from it. The house, which has no plumbing, is located in the heart of the city.

Poles Down In Storm

NORTH BAY, April 16.—(CP).—Telephone and telegraph communication on the Canadian National Railways Hornepayne division was disrupted late yesterday and during the night when high winds and heavy sleet brought down 60 poles.

Today a telegraph gang is working between Folyet and Hornepayne. At the Northern Ontario district headquarters in North Bay it was announced that communication had not been restored at a late hour this morning.

The storm struck late yesterday with a heavy rainfall which later turned to sleet. From eight to 10 inches of soft wet snow fell.

U.S. Decides To Bolster Alaska Force

Hawaii, West Coast To Supply Troops For Summer Training

WASHINGTON, April 16.—(AP).—The United States army, without a single combat foot soldier in Alaska today, is borrowing from its mobile reserve to build up the garrison in that northern outpost next door to Russia.

Anti-aircraft and other ground combat units from the West Coast and Hawaii will leave for Alaska shortly "to undergo summer training in conjunction with air units," the army said.

The effect of this "summer training" will be to bolster the present 7,000-man force now there pending action in Congress on the proposal of Gen. Omar Bradley, army chief of staff, to expand the permanent garrison to 15,000.

The number of troops to be borrowed from the Hawaiian command and from the 2nd Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., was not disclosed. The army announcement last night said only that they would establish a "balance" between air and ground forces in Alaska.

The navy also allowed another glimpse at its planning It disclosed the names of three submarines to be converted to unusual uses.

One will be converted to carry cargo, presumably weapons for use by Commando troops. Another will become an undersea troop transport. And the third will be a radar "picket" submarine. The job of such a craft is to prowl far out, surface and see what it can pick up on its radar scope in the way of activity telling of ships and aircraft movements

UN-Palestine Truce Still Crucial Problem

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP). — The second special session of the United Nations general assembly opens today with the crucial problem of effecting a truce in Palestine still unsolved.

The UN security council failed yesterday to agree on a draft resolution for a truce—a goal which several members aimed to reach before the start of the sessions which will reconsider the Palestine problem.

The council meets again tonight to discuss the question of bringing peace between Arabs and Jews. The Russian and Ukraine delegates asked for a 24-hour delay to receive instructions from their governments.

However, there was little hope that the Jewish agency which represents Holy Land Jews, would accept the truce proposal.

Greek Offensive

ATHENS, April 16—(AP).—A reliable informant said today the Greek army has launched its long planned offensive with three divisions of troops—from 20,000 to 30,000 men—against the Communist guerrillas. Army officials kept the spot of the opening attack a secret. It is generally believed here the operations area is in the region southwest of Lamia, some 100 miles northwest of Athens.

Death Sentences Commuted In Great Britain

LONDON, April 16 (Reuters).—Home Secretary Ede announced today that in view of the prospect of the law on the death penalty being amended during the present session of parliament, death sentences during the interim period would be commuted by means of conditional pardon to sentences of penal servitude for life.

This was a sequel to the decision by a free vote of the Commons Wednesday to suspend the death penalty in Britain for murder for an experimental period of five years—a decision which Ede said the government accepted.

Two men convicted of murder are at the moment under sentence of death. They are Joseph Camb, a steward on the liner Durban Castle, sentenced for the murder of an actress, Gay Gibson; and a gypsy, Joseph Smith, found guilty of the murder of a 71-year-old business man.

Ede said that to leave those who were under sentence of death to long uncertainty as to whether the sentence would be carried out would be indefensible.

"It would be abhorrent to public opinion that an irrevocable sentence should be executed in the intervening period," he declared.

Won't Recognize Civil Service

TORONTO, April 16—(CP)—Premier Drew declared today that the Ontario Government will not recognize the Civil Service Association as exclusive bargaining agent for civil servants in the province.

Neither, he added, will it contemplate recognition "of any outside organization beyond the scope of the civil service."

The statement constitutes a direct refusal to accede to requests made by the Civil Service Association at a meeting last night. It asked to be named as bargaining agent for the civil servants and declared that if this is refused it will give consideration to affiliating with an outside labor body.

Two Liberal Proposals Voted Down; Daley Fears Higher Cost

2 Weeks' Vacation With Pay After 2 Years Defeated By 44-16; CCF Asks Compensation Be 100 PC Of Salary

TORONTO, April 16—(CP).—A Liberal bill which would have increased workmen's compensation to 75 per cent. of salary and reduce the waiting period from seven to three days was defeated in the Ontario Legislature today. Sponsored by Romeo Begin (Lib.—Russell) the measure drew support from the CCF and Labor-Progressives but was lost in a recorded vote of 44 to 16.

Notable was the fact that Joseph Meinzinger (Ind — Waterloo South) who left the Liberals several weeks ago to declare support of the Government, voted in favor of the bill. It was the first time since Mr. Meinzinger's conversion that he has voted against the Drew forces.

Just a few minutes later Mr. Meinzinger again supported, the Liberals on a bill which would have established one week vacation with pay after one year of work and two weeks after two years. The vote against the bill again was 44 to 16.

Anaclet Habel (Lib.—Cochrane North) declared the compensation measure would encourage sooner return to work. It would reduce the period of waiting before payment of compensation to three days. Thus, many men who might stall for seven days in order to qualify, would be inclined to get back on the job soon after the three days if able.

Labor Minister Daley said it was his opinion that increase in compensation to 75 per cent. would increase the cost of contribution and thus raise the cost of products since they add costs of compensation to their operat-

Friend Says Barbara Will Turn To Films

PRESCOTT, April 16 (CP). — Barbara Ann Scott, comely 19-year-old Olympic women"s figure skating champion, has decided to turn professional and probably will enter motion pictures.

Announcement of the decision of the Ottawa Miss was made today by Herbert Caldwell, wealthy manufacturer and friend, who said he is directing her business affairs.

Caldwell said Miss Scott has good offers from two Hollywood movie producers, who wish to star her in pictures. He added that a leading United States ice show promoter also is bidding for her services.

Miss Scott, who won her Olympic title early in the year, also holds the Canadian, North American, European and world titles.

The skater, Caldwell said, expects to turn professional at the end of a series of charity exhibitions she now is completing in Canadian cities. She is booked till May 8.

No Change

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP). — Barbara Ann Scott, Ottawa's Olympic figure skating queen said today she has made no definite decision to turn professional She was still "considering" offers but had not definitely decided to turn professional, she said.

Rio Explosion Charged Communist Plot

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 16 — (AP)—Police declared today the explosion of an army arsenal, fatal to 23 persons, was intended as the beginning of a Communist plot for a "second Bogota" here May 1.

Police said the Communists intended to kill the Brazilian war minister, Gen. Canrobert Pereira Da Costa, who left the vicinity 50 minutes before yesterday's blast.

The official account said Da Costa was saved only by an unexplained delay in the explosion.

Bodies still are sought in the debris. The injured are estimated to number 100 to 200.

Twenty-six Communists have been arrested so far, the police statement said, and "directly implicated" in the explosion. The plot was attributed to a high leader of the Communist party, which is outlawed in Brazil. Police withheld his name, but said his arrest was expected soon.

Firemen still are seeking 12 girl employees who were trapped and possibly killed in a nearby textile mill.

Police said one person was caught carrying grenade caps and that unidentified persons in the Central Railway Station had warned passengers earlier against boarding trains which would pass the military arsenal.

Damage was expected to exceed $1,000,000.

Kindy Loses Murder Appeal

TORONTO, April 16 — (CP) — The Ontario Court of Appeal today dismissed the appeal of Norman Kindy, 16, and Edwin Farrington, 20, sentenced to be hanged April 28 for the rifle murder of 57-year-old James Bell at his Stamford township home last September.

The appeal of Kindy, a Stamford township boy, and his companion from Glendale, R.I., was heard here last Monday when judgment was reserved. The youths were convicted in Welland last February and sentenced by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly.

In reading the judgment today Chief Justice R. S. Robertson said that evidence amply supported the finding of the jury. If there had been any misdirection by the judge it had been so slight to be of no consequence.

Expect 29 Million Italians Go To Polls

Thousands of Fence-Sitters Expected To Back Anti-Communist Vote Sunday

By FRANK OBRIEN and JOHN P. McKNIGHT.

ROME, April 16 (AP). — The tumult and the shouting of the campaign die tomorrow, and Sunday morning Italy's, Europe's and the world's most important post-war election begins.

Some 29,000,000 Italians are old enough to vote and it looks like just about all of them will.

In pre-election travel over much of this ancient land, green and lovely in the early Spring, these two correspondents — one went north, the other south — talked with hundreds of these people.

Of them all, north and south, this question was asked:

"What will make a man (or a woman) vote htis way or that in your region?"

With few exceptions, most of them in the south, they replied—and many said it sadly, or bitterly — that it was the state of the outside world. Internal economic and social questions, pressing though they were, had been submerged in the tidal wave of international events.

Major Conclusions

Here are the major conclusions these correspondents have reached:—

1.—Hundreds of thousands who three months ago were fence-sitters or Leftist-inclined will vote against Communism — enough to deny the Communist-controlled Popular Front an absolute majority in the new parliament, and enough, possibly, to make Premier De Gasperi's Christian Democrats the biggest since party or bloc.

(Footnote by O'Brien: A northern editor said, "The workmen know now they must choose between freedom and dictatorship, Soviet Russia and the United States."

(Footnote by McKnight: But in the simple south, the Left's simple line, "Vote for us and we'll give you the land," still packs plenty of political punch.)

2.—Biggest factor in the drift away from the Communist bloc is repeated kicks and cuffs from Russia. Had Russia stayed quiet the last four months, the Communists might have won. Her "No" on Trieste Tuesday merely capped the sad — for the Italian Communists — story that started with Czechoslovakia.

Biggest Factor.

3.—Biggest factor in the drift to the Christian Democrats is the Marshall plan. Required opposition to it has been the Communists' thorniest cross. In the final stages, Ieftist leaders hedged "We are not really against it, just some aspects of it."

(Footnote by O'Brien: To the northern industrial workers, rehabilitation of industry and revival of exports is of prime importance.

(Footnote by McKnight: The southern farm folk may not know where stop-gap United States aid ends and the plan begins, but they know it is American bread and spaghetti they are eating.)

4.—Two things have happened not foreseen at the start of the campaign. One is the sudden spurt of Giusephpe Saragat's and Ivan Matteo Lombardo's Independent (anti-Communist) "Socialist Unity" party. The other is resurgence of Fascism.

(Footnote by O'Brien: In the north, often, grandfather, father and son save been Socialist. They are deeply conscious of Socialism's international character. They can follow — and will change their vote because of — subtle differences of Marxian interpretation and Socialist attitudes abroad. British, French, Dutch, Belgian and Scandinavian Socialist condemnation of alliance with Communism and Western Socialist support of the Marshall Plan influences these people to open support of anti-Communist Socialists or secret votes against the Front.

(Footnotes by McKnight: The agrarian south knows little about Marx; but even there "Socialist Unity" is making progress. However, the "Italian Social Movement" which claims to have salvaged "the good of Fascism," will be the southern electoral surprise.)

5.—The Roman Catholic Church, through its priests and the Lay Catholic Action, is going all out to defeat Communism.

(Footnote by O'Brien: Everywhere in the Red-tinged north the Church is one of the most powerful influences. It is a direct battle between Church and Communsm.

(Footnote by McKnight: Down south, prelates and priests no longer make any secret of their political activity. One Christian Democrat editor said: "It is parish against "cell.")

Colombians End Strike

US Demands Probe Why Plot Warning Ignored

BOGOTA, April 16 (AP)—The Colombian Workers Confederation proclaimed the end last night of a general strike and the government moved to clean up wreckage from last week's bloody uprising.

A confederation spokesman said union chiefs met yesterday with Liberal party leaders and agreed to give full support to Dario Echandia, a Liberal, who was taken into Conservative President Mariano Ospina Perez' cabinet as Minister of Government (interior).

It was difficult to learn how much the strike harmed the national economy Banks reopened in the battered capital yesterday and laborers were busy cleaning up the rubble-strewn streets. The bodies of many riot victims are believed still under the wreckage of burned-out buildings.

(In Washington, an open warning and a guarded hint that Colombia's blood-spattered revolt pattern may be used in the United States spurred a Congressional committee today to dig deeper for facts.

(For one thing the committee wants a complete explanation of why the state department went ahead with the Pan-American Conference at Bogota despite definite word that the Communists were plotting trouble there.

(The department itself said State Secretary Marshall scornfully rejected any notion that "a handful of Communists" could intimidate the American republics.

Largest Ontario Budget Wins Approval

TORONTO, April 16—(CP).—The largest budget in Ontario history—providing for estimated expenditure this year of $257,328,341—was approved in the Legislature yesterday on a recorded vote of 54 to 17.

All three Opposition groups—the Liberals, CCF and Labor-Progressives—lined up against the Government forces in the budget vote. It followed a similar count by which a Liberal amendment was defeated.

The Liberal amendment expressed regret that the Government "has not taken the necessary action to render greater assistance to old age pensioners and others requiring financial aid and to reduce the burden of taxation."

Premier George Drew and Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver were the last two participants in the budget. The gist of opposition to the budget was that the $25,000,000 surplus reported for last year had not been used to expand social services and to reduce taxation.

Used Surplus Wisely

Premier Drew defended that aspect of the budget when he spoke yesterday. With the surplus, he said, this province reduced its debt considerably, and thus did what the leader of the Opposition had recommended. He recalled that Mr. Oliver had urged that all be done to place the province in a position where it could meet any uncertainties of the future.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow told the House during that night sitting that in three months all Ontario old age pensioners will have been considered for the $10 monthly bonus to their $30 pension. He said 58 per cent. of the pensioners have had their cases reviewed to see which deserve the bonus, provided to meet special need.

Mr. Goodfellow said the Ontario Government for some time has advocated introduction of overall pension program for the aged without a means test.

10 Dead, 100 Injured In Rio Powder Blast

RIO DE JANIERO, April 16.—(AP).—A powder depot explosion killed 10 persons yesterday and Communists were blamed.

Deputy Alfonso de Carvalho told the chamber of deputies the blast resulted from Communist sabotage. However, other sources who asked not to be quoted by name said a carelessly thrown cigaret might have set it off.

Nearly 100 workers in a factory near the Brazilian Army depot were injured when the roof was wrecked by the force of the explosion and caved in. Large fires in other nearby establishments created near panic among residents.

Killed Cabbie Deacon Hanged

WINNIPEG, April 16 —(CP)—Lawrence Deacon was hanged early today after the appeals of 14,000 private citizens for commutation of his sentence for murder had been turned down by the federal cabinet.

Twice convicted of the iron-bolt slaying of taxi driver Johann Johnson March 31, 1946, the former auctioneer mounted the gallows inside Headingley jail at 1.05 a.m. Fifteen minutes later the attending physician pronounced him dead.

After an almost-two-year battle for reprieve Deacon mounted the gallows unassisted, murmured the Lord's Prayer without visible emotion, then started a second prayer as the trap was sprung.

Death of the 35-year-old Winnipeger ended one of the longest legal fights for reprieve in Manitoba's history, a fight which extended through three trials, was carried to the Supreme Court of Canada and the federal cabinet, and finished only after 14,000 Winnipeg citizens—including 75 lawyers and 10 members of the Provincial Legislature—had signed a petition urging clemency.

barriers to mutual trade, encourage full employment of their manpower."

In article one, they "assign themselves as their immediate task the setting up and execution of a common recovery program." To this end they "hereby institute a European organization of economic co-operation."

They pledge themselves to better use of "the resources at their disposal in their homelands and in their overseas territories."

Exchange Goods

They will set up within the framework of the organization "programs of production and of the exchange of goods and services," the charter says.

The charter specifies they "shall be able to call upon the manpower available in the territory of every other contracting party," since, for example, Italy has a labor surplus and France a shortage.

They provide for "organs of inspection and supervision" to be sure American aid and their own resources are used efficiently.

The organization is empowered to make agreements "with non-member countries, with the United States government and with international organizations."

This would allow, for example, trade pacts with Spain, South America or Eastern European countries.

Unanimity is required for decisions, thus giving individual members veto power.

"A council composed of all the members is the organ which will make the decisions," the charter says. "The council will designate each year among its members a president and two vice-presidents."

Britain will pay the lion's share of the provisional costs of maintaining the new organization.

Use Facilities

Discussing the vacation amendment, Mr. Habel said that with expanding development of tourist resorts the people of this province should be given an opportunity to properly enjoy these facilities.

Mr. Daley said he thought that to make two weeks' vacation mandatory would be going too far. He declared that the Government went as far as it could go in establishing a one-week vacation.

A CCF bill, sponsored by Robert Carlin (CCF—Sudbury) which would have gone even further on workmen's compensation, was defeated by a recorded vote of 54 to 7.

The Liberals supported the Government while the two LPP members lined up behind the five CCF members who were in the House.

The measure would have upped the compensation payments from the present 66 2-3 per cent. to 100 per cent. of salary. In addition it would have eliminated outright the seven-day waiting period.

Temperance Head Critical Of Examiner Editorials

The editorial policy of the Peterborough Examiner on the liquor question came in for severe criticism by G. A. Brethen of Norwood in his presidential address on Thursday to the Peterborough County and City Temperance Federation. Mr. Brethen expressed the opinion that having only one newspaper in Peterborough was not good for the interests of the community especially when "that newspaper is one-sided on the liquor question."

He interpreted the editorial policy of the Examiner on liquor as "that liquor is a good thing such as tea or coffee and nobody has a right to interfere with a man's personal action as regards drinking."

To this attitude on the part of the Examiner Mr. Brethen replied, "Living today as we are with community life and national life we can forget about personal liberty." He held up to ridicule an editorial which he said appeared in the Examiner defending a school teacher who had been dismissed for drinking, and which he said stated that a man had a perfect right to do what he liked out of school hours.

The main address at the convention was given by the Rev. Dr. C. W. DeMille, general secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation. Dr. DeMille quoted a liquor man as saying that there were 50,000 alcoholics in Toronto and 200,000 problem drinkers in Canada and that liquor men themselves were becoming interested and wer recognizng that a problem existed. "God only knows what has been done for welfare by the press, but not one case in three relating to liquor is ever mentioned as such in the newspapers."

A Damnable Business

Through advertising he claimed the liquor industry was seeking to push itself into all walks of life and he quoted the words of an unnamed liquor man, "men, it's a damnable business, but there's money in it."

Mr. DeMille said that temperance was unpopular because of the fanaticism of temperance workers, whom he asked not to exaggerate, pointing out that all crime does not have its roots in the liquor traffic. "There is a planned campaign to discredit temperance people, for "temperance is unpopular because of the rabid partyism we so often show," he said.

'Do right though the heavens fall," he advised. "Carry on an educational program that people will know, and dont' forget to pray."

People Are Asleep

The Rev. M. J. Aiken, president of the Ontario Temperance Federation, gave a report of the provincial convention. "The people of the province of Ontario and the county of Peterborough are fast asleep," he said "If ever there was a time when we need to be shaken up, the time is now."

Five minute addresses introducing subjects for discussion were given by R. F. Moulton, the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon, the Rev. Ivan Morgan and Mr. Aiken.

Mr. Brethen was re-elected president for the coming year and the Rev. E. E. Pugiesy was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The Rev. Ivan Morgan, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite and the Rev. F. W. Craik were named vice-presidents. Others officers are: convener of education and youth, T. J. Gall; publicity, E. C. Pace; legislation, M. H. Johnston and declamation, the Rev. Dr James Semple. Township representatives elected were Elmer Milburn, Smith; Gale Elliott, Harvey; Norman Wilson, Burleigh-Anstruther; Carl Purdy, Belmont; John Starke, Asphodel; Alan Oliver, Dummer; Bernard Smith, Havelock; Verne Campbell, Douro; W. W. Yale, Lakefield, and W. W. Dawson, Otonabee.

Britain Suspends Capital Punishment

By a close vote, the British House of Commons has decided to suspend the sentence of death for a period of five years. The debate on this amendment to the Criminal Justice Bill was a deeply interesting one, and both the Labour Government and the Conservative Opposition were officially against it. Members were left free to vote according to the dictates of their consciences, however, and many Labour members refused to support the official party stand. The vote was 245 in favour of suspension and 222 against it.

• • •

The British experiment will be watched with the keenest interest. Will it bring about an increase in murder and manslaughter, or will it not? We shall have a chance to judge, and it is characteristic of British caution in such matters that a five-year limit has been placed on the trial. If it should appear that there is less crime during the period of suspension, and if the decrease can be attributed in any reasonable way to the abolishment of the death penalty, it is likely that many countries, and Canada among them, will follow the British example.

• • •

The right of the state to take the life of a murderer is debatable from many points of view, religious, philosophical and psychological. It is frequently said that the death penalty for murder acts as a deterrent, but we are by no means sure that this is true; the man who kills in hot blood does not think of penalties, and there is evidence to show that the calculating murderer does not weigh them very carefully, either. Nor are we completely convinced that imprisonment for life is more humane than a quick death. But putting aside such matters as these, which are open to argument, we present one point against capital punishment about which there can be no argument: when the state kills a man it cannot bring him to life again if additional evidence should prove him innocent, and in every country where capital punishment is in force there are tragic instances — and they are not few, all things considered — in which this has happened.

• • •

There are stern arguments in favour of capital punishment, but all the instincts of humanity rebel against it. It speaks volumes for the parliamentary system that the British Commons voted on this matter as a party issue. The experiment is a fine one, and its outcome will be of great importance.

Peterborough County's Mineral Wealth

In 1935 the Examiner published a series of articles by Homer Moore, an enthusiast and something of a geologist, on the gold (and other minerals) in our hills. Riches apparently abound, but as far as they are now known, they are too scattered and low in quality to make the mining of them commercially attractive. Mr. Moore's articles were published in depression years when there was little money for doubtful exploitation of the rich Canadian Shield's intrusion into Peterborough County. Now the situation is different; the Government is subsidizing low-grade gold mines, oil is being searched for avidly, an ounce of uranium is more precious than much fine gold.

The north of the country is apparently well spotted with minerals like gold, lead, silver, copper. There is magnetite (an iron ore) at Mount Julian, lead and byrrhotite in Galway. Chandos and Anstruther have batholiths. (That is not an editorial lisp but a geological term meaning an igneous intrusion of a special kind.) These lure radium and gold prospectors. There is graphite around Apsley, corundum in Methuen, basalt in Belmont. (Basalt is a building substances prized in ancient days.) Belmont Lake has rusty quartz—mica schist. An English mining engineer examining certain gold areas in Belmont Township 85 years ago is reported to have said: "It is richer than the Black Hills". He did not say which Black Hills. Haliburton has iron deposits. The existence of petroleum is suspected—even proved—here and there.

Beyond Havelock, in the Blairton area, a motorist can see from his car iron ore on the very surface of the ground. He can see the remnants of workings of the Blairton iron mines. If he has a mind to, he can call on Mr. Armstrong at Campbellford and hear the story of mining in Blairton a generation or two ago. He can see the great excavation three thousand feet deep, now filled with greenish water (due to the presence of arsenic), from which magnetite has been taken.

Last Wednesday the Ontario Minister of Mines, Mr. Frost, recalled in the Legislature that the guns used by General Grant in the American Civil War were made from iron mined in eastern Ontario. He said that research parties are being sent in this year with a view to re-opening the area. He said that Peterborough and Lindsay might eventually become iron ore centres in this province. Apparently the mineral deposits in this district are not pipe-dreams. Even as we write we feel the prospecting urge come upon us. Who knows but we may strike it rich! The next time we go out to pick huckleberries we shall look at the rock as well as the berries. Unfortunately, more science is needed to discover valuable minerals than to spot berries.

The Independence Of Communists

Recently the leader of the Labour-Progressive Party, Mr. Tim Buck, sent a letter to the Members of Parliament at Ottawa, containing this interesting and provocative passage:

> The Labour-Progressive party is an absolutely independent Canadian party with no affiliations with any party or organization outside of this country.... There is no one who can bring forth a shred of evidence which could contradict this.

May we put forward a shred of evidence — circumstantial evidence, it is true, but rather interesting? A few days ago a man was charged with selling tickets in Montreal in a lottery sponsored by the Italian Communist party; the first prize was a free trip to Moscow. Now we do not see how anyone could go to Moscow at the expense of the Italian Communist party unless he had the proper travelling papers, and these could only be granted by the Russian Government. If the Italian Communists had not been sure that the Russian Government would come across with the necessary papers, they could not have offered a trip to Moscow as a prize. The real prize, in effect, was in the gift of the government of Russia.

A lot of Communist work seems to be like that. There is no visible connection with Russia, but the invisible connection is, paradoxically, obvious enough.

The Special U.N. Assembly

Today the U.N. Assembly convenes in a special session called at the behest of the United States to consider the Palestine situation. A month ago the U.S. reversed its stand on partition and recommended that Palestine be put under U.N. trusteeship. A month hence, on May 15th, the British will terminate their mandate and leave Palestine open to a state of things not yet determined, not yet conceived, and probably lamentable in actuality.

What can be done about Palestine? The Security Council has taken the obvious first step of drawing up truce terms which it is hoped Jews and Arabs will accept, or be forced to accept. A truce would make the situation easier for U.N. to deal with, but it would not reduce the necessity for one nation or a group of U.N. nations to fortify a U.N. decision with troops. Canada has taken the realistic view that only a large nation's power will have any chance of keeping peace in Palestine.

U.N. is obliged to take over the British mandate (under Article 77, section 1 (c) of the U.N. Charter.) It may then administer it under the Organization itself — which it proposed doing last year through the Special Committee — or through the Trusteeship Council provided for in Article 87. The most feasible solution seems to be to invoke the provisions of Article 81, and designate one nation as the administering authority—in other words, transfer the mandate from Great Britain to, say, the United States—a transfer which would have an aura of poetic justice about it. Soviet Russia would, of course, howl that the U.S. was seizing Palestine. To soften the blow, Jerusalem could be designated a "strategic area" within the mandate and put under the Trusteeship Council directly.

It will be interesting to see what route the U.N. Assembly attempts to take out of the Palestinian dilemma. One thing is certain now: Britain is out. The question is: Who will go in?

A Letter From Wales

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

Llanberis, Wales.

A TREMENDOUSLY popular organization in Britain is the Youth Hostels Association, or "YHA" as it is better known. The YHA movement started about 20 years ago, on the lines of similar touring clubs on the continent, and now has a quarter of a million members, and operates more than 200 hostels in all parts of the British Isles. These hostels are located in the more scenic and popular holiday areas, and are usually large old houses that have been converted into hostels. Accommodations and facilities are Spartan, but the cost is extremely low, and thousands of young people, mostly of low income, have had an opportunity to see their country, an opportunity that would probably never have occurred without YHA.

THE rules of the YHA are simple. You must arrive on bicycle or on foot, not in a car or on a motorcycle. There is no age limit, but those below the age of 14 must be accompanied by an older member. Each hostel is in the charge of a married couple, and they provide simple meals at low cost, or facilities are provided for those who wish to cook their own meals. A sheet sleeping bag must be brought, and blankets are provided on the double bunk beds. Sleeping quarters are in dormitory style, and the number of persons that can be accommodated varies in the different hostels from about 40 to 150.

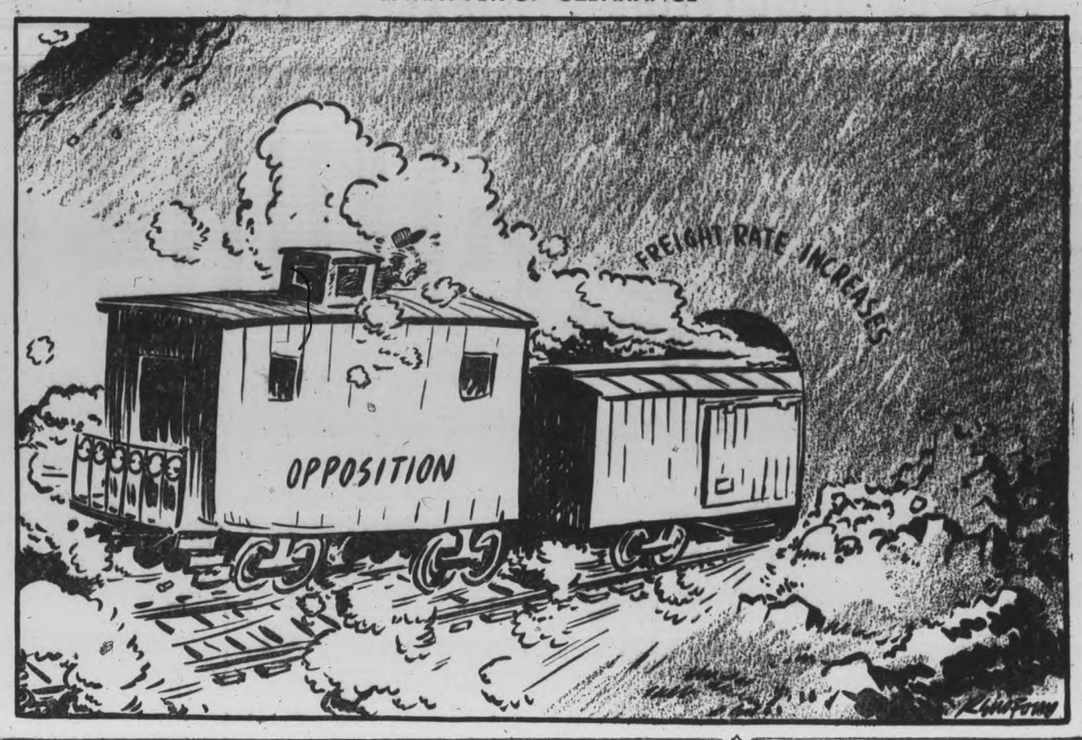
Every person who stays at the hostel is expected to do some of the maintenance work, i.e., sweeping the floors, washing the dishes, cleaning out the washrooms, etc. All must leave by 10 a.m., and no one is allowed in before 5 p.m. Lights are out at 10.30 p.m., and rising bell rings at 7.30 a.m. No drinking or gambling is permitted within a hostel, and altogether, it is a very healthy sort of life, hostelling. Membership fees vary with age, but the highest cost is only $1.50 per year, and the cost of a night's lodging only 30c. There is no limit on the number of times in a year a member can use the hostels, but he must not stay in the same hostel more than three consecutive nights. Meals are equally cheap, and in my experience, always good. Supper is 30c, breakfast the same, and a box lunch of sandwiches costs only 15c. The cyclist or hiker can live quite well on $2 per day, and this will include his cigarettes and odd bottle of pop and other little expenses.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE hostels are located in some of the loveliest country in Britain, such as this one, which is within sight of Snowden, the highest peak in Wales, and the surrounding country side is breath-taking in its rugged beauty. The YHA is cursed with the usual problem of finances in a time of rising costs, but they do extremely well in maintaining so many hostels under difficulties. The married couple in charge, known as the wardens, are almost without exception enthusiastic and co-operative. Theirs is a labour of love, because there is little opportunity to make much money in this sort of life. The YHA has done a remarkable job in introducing the young city dweller to the beauties of the country, and it is a very fine organization indeed.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Welsh border country is largely a sheep raising area—too poor for crop cultivation. These are busy days on the farms, as it is lambing season, and the hillsides are dotted with the fresher whites of the lambs against the greyer wool of the older sheep. During the bitter winter of 1946-47 the sheep died in hundreds of thousands through Wales, but the flocks seem to be recovering well. To the surprise of visitors, the old Welsh language is still in daily use. A soft, pleasant tongue, it is one of the Celtic languages, related to Erse, Gaelic, and Manx, and contains many letter combinations impossible to pronounce under English rules of phonetics,—combinations such as cwm, Pwllhelli, etc. The Welsh are a good-tempered, friendly people, much too courteous for this burly-burly world. One recalls the ticket collector on the train who didn't want to ask for tickets, as a sign of mistrust of the passengers, and collected them hurriedly, as if ashamed of appearing to doubt if the passengers had paid. Traditionally of course the Welsh are reputed to be great singers, but so far, I have heard no samples. In all the pubs there appears a sign "No singing allowed". I asked a pub keeper in Llangollen why this was, and he told me in the old days when singing was allowed the customers would be so carried away with their singing they would go on for hours and hours, with no regard for official closing hours. The more I hear of Welsh ways, the more I like the people.



◇ ◇ ◇

LONDON seems very remote, as viewed from these Welsh hills, but even the Welsh paid close attention to the new budget, brougnt out on Tuesday. No doubt details of this were given at the time in the "Examiner", but the crowning injustice to the local people is the rise in the cost of cigarettes. They are now 70c a package of 20, which seems astronomical compared with pre-war. It must surprise even the tax experts how little effect on consumption cigarette taxes seem to have. Let us hope the treasury officials in Ottawa do not draw conclusions from British experience.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE scenery of Wales is magnificent, but quite different from that of Kawartha district. The "mountains" are really more on a par with the Laurentians than the Rockies, but they are wild and rugged, with many fine mountain streams gushing down the sides. All houses are made of local stone, and have a stern and forbidding appearance, but they are most comfortable inside. Tourists and sheep are the only apparent industries here in North Wales, but of course in the south coal mining and heavy industry is important. Many names are familiar to North American ears—Bala, Bangor, Beaumaris, Bethesda and Pembroke, to name a few. We can be proud of this connection with Wales.

A MATTER OF CLEARANCE

Cripps Capital Levy

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

JUDGING by the cables, some British newspapers don't like certain features of Sir Stafford Cripps' budget; dislike especially his levying a new tax on investment income in cases where annual income from all sources exceeds $8,000 and investment income is more than $1,000.

The dislike is understandable; because what Sir Stafford Cripps has done, in effect, is to impose a levy on capital. Canada has a special four per cent. surtax on investment income, beginning at a certain point which, though severe enough, isn't serious. But what Sir Stafford Cripps imposes is a graduated surtax on investment income on top of the full tax on total income. For example, according to the London correspondent of the New York Times:

"An individual with an income of 50 thousand pounds all derived from investments, whether in real estate, in stocks or even in government securities, would be forced to pay a special tax of 24 thousand pounds. Inasmuch as such an individual is already liable for a regular and surtax levy of 45 thousand pounds, his tax bill on last year's income will amount to 69 thousand pounds, or 19 thousand more pounds than his income."

The New York Times' correspondent added:

"In order to meet his obligations to the government, the treasury pointed out, the individual will have to sell some of his securities, real estate or other capital holdings. Thus the tax is a levy on capital, but has the advantage of not involving the government in a complicated process of assessing capital as it would have to do if it applied a formal capital levy."

The Government also argues that its new tax will force on to the market large blocks of securities, real estate and other holdings, thus bringing down the inflationary prices at which such holdings are now quoted.

That's one side of the case. The other side of it, hardly as pleasant, is that those compelled to unload securities or real estate in order to pay their tax will have to unload them in a "distress" market, not merely taking a loss with their tax but a loss also in fallen prices for their holdings. That is what the Daily Graphic has in mind when it speaks of a "capital levy"; also what the Daily Express is thinking of when it says that the new tax will "extort 100 million pounds from men and women who are diligent in business and have put aside some money for old age".

This new tax is for one year only; obviously it could not continue.

Meanwhile Sir Stafford Cripps, already being referred to as the "Robin Hood Chancellor" (taking from the rich to give to the poor), gives 100 million pounds of tax relief to the lower income brackets, raising the level of basic exemptions to $1,600 for married couples with dependents, compared with $800 at present, and raising the amount of income entirely tax free from $480 to $540.

Even so, British income tax rates remain higher than Canadian. On an income of $2,000 a British married couple pays $234; a Canadian married couple $93. n an income of $4,000 a British married couple pays $936; a Canadian married couple $566. And so pretty much down the line.

There is, however, a deal of explanation. One part of it is that last year the British Government spent $1,600 million in food subsidies alone.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God ...For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them. (Eph. 2: 8, 10.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation.

Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. (II Cor. 5: 17-20.)

Letter To The Editor

CONDEMNS ANONYMOUS CRITICISM

Sir: The general membership of Local 524, UE—CIO, the bargaining agent for some three thousand five hundred workers in the G.E. plant here, passed at their last meeting a motion condemning the publication of anonymous letters on union affairs as published in your paper recently.

The reasons are obvious, to any person who has ever been a member of a union, lodge, club, group or association. Briefly, we make the following points:—

(1) Decisions are by majority vote after discussion. This is democracy.

(2) Broad questions, such as wages, are settled on the opinions of the majority, based on need.

(3) The affluence of a few can not come ahead of the needs of the many.

(4) The accepting of a wage increase is not compulsory.

(5) The unauthorized taking of questions to the public is frowned upon by our organization.

(6) The bonafides, loyalties and ethics of an anonymous correspondent are always in question.

We trust you will see fit to publish this letter which is written upon the instruction and in the interests of the members of Local 524, UE—CIO. (Signed)

M. CHAMBERS, President.
P. DOHERTY, Secretary.

Tornado Victim Asks For Grant

LINDSAY, April 16—(ENS)—Eight months after a tornado ripped through Gooderham, a woman in that Haliburton county village whose household furnishings were blown away, is going to receive partial compensation from the Lindsay branch of the Red Cross. At a meeting Thursday, branch members voted to send Mrs. L. Carmichael $20 to help pay damages. The tornado struck Gooderham last August.

Rev. P. C. Reed brought the matter to the attention of local members when he explained that after the storm he had visited Mrs. Carmichael and promised the Red Cross would help. The woman told him that she would take inventory and let him know later if anything was needed. A short time ago Rev. Reed received a letter from her stating she needed about 40 yards of material to replace window drapes. They had not owned the house they lived in, which was demolished in the storm.

D. McQurarie was opposed to making any payments. "We're getting ourselves into deep water if we start buying curtains," he declared. "This case has gone on since last August and is no longer an emergency."

"We'll have to keep our promise," Richard Butler pointed out. And with that it was decided to forward the $20.

The Red Cross also decided to make application to the local Community Chest Fund for a grant of $3,000.

Dollar Value Changed Old Paper Reveals

Looking at old newspapers is usually a good way to while away a spare half hour. But the sight of the prices, particularly on food commodities, is a sharp reminder to the thrifty shopper how much the purchasing power of the dollar has declined.

A copy of the Fenelon Falls Gazette, dated Friday, May 26, 1905, has a list of Fenelon Falls market prices. Some of the items listed by the North Star Roller Mill Co. at that time were: butter, 15 cents a pound; eggs, 13 cents a dozen; potatoes, 30 cents a bushel; flour, $2.40 a barrel.

Feed items include fall wheat, 80 cents a bushel; spring wheat, 85 cents a bushel; oats, 39 cents a bushel; bran, 90 cents a hundredweight; shorts, $1 a hundredweight and mixed chop, $1.25 a hundredweight.

Find Stock Markets Resume Their Climb

Stock markets resumed their climb yesterday, casting aside for the moment at least any idea that they were in for a period of mere consolidation of recent gains.

In New York The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .5 at 66.4, its sharpest gain since March 31 and a top since Oct. 27. Transfers were 1,650,000 shares among 1,060 issues. Some pivotal stocks saw little action, but gains of one to two points were widespread.

Aircrafts came into activity on word that the House of Representatives had passed and sent to he Senate a bill which would provide $3,198,000,000 to start expansion of U.S. air forces. Buying in general was attributed to prospects of big government spending.

In Toronto base metals and steels continued to lead the market and on the index industrials gained 1.63 to 169.71, about a 20-point gain since March 16 and the highest level since Jan. 14. Base metals gained 1.45 at 92.04, up some 14 points since March 16 and at their best in more than a year—since Feb. 19, 1947.

Western oils resumed their advance, adding 1.11 for 39.40, just under Monday's nine-year record.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Last chance this season to see the basketeers in action tomorrow in the Collegiate gym, when the OABA midget championships are staged. Two tilts in the aft, Napanee vs. PCVS at 2.45, and Kitchener vs. Hamilton at 4.00. Losers go again there at 7.30 in the eve, while the winners clash at 8.45 for the midget championship of the province. These four survivors of playdowns are all potent, and the good PCI-ers—who are COSSA junior champs—will likely have to hustle plenty if they want to be there or thereabouts when the title is decided. Three referees are: Barry Lowes, U. of T. ace, Secretary Pick Leeson of the OABA, and Bob Dyer of Peterborough.

Semi-finals of the YMCA volleyball playoffs have been cleaned up and the finals will be held next Wednesday—some of the veterans no doubt requiring several days layoff betwixt such strenuous sessions. Volleyball can be a tough game on wind and limb, though we never felt better than when playing it daily. In the first match the other e'en, Cliff Cadd's crew (who led the loop) clashed with Don Crawford's squad, and the latter won out in overtime of the final game. A sizzling series with scores of 4-15, 15-6 and 17-15. Referee Albert Dryland was on the jump, too. In the other bracket, Bill Young's six edged out Ken Kingston's team in hot going, 15-8, 14-16 and 15-8, with Referee Jim Gillespie calling 'em.

Pounding Pavements

Peterborough Harriers Club three-mile road race is tomorrow aft, starting from the "Y" at two chimes, for the Dominik Trophy. A large entry has been received, including a number of dark horses and it may be quite a scrap for the first three trophy spots. Good distance runners like Jack Martin and Bill Thistlewaite (first and second in the 10-mile jaunt last summer), Dean Reid, Bill Crowder and Jerry Ivey—one-two-three in the big indoor winter marathon—and others are included in the large list of city and district racers. Middle distance guys and sprinters may upset the apple cart, too, or one of the newcomers here. Entries close at the YM tonight.

Rink funds are starting to roll in now, and committee members of the Civic Arena project are quite confident that it will go over the top in a short time. Industries are co-operating more and more, and folks in general seem to be behind the move to get a rink in Peterborough by next winter. Those intending to kick in should do so right away at the George St. office near Brock. In some cases, members of lodges and clubs are pooling donations and sending 'em in as a club donation. It is definitely planned to break ground on the arena site on May 15 so that the rink will be ready by Dec. 1.

Yeah, It Costs Coin

Financial statement of the City Baseball League was presented last p.m. It showed receipts of $1,383.25 last summer with expenses nearly as much to leave a balance of but $2.41. Equipment was the big expenditure, and then playdown costs, umpires in playoffs, advertising, fees, etc. Most of the receipts came from the local service clubs and the Recreation Commission, the gate receipts being only $132.25. The league has a pretty complete set of equipment now, though new balls are always needed and replacements for broken bats. More mazuma will be required, of course, to get the circuit going again, but it is money well spent for so many local boys.

Bill Bennett, now district PWSU convener, drops out as president after steering the ship successfully for eight years, and he and his wife—who has been treasurer in recent years—deserve the thanks of the loop. Dot Millar should prove a good president as she was a star player for a lengthy period and always followed league activity closely. One of the Mortimer girls. Down With That Tax

Ald. Doug Miller is calling a meeting next Tuesday at eight p.m. in the Council Chambers for the main sports bodies here. To discuss the suggested 20 per cent amusement tax of the provincial government. Lacrosse, rugby, girls' and men's softball officials and Legion hockey have been notified, but he couldn't reach the Petes' puckists nor the senior ball club. All these, and other clubs or leagues here which would be seriously affected by such a tax, should have several delegates each at this open meeting. Idea is to discuss it from all angles and draft an organized protest to be sent to the provincial treasurer. So, there it is, folks.

Present Trophies To Top Bowlers

Trophies and prizes were presented at a wind-up banquet of the City Bowling League last night at the Kawartha Club, with President Roy Lewis in the chair. He stated it was the best year the league has yet enjoyed, and there was not a complaint all season. Frank Woods presented the secretary's report. Both officers were warmly congratulated by the players on their handling of the league's affairs.

The Duffus Trophy was presented the league champions, Fashion Craft, by Fred Whatley, George Robertson as captain receiving it. George Hildenbrand, sponsor of the team, said a few words.

Bill Martin, high average winner with 252 for 90 games, was given the Clapper Cup by Dit. Martin's average is the best ever recorded in this league. Fred Scates presented the Harold Davis Trophy to Holly Mowry, high three winner. Maurice Caccavella, high singles winner, took the Ed Riley Cup from the donor.

Jack Wade handed out the individual prizes, and Walter Firth gave out the team prizes. Bill Prindible won the door prize.

There were more than 100 of the league's 150 bowlers at the enjoyable gathering, with Maurice Caccavella leading the musical program and Joe Frost at the piano. The Examiner was thanked for space granted in publishing results, along with the sports editor for comments in Sports Show Window. A minute's silence was observed for bowlers who passed away during the season.

BRIEFS IN SPORT

By The Canadian Press.

The vanguard of an expected 400 delegates to the Ontario Baseball Association's annual convention at London, Ont., arrived today for the opening session of the province's governing baseball body. The two-day conclave gets under way on Friday afternoon with an executive meeting. The big session will be on Saturday morning when an open meeting will be held with the association's annual danner the feature.

Clair Warner, president of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union, said yesterday that negotiations now are under way to bring the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts on a Western tour. The tour may see them play one exhibition game at each of the three cities in the loop—Winnipeg, Calgary, and Regina—with possibilities that Toronto Balmy Beach will also make the jaunt for games against each team.

Lasses' League Chooses D. Millar Prexy

Dot Millar was elected president of the Girls' Softball League last night at a well-attended annual meeting in the YMCA. She succeeds Bill Bennett, eight times president, who is now PWSU convener in this district. Mrs. Millar was a star softball player for years in Peterborough and Toronto, and has followed the league closely in recent years.

Karl Dorrington is the 1948 vice-president, Marg Selkirk was returned as secretary, Mrs. C. Ashby is treasurer and M. Braund is assitant treasurer. Bill Bennett will act as advisor. The executive committee consists of the team managers, and each club will submit several names at the next meeting for ticket takers. The financial report, presented by Mrs. W. Bennett, showed a balance of $141.32. She and Phil Doherty were named as 1948 auditors. The protest committee is: Pat Calladine, Fred Scates, and Ted LeBarr.

No entries were taken yet, but teams represented or indicating desire to enter were: Westclox, Marines, Ashby's, Quakers, CGE, Woollens, Lock Company, and Lakefield. The latter will be checked into, and considered at the next meeting, which will be held on April 29. There was considerable other discussion on various points, but nothing further was done at this initial gathering.

Barrie Downs Nationales Advance To Cup Finals

MONTREAL, April 16.—(CP)—Barrie Flyers, newly-crowned Eastern Canada junior hockey champions, today aimed at the Memorial Cup after disposing of Montreal Nationales in three straight games.

Flyers will meet either Lethbridge Native Sons or Port Arthur Bruins in the Dominion junior finals, to be played in the east this year.

Last night Flyers staved off a desperate last-minute drive by Nationales to come out on top 5-4, thus copping the best-of-five series 3-0. Barrie won the first two games, 4-2 and 8-3.

Featuring a hardhitting, fast-breaking team, Barrie played cagey hockey all the way, exchanging bump for bump with the Montrealers in one of the roughest hockey games of the season.

Feature of the game was the final drive by Nationales. Trailing 5-2 with less than four minutes to play, the Montrealers brought many of the 13,000 fans who had started for the exits back to their seats when they swarmed all round the Barrie goal.

Their efforts were rewarded when Claude Dolbed converted Gil Trudel's pass into a goal at 16.45. Thta put the spark in the Nats' drive and they made it 5-4 less than a minute later, Claude Robert bulging the twine from close range. But that ended the scoring and Flyers kept the puck in the Montreal end the rest of the way.

Gil St. Pierre paced the Flyers' attack, sniping a pair of goals, one each in the first and second period. Other goal-getters for the Ontario champs were Whit Mousseau, Rusty Aikin and Bill Barrett.

Trudel and Jean Paul Jeanneau notched the other goals for the Quebec representatives.

Tempers flared at regular intervals and 19 penalties were handed out, 12 in the first period.

Powerful Bisons Reckoned Flag Contender

By CY KRITZER
Buffalo Evening News

WAXAHACHIE, Tex., April 16 — (AP). — Laden with power, a superb defence and fine catching, Buffalo Bisons of 1948, for the first time since 1941, must be reckoned a pennant contender.

The Bisons have everything except speed and established pitching, but manager Paul Richards has a capable staff in the making. One or two pitchers from the parent Detroit Tigers can make his hurling corps an outstanding one.

With Anse Moore and Coaker Triplett in left field, Johnny Groth in centre and Chet Laabs in right, the Herd opens the campaign with the best outfield in the International League. There is a home run punch in every position.

Richards has a crack double play combination in Manuel Hidalgo, the Chinese-Cuban shortstop, and holdover Johnny Bero.

At third base, Cy Block, up from the Southern Association with a .360 average, looms as a great help. Norm Jaeger, a refugee from New York Giants' farm system, has won the first base job.

Probably the most improved Bison over 1947 is catcher Eddie Mordarski, who led the I.L. catchers in hitting last year with .297. Battling for second string backstop honors is Marty Tabacheck, back from the Eastern League after hitting .291. Richards, himself, plans to catch some games.

Tex Shirley, who underwent an arm operation last winter, may hold the key to the Herd's pitching. If his comeback is true, he may be the bellcow Richards has been seeking. Hard luck Clem Hausmann (8-12) looms as the opening day pitcher.

STRANGE NAME

Rabies or hydrophobia means literally a fear of water, and is so-called because of the spasm from an attempt to drink owing to the extreme irritability of the neck muscles.

Huskies Edge Millers 4-3 In Last Playoff

MINNEAPOLIS, April 16 — (AP). — Doug Maher netted a puck with 28 seconds left last night to give Houston a 4-3 edge over Minneapolis in the final playoff of the United States Hockey League.

The last-minute goal gave Houston its third needed game in the Loudon Cup five-contest series.

The two teams ended the first frame tied 1-1 and Houston annexed the only goal in the second period. George Agar ran the count to 3-1 at 1.32 of the third period but Minneapolis the counted twice to knot the tally at 3-all at 12.23, which held until Maher took a pass from Ducky Skinner to clinch the contest at 19.22.

SLICK CHICKS OF THE DIAMOND—The major leagues of baseball are not the only ones who go in for strenuous spring training. Two hundred young women, members of the 10-team all-American Girls' Baseball league, converged at Miami, Fla., for a month of work. During April, the 10 teams will be involved in workouts and spring championship series of games. Pictured are some members of the "Slick Chick" baseball league in action. On the left, a beautiful twin infield combination go after some high ones. They are Eilaine (left) and Ilaine Roth, of Michigan City. Indiana. Eilaine plays short-stop and Ilaine, second base, for the Muskegon, Michigan, team. On the right, showing good form at the plate, is Doris Sams of Knoxville, Tenn. She is a pitcher-outfielder for Muskegon and was voted the most valuable player in the league last year. Behind the plate is Kay Von Dereau of Fort Wayne, Indiana, catcher for Muskegon. Incidentally, the girls draw capacity crowds for their games.

Replacements Worry Smythe As Leafs Given Civic Welcome

TORONTO, April 16—(CP).—The last clouds of ticker-tape, welcoming the Maple Leafs home with their second straight Stanley Cup, were still settling on Toronto's Bay Street when Conn Smythe started talking about future plans. The peppery Leaf managing director took time out after a civic reception to praise his championship team, but when he settled down to talk to reporters it soon became evident that he's been thinking seriously about the 1948-49 season in those hectic weeks of playoff competition.

He announced that he'll need at least two players to keep the champs in the thick of the National Hockey League race.

None of his listeners needed any help in spotting the first gap—left by the retirement of big Syl Apps, centre and spark-plug of Toronto clubs for more than 10 years.

The other spot would probably be looked after by young Les Costello, who came up from Pittsburg to play a solid right wing on the Toronto third line in the Detroit series, bagging two goals and as many assists in his first season on blue-chip hockey.

But there wasn't an obvious replacement for Apps, whose retirement from public life includes the post as Ontario athletic commissioner which he'll give up next week.

"I am sorry that Apps is retiring, but he's bowing out as a great champion and captain of our greatest championship team and I cannot ask him to do otherwise, said Smythe. He added: We have another great athlete in Teeter Kennedy, who will succeed Apps as captain."

Softens Blow

The acquisition of Max Bentley, clever little playmaker from Chicago softened the blow of Apps' retirement for the Toronto club.

"Having Bentley has worked two ways," said Smythe. "He gave us a good third line and although he had a variety of wingers this season he was still able to produce. Now we are working for next season. We will still have two of the leagues best playmakers in Bentley and Kennedy and will have to find one replacement."

One of the first things Smythe did after Wednesday night's convincing 7-2 victory in the series clincher was to assure Wally Stanowkski he would be around for some time to come.

"Wally is the Nick Metz of our defences," he said, "and I told him that despite rumors that might come out of Winnipeg or Montreal this summer I have no intention of changing his residence."

Orioles Unhappy

Officials of Baltimore Orioles, unhappy about the way their working agreement with Cleveland Indians has been working, meet to-day to decide whether to take up the case with Commissioner Happy Chandler. Manager Tommy Thomas of the International League club, believed that Cleveland broke its contract by optioning infielder Al Rosen to Kansas City instead of sending him to Baltimore.

Express Regret

TORONTO, April 16.—(CP).—Leaders of all four parties in the Ontario Legislature yesterday expressed sorrow at the death of William Robertson, CCF Member for Wentworth, who died in hospital after being struck by an automobile here Wednesday night. They combined with it the hope that Mayor Garfield Anderson of Fort William, the CCF Member for that city, would quickly recover from injuries suffered in the same accident.

Norfolk Holds Unique Tourney

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 16—(AP). — Here's a sports parley for you—the Norfolk Sports Club and the first "Specialists" golf tournament.....The reason for combining the two is that the Sports Club, which claims to have a unique setup, is one of the sponsors of this unique golf tournament, which takes place this week-end....The club is distinguished from ordinary "quarterback" groups and is a year-round organization that takes in followers of all sports....The golf tournament, the likes of which hasn't been seen before, is a select competition which is open to only about 16 of the best pros in the business....Originally, they were selected because of their special skills at special types of shots, but it will work out with captains Gene Sarazen and Walter Hogan picking the players to beat the other guy's team—and to heck with the voting....Incidentally, the athletes will get $500 apiece guarantee. So it doesn't matter financially who wins what event. That's just fine....

Sports Before Your Eyes

Whitey Abel, who has won the money with more than one unsound horse, maintains that Stanley Sagner's Derby hope, Saggy, is something like Assault. Because of his weak under-pinning, Saggy toes out a trifle with one foot. He can win on soft, well-cushioned tracks, but can't do anything on those fast, "cardboard" racing strips like Belmont or Chicago.

Bob Hope Plans To Make Film In England

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (AP). —Bob Hope says he'll probably spend his summer vacation-from-radio making a picture in England.

Asked if the film will be for Rank or Korda, he replied: "No, for Bob Hope Enterprises." He is allowed to make one film a year away from Paramount. He and Bing Crosby expect to make their next "road" trip independently, so it will probably wait until 1949.

The comic is now performing his most serious role to date in "Sorrowful Jones." If Bing can get an Oscar, why can't Bob?

Serious Thinker

Myrna Loy may seem like a scatterbrain in such films as "Mr. Blandings," but she's a serious thinker on international affairs. Already a delegate to a UNESCO confab in San Francisco next month, she plans to attend a U.N. meet in Geneva this September . . .

Edgar Bergen had to pass up The Boston Globe's offer to print last Sunday's air script — the one that didn't get on the air because of line trouble. Bergen will do the show May 2.

Gregory Peck is walking on crutches and expects to take off his leg cast in a week. It will be replaced by a smaller one around his broken ankle and that should permit him to start riding horseback again for his Western role . . .

Old-Time Greats

Victor Moore was asked if he thought acting has improved during his 52 years in the business. His reply: "No, I think the old-time greats like Richard Mansfield and E. H. Sothern have never been topped. They were gods of the theatre and the people worshipped them. They were mature, experienced players who performed with a style that has never been equalled" . . .

Britain has discovered another means of getting dollars back. The London Gramaphone outfit's discs are becoming more popular in the United States, what with Gracie Fields' "Now Is The Hour" and Ambrose's "Swing Low, Sweet Clarient.' . . .

Olympic Sprinter May Be Sidelined

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 16 — (CP). — E. McDonald Bailey, 26-year-old Trinidad-born sprinter and Britain's No. 1 hope for an Olympic title, may watch the 1948 summer games from the sidelines because of a leg injury.

The tall, "midnight monsoon" from Port of Spain, labelled Europe's fastest human by British sports writers, has been advised to undergo an operation to check hardening of a thigh muscle strained last summer.

The operation would end his activities for the season and frustrate Bailey's dream of an Olympic championship. Twelve years ago, after Jesse Owens' churning legs brought the United States three titles at the Berlin games, the Trinidad schoolboy vowed to become the second "tan terror of the track."

One year later, Bailey was Trinidad's outstanding athlete and in June, 1946, after his discharge from the R.A.F., he ran 100 metres in 10.3, one-tenth of a second slower than Owens' world record. Bailey's speed "out of the holes" won favorable comparison with Owens.

Holder of the British record for the 100-yards dash in 9.6, established in London's White City last August, Bailey once did the century in 9.8—twice in one afternoon.

Married By Proxy

LONDON, April 16 — (CP). — Married by proxy two weeks ago to a man she has never seen, attractive 23-year-old Jolanna Simkovicova of Prague arrived in London by plane last night en route to Canada. In Ottawa Saturday, she'll go through another marriage ceremony with Henry Goldstein, 36-year-old bookseller.

What's What In Baseball

NEW YORK, April 16.—(AP). —A series that many fans—and some experts also—think will be a preview of next fall's world series begins today at Braves' field in Boston when the Boston National Leaguers entertain the rival American League Red Sox.

The teams have meet twice in their Florida training camps, the Braves winning 4-1 at Bradenton and the Sox 3-1 at Sarasota.

The Braves, with several new men in uniform, will be the strongest and best balanced group of warriors since 1914, when a world championship last was won by a Boston National League club

The Six will make their first Boston appearance under new manager Joe McCarthy who, like Tribe pilot Billy Southworth, has a terrific will to win.

City series also open in New York and Chicago today.

The inter league rivalries will be in full swing by tomorrow when the two St. Louis clubs and the Philadelphia teams begin their sets.

In New York it's a review of the 1947 world series with the Yankees entertaining Brooklyn Dodgers in the first of three games.

Cleveland Indians' first base problem was more muddled than ever today. Vice-president Hank Greenberg, expected to fill in for the ailing Eddie Robinson, was sidelined with an aching back. Robinson has an ankle injury and Elbie Fletcher, the only other first baseman on the squad, has a bruised foot. Walt Judnich, who played first occasionally for the St. Louis Browns, came in from the outfield to fill in yesterday.

Detroit pitchers won't get any more than nine inning chores until opening day, Manager Steve O'Neill announced today. Dizzy Trout and Virgil Trucks will share the mound against Pittsburgh Pirates here tomorrow and Freddie Hutchinson and Art Houtteman will face the National Leaguers Sunday.

Deliberate Fate of Tojo, 24 Other Japanese Leaders

TOKYO, April 16. — (AP). — The International War Crimes Tribunal late today began deliberating the fate of Hideki Tojo and 24 other Japanese wartime leaders.

Arguments in the two-year-old trial were completed by the prosecution with a ringing declaration that all of the defendants—for whom the death penalty has been demanded — were responsible for Japanese aggressions between 1938 and the surrender in 1945.

As the 11 Allied judges recessed indefinitely to make their decisions, former Premier Tojo and his co-defendants were led to their cells.

A verdict is expected within two months.

Associate prosecutor Frank S. Tavenner ended the prolonged arguments with a scathing denunciation of the defendants.

The trial recessed in its 419th session — the longest criminal hearing in history.

Tojo and his co-defendants are charged not only with responsibility for the Pacific war, but with aggressions earlier in Asia.

The bespectacled premier, who attempted suicide shortly after Japan's surrender, has contended that Nippon fought in self-defence. Many of the other defendants argued that they were only following orders.

Millbrook Lions Arrange Day For Children

The Dominion Government has dedicated the period, April 12 to 17, as Jack Miner Week, to commemorate the life work of that great Canadian naturalist in conservation of wild bird life. They are endeavoring to interest the children of Canada in this very worthwhile effort and have asked service clubs to direct programs of like interest in all localities.

Millbrook Lions Club approached school boards in their village, North and South Cavan and the Union Schools districts to interest pupils to submit essays on wild bird life and to build bird houses. More than 12 schools have entered the competition wholeheartedly. School boards are contributing money to their schools where teachers may spend it for the betterment of their establishments on something pertaining to conservation as they see fit. There are also contributions to top essayists and carpenters.

The results will be shown at the Millbrook Town Hall Saturday afternoon under the Lions auspices, where the club will contribute further trophies and cash prizes. Alex Kay, conservation officer, will perform final judging in the bird-house competition and give out the awards. Mr. Kaye will also show two films based on Canadian bird life. The essay committee had a great task to wade through many fine contributions and have finally boiled the material down to four, which will be suitably honored at the meeting.

A program of this nature makes a great deal of work for members of any service club, and President Gordon Powell has lost much sleep over it all. He says that the greatest burden fell on the shoulders of Lions Jim Thompson and Percy Hamilton, who have done a magnificent job.

Argentine Embassy Insulted By Humane Society Probe

OTTAWA, April 16 — (CP) — The Argentine Embassy has demanded the arrest and prosecution of two Ottawa Humane Society inspectors for a breach of diplomatic privilege, the External Affairs Department said yesterday.

The department said that it had expressed the government's regret "for the violation of the diplomatic immunity of the Argentine Embassy by the entry of officers of the Ottawa Humane Society."

The department would not say what action would be taken on the demand for the arrest of the two officers involved.

The incident occurred six months ago when the Humane Society received complaints that two St. Bernards which had died had been chained up at the embassy and severely beaten. The embassy yesterday termed the complaint "silly" and said the dogs died of distemper.

The Society followed its usual practice and sent two inspectors, holding the status of special constables, to the embassy. They were informed that they were violating the embassy's diplomatic immunity and were sent away.

The embassay made a formal complaint against an "unwarrantable invasion of diplomatic protocol."

On the request of the department, Capt. G. A. Youle, president of the Society, went to the embassy with a formal apology. He was informed that the letter was unsatisfactory and that the embassy would be satisfied only with a formal letter of apology from the department. Last Friday the department's protocol officer expressed regret.

British Columbia Wants To Be Leading Province In Dominion

By ERWIN FRICKE

VANCOUVER, April 16—(CP).—The first white man to see British Columbia, Juan Perez, took a few looks from his Spanish barque—but didn't land. That was in 1774. But in 1858 things began to perk up.

The discovery of gold on bars of the Fraser River brought hordes of California miners. Queen Victoria gave the territory its present name and it became a British colony. The march of progress and people had begun.

But it is only in the last 20 years—and, more phenomenally, the last 10—that the real "invasion" of BC has got under way.

Today the population is more than 1,044,000. It has long been the dream of British Columbians that their province one day might replace Ontario and Quebec as the industrial and financial heart of Canada. Some observers say it may not be so long in the future.

Population Climbs

Canada's No. 3 province—third in size, population, and net value of production—in 1921 had 392,480 people—less than one-sixth of Ontario and one-fifth of Quebec. To-day it has climbed to within more than one-quarter of both.

In the first three months of this year alone, more than 8,000 families have moved to the coast province from other parts of Canada.

Prophets of West Coast future development point to the prediction of Roger Babson, internationally-famous economist:

"World trade is shifting from the Atlantic to the Pacific . . . Inevitably, the largest city on the North American Continent will be one of four cities—Vancouver, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles— Vancouver, perhaps, has more opportunity than has any other city . . . ."

In 1871— when the colony of British Columbia became one of the provinces of the Dominion — revenue was $380,000 a year. This year Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb has announced anticipated revenues of more than $77,000,000.

Industry Mushrooms

Industrial activity shows the same rapid growth.

In 1947, new industries established numbered 1,367. The net value of production increased from $561,000,000 in 1946 to $680,000,000 in 1947.

Value of exports from BC ports in 1947 surpassed the 1946 figure of $305,666,102 by nearly $95,000,000.

It has practically the last hinterland in the world with untold wealth in unexploited natural resources closely located to coast cities; there is immense room for expansion because BC's population is relatively huddled in 18 per cent of the total area and great natural sources of water power have only been partially explored and roughly estimated.

An Outstanding Year in Metropolitan's History

"1947 was one of the best years in the history of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

"The Company's financial position was excellent. In Canada and the United States more Metropolitan policyholders than ever before enjoyed the blessings of life insurance. Through investments, the Company played a bigger role than in any preceding year in helping to keep the wheels of industry turning . . . to provide jobs and homes . . . and to maintain high standards of living.

"However, the year was not without its problems. Insurance costs were higher because of lower interest rates, and because of the prevalent increase in the cost of goods and services."

President Leroy A. Lincoln reported these facts in his account of the Company's 1947 activities in a motion picture entitled "Pages From An Open Book." Here are some other important facts about 1947 presented by Mr. Lincoln:

—Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totalled $671,000,000 — topping all records.

—More than 2,300,000 people bought Metropolitan policies during the year. The total of Metropolitan policyholders reached 32,384,000.

—At the year-end, policyholders owned a total of $37,250,000,000 of Metropolitan protection — the greatest amount in the Company's history.

—Metropolitan will pay in 1948 somewhat more in dividends to policyholders than in 1947, although there will be downward adjustments for certain classes of business.

Mr. Lincoln also reported that last year a committee representing all State Insurance Departments completed, as required by law, a periodic examination of Metropolitan. In their conclusions, the examiners reported:

"The examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company indicates that it is in a sound financial condition."

"Policy claims are paid promptly, and fair and equitable treatment has been accorded the policyholders."

Metropolitan's Annual Report for 1947, which is entitled "Pages From An Open Book," contains much additional information about the Company's operations. If you would like to have this booklet, fill in and mail the coupon below. A copy will be sent to you without charge.

SOME FACTS ABOUT METROPOLITAN'S OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These highlights of the Company's business in the Dominion during 1947, our 75th year in Canada, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Life Insurance In Force

In 1947, Canadians bought $209,634,649 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan, bringing the total of the Company's Life insurance in force in Canada to over 2 billion dollars at the year-end. This amount — $2,083,391,707 — is made up of 58% Ordinary, 31% Industrial and 11% Group.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

Metropolitan paid in 1947 to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries $36,222,913 in death claims, matured endowments, dividends and other payments. Of this, 69% was paid to living policyholders.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $306,000,000.

Total Investments In Canada

The Company's total investments in Canada amounted to $480,303,977 at the end of 1947. Of this amount, 51% is in Dominion of Canada Bonds. Since the close of the war Metropolitan's new investments have gone increasingly to help meet the needs of industry and the community, just as they were doing before the war.

Health and Welfare Work

During 1947, a total of 234,835 nursing visits was made to those insured under Metropolitan Industrial, Intermediate, and Group policies in Canada; over 1½ million pamphlets on health and safety were distributed, and the Company took part in 54 Canadian health campaigns.

Shipping Losses In 1947 Could Finance US Army of Two Million Soldiers For One Year

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP). — Enough freight and merchandise were lost or damaged in 1947 to finance the maintenance of an army of 2,000,000 men in the United States for a full year.

Cost of maintaining a single soldier, the U.S. Army Information Service says, comes to about $590. The total loss or damage to freight and merchandise during the year is estimated at about $1,200,000,000.

This freight was lost, stolen, stained, crushed or broken on freight cars, airplanes, trucks and cargo ships, and by loose handling on ocean docks and in stores.

The railroads alone paid clams amounting to $115,000,000. There is an additional $20,000,000 of claims which they have not yet been able to apportion among responsible carriers. The cost of investigating and adjusting claims was $10,000,000.

In a letter to Senator Ive (R—N.Y.), President Jerome F. Gould of Acord Packaging and Packing Corporation said that American cargo loss—including merchandise of all types transported on ships—came to between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

Key department stores in New York said they received approximately $400,000 in recompense for goods damaged before receipt last year.

Assuming that this proportion holds for stores in all cities, there is perhaps a $50,000,000 loss for the country as a whole.

An additional $2,000,000 was lost through damage to freight carried by trucks. Another $1,000,000 was spent by consignees and shippers in filing claims for damage.

Blame Inferior Material

The railroads say much of the loss is due to containers manufactured from inferior materials, substituted because of war shortages.

"The scarcity of shipping container materials (wood fibreboard, nails, etc.) resulted in a drastic lowering of the protective quality of all type of shipping containers," the railroads said. "Literally millions of old- dilapidated, second-hand shipping cases had to be used, under which many war and post-war loads crushed. However, the quality of containers is constantly improving."

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads said, "One of the many thorns in rail flesh is the increasing tendency of retailers to refuse to accept slightly damaged shipments. If, for example, a chair in a three-piece living suite is damaged, the consignee may turn back the whole suite because he cannot match the upholstery. This has put the railroads in the merchandising business on a huge scale."

The Shipping Container Institute has released a series of photographs showing the cause of damage to merchandise after a coast-to-coast study during which it photographer more than 700 loaded freight cars. Some of the photographs show that car doors were inadequately blocked, or not blocked at all, and that insufficient bracing was used. Others disclosed shipping containers rolling free on car floors.

The packaging industry, which is a $7,500,000,000 industry, has announced "Packaging Week" for April 26, as an effort to get at the underlying causes of damage, and has asked 250 trade associations, which are the largest users of packaging for industrial and consumer products, to stress packaging in their advertising and promotion.

United Nations Assembly Tackles Palestine Again

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCESS, N.Y., April 16 (CP).—The United Nations General Assembly tackles anew today the problem of Palestine.

Sought by the special session of the Assembly will be a solution to the dilemma created by the age-old strife between Jews and Arabs, made acute in the last dozen years by the influx to the Holy Land of Jews from Europe.

The immigrants and the Jews native to Palestine want to set up the "Jewish National Home" mentioned in Britain's Balfour declaration of 1917. The Arabs oppose it.

This session of the 57-member world organization apparently will start on the question with a consideration of a special report of the Palestine partition commission which the Assembly formed last fall. At that time the U.N. voted 33 to 13—Canada voting with the majority—to divide Palestine into Jewish and Arab states. The commission was slated to carry out that plan.

Its report warns that troops will be needed in Palestine to precent chaos after May 15 when Britain surrenders her 24-year-old mandate, given by the League of Nations, now defunct.

The commission is only one in a series of such groups which have studied the problem and made recommendations.

The highlights of the last year leading up to the current impasse:

April 2, 1947: The United Kingdom requested that the Palestine question be put on the agenda of the next General Assembly and that a special assembly be called to form and instruct a special committee to prepare for consideration of the question.

April 28, 1947: The special session opened at Flushing Meadows, New York. It decided May 15 to assign an 11-member special committee on Palestine to make recommendations on the Holy Land.

May 26: UNSCOP helds its first meeting in New York. From that date until August, 1947, the committee held 52 private and public meetings in Lake Success, Jerusalem, Beirut and Geneva.

Sept. 16, 1947: The regular session of the General Assembly met in Flushing and heard the UNSCOP report. Seven of the committee including the Canadian representative — proposed partition of Palestine with economic union. A minority report of three suggested a Federal-State plan.

Nov. 29, 1947: The Assembly voted in favor of partition.

March 19, 1948: The United States made a dramatic withdrawal of its support of partition and called for a trusteeship and urged a special session of the Assembly.

April 14, 1948: The U.N. announced terms of a truce plan, one section of which would bar all persons of military age from entering Palestine.

Quarter Century Employees Get $100 Bonds

Thirty-nine employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. each received a $100 bond in recognition of their long service with the company at a banquet on Tuesday night. More than 1,000 years of service was represented in the group.

The presentations were made by R. V. Dawson, sales manager and a director of the company, who called particular attention to the records of the three O'-Shaughnessy brothers — Norman, Joseph and Cecil — who have served a total of 120 years.

J. M. Mackie, president of the company, reviewed some of the factors in the development of the firm, noting that "the experience and knowledge which you have garnered during these years is truly one of our real assets and has contributed in a large measure to the steady growth and success of this company."

Wilfred Jones, present chairman of the Quarter Century Club, presided at the meeting. Responding with thanks for the bonds presented on behalf of the group, were: David Leether, Ivor Brock and Clarence Corbett.

M. Scott was master of ceremonies for the entertainment. Jack Ayers was pianist. Three professional entertainers from Toronto were R. Roddick, magician; Margaret Munn, soloist, and W. Cunningham, accordion.

Those honored for their service and receiving bonds were: Miss Verona Guthrie, Miss Margaret Hargrave, Gordon Anderson, Herbert Bourne, Frank Blackburn, Ivor Brock, Robert Cole, Clarence Corbett, William Corrigan, Stephen Curtis, George Dodson, Robert Dorrell, Fred Dorrell, Vernon Dawson, William Field, Peter Goselin, Angus Goselin, Arnold Hatton, Alfred Hawthorne, Thomas Holyman, Wilfred Jones, William Jackson, David Leether, Leo Martyn, Roland Martyn, Thomas Monk, James Mackie, James McMartin, Harold Pavy, William Parkes, Archie Rose, Miles Rundle, Norman Shaughnessy, Cecil Shaughnessy, Joseph Shaughnessy, William Steward, Harry Spurway, Arthur Thomas, Charles Yardley.

Decentralizing Hospitals Now Suggested

LONDON, Ont., April 16 (CP). —A specific plan for organizing Ontario hospitals into decentralized groups, at the hub of each of which would be a university hospital, was presented to the Ontario Hospital Institute annual meeting today by Gordon Friesen, former military governor of Kreis Brilon, Germany, and now superintendent of Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital.

The plan would take 10 years to put in operation, he told administration delegates.

"I think that small hospitals should get their direction from the Medical Centre Level, organizations such as the American College of Surgeons should be decentralized," Mr. Friesen said.

He said that the Kitchener-Waterloo hospital already has put in operation important original measures to counter rising costs, such as manufacturing its own soap, intravenous solution, floor wax, hand lotion, germicide and has started taking in washing at the laundry, making it possible to operate that service at no cost to the hospital.

Nurses' salaries had been raised materially since Jan. 1 as a result of food conservation measures, and the net cost to the hospital of the raises was little.

Churchill Memoirs Describe Weakness Of Allied Policies

NEW YORK, April 16 — (AP). — Winston Churchill devotes the first installment of his war memoirs to weaknesses in the policies of the Allied Powers between 1918 and 1935. He says these weaknesses led to the resurgence of Germany and the Second World War.

Churchill is sharply critical of what he regards as the failure of Great Britain, the United States and France to live up to their responsibilities after the victory in the First World War.

He asserts that no conflict would have been easier to prevent than the recent rolocaust which destroyed so much of Europe.

Among the Allies' mistakes after the First World War he lists the following:

Raps Reparations

The fixing of huge German reparations payments in the peace treaties and the subsequent lending of great sums to Germany by the United States — money which Churchill says never could have been repaid.

Destruction of the Austro-Hungarian empire resulting on the Balkanization of Southeast Europe.

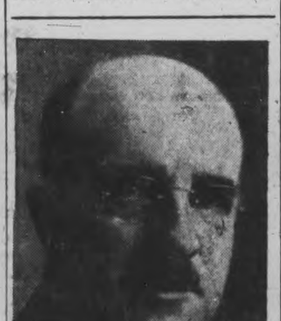
Imposition of a republican constitution on Germany for which that nation was not ready. The resulting chaos, says Churchill, paved the way for the man to whom he refers throughout the installment as Corporal Hitler.

Refusal of the Allies to enforce with utmost strictness the total disarmamen of Germany. The former Prime Minister views this as a final folly which led directly to the futures crimes of the once-beaten Germans.

In the 30's, the preoccupation of Britain with remaining at peace led to a further series of tragic mistakes, Churchill writes.

These included a failure to keep pace with Germany in air power, the abortive compromise with Italy on partition of Ethiopia and the decision not to help France oppose Germany with force when the Germans reoccupied the Rhineland.

Churchill refers briefly to the triumph of the Bolshevik revolution in Russia after the First World War.



Communism nearly won control of Germany and Italy, he writes, and it caused tremors in European civilization throughout the years immediately after the war.

Fascism he describes as the direct descendant of Communism.

Churchill tells of the severe blow he suffered when the late Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin decliend to appoint him to head the new ministry for co-ordination of defense in 1936.

Britons Praise Canadian Firefighters

By H. L. JONES.

LONDON, April 16 — (CP) — Britons still remember the Canadian Corps of Firefighters — the 250-odd Canadians who sweated it out with them fighting the blitz fire menace during the war.

The Canadians were part of the National Fire Service welded together from all fire-fighting forces in Britain in 1941 and only recently dissolved. Though they have long since departed for their Canadian homes, their work is still mentioned with pride by the fire authorities in the Home Office and the rankers in the brigades with whom they worked.

At London Fire Brigade headquarters on the Albert Embankment recently, more than 300 firefighters gathered for a ceremony at which the NFS was officially dissolved and fire brigade authority handed back to the various cities, towns, villages and boroughs throughout Britain.

Lauds Canadians

Home Secretary Ede inspected and addressed the assembled firefighters, thanking them for saving Britain from the wartime fire menace when German fire-bomb raids were at their height.

He paid particular tribute to the Canadian corps of firefighters and spoke of its "great contribution."

Norman Robertson, Canadian High Commissioner, attended the ceremony at which demonstrations of London's latest firefighting equipment and methods were given.

Typical comment on the Canadian wartime firefighters came from Joyce Lewis, 25-year-old London girl who was in the NFS as a driver for seven years and went all through the blitz. Said she:

The Canadians? Sure I remember the Canadians. They fought with us in London and they had a station at Wimbledon later on. Nice lads they were, and they went through the thick of it."

Canada's Regulars Line Up For Special Session At UN

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Canada will be represented by its permanent U.N. team at which special General Assembly which meets this week. Expert advisors from Ottawa, such as Lester B. Pearson and R. G. Riddell may drop in from time to time but the brunt of the work will fall on the regulars here.

That means General A. G. L. McNaughton, his chief advisor, George Ignatieff, Squadron Leader Harry Lewis, the armed services, attache. Information Officer Sidney Friefeld and secretaries Harry Carter, George Grandy and John Starnes. The last named is a Montrealer.

It is a small team as U. N. delegations go but it is an efficient one and its collective background of experience is first rate. In June General McNaughton will have been here two years and his work on the Atomic Energy Commission and latterly on the Security Council has brought him into contact with almost every major figure in the Lake Success orbit. The United States delegate to the Atomic Energy Commission, Frederick Osborn recently in a public address at Boston called McNaughton "the outstanding member of the Commission." When the Security Council appointment was first talked about, there were some observers—including the present writer—who feared that the General might be taking on too heavy a load, that the Security Council called for a more sinuous and political mind. Events have proven them wrong. McNaughton's special quality of rugged commonsense has already won him a peculiar eminence in the council.

Widely Experienced

Ignatieff, as second in command, has sat in, literally, at every kind of U.N. conference. Probably no attache is as saturated with the short but lively history of the organization or knows better its limitations and its possibilities. He has a special knack for the delicate, behind-scenes negotiation which precedes any major decision by the nations. Friefeld is one of the most alert Press officers on the scene. Squadron Leader Lewis has, from service in the late war, useful personal knowledge of Palestine and the Middle East.

Carter took part in the 1946 and '47 general assemblies. Starnes and Grandy, the other secretaries, are newcomers to U. N., but alert newcomers.

Before the General Assembly has even got under way the Canadian delegation has had to fight off certain attentions from the other powers. There has been a persistent lobby to make General McNaughton either president of the Assembly or chairman of the powerful First Committee. He wants neither assignment. The Canadians would like to see Sir Carl Berendson, the perky New Zealand minister to Washington in the chair. The Slav bloc wants a Ukrainian or a Czech as president of the Assembly. They are alone in that wish.

McNaughton has also had to combat a tendency of the United States delegation to put him in the picture with a frame around him, made-in-the-U.S.A. On Monday when the members of the Security Council met in Manhattan for informal private talks on the Palestine problem, this strategy was well to the fore. In the middle of a general conversation, the Canadian delegate made some observations, quite impromptu and not for the record.

"Canadian Plan"

These were relayed by Warren Austin to his Press officer but by this time they had become a 'Canadian Plan." It was as a "Canadian Plan" for Security Council supervision of a truce in Palestine that this program was presented to the world.

Actually the Canadian position is not one of opposition to a supervised truce. There is no Canadian enthusiasm, however, for sending the five members of the Palestine Commission to Palestine to oversee a truce. This is favored by other nations as a way to keep the Commission going and also to halt its present program of putting through partition. But the commission, set up by the last General Assembly as a result of the resolution to divide the Holy Land, is so closely identified with partition that it could hardly function as a truce-making body.

It would be difficult to prophesy the actual Canadian "line" at the special General Assembly. In the special Assembly a year ago, Canada took a leading part in the formation of UNSCOP (United Nations Special Commission on Palestine.) The Canadian member of UNSCOP, Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand, was an outstanding advocate of partition, speaking for himself and not for his government. In the autumn session of the General Assembly, Canada took a strong pro-partition line, Lester Pearson worked to get a partition solution committee, and in the full Assembly, Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley endorsed it "with a heavy heart" as the least unattractive of four depressing alternatives.

Since that time the Canadian role has been subject to some sniping by members of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, who are prepared to cite as their text the reports of an angry and inflamed Holy Land.

Mr. King's Role

Another factor in the Canadian attitude at the present time is said to be the increasingly active role which the Prime Minister is playing in the conduct of Canada's foreign affairs. Mr. Mackenzie King was in Europe when the Palestine partition plan was adopted. His public utterances since his return give no clue to the opinion on this problem, although they do testify eliquently to his concern over the whole world picture. Those who judge from his record say he is not one to favor sawing a country in half because opinions in that country appear to be irreconcilable.

Some indications of the probable Canadian line have been given by General McNaughton's speeches thus far and by press conferences of External Affairs spokesmen. Canada believes that conciliation is not dead; that there is an imperative duty to try to conciliate. Canada is not against the Palestine trusteeship —which does not rule out eventual partition — but Canada wants to be shown that this U.S. sponsored plan can work before going out on a limb for it.

Above all Canada wants nothing to do wtih implementation or supervision of trusteeship or partition. Canada wants to play no glaring conspicuous part in this debate, she does not want her name too closely identified with any plan for action which others will have to carry out. The Canadian delegation may well wind up by voting for a trusteeship plan favored by Mr. Truman's regime. This time, however, it is the Canadians who want to be shown and the Missourian who will have to convince them.

Plan Huge Storage Tank To Service Civic Hospital

The construction of an elevated water storage tank to serve the new Peterborough Civic Hospital at the west end of the city will also provide for better service for residences in the general vicinity of the hospital. This was shown on Thursday night when the board of governors of the hospital received information from the Public Utilities Commission on the commission's plans to service the big building being built near the extension of Weller St., and west of Ryerson, at the present fringe northwest of the city.

The Commission suggested two alternatives. One, which was not recommended by either the Commission or the board, was to install a pump in the basement of the hospital large enough to maintain pressure throughout the building. The pump would have to run continuously and would have only an eight-inch pipe as a source of supply.

Under the proposed plan, a booster pump would be put at the corner of Albertus and Weller Sts. The elevated tank would be built at the rear of the hospital on high ground. The size of the proposed pump is 500 gallons per minute. It will be electrically-driven and controlled automatically by the height of water in the tank. This would give the required pressure right to the sixth floor of the building.

The report also noted that the arrangement would give adequate pressure at all times for the present and future dwellings in the area. It would supply as many as 150 houses there.

The Commission estimates a 30,000-gallon tank, 100 feet high, and said that this would be suitable for domestic and fire protection.

The establishment of such a system would get rid of the low water pressures which now prevail every summer. For many years, complaints of low pressure have been received from homes in the neighborhood of Gordon Ave. and Hopkins Ave., during the peaks of the summer lawn-watering period.

If city boundaries and settlement should extend further west in the future, with more houses requiring water servicing, the Commission report pointed out that the pump could be replaced with one of a larger size. The tank would be of sufficient size for a long time, it said.

Mrs. G.N. Gordon Dies In Hospital

Mrs. George N. Gordon of 369 Hunter St. W., died Thursday at St. Joseph's Hospital after a lingering illness. She was born in Brighton, Laura Emily, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bulkley, and has resided for many years in the city.

She leaves her husband, the Hon. George N. Gordon, KC, and one son, Wilmot Bulkley Gordon. She was a lifelong member of Trinity United Church and of its Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Gordon attended the Toronto Conservatory of Music, studying piano, prior to coming to Peterborough. She was always extremely interested in art and sketching, and was a member of the Women's Art Association which held meetings in the former Conservatory of Music.

The body lies at the Comstock Funeral Home, from where a private service will be held on Saturday at 3 p.m. The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon will officiate, and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Plan Memorial Arena

St. Thomas has organized committees for a Memorial Arena campaign. It is a community centre only in the limited purposes of a sports arena. Hespeler with a population of 3,000 raised $45,000; Simcoe with 6,000 people has collected $95,000 for a new arena of estimated cost of $168,000. Wallaceburg, about the same size as Simcoe has raised more than $65,000. Pledges and volunteer help bring the estimated total up to $120,000.

40 Men Start Special Names Drive For Funds

An intensive campaign to speed up the work of the Business Men's and Special Names Committees was promised on Thursday night by the Civic Arena committee to begin this coming week.

Percy Killingbeck, chairman industrial committee, said he had received a very encouraging report from industry. Co-operation had been nearly 100 per cent he said with the majority of the large firms sanctioning such fund-raising schemes as payroll deductions, donations, and distribution of pledge cards.

The amount raised by pledge cards is expected to be known some time next week when the cards begin to arrive by return mail. Business men and special names may expect particularly heavy canvassing next week.

Under Gordon Armstrong, chairman special names committee, five teams with eight members on each team will begin hte drive for arena funds.

Henry Winslow, entertainment committee, brought up the subject of future programs likely to appeal to local audiences. He said the Fashion Show would go ahead on Tuesday night, and according to last reports, tickets were being snapped up rapidly.

Present at the meeting were Dick Ouimet, chairman, Ald. H. Dodds, Henry Wilsow, Frank Buckland, Roland Johnson, Percy Killingbeck, Archier Weir, Alan Cameron, Mrs. E. Addyman, Leslie Calladine, and Stan McBride.

Mr. Ouimet said the committee would be very glad to receive volunteer canvassers wishing to aid in the campaign to give Peterborough youngsters a place to play hockey on by the time next winter arrives.

Appeal Court Quashes Conviction

The Court of Appeal for Ontario this week heard the appeal of Douglas Hayton against the conviction against him made in the police court, Peterborough, Mahon and caused him actual bodily harm. The alleged assault that he had assaulted Cecil Mc- was said to have occurred on January 25 last and the trial was held on March 3.

The Court of Appeal on reviewing the evidence taken at the trial found that there was no evidence whatsoever that Hayden assaulted Cecil McMahon, and directed that the appeal be allowed and the conviction quashed, and further ordered that the fine and costs which had been levied against Hayton be repaid. W. J. A. Fair handled the appeal for Mr. Hayton.

Rambling Reporter

DON'T DO THAT

These are super - charged times. Trouble in Palestine, Russian war scares, an earthquaking election on Sunday, and just a few weeks ago we had a strange cloud formation over Peterborough. We are prepared for anything abnormal, but not quite for what happened at ten minutes to one today. For years and years the C.G.E. whistle has boomed twice at ten to one, three times at one. Today it made its first boom, then its second. But the second did not die down. It kept on Boommmm. For one minute, two minutes, three minutes. People flew to the doors. War the Cold War over? Had a hot war started somewhere? Had some regal person acquired a baby? Boomm — nearly four minutes, then it stopped. Apparently someone had merely been asleep at the switch, or old man whistle was on a spree. Maybe the C.G.E. was just clearing its throat. At one o'clock all was in the clear; three grandfatherly Boom, Boom, Boom, then silence The alarm was over. Very unsettling times these are, yes indeed.

Frost Forecasts Road Work To Be Intensive

Fresh assurance of the building of a provincial highway westerly from Peterborough, providing a shorter route to Toronto, emerges in a listing of projected road work for this season by Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Provincial Treasurer, in an announcement from Lindsay.

This reference is as follows: "An important part of the road development program will be a highway from Lindsay directly south to link with a similar road from Peterborough, which will join Highway No. 2 at the lakefront. . . . This connection with the big four-lane highway to the south will give more direct service from Peterborough and Lindsay to Toronto and points along the lakeshore. This is a big project and plans are being developed on it now."

This highway has been wrapped up in project state for more than ten years, but probably would have been completed and in use some time ago if the war had not pigeon-holed major construction by the Department of Highways.

It is a fact that "plans are being developed," and the government has laid out extensive operations for this year, but there is no definite information yet from any official source that the new highway to be undertaken this year. Departmental intentions have been generally known for a long time, and Mayor Ovens knows that this Peterborough project has been dusted off recently. On the other hand the government has a back-log of road work which cannot all be done in a season or two.

No Options Taken

It is understood that options on property for the route of this highway have not yet been taken by the Department, a preliminary to the letting of contract. The Provincial Treasurer's statement has been featured in Lindsay, but all he has actually said is "Plans are being developed on this now."

Department engineers are believed to have determined the course of the road from Peterborough, and the Lindsay Minister's reference to it carries the assurance that this project is somewhere near the top of the road development program for this district.

Hon. Mr. Frost mentions other road jobs that have been approved for this season.

Further expenditures will be made on the road between Bobcaygeon and Kinmount and the extensive job under way last fall between Kinmount and Minden will be completed. This is a major job. The Muskoka Construction Company will complete their end of the job and the Highways Department will proceed with the road immediately north of Kinmount and complete the same by early summer. This will give an excellent road shortly from Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls to Kinmount and Minden.

The roads Fenelon Falls to Kinmount, Bobcaygeon to Kinmount and Fenelon Falls to Kinmount and Kinmount to Gooderham will have a prime surface this year.

There will be considerable work between Gooderham and the boundary near Highland Grove.

Work will be proceeded with on the Gelert Road.

Work will be proceeded with on the Kennisis Road running from West Guilford to Kinmount where a great many West Guilford people are employed.

A mulch surface will be placed on the road from Haliburton to Eagle Lake."

Oppose Liquor License To Alpha Club

Two applications for liquor licences were heard this morning in the Council Chambers before His Honor Judge W. T. Robb. Opposition was heard on one of the applications.

The application of the "Alpha Club Limited" for the issuing of a lounge and dining license was opposed by the Rev. M. J. Aiken, for the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

The Alpha Club was described by its counsel, Emmett F. Sheehy, as "an athletic club." In reply to objections that young people might obtain liquor there, he said that membership was restricted to those over 30 years of age.

"It is a matter of surprise to us to learn," said Mr. Aiken, "that an athletic club should be composed of those over 30 years of age—usually about that time athletic prowess begins to wane."

Letters from member of the ministerial association and other interested persons opposed to the application have been received by the court.

Another objection raised by Mr. Aiken was that an application made by the same club a year ago had been turned down by the board. No explanation of the rejection had been given at that time, he said, and the action had been regarded as "suspicious". It was explained that the reason the first application had been repected was a technicality of date of advertising notice of application.

In reply to the minister's remarks regarding the age of the members of the athletic club, Mr. Sheehy pointed out that the Alpha Club had been granted its charter 24 years ago, at which time he said most of the members had been active athletes. Their function today, he said, was in sponsoring various juvenile teams and sports in the city.

The application for the Alpha Club licence describes the club's quarters as: "339½ George St., club dining room and auditorium, contained in three-storey brick building having all facilities required by the Liquor Licence Act."

The other application, which was not opposed at the hearing, was that of the Club Whitesands, on Ketchecum Lake, about 40 miles north of Peterborough. The application was made by Charles N. Robson, of Toronto, president of the company.

A commercial resort hotel, the club is applying for a dining-room licence only. It will be able to accommodate 70 guests. The applicant said that most of the guests will be American tourists and showed reservation letters to the court to show "the type of person making inquiry and who will be guests."

Judge Robb said that consideration of the arguments would be made and decisions given later.

Another application listed, that of Ava Lodge, at Fee's Landing on Pigeon Lake, was dismissed when no one appeared either in support or opposition to the application.

Kin Carnival At Armouries

The Kinsmen Club tonight and Saturday night is sponsoring a carnival at the Armories. The fourth year for this project, it is held to raise funds for a local playground—the construction of a "tot lot" for pre-school children in Inverlea Park. The club has, in previous years, turned over thousands of dollars to the national Kin project "Milk for Britain."

Estimated cost of the tot lot at Inverlea is between $1,500 and $1,800. The club is endeavoring to raise the entire amount for the addition. Under the supervision of the city's Recreation Commission, the lot will be 250 by 80 feet. Special swings, slides, and a new-type hobby-horse with energetic springs for real motion have been projected for the grounds. There will also be a "road" of hard-surfaced material for the young patrons to use for their tricycles, scooters and wagons. Facilities will also be provided for games such as hopscotch and shuffleboard.

A section in the wooded section of the area will also be prepared for outdoor meetings and special gatherings.

A floating wharf for better deep-water swimming is also planned for the modernist development.

There will be 75 men in charge of the booths and entertainment both nights. The program includes bingos, novel bacon-and-egg prize games and other features of a Kin carnival. Major prizes are a radio and an electric range.

Spring Plans Embrace Annexed Areas

Two months's work of laying water mains was authorized Wednesday by the Utilities Commission. New extensions will be on Braidwood Ave., from Park St. to Monaghan Road; Rose Ave.; Monaghon Road from Edison to Rose; King George St., and the Brookdale subdivision. The total cost is $73,428.

R. L. Dobbin informed the Commission that present work in the Arndon subdivision would soon be completed, and the switch to the new program would be begun immediately. Sufficient stock pile of pipe has been accumulated for this work. The Brookdale subdivision at the northwest of the city is developing to the point where houses will be ready in a month or so for sewer and water connections.

Both Fred Hills and George A. Macdonald have been humorously serious for months about "when is the work on Rose Ave. going to be started?"

It may have been some of the five or six residents of that street have been buttonholing both Commissioners for water services. If that was the approach it was effective. The Rose Ave. people may be informed that their cause has been repeatedly mentioned. If they imagine that any delay occurred in this wangling of work, they should know that it was simply a matter of convenience in Mr. Dobbin's progress through the miles of streets that still are listed for mains.

Adds Fire Protection

The main on Monaghan Road between Edison and Rose Avesnue will be 840 ft. of 10 in. pipe; estimated cost $4,014.23; no revenue present in sight. "This main will provide fire protection to Peterborough Canoe factory, and eventually will tie in with 8-in. main on Monaghan Road, north of McKellar St. This will constitute an alternative supply to the Mc-

Former Millionaire, Now Penniless Starts Life Anew In Canada

WINNIPEG, April 16 (CP) — A man who was once a millionaire and the taxation expert of the pre-war Polish government is living with his wife in a dimly lit room on Alexander Avenue here.

He is Wladyslaw Runcewicz, graduate in law of Vilna University in Poland and author of more than 20 works on finance and taxation.

Now—virtually penniless—the 46-year-old man is working in a local hatchery. He came to Canada as an immigrant this year with the proviso that he "settle on the land." He plans to do that and thus start life anew. He wants to raise poultry and mink.

Mr. Runcewicz isn't quite sure what his estate was worth when the Nazis swooped into Poland. He owned a distillery, several fisheries, a sawmill, a residential apartment block in Warsaw, a palatial home and 10,000 acres of forest land. He also had several banking accounts.

"I have lost everything in expropriation there," he said. Happy rather than bitter about his present state, he is absorbed in his new work. His only regret is the loss of involved conversations on financial administration, taxation and social research.

He has lived in one room and worked for the hatchery since last December. His wife also is working. Content himself, Mr. Runcewicz could not see his daughters in similar surroundings. So he has placed his 12-year-old daughter in Sacre Coeur convent in Montreal. Another daughter, aged 9, is attending St. Mary's Academy here.

"A New Adventure."

Agriculture was as strange to Mr. Runcewicz as Canada. Manual labor was a "new adventure." But through conversation and a short course in poultry at the University of Manitoba, he picked up basic knowledge.

"My 'boss,' J. J. Hambley, started work with mink some weeks ago," he said. "It was new to his business and I was a newcomer too, so he put me in charge of it. I've been picking up information on mink from ranchers around the city and particularly from Dr. H. C. Collins, the director of the experimental fur far mat the University."

Mr. Runcewitz won't keep the job too long. He's anxious to obtain a small farm of his own to meet the immigration proviso. He dodged political questions regarding present-day Poland. But he hasn't been idle since its collapse.

At the end of 1939, his government sent him to China, then to Tokyo. Eventually he went to London as chief of the taxation section of the Polish Ministry of Finance and Director of the research department in the Inland Revenue Administration. Then the Polish government ended its days and he was out of a job again.

UNRRA asked him to go to work. He accepted, became principal welfare officer in the United States zone of Europe, then child tracing officer among displaced persons in Vienna.

"I hadn't seen my wife since I left Poland," he said. "But after much effort and manipulation she arrived in Vienna Dec. 23, 1946, one year before I reached Winnipeg.

His application for immigration finally was accepted. Right now he's thinking only of making a success in Canada. He loves the freedom that Canadians seem to "take so naturally," admires the climate and feels it has bolstered his health greatly.

"I admire the way Canadians accept new citizens," he said.

Two Brothers Make Hit At Marmora

MARMORA, April 16 (ENS).—Under auspices of the wardens of St. Paul's Church, a box social was held in the Parish Hall on Wednesday.

A program of instrumental music was given by brothers Donald and Gearold Young of Campbellford. The numbers given by the youthful artists were of a varied nature, reflecting fine charm and technique.

Their repertoire consisted of duets in which Gearold played violin numbers, accompanied by Donald on the piano, and pianoforte duets, all of which received merited applause.

Rev. J. M. Brownlie gave a short speech during an intermission. W. J. Cottrell was master of ceremonies.

A-Bombs Justified

LONDON, April 16 — (AP). — A Church of England Commission said yesterday that "defensive necessity" might justify the use of atom bombs "against an unscrupulous aggressor." Furthermore, the Commission held, if atomic weapons are necessary for national self-preservation "a government, which is responsible for the safety of the community committed to its charge, is entitled to manufacture them and hold them in readiness." It condemned, however, "obliteration" bombing of whole cities.

QUEEN MARY AND PRINCELING—Young Prince William, son of the Duchess of Kent, has his cheek pinched by his grandmother, Dowager Queen Mary, after the party broke up following the ceremonies at the unveiling of the statue of former president Franklin D. Roosevelt in London's Grosvenor Square. Britons purchased the heroic statue with their pennies and shillings to show their respect for the man they regarded as one of their dearest friends.

Lay Cornerstone For CP Building

TORONTO, April 16 (CP). — M. E. Nichols of Vancouver, one of the founders of The Canadian Press, today laid the cornerstone of the national news co-operative's new building in downtown Toronto.

Frederick I. Ker of Hamilton, CP president, officiated at the ceremony at the building, located on University Avenue, south of King Street. Very Rev. C. E. Riley, Anglican Dean of Toronto and Rector of St. James Cathedral, read a prayer of blessing.

Teacher Shortage Decreases In East

HALIFAX, April 16 (CP). — A teacher shortage in Nova Scotia is on the decrease but there still are more than 1,000 untrained or partially trained teachers in schools vealed in an annual report to the throughout the province, it is re-Legislature here.

Improvement in the situation was credited to higher pay schedules now in effect.

The Nova Scotia Normal College at Truro has a full enrolment of 300 for the first time since 1942.

Rouyn Business Men Fall For Gold Bricks

ROUYN, Que., April 16—(CP)—Con men never try to sell the Brooklyn Bridge to Brooklynites but business men in this rich gold-mining area are reported falling for an even hoarier gag—the gold brick.

One Rouyn merchant is said to have recently paid $500 for seven "gold" bricks which turned out to be brass. The victim prefers to be anonymous.

An investigation says the old trick is being worked by a gang who approach business men with a story that they have access to "high-grade" ore from a local mine. The "sucker" is led on until he hands over the cash.

Police say most victims refuse to press charges because of the embarrassment involved—and because they actualy are breaking the law. Legally, only the government can buy gold.

No Renewal Measure For Freight Operators

TORONTO, April 15 (CP)—An effort by United States trucking operators to arrange to haul freight in bond across Ontario between Detroit and Buffalo failed yesterday.

The truckers sought resumption of an arrangement made during the war as an emergency measure. Highways Minister Doucett announced yesterday the government had decided against giving peacetime permission, although the in-bond trucking was provided for by the Geneva trade agreement.

CITY HALL CROWDS GREET LEAFS — Crowded around the cenotaph in City Hall Square are some of the thousands who acclaimed Toronto's world hockey champions on their arrival from Detroit yesterday afternoon. The Maple Leaf players are arrayed on the City Hall steps while Mayor McCallum extends a civic welcome to the conquering ice warriors who defeated Detroit Red Wings in four straight games to retain the Stanley Cup they won last year. In the foreground are the flashy new cars in which the players rode through cheering throngs on Bay St., en route to the City Hall.

Careless Pedestrians Anger Motorists

Apparently People Cross Street Against Lights At Own Risk

A simple looking thing like a street intersection in the downtown area of a city like Peterborough can cause a multitude of mix-ups and a wide diversity of opinion.

Scene: the corner of Simcoe and George Streets. Participants: an assortment of pedestrians; an assortment of motorists; and one traffic officer.

The activities of these participants is, theoretically at least, guided by two documents: a neat blue-bound book called the Highway Traffic Act of Ontario and an eight-page mimeographed by-law of the Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough entitled "a by-law to regulate Traffic on Highways." Added to both of these are numerous amendments to sections, additions and repeals of sections.

The regulation of traffic at these corners is under two types of control: mechanical traffic lights and personal supervision of traffic police. The problem facing both is to see that the two crossing lines of traffic manage—somehow and in some measure of success—to move one at a time. That is, if the east-west lines are moving, it would be a "regretable" affair if the north-south line should collectively decide to advance. Somebody might get killed—and usually does.

In a traffic death, the motorist behind the wheel of the vehicle (usually gorily dubbed "the death car") is usually regarded as the villain of the piece.

But the motorists have begun to violently voice their views on the matter of accidents and the cause of them. They claim that the pedestrians are the real trouble-makers in the majority of traffic tangles on city streets.

Traffic officers of the city police department here are quick to agree with the suffering and maligned man-behind-the-wheel. One Peterborough officer, with 10 years' traffic experience, is outspoken and decisive in siding with the motorist in regards to city mishaps.

"Take a look at the crowd at an intersection any afternoon," he points out.

"It's the empty-headed nut who walks right out against the red light, disregarding traffic, and the woman further up the street who would rather risk her life by crossing in the center of the block than walking to a corner and waiting for the light—they are the real headaches as far as we're concerned."

He continued to describe the accident-in-the-making. A screech of brakes, a yell, and the victim of his own foolishness falls in a heap, perhaps seriously hurt, perhaps only scratched. But the publice feels the same, grouches the motorist.

Sympathetic murmers for the poor, knocked-down pedestrian are heard from the crowd; dark mutterings about "demons behind the wheel," "people like that shouldn't be allowed to drive . . ." float about. There are bound to be a number of spectators who did not see the accident and have not seen the driver who are already prepared to call him "drunk" and nod their heads sagaciously about "gasoline and alcohol." Recognizing the many tragic accidents caused by the drinking driver, the motorists as a whole still appear to feel that the implication that the driver has been sopping is too widely held without basis.

Regulations concerning the actions of motorists, and stiff fines and jail sentences for convictions are well covered by existing regulations.

Regulations Weak

It is the lack—and the weakness—of present regulations regarding pedestrian conduct which makes the average motorist grind his teeth helplessly as he grinds his feet to the brake pedal to prevent running over another jay-walker.

Why don't the police do something about it? The police reply that at present they are able only to suggest and advise the walkers that they observe normal movement of vehicular traffic in making their trans-thoroughfare passages.

Police Chief John Thompson told the Examiner that if there is a bylaw at present, or if one is passed in the future, which will enable the police to prosecute cases of pedestrian violation of traffic signals, that his department will certainly "crack down" on the offenders. His men connected with the work said that the situation in pedestrian traffic manners has been getting "much worse" in recent years, with flagrant violations of common sense at every corner every day.

The present regulations concerning the behavior of the pedestrian leave it up to his own discretion.

Section 32, of the city bylaw 4504 reads:

"(1) Pedestrians shall not step from the sidewalk in crossing a street without looking in both directions and shall cross at right angles to the street."

"(2) It shall be duty of pedestrians to observe the line of traffic at street intersections, and where traffic officers are in charge directing the movement of such traffic or where traffic lights and they shall not cross except at their own risk, until the signal is given for the traffic to move in the direction indicated by the officer or traffic light."

"(3) Pedestrians shall keep to the right when walking on the sidewalk."

"(4) Pedestrians shall pass to the right and no person shall run or race on the streets or sidewalks or crowd or jostle other pedestrians so as to create discomfort, disturbance or confusion; and shall not obstruct sidewalks or street corners and where three or more persons are congregated they shall be subject to the direction of the police."

A recent move by the Police Commission, requesting the Board of Works to have signs erected at traffic lights, may ease the situation. The signs, which will read "pedestrians cross only with green light," will bring the requirement to the attention of the walking public. Whether violation of the instructions of the sign will be subject to conviction is a legal matter which will have to be worked out.

Law Needs Teeth

It has been suggested that the Police Commission pass on to the Council recommendations which would put teeth into the rules governing the conduct of that lonely little creature, the pedestrian.

In the meantime, the motorists will continue to sweat helplessly as they carefully scan the horizon for the few extroverts who seem to feel that the Motor Age revolves about them exclusively and will fall in line with their own desires.

"At the last corner I passed, I would have knocked down three women and two men and one child without the least difficulty, and I believe that, legally, I could not have been held liable," said one driver of 18 years experience.

"I would have knocked them down, too, if I had not crashed on the brakes and swung the car sharply . . . and I was driving with the green light."

"Surely, they can be more careful . . . it's their lives, after all . . ."

It all boils down to this: under present regulations, a motorist is subject to severe punishment if he should cross against the directions of a traffic light or officer. Under these same regulations, the law says the choice of the pedestrian is entirely in his own hands. ". . . Shall not cross except at their own risk . . ."

Claim Compensation In Transport Crash

LONDON, April 16 (AP). — Britain will claim compensation for destruction of a British airliner over Berlin if an inquiry proves the Russian pilot who crashed into the transport was at fault.

This was announced in the House of Lords today by Lord Jowitt, Lord Chancellor. He accused Russian authorities of not wishing to establish the facts of the case.

The British transport, with 14 persons aboard including two Americans, crashed April 5 after a collision with a Russian fighter plane.

Settle CSU Dispute

OTTAWA, April 16.—(CP). — Settlement of dispute between the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) and the Abitibi Navigation Company was announced yesterday by the Labor Department. Several matters at issue between the parties have been settled, the Department reported, and they have signed a contract for the 1948 navigation season.

Russ Secretary Denounces NBC Man As U.S. Spy

MOSCOW, April 16 (AP). — Robert Magidoff, Moscow correspondent for the National Broadcasting Company, today was denounced as a spy for the United States by his former secretary, a native of Michigan.

In a long letter published in the Soviet Government newspaper Izvestia, the secretary, Cecilia Nelson, accused Magidoff of using his position here to collect information for an American espionage service.

She said Magidoff, also correspondent here for the British Exchange Telegraph Agency and recently for the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, has been sending intelligence reports in U.S. diplomatic pouches.

The former secretary, who also is a former employee of the United States Embassy in Moscow, wrote Izvestia:

"Several days ago, while I was in Magidoff's office, I began to look at a letter which I needed and involuntarily discovered in Magidoff's papers many documents which had not passed through my hands and which had reached Magidoff through the American Embassy in Moscow.

"It is evident from these documents that Magidoff has been systematically receiving from the United States assignments for the collection of espionage information in the USSR and that in the McGraw-Hill Publishing House, whose official stationery was used for all these letters, there are some employees who are utilizing their employment in this publishing house for purposes of espionage.

Kirkland Mine Still Smoulders

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 16—(CP).—There was still "a slight smoldering" yesterday at the 2,750-ft. stope at Slyvanite Mine, where operations have been halted since early Tuesday morning due to a fire. About 150 miners working in pits directly in the path of the flames were removed to the surface.

"Fire fighters are now able to get right in with hose," said Alex Harris, public relations director of the mine. "They don't need oxygen masks any longer, just ordinary smoke masks."

Officials said carbon-monoxide tests have been made as far down as the 18th level and air shows a "satisfactory degree" of purity. The management indicated it might be several days, however, before the miners return to their job. It was believed a cigarette butt might have started the fire in mine timbering.

B-29 Squadron Make Berlin Flight

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany, April 16.—(AP).—Twenty-eight B-29 bombers arrived here yesterday on a direct training flight from the United States.

As soon as they landed, Gen. Lucius D. Clay asked that the squadrons make a sortie over Berlin.

This was interpreted as a move by the United States commander in Europe to show Berlin what a squadron looks like. Nothing of the size of these bombers ever was used in the European war.

The proposed flight will be confined to the corridor into Berlin, set aside by the Russians for Allied travel.

How many of the big bombers will make the flight still is undetermined. Two of the three squadrons will return to the United States soon, but one will remain here for at least three months. The three squadrons will alternate on duty in Germany.

The flight from the United States consumed more than 50 hours from the Salina, Kan., base with stops in Westover, Mass., and Goose Bay, Labrador.

At Goose Bay, one of the bombers cracked a propeller on a landing light and had to stay for repairs. Two more of the original group made special stops in Iceland.

At Wiesbaden, headquarters of the United States Air Force in Germany, another B-29 picked up the flight and led it to Fuerstenfeldbruck, which lies in the forests 20 miles from Munich. It was at this base that Herman Goering trained the cadets who made up the Luftwaffe.

Report Russians Move 100 Tanks Into Berlin

BERLIN, April 16.— (CP). — Unconfirmed reports attributed to British sources said Thursday the Russians had moved more than 100 tanks into Berlin's southeastern outskirts.

But an Associated Press correspondent and photographer toured the Soviet-occupied suburbs where the tanks were reported concentrated and saw neither tanks nor unusual troop activity.

A high British official commented on the report, 'if so—what of it?"

German press dispatches said new units of Russian Mongolian troops had been moved into the rural Schwanebeck district northeast of Berlin, displacing Germans from their homes.

No Russian comment was available. Such military information is regarded as secret.

Campbell Admits Third Offence

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 16—(CP)—Earl Oscar Campbell, 43, Canada's former public enemy No. 1 admitted yesterday he was a third offender when convicted here for burglary 10 years ago.

Previously he faced a possible mandatory 15-year to life term as a fourth offender. Now he is liable to a sentence of between five and 20 years. State Supreme Court Justice Georg H. Rowe set sentence for April 30.

Assistant District Attorney Leonard Finklestein told the court that witnesses were not available to prove Canadian convictions in 1923 and 1925. Campbell, after consulting his lawyer, admitted shopbreaking convictions in Toronto in 1928 and 1933.

Campbell escaped from the Erie County penitentiary in 1938 while awaiting sentencing for a $6 burglary theft from a Buffalo tea store.

He was extradited here from Kingston last February after completing a nine-year term from a 1938 Canadian bank robbery.

Campbell stood mute and refused to admit his identity April 5 when he appeared for sentencing.

Irish Designer Offers "New Look"

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April — (CP). — A "New Look" in Irish tweeds—first time the fashion has spread to these fabrics—was skilfully employed by Owen Charles, Dublin couturier, in a recent London show.

The Gaeltarra Eireann (Gaeltacht services division of Eire's department of lands) had special "round tower tweeds" handwoven in the Donegal highlands for Charles collection. He presented them in evening dress, capes and formal ensembles.

Striking example was an off-white wool evening cape lined with royal blue taffeta. In Toreador style, its full circle of material falling in natural folds from an unpadded shoulder, it had a pencil-thin line of blue taffeta as a low yoke line. A slit from the back neckline to the waist, piped in taffeta, was held together only by the thin taffeta band at the neckline.

It had a matching evening dress of blue taffeta in simple off-the-shoulder style; tight bodice, neat waist and full skirt flaring from the hips.

A royal blue dinner dress in wool, had a heart-shaped neckline, plain bodice, three-quarter-length, wide bishop sleeves; its straight skirt having, both back and front, a central panel from the hipline with stitched pleats falling in unpressed folds.

Reminiscent of the 1920s was the camel-coat piped in red braid and cut in a plain, straight, bolero style with cut-away front and edges that "don't quite meet." The only decoration was a full sleeve starting from the waist. This was caught at the centre back neckline and fell in natural folds from it. This, like all Charles' day clothes, was of mid-calf length.

Smart Suit Style

A green-and-yellow vertical-striped suit had a plain front skirt with full, unpressed pleat bustle effect and plain bolero jacket with wide bishop sleeves ruched on to the shoulder line.

In dresses he favored the plain, tight bodice and neat waistline, with skirt flaring from the hipline in varying degrees of fullness. The beautiful simplicity of this line gave dresses suitable for all informal or business occasions and many figures. The sleeves were leg-of-mutton or full bishop, the latter usually ruched onto the shoulder and often caught by a narrow band from threequarter length to the wrist.

Sometimes, with the same bodice, he used a full skirt ruched into the waist. A lovely example was in moss green with a V neckline and roll collar of tan, a narrow, padded tan band accentuated the waist. The full sleeve, ruched the shoulder, was caught at the wrist by large button and a stand-out cuff of tan.

A dark emerald-green dress had peg-top skirt with two large loose folds for hip accentuation at back and front. Part of the front bodice was a check tweed waistcoat insert. Pointed and buttoned like a man's, it suggested a three-piece ensemble.

A striking evening cape in scarlet moire had a stiff stand-up piece on the shoulder embroidered in gold with the cape continuing to a plain neckline. The stand-up reminded one of the full riding cloaks of olden times that could be caught at the shoulder or neckline as desired.

SWEETLY SOPHISTICATED—Specially designed for the younger set is the cotton evening gown, at left, made in cotton and printed in a stylized wallpaper pattern, black on pink. Centre, we have a pale pastel pink combination of linen and rayon fashioned with thrice buttoned jacket and, at right, Claire McCardell gives a spirited swirl to skirt and keeps little jacket rib hugging and brief. A convertible costume, this sun back dress has a versatile appeal.

Urge Women Study Politics

TORONTO, April 16—(CP)—Mrs. Gladys Strum, CCF member of parliament for Qu'Appelle, Sask., last night told a Women and Government meeting that women must get over the idea that there is something basically shady or corrupt in politics.

"The greatest threat to democracy in Canada today is public apathy," said Mrs. Strum, only woman MP. "Half of Canada's potential voters are women. No democracy can afford to have this half politically immature or politically irresponsible."

Other speakers were Agnes Macphail, Mrs. Grace MacInnis and E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF leader.

Two Resolutions Re Housing Drafted By Local Council

Members of Peterborough Local Council of Women met Thursday noon for a buffet luncheon in the YWCA Green Room. Immediately afterward Mrs. W. Addyman, president, called the meeting to order for discussion and decisions on business matters and presentation of annual reports by the affiliated societies.

Mrs. W. H. Morton, convener of housing, reported a meeting of her committee held on March 31 following a thorough survey of housing conditions in the city. Statistics showed 657 houses have been built since the war's end and 200 are to be built shortly to rent for $37.50. During March 13 building permits were issued and it is found a house costs $6,800 at least, which is 73 per cent. higher than in 1939. Integrated houses can be put up for $5,800 and some wartime houses are available at 10 per cent. down payment, their full value ranging from $4,000 to eight or nine thousand. Veterans are receiving preference in most housing projects.

Two resolutions resulting from this meeting are: "Whereas present restrictions imposed by Wartime Prices and Trade Board are out-dated, thus causing hardship through the present practice of six months' notice by the landlord at a given time and can only apply during certain months, thereby freezing accommodation and causing incompatability; whereas a shorter term would make accommodation more fluid and have a tendency to create vacancies; therefore be it resolved that Local Council of Women of Peterborough request National Council of Women to urge the Federal Government to do all in its power to ease the restrictions."

Copies of this resolution are being sent to Provincial and National Council authorities.

The survey of conditions showed that building permits are being issued for other purposes than housing in spite of a desperate need for accommodation. Therefore the second resolution will be sent to Peterborough City Council as well as Provincial and National Council. It reads as follows:

"Whereas present housing shortages causing mental and physical strain on mothers and whereas accommodations for children are very limited; therefore be is resolved the Local Council of Women of Peterborough urge the Provincial Council to do all in their power to make more housing accommodation available in the low rental houses which would also provide countless jobs in a wide variety of industries."

Both resolutions were passed unanimously by Council members. It was suggested that a registry be set-up for those seeking housing, but it was decided to shelve this work until a later date when it would be known if civic authorities were taking steps to provide more housing.

Peterborough Local Council went on record as being the first organization in Canada to decide to send a box containing foodstuffs for a tea to National Council in Great Britain. It is known that this organization is carrying on a tremendous work at present, and entertains visitors from other countries every day.

Plans for the Provincial Council annual meeting being held in Peterborough Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29 were made. Mrs. K. Simpson is convener of billeting; Mrs. W. H. Morton, convener of transportation, asked all members with cars to give her their names; registration will be looked after by Mrs. A. W. Nelson, Mrs. B. F. McNeely and Mrs. H. Tremaine; Mrs. A. A. McIntyre will be convener of entertainment. Each convener will choose her own committee of helpers. Further arrangements will be made at May meeting.

Miss Grace Simpson, president of Elizabeth Smellie Branch of the Canadian Legion, prospective affiliated society, was present to observe, and spoke briefly to the meeting outlining the welfare work carried on by this group and money-making activities engaged in for this purpose.

Mrs. B. W. McClennan, corresponding secretary, was instructed to advise Civic Hospital Women's Auxiliary that since Local Council is not a money-making organization, it must be excused from making a donation to the new hospital. She was also asked to write letters of condolence to Mrs. N. Stanger and Mrs. W. R. Morris.

Having declared Local Council of Women to be opposed to Communism, the meeting was opened with one minute silence in which to remember the freedom enjoyed in Canada and to think of the people in other troubled countries, followed by singing of "O Canada."

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. W. Steinkraus and her committee for providing lunch.

An entertaining interlude in mid-afternoon was the showing of a musical film made by five outstanding artists of the Canadian Concert series.

Annual reports of 31 affiliated societies, covering 1947-48 term were read by their representatives.

Instill Democracy Delegates Told Elections Follow

HAMILTON, April 16.—(CP).—Consideration of resolutions and the election of councillors to the national convention today faced 500 delegates in closing sessions of the 28th annual convention of the Ontario chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Resolutions were discussed Thursday in conference conducted by district conveners and were scheduled to go before the convention after study by a committee.

The gathering, which elected Mrs. C. L. Brown of Hamilton president of the provincial chapter last night, heard President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto call for young Canadians to match what he termed a "passion for democracy" with the fanaticism of youth under a totalitarian state.

Citizenship education over the entire school period was needed to instill the democratic tradition which would perhaps determine the survival of western democracy, he said. Occasional courses "called civics or any other attractive title" were not enough.

Mrs. Brown, whose election came midway through the three-day convention, succeeds Mrs. Lionel H. Millen of Port Nelson. Mrs. Millen has been president for the last four years.

Other officers elected to the provincial chapter are: Mrs. W. K. Foucar, first vice-president; Mrs. Oscar Main, Hamilton, second vice-president; Mrs. J. B. Smart, Hamilton, third vice-president; Mrs. G. Scott Murray, Ottawa, fourth vice-president; Mrs. Gordon Fairclough, Hamilton, fifth vice-president; Mrs. W. N. Smith, Sudbury, sixth vice-president; Mrs. W. L. McFaul, Hamilton, secretary; Mrs M. C. Dorsey, Hamilton, assistant vice-president; Mrs. A. Holinrake, Hamilton, treasurer; Mrs. M. S. Somers, Tillsonburg, organizing secretary; Mrs D. W. McGibbon, Toronto, assistant organizing secretary; Mrs. Henry T. Ross Jr. Sarnia, Echoes secretary. Mrs. R. E. Clark, Peterborough, standard bearer.

Municipal regents holding office in provincial council include Mrs. A. W. Turner of Peterborough.

Auxiliary To Give $50 Scholarship

Mrs. J. V. Gallivan presided at a well-attended meeting of Ladies Auxiliary of St. Joesph's Hospital held Tuesday evening at the nurses' residence.

Reports of various conveners were received and discussed. Mrs. R. Paquette and her sewing committee were highly commended for the number of articles prepared and delivered to the hospital. Mrs. F. J. Lynch, membership convener reported the canvass well under way in city and rural districts.

Plans were discussed for a garden party to be held during the summer, and this was left with Mrs. A. Cauley and the social committee for further consideration and the setting of a date. The president announced that the graduation exercises of St. Joseph's School of Nursing would be held on May 18, and it was unanimousy agreed that the Ladies Auxiliary would award a scholarship of $50 on this occasion.

Mrs. W. Shearer Heads Buckhorn WI

Clements-Steacy

The wedding of George Wilburt Clements of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clements of Lakefield, to Edna May Steacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Steacy of Gananoque took place recently in Grace United Church parsonage, Gananoque. The Rev. H. D. McQuaig officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore white slipper satin with nylon net yoke caught with embroidered lace. The bouffant skirt extended into a short train and she wore a finger-tip veil of tulle illusion held by a cornet of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. She was attended by her sister Miss Marie Steacy wearing aqua blue taffeta and carrying pink carnations. Mr. Arden Clements was groomsman for his brother. Miss Eileen Rackham was soloist and Miss E. deLong played wedding music.

Following a reception in the parsonage the couple left on a short honeymoon, the bride wearing brown tweed suit with matching accessories and wine topcoat. Mr. and Mrs. Clements will live in Toronto.

Splendid Program Follows Alumnae Dinner, Bridge

Mrs. M. B. Pringle, president, and Miss Shirley Beer, vice president, received more than 90 gaduate nurses who were attending the annual dinner and bridge held Thursday evening at Club Aragon. Also 20 nurses of the 1948 graduating class of Civic Hospital who are entertained by their seniors on this occasion each year. Hostesses were Miss Mary Greer and Mrs. E. Brackenridge. Mrs. Pringle and Miss A. L. Thomson, principal of the school of nursing and superintendent of civic Hospital.

A stunning arrangement of which snapdragon and pink roses circed with lighted pencil slim tapers, set in a low silver dish, highlighted the dinner table, with auxiliary bouquets of pink and white sweet peas in inverted top hats. Dainty lace place mats were set for each diner at small group tables. Favors were candy nosegays with delicate lace frills and souvenir programs featured a unique menu which used the surname of each student nurse as a food adjective.

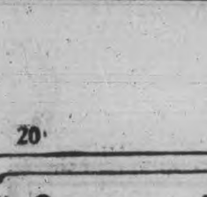
In a tribute to the guest nurses, who will soon graduate, Mrs. Pringle offered suggestions for a good working blue print for the ensuing years, from which alumnae members might also benefit. "May you re-examine your own individual respossibility to your chosen work. May you bring to the traditions of your calling the same enthusiasm and thought that will have made it possible for you to graduate. And lastly, may you dedicate yourselves to the true meaning of being a graduate nurse." Members of the class were presented as follows: Misses Eula Rosenburgh, Shirley Curtis, Kathleen Quirt, Ivy Camelon, Willa Lobb, Mary Crichton, Elsie Crawford, Helen Wupori, Elizabeth Watson, Anna Hubel, Mae Goodfellow, Ruth Bushey, Audrey Austin, Kay Black, Mabel Hockaday, Muriel Buckerfield, Lorna Mitchell, Alice Woldnik, Jean Metcalfe, Connie Elliott.

In response, Miss Shirley Curtis expressed appreciation to the Alumnae and went on to recall unforgettable memories of three years as students at Civic Hospital, some serious and some humorous. In anticipation of graduation night, June 2, she said "We are proud to be nurses and proud to be one of you." All 20 voices then joined in their comic class song, "You'll Get Used to It."

Miss Thomson was introduced to out-of-town nurses and in acknowledgement she said "This is the most active Alumnae I have encountered in a number of years of nursing. You definitely take the lead in Ontario, if not in the Dominion of Canada."

Mr. Morris Duke, at the piano, provided delightful dinner music and accompanied for the class song and a general sing-song of favorites.

In this season of fashion shows it was fitting indeed that the program should include one under the extraordinary title "Much ado under the Hair-Do."



Commentator for the showing, "Mrs. X-Ray," was gowned in black crepe, heavily embroidered with sequins. She carried a dainty beaded evening bag and wore a large rose in her jet black hair. Models displaying fashionable costumes for daytime, beach and evening wear, used the stage names, "Mrs. Thermometer Head," "Mrs. Bone Forcep III," "Mrs. Achilles Autoclave" and "Mrs. Transfusion Tray II." Their costumes followed the "new look," closely, and the models displayed the important style notes well. Special features presented by the troupe were "balloon dance" by two models in gossamer sheer ballet skirts, and a gay polka to the music of "Too Fat." Hilarity shook the rafters when they were revealed as R. A. Kelly, MD, C. Ruth, W. Jones, G. Morrison and M. Pringle.

Miss Mary Robson, an Alumnae member, contributed several most delightful solos, and was urged for an encore. She was accompanied by Miss Marguerite Dunkley. Mrs. W. G. McLaren, also an Alumnist, gave splendid readings, particularly well chosen

DOROTHY DIX

Aged Mother Should Refuse Money to Grown, Greedy Son

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman nearly 75 years old. Two years ago my husband died. I owned, through my own and my husband's labor and thrift, a home which I decided to sell at a good profit. Now this is my problem:

My only son, who has never helped me in any way financially, demands part of the money that I got from the sale of the home, saying it is his right. He is after me all the time about it and I am at my wits' end as to what to do. If I divide the money with him, I will have very little left to see me over my declining years. I have no other income. Can you help me?

Dorothy Dix

TROUBLED MOTHER.

ANSWER: Surely the angels must weep at the spectacle of a son, a husky grown man, who is trying to graft from his poor old mother the money that her one piece of property brought her and who is willing to rob her of the few dollars that she has depended upon to make her last days comfortable and independent, and who torments her with his importunities.

Despicable

Human nature can show nothing baser than that. Robbing one's mother is the most despicable of all crimes, yet it is one that is frequently committed. Grasping children take their mother's all, promising to take care of her and cherish her as long as she lives. They are very affectionate and solicitous for her happiness until they get her money and then she finds herself thrust aside, made to feel a burden, often actually turned out of the house she has given them.

My advice to you is to stiffen your backbone and say NO good and hard to your greedy son. Tell him he will have to wait until you are dead before he gets his clutching fingers on your bank roll.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young girl trying to make an honest living for myself. In the office in which I work is a man about 60, who, every time he gets a chance, says things to me that he shouldn't. What shall I do?

ALMA H.

ANSWER: If he is an employee in the office in which you work, you can report him to his superior, but the wisdom of doing that is doubtful, as it would make him your enemy for life and he would doubtless revenge himself by slandering you. The best advice that I can give you is to get employment elsewhere, if you possibly can.

There are very few offices nowadays in which a good girl is not as safe as she would be in her own home, and where the conversation is not as clean as it is in any drawing room. But now and then in business, as in society, will be found a loathesome old beast who seeks to prey on girls young enough to be his children or his grandchildren, and who says things to them that he would kill another man for saying to his daughter. These men make their crime the blacker and more despicable because they take advantage of a poor girl's necessity to make a living to keep her from resenting their insults as they should be resented.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think that a man and a girl can enjoy each other's companionship and be good friends without becoming involved any further?

A CONSTANT READER.

ANSWER: Platonic friendship is possible between the sexes in youth, but it is rare. In middle age it is common, and is one of the most satisfying and beautiful relationships in the world.

Boys and girls who play at friendship usually find that they have drifted unconsciously into love. However, in these days when young men and young women work together, they stand on a practical platform that does not make so much for sentimentality as it does for understanding.

Thus, with mutual interests, mutual respect and mutual give and take, for the first time in the world young men and women do have a genuine friendship for each other that is untinged by any warmer feeling.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 17

Following some profound, analytical and far-seeing thought, it is probable there may be a definite turn in the tide of impeded, complicated or tricky events, in which discretion may "prove to be the better part of valor." This program of strategy and astute action is likely to gain impetus by "turning on the charm." Even practical and every-day frustrations could yield to finesse, grace and magnetism.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find that they have reached a workable solution to stubborn difficulties by taking time out for profound and logical analysis of underlying factors for delays and defeat. After wise consideration, it is indicated that the purely personal equation may have vital and happy significance. Social, cultural, romantic techniques, even charm and magnetism seem destined to play a large part in "turning the magic key in the door of Destiny." Finesse discretion, possibly money, may be dynamic in promoting prestige.

A child born on this day may find that its capacity for serious thought and constructive action may be enhanced by discreet use of charm, diplomacy and personal magnetism.

Non-Confidence Votes Delayed By Long Debate Till Tuesday

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 16—(CP) — Protracted debate on the freight-rate issue has delayed until next week votes on Opposition motions of non-confidence in the Government. Fifteen speakers participated in the debate yesterday but there were still about 10 to be heard at adjournment. To avoid a vote on Friday or Monday when many Ontario and Quebec members are absent, it was decided that the freight-rate debate would not be resumed until Tuesday. A variety of Government legislation will be considered today and Monday.

Little was brought out in the day-long discussion. Liberal, Progressive Conservative and CCF members alternately held the floor and spoke in support of or against the non-confidence motions.

One motion was moved by M. J. Coldwell, C.C.L. leader, April 7, the day before the 21-per-cent freight-rate increase authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners became effective.

It said the increase was "inimical" to the best interest of Canada and urged that its application be delayed pending an appeal by the provinces.

Raps Inequalities

The second motion was moved by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader. It asked the House to express regret that inequalities in freight rates had not been removed before the rate increase was allowed to become effective.

Liberal members followed the line, apparently settled at a party caucus Tuesday. They did not favor the increase, but were not prepared to vote non-confidence in the government. Their speeches added to indications that the government would rally sufficient support to defeat the non-confidence motions.

For instance, George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley) verbally spanked the government on the freight-rate question, but said he was not prepared to vote non-confidence and help precipitate a general election.

Doesn't Lack Confidence

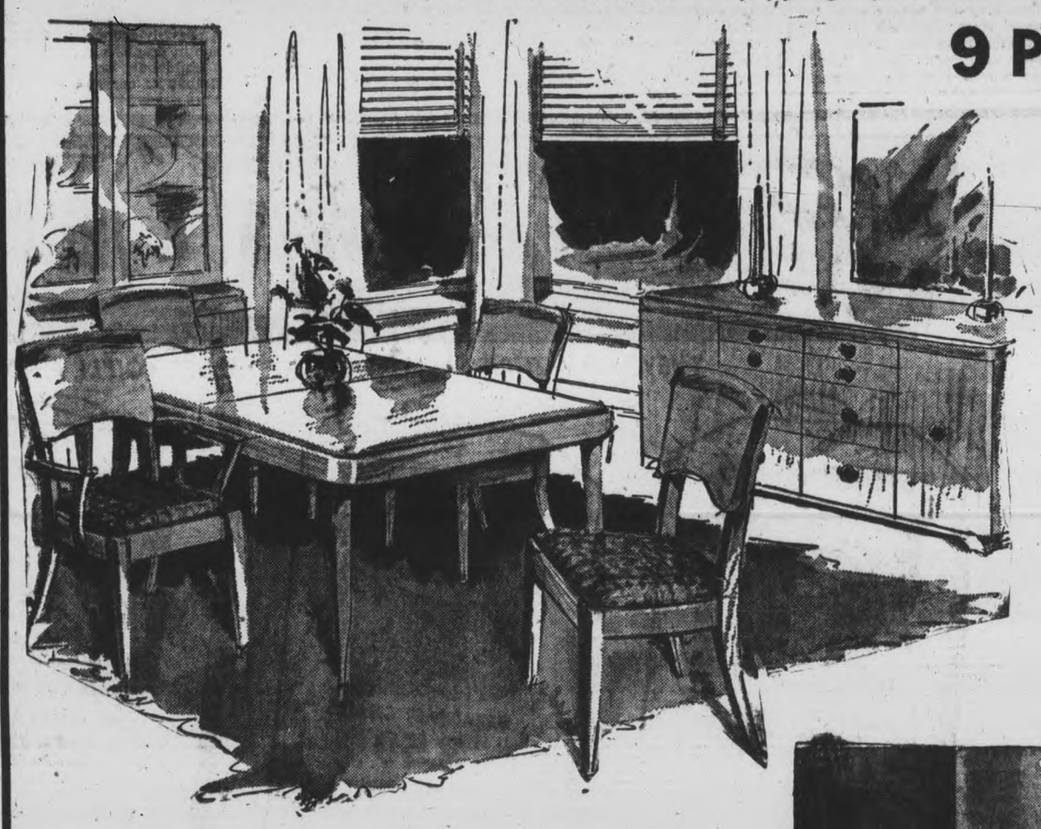
While he disagreed with the government's action in the freight-rate case, Mr. Cruickshank said he could not agree it lacked the confidence of parliament or the country. He felt the Board of Transport Commissioners now had sufficient evidence to eliminate inequalities in the freight-rate structure.

John Dickey (L—Halifax) said he was not prepared to vote non-confidence in the government. It was admitted the railways needed more revenue. Some had criticized the government for not delaying the increase until the provinces had an opportunity to appeal. However, Transport Minister Chevrier had promised that the appeal would be heard and the representations taken into consideration.

L. P. Picard (L—Bellechasse) suggested that possibly not only customs union but economic union with the United States would bring about a solution to Canada's problems. He said the need for a rate increase arose out of the fact that the U.S. had been unable to control prices.

ROYALTY COMES TO DINNER — Princess Elizabeth (left) and Viscountess Greenwood are shown as they arrived at London's Savoy Hotel to attend a dinner for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt given by the Pilgrim Society. Mrs. Roosevelt has been in London in connection with the unveiling of a monument to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Present Three Books To Public Library



Three books were presented to the Public Library at the monthly meeting on Thursday of the Peterborough Life Underwriters Association. E. J. Cooper, president of the Association, handed the books to the Librarian, W. J. Graff, on behalf of the Life Officers Association in conjunction with the Life Underwriters Association of Canada.

Mr. Graff, in thanking the Association for the gift, said that two of the books were on the list for purchases to be made this year, but now other books could be bought. He pointed out that the Library had several books on life insurance and he recommended the Association to read what he called the "debatable" books.

James Dutton, Sr., gave a short speech to the Association on the work of the Cancer Society, an organization set up in the Province of Ontario to educate people about cancer. Mr. Dutton described cancer as being "more insidious than a wild beast roaming the streets." He said that one person in eight died from cancer and that the work of the Society was to make people aware of the dangers and causes of the disease. The Society is planning to have 150,000 members throughout the province and hopes to have 4,000 members locally; a constant flow of literature concerning cancer will be sent to these members.

POSITION IS EVERYTHING

HIGH CARDS can not be valued in an arbitrary fashion always. Often their position, in relation to certain other cards, means everything. One of the fundamental devices of all good players, when lacking the honor strength they would like, is to take the necessary number of tricks by staking all on the opponents' honors being just where they are wanted, and the length of certain suits just to the king's or queen's taste.

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West

6♣	Pass	6♠

Hating to lead from his side suit honors, West took the alternative of leading a trump, the 7. As M. G. Murray, of St. Petersburg, one of Florida's most crafty declarers, studied the dummy, he saw the possibility of losing tricks in all three side suits. To give himself every possible chance, he sought fortune everywhere he could find to look.

Winning the first trick with the spade A and clearing trumps then with the K, he led the heart 2 and stuck in the 9. When it surprisingly won, his hopes mounted. Then he led toward the club Q, but the K killed it and West returned the club 2. After the A won that, he came to his hand with the spade J to the Q and led the heart 3. West now falsecarded with the Q and the K won. The diamond 4 was led to the A and the heart 7 led to finesse the 10. The A then dropped the J and brought a discard of the diamond 8.

With all doubts eliminated, he coasted home on the last three trumps. If everything had gone at its worst, a declarer in that contract might have dropped two tricks in hearts, one in diamonds and one in clubs.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

After West leads the spade Q against your 2-No Trumps, what reckoning would you do, in a pair tournament, before playing a card?

6—In Memoriam

ILLINGWORTH—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Harry Illingworth, who passed away April 16, 1938.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps her ever near us
Though she died ten years ago.
—Remembered by husband and family.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of Sidney Johnson, who died April 16, 1944.
God called him home, it was his will
But in our hearts we love him still.
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away,
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
—Sadly missed by Jean, Ken and his wife.

MORTON—In loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. W. C. Morton, who passed away April 16, 1943.
How sweet to sleep where all is peace
Where sorrow cannot reach the breast
Where all life's idle throbbings cease
And pain is lulled to rest.

7—Cards of Thanks

Plan To Raise NS Membership

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario Legislature today expected to reach prorogation, latest of the provincial parliaments to complete business of its 1948 session.

The bill to increase by seven members the 30-seat Nova Scotia legislature moved through second reading. It proposes greater representation from mainly rural constituencies. The house also considered a bill to facilitate operation of co-operative associations.

Opposition debate on the budget ended in the New Brunswick legislature with an attack by Opposition Leader Hugh Mackay on Liberal government spending in its highway-building program. He predicted a 1948 highway building deficit of $3,721,000.

A track mileage assessment for municipal taxation of railway property was discussed in the legislature at Winnipeg. A government bill given second reading called for the following scale of assessment:

In rural municipalities and local government districts, not more than $2,000 a mile; in villages, not more than $3,000 a mile; in towns, not more than $5,000 a mile, and in cities not more than $6,000 a mile.

The bill would not apply to the cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface nor to the CPR main line in that part of the province in which tax exemption was granted under the company's charter.

Engineers Hear Expert On Tools

"Tools for dimensional quality control" was the subject of an address to the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the Public Library by O. H. Somers of the Standard Gage Co. HELPS ARENA FUND

First company to make a cash donation to the Civic Arena Fund was A. Wander Ltd., which gave $100. The company also agreed to distribute pledge cards throughout the plant. In addition it is hoped to canvass factory and office personnel to bring in other donations.

Hospital Board To Rent Modern System

Peterborough's new Civic Hospital will have the most modern type of inter-departmental correspondence, as the Board of Governors Thursday night voted to rent a new "telescriber" electric system to be installed in the building.

The system, which is in use in several large Toronto hospitals, will have 10 instruments. It will be possible for selected instruments to transmit hand-written messages in exact duplicate to 14 other "stations" throughout the hospital. For example, a call to the telephone operator asking to locate a doctor quickly would be handled by the operator, using the system. The message would be sent immediately to whichever stations the doctor might most likely be near. A permanent record of instructions and messages and movements of patients to and from the hospital can be kept.

Cost of the operation of the system proposed for the hospital will be $264.70 a month. The contract is binding for one year, and may be cancelled after that period.

Instruments will be set up at the following stations: telephone operator, five nurses' stations, record room, laboratory, central supply, pharmacy, operating room, school of nursing, dietitian, X-ray, cashier, emergency, information desk, engineer.

U.N. Council Orders Truce In Palestine

Vote Demands Halt In Any Effort To Set Up States

NEW YORK, April 17.—(CP).—The United Nations Security Council early today ordered a truce in Palestine, including terms previously rejected by both Jews and Arabs.

Russia and the Ukraine abstained when the 11-member Council ended a 5½ hour debate at Lake Success with a 9 to 0 vote. The Council thus succeeded in its goal of reaching a truce decision before the special session of the General Assembly, which opened yesterday, reconsiders the Palestine problem for the second time in 4½ months.

But similar success of the General Assembly to reach a decision on the form of the future government of the embattled Holy Land was not widely predicted.

The Council vote, which came at 2.19 a.m., called for a halt in any efforts to set up Arab and Jewish states. The contenders both have plans for states, the Jews insisting they will set up a government in the Jewish-held section of the Holy Land when Britain quits her mandate May 15. The Arabs plan an all-Palestine state.

The truce plan directed the Jews and Arabs to:

1. Cease all activities of a military or para-military nature, as well as acts of violence, terrorism and sabotage;
2. Refrain from bringing and from assisting and encouraging the entry into Palestines or armed bands and fighting personnel—groups and individuals—whatever their origin;
3. Refrain from importing or acquiring, or assisting or encouraging the importation or acquisition of, weapons and war materials;
4. Refrain pending further consideration of the future government of Palestine by the General Assembly, from any political activity which might prejudice the rights, claims or positions of either community;
5. Co-operate with the mandatory authorities for the effective maintenance of law and order and of essential services, particularly those relating to transportation, communications, health and food and water supplies;
6. Refrain from any action which will endanger the safety of the holy places in Palestine.

May Lose 250 Million Tourist Jackpot

Fear US Citizens Asked To Spend Holiday Money In Own Country

OTTAWA, April 17 — (CP) — Canada stands to lose a $250,000,000 tourist jackpot this summer.

Tourist officials in Ottawa viewed with fear a resolution adopted by the Maine Hotel Association at Portland, Me., yesterday asking that U.S. citizens spend their vacation money this year within the United States.

Members of the association are understood to have taken the move after declaring that Maine will lose in 1948 approximately $10,000,000 because of Canada's restrictions on the export of currency. This allows Canadians $150 a year in travel funds.

The resolution urged "the American Hotel Association and various state associations . . . to exert every possible effort to influence the American vacationing public to spend its money this season in the United States."

Leo Dolan, director of the Dominion's Tourist Bureau, declared his intention to do everything in his power to avert the disaster which would follow the widespread adoption of the resolution. Affected would be an expected record 20,000,000 tourists from below the border.

Involved in the tourist industry this year was an expected $250,000,000 in United States currency, which, officials have stated would be of the greatest aid to Canada's dollar-saving program.

The undaunted Mr. Dolan is certain, however, that he can handle the situation. He feels confident that when he addresses the New England Hotel Association in Boston April 28, he will clear the air of ill feeling to Canada and "to her economic needs."

Train Halts As Emergency Cord Pulled

Detonators Set Off Too Late By Crew; 7 Coaches Wrecked

CREWE, Cheshire, England, April 17 (CP)—At least 22 persons were killed and 28 injured early today, railroad officials reported, when a Glasgow-to-London fast mail struck a standing passenger express.

The dead included at least nine men, 10 women and two babies.

Survivors said a passenger had stopped the express 20 minutes before by pulling an emergency cord.

Passengers told reporters that the members of the passenger train's crew were walking beside the train investigating the alarm when they realized the mail would be following close behind. They raced up the track, placing warning detonators, but apparently were too late to give the engineer of the mail train enough advance warning.

The wreck, worst since Britain's railways passed into Government hands Jan. 1, occurred at 12.40 a.m near Wimsford, Cheshire.

A British railways press officer said the mail train hit the rear of the London-bound express. Winsford is about 150 miles northwest of London.

Seven coaches of the passenger train were wrecked and four coaches of the mail train derailed. Survivors said the mail train tore through the coaches at high speed.

Rescuers, working by improvised lights, dug into the wreckage for injured, who could be heard screaming. Water was sprayed to protect rescuers from possible fires as they hacked through the torn coaches with acetylene torches.

Give Morphine

Doctors administered morphine to sufferers who could be reached through the debris. A temporary morgue was set up near the crash scene. The wounded were distributed among hospitals and infirmaries in Winsford and neighboring communities.

The railway press officer said both main lines probably would be blocked for 24 hours.

It was the second severe train crash since Jan. 1. Three persons were killed and 30 hurt Jan. 23 in a collision at London Bridge Station. Ninety lives have been lost in major rail accidents in Britain in the last 18 months.

Police Raid Red School In Montreal

MONTREAL, April 17—(CP)—Police today studied text-books and other documents seized in a raid last night on what they termed a well-organized Communist school for children of Ukrainian descent who were taught about life in Russia.

Police said the school was sponsored by United Ukrainian Canadians Association. Later they raided a hall operated by the same organization. In each raid police said they seized stacks of Communist literature and propaganda which had come direct from Moscow.

Sgt. Paul Benoit of the provincial police said that the school, of downtown Richmond Street, had been going for several years although police discovered its existence only recently. It had been kept under observation for some time prior to last night's raid.

Benoit said that about 25 children attended the classes two evenings a week. The classroom had regular benches, a black board and a teacher's resk. Most of the pupils attended ordinary school in the daytime police said.

The children, many of whom could not speak English, were questioned by Detective John Boyczum of the city anti-subversive squad. Boyczum said questioning revealed that most of the lectures dealt with the accomplishments of the Soviet Union in the Ukraine.

Among the books seized were text-books dealing with the Russian revolution. Printed in Ukrainian, they were devoted to attacks on the Canadian way of life.

Ontario Election Called June 7 On Hydro Issue

TORONTO, April 17—(CP).—Ontario holds its third Provincial general election in six years on Monday, June 7. Premier Drew surprised the Ontario Legislature with the announcement of the date yesterday, a few minutes before the 1948 session ended. He called the vote on the issue of a $600,000,000 development program for the provincially-owned Hydro-Electric Power Commission, including the proposal to end flickering lights in southwestern and central Ontario by converting power frequency from 25 to 60 cycles.

Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, called the Progressive Conservative Premier's outline of the issue "an excuse rather than a reason" because all members of the Legislature had supported the conversion legislation. W. J. Grummett, CCF leader, welcomed the election and said his party would contest all 90 constituencies.

The Premier mentioned the Liberal and CCF support of the conversion bill in the Legislature—it passed unanimously—but he added that CCF and Liberal spokesmen outside the House had been critical.

"The possibility of carrying out this huge undertaking depends directly upon the confidence of investors in the continuity of the program for which this financing must be done," he said. "It is therefore essentia that there be undisturbed continuity of policy for at least four years, within which the major part of this financing will have been completed."

Two Years To Go

The election comes two years before the government's term of office expires—it was elected in 1945 for a five-year term. The date is three years and three days after the 1945 vote, on June 4. It co-incides with the date set aside this year for observance of the King's birthday—a school, bank and government holiday. It comes between Federal by-elections May 31 in Yale and June 8 in Vancouver Centre and Ontario.

The premier said last night he was not certain when the official order-in-council woud be passed dissolving the Legislature and when the writs would be issued for the election. Nomination day was undecided although in Ontario it usually comes one week before the election date.

Progressive Conservative forces hold 65 seats in the 90-member House. There are 11 Liberlas, seven CCF, two Labor-Progressives, one Liberal-Labor, one Independent and one Independent Labor. Two seats are vacant through deaths in the last week of a Progressive Conservative and a CCF member.

Legislature In Uproar

The Premier's election announcement speech, just before Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson entered to make the prorogation speech, threw the staid chamber into an uproar. Members set up a deafening clamor by pounding their desks and threw books and papers into the air.

He spoke mainly of hydro, saying that magnitude of the expansions plans was not yet fully realized. The $191,000,000 frequency conversion was only part of a program "which calls for public financing on a scale never previously contemplated by any provincial government."

accept this as the official position of the CCF party and to recognize that a continuing attack will be made against our program . . . "

Prominent Liberals outside the House had been "unrestrained in

Stewart Horse Captures $5,000 Stake

Hugh Stewart of Hilltop Farm was informed by telegram today that his good Canadian bred, Stewart Direct, had won on Friday its second successive race since reaching California. The race yesterday was a $5,000 stake affair, and was in effect a repetition of its victory a week ago. "Stewart Direct" took his mile race in 2.05 and the mile and a sixteenth in 2.13, which is sparkling performance for a pacer.

Mr. Stewart sent his gelding down to Arcadia in the hope of entering it in the $50,000 stake event on May 1 for which he and Mrs. Stewart are leaving next weekend.

"He is still doing all that has been asked of him," Mr. Stewart said today. "It is asking too much to beat that all-American field in the golden stakes, but an American who saw him race eight times last year said to me recently: 'He has a chance, but I wouldn't say he'd be in front at the fire; but I believe he'll be in the money'."

Mr. Stewart confirmed a report that he refused a lot of money for the sire of Stewart Direct.

Fortress Surendered To Costa Rican Rebel

MEXICO CITY, April 17 (AP).—Jose Figueres, leader of the Costa Rican revolt against the government of Teodoro Picado, reported last night that Cartago Fortress surrendered to his forces yesterday.

In a message to The Associated Press in Mexico City from a radio station he controls in Cartago, 15 miles south of the capital, San Jose, Figueres said: "Today April 1 at 2 a.m. Cartago Fortress, commanded by the under-secretary of war, Roberto Tinoco, surrendered with all troops, light and heavy weapons, and two tanks. A formal act of surrender was signed. All kinds of military rights were granted to prisoners."

Won't Bar Communists From Labor Congress

CALGARY, April 17 — (CP) — Communists will not be barred from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada as long as Communism is a legal political movement in the Dominion and as long as Communists don't let their political beliefs hinder their trade union work, Percy Bengough, Congress president said in an interview last night.

"Many of us don't believe their philosophy," Mr. Bengough said. "But that is none of our business so long as these people fulfil the obligation of membership and are good trade unionists."

Elderly Indian Couple Perish In House Blaze

ORILLIA, April 17—(CP).—An elderly Indian couple were burned to death today when fire destroyed their frame house on the reserve eight miles east of here. Three other persons escaped in night clothes.

The couple are identified as Alex Ingersoll, 85, and his wife Clarissa, 79. Saved were Patricia Ingersoll, 11, a granddaughter; Ephriam Baker, 34, an adopted son, and Mrs. Jane Jacobs, 60, daughter of the dead couple.

Some 400 Indians aroused by the alarm were unable to save the Indian and his wife. Minutes after the outbreak the whole building was a mass of flame and intense heat prevented would-be rescuers from approaching. The only exit from the building was a door at the rear.

Fire Near Store

Mr. and Mrs. Ingersoll were sleeping in the kitchen at the rear of the house. Patricia was asleep in an armchair in the same room.

Mrs. Jacobs and Blaker were upstairs. When Patricia awoke at 11:30 p.m. last night she found Mrs. Ingersoll trying to put out a fire among loose papers about the stove.

The child told police she ran outside to rouse Mrs. Jacobs and Blaker because she could not reach them through the burning house.

Her cries roused the pair who escaped through a window on the ground floor.

Mrs. Ingersoll's body was found at the foot of the bed beside a window. Her husband, bedridden and helpless, was found dead in bed.

Will Examine Clothing

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP). — A microscopic examination of clothing worn by Mrs. Jane Murdoch Gordon was ordered yesterday as police pursued their search for an abortionist held responsible for the death eight days ago of the 29-year-old estranged wife of a Toronto doctor.

Belgian Regent On Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA, April 17 — (CP). — Prince Charles of Belgium will place a wreath on the National War Memorial today and meet Barbara Ann Scott in the last formalities of his two-day semi-official visit to Ottawa.

The fair-haired, 45-year-old Regent yesterday toured the parliament buildings with Commons speaker Gaspard Fauteux. He and his party had tea in Dr. Fauteux' rooms and later were guests at a government dinner.

With the Prince was Paul Henry Spaak, Belgian Prime Minister and foreign minister, who said at a press conference that he is hopeful of a lasting peace. The former president of the United Nations admitted the world organization so far has not been "a great success." But he urged wholehearted effort to make U.N. work.

The royal party arrived by air at nearby Rockcliffe shortly before noon yesterday. Their big Belgian air lines plane had come in about three hours from Washington, where the Prince had met President Truman.

Justice Minister Ilsley, acting for Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who is ill with a cold, welcomed the Belgians. An R.C.A.F. band played the Belgian national anthem and the Prince inspected an R.C.A.F. guard of honor as army guns barked a 21-gun royal salute.

Miss Scott will be presented to Prince Charles at the Minto Skating Follies tonight. The Belgian party is scheduled to leave Rockcliffe early tomorrow for the flight to Brussels.

European Legislature Holds Work Session

PARIS, April 17.—(AP).—The world's newest political and economic legislature — the Council of European Minister on the Marshal Plan—holds its first working session today.

The Council is composed of foreign ministers or others representing the 18 signers of the agreement yesterday which set up the European organization for economic co-operation. It meets in the French foreign ministry.

At the same time, member countries of the Western European Union are to confer privately on the possibility of U.S military support for their new alliance, formed in Brussels last month.

In the council of the economic organization, preliminary decisions are expected today on financing the group and hiring personnel. Also on the agenda is the selection of a permanent headquarters in Paris.

File Spy Charges

PRAGUE, April 17 (Reuters)—It was officially announced today that the Czechoslovak government has filed charges of espionage against the former general secretary of the Czech National Socialist Party two other members of parliament belonging to the party, and 51 others including high officials from the security corps, army, police and ministry of the interior. The National Socialist party is headed by President Benes.

Biggest Convoy Reaches Jews

JERUSALEM, April 17 (AP).—The biggest food convoy ever sent from Tel Aviv and Palestine coast points reached Jerusalem's hungry Jews to-day.

Nearly 30 trucks loaded with flour, meat, vegetables and dairy products rolled into town for the otherwise isolated 100,000 Holy City Jews.

A strong Hagana (Jewish militia) guard accompanied the convoy over the road, which lately has been under Arab fire. A small group of priority passengers came with it, including a number of Jewish Agency officials and participants in the recent Zionist General Council meeting at Tel Aviv.

The passengers said the trip was uneventful and not a shot was fired. The trip appeared to bear out the Jews' claims yesterday that they had knifed into Saris, a strategic village on the route, and had driven out the Arabs. Saris is between the hilltop village of Kastel and Latrun.

Russia Tones Down Attacks on Britain-U.S.

MOSCOW, April 17.—(AF). — The Russian press has toned down its attacks on the United States and Britain.

There has been nothing official on this, but foreign political observers in a number of Moscow's missions have noticed a change in the tone of the press.

Criticism of the United States and capitalism in general undoubtedly will continue, but right now it is neither as sharp nor as voluminous as it has been. The same is true of the criticism of both Britain and France.

Will Suspend Elections If Italy Vote Threatened

ROME, April 17. — (AP).—Italy's interior minister held out a threat today to suspend this week-end's dateful election "if the liberty of the vote should be compromised."

The election tomorrow and Monday, seating the first parliament of the Italian Republic, will test whether Italy is to line up with Russia or the west.

A popular front led by the Communists has striven to oust a moderate coalition government under the Christian Democrats.

Public security forces variously announced as between 300,000 and and 400,000 guarded election-eve peace the country over today.

Mario Sceiba, whose interior ministry controls police, said in his last campaign here last night: "The government will be on the watch. If the liberty of the vote should be compromised, it would not hesitate to take the most radical measures, even the suspension of the elections."

The speech-making campaign ended, apparently in peace, last midnight and a 32-hour pre-election cooling-off period began under a cabinet decree forbidding further political meetings.

The authoritative Rome newspaper Messagero quoted the Christian Democratic Premier De Gasperi as saying in a Naples interview he thought his party would do better this time than in the Constituent Assembly election of June 6, 1946.

In that election, it polled 35.2 per cent of the vote and elected 207 of 555 deputies.

Jewish Army Stronger Than Arab General Thinks

CAIRO, April 17. (Reuters)—Gen. Ismail Safwat Pasha, inspector-general of the "Arab liberation army" for Palestine, today was reported to have told the Arab League political committee that Jews in Palestine are better trained than Arabs and "much stronger than they appear."

Safwat Pasha left here two days ago to relieve Fawzi Bey El-Kaukji, Arab field commander, and 2,000 Arab troops reported cut off by Jewish forces in a village near Jerusalem.

Before leaving he is reported to have said: "The Jews in Palestine are much stronger than they appear to be. They are better organized and continuously receive help. They own small arms factories and are better trained and disciplined than Arabs. Their leaders have great technical knowledge of modern warfare and can easily counter Arab moves."

Fighting in Palestine is being closely watched in Cairo where the Arab league political committee has decided to extend its present session.

Most delegations have left for their countries but are due to return tomorrow or Monday in readiness for a meeting — to consider either the military situation in the Holy Land or reports from Arab delegates at the United Nations general assembly.

Arab governments were understood to be studying individually the question of sending their regular armies to Palestine if the situation there deteriorates further.

Czech Girl Meets Husband-To Be

MONTREAL, April 17. (CP)—Love's young dream came into practical realization today when Jolana Simkovicova of Czechoslovakia stepped out of a trans-Atlantic aircraft to be kissed by Henry Goldstein of Ottawa, her hitherto unseen husband-to-be.

She seemed shy. But so did Goldstein. Then their self-possession returned. They posed for news photographers and then Goldstein told reporters how he had first seen a picture of Jolana in the home of her aunt in Brooklyn, how he courted her by mail and now planned to marry her next month.

Previous reports from London that said they were complete strangers were incorrect. Actually both Henry and Jolana come from the same Czech town—Uzhorod—although, as he admitted ruefully, the difference in their ages prevented him from noticing her at that time. Jolana now is 23 while Henry is 36.

Export Bacon Price Raised

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP). — The Meat Board today announced an increase of 25 cents per 100 pounds in the price it pays for bacon for export to the United Kingdom.

The increase applies to all grades and weights of Wiltshire sides and other export cuts put into cure on and after Monday. It means a price of $36.45 per 100 pounds for No. one selection Grade A Wiltshire sides of sizeable weights delivered Canadian seaboard.

The price boost will not raise the cost of bacon the United Kingdom, the announcement said. The Board will pay the increase out of its reserves accumulated as a result of lowered operating costs due to peacetime resumption of more regular shipments and prompter handling of bacon.

Elpidio Quirino Second Philippines President

MANILA, April 17.—(AP). — Elpidio Quirino took the oath today as the second president of the Independent Philippines.

Immediately afterwards he went into a closed session with the State Council to plan a state funeral for his chief, Manuel Roxas, who died Thursday of a heart ailment.

Approve 40 Government Bills As Ontario House Prorogues

TORONTO, April 17—(CP). — A rush of activity, during five Opposition bills defeated, culminated with prorogation of which more than 40 Government measures were approved and the Ontario Legislature last night by Lieutenant-Governor Ray Lawson.

The House sat for an hour in the morning and another four during the afternoon to wind up the six-week session which saw legislation dealing with housing, Hydro, labor and milk head the list of 99 Government bills.

The final day provided an unique occurrence of the session when the CCF were supported by the Government in opposition to the Liberals. It was the only time that the CCF and Progressive Conservatives found themselves on the same side while the Liberals were on the other side.

The position developed over a resolution expressing concern with failure of the federal government to reconvene the Dominion-Provincial conference to reach agreement on taxation, health and social security measures and a public investment program. It also urged that the conference be reconvened.

The resolution originated with A. A. McLeod (L.P.P.—Toronto, Bellwoods) in a different form. There had been an addition that in the event the conference is not reconvened Ontario should invite other provincial governments to a conference which would give consideration to the matters.

Change Wording

With this last provision in it, Premier Drew said, the government was opposed to the resolution, contending a conference without the Dominion would be useless.

However, when W. J. Grummett, CCF House leader, moved an amendment striking out the last sentence, Premier Drew declared the government would support it. Thus, the Liberals found themselves alone on one side with the CCF, LPP, and government on the other.

"Important provisions to support the building of new housing accommodation, a measure to encourage the production and improve the distribution of milk, a bill which will establish a code of labor and industrial relations in uniformity with the federal law on this subject, a bill to provide new and increased support to public hospitals, and other health and welfare measures," were mentioned in the prorogation speech as sessional achievements.

"In a further bill of unassuming proportions the legal foundation has been laid for a great transformation in our public hydro-electric power system . . ."

The housing plans to which the speech referred consist of a four-point program which the government declared is designed to encourage construction of homes without actually entering the building field. The scheme was estimated to need $30,000,000.

Main provision of milk legislation is to remove control of retail milk prices and allow them to reach a level set by competition.

Tax Aids Hospitals

Aid to hospitals is to be from the amusement tax field. A bill has passed giving the province authority to take over the 20-per-cent amusement tax when the Dominion vacates the field. All revenue would go to public hospitals.

Referring to the budget, which provides for expenditure of $257,328,341 this year, the speech said "It is a matter of great encouragement that ample funds have been provided without any new or increased taxation. This, combined with the $25,000,000 surplus of last year, resulting in the greatest reduction in the public debt in any single year, is indicative of the high level of productivity and employment which the province now is enjoying," it said.

OMEMEE PREACHER—Rev. H. J. McSherry of Beaver Lodge Mission, Diocese of Athabasca, who at the present time is doing deputation work in the Anglican Diocese of Toronto will be the special preacher on Sunday in the Omemee parish.

Say Quebec Election Likely Held June 7

QUEBEC, April 17.—(CP). — Ontario's election, fixed for June 7, was taken here today as a sign of early elections in Quebec, possibly the same month and coinciding closely.

There was no word from Premier Duplessis, biding his time until he considers it ripe to announce his plans. Liberal leader Adelard Godbout, hearing the news from Ontario, said his party was ready.

Premier Drew and Premier Duplessis were thought to have discussed election prospects during a week-end the Ontario government leader spent here in February. Another topic was thought to have been the power situation, Ontario's main election issue.

Fair Board Backs Boys' Pig Club

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17.—(ENS).—A pig club of junior farmers was formed last night, when a commiteee of the fair board met with the young farmers.

Purpose of the club is to have each member raise two pigs, starting May 1 and enter them in the Campbellford fall fair, about the end of September

Boys present at the meeting were Jimmy Quinn, Pat Quinn, Jim Blakey, Wm. Curie, Archie McCook, Jimmy Foresteil, Joe Foresteil, Milton Haig, Bob Lisle and Claair Lisle. It was estimated thta the number of members for the pig club will be at least 25.

Fred Rutherford, vice-president, was chairman of the meeting. This club is sponsored by the Seymour Agricultural Association and a committee of Fred Rutherford, Ed Rutherford, Garnet Curie and Percy Odie, will inspect all pigs before the boys begin feeding them for the fair.

Mr. Rutherford advised the club if they were sponsored by the fair board, they might be eligible for grants from the Department of Agriculture. If this plan is adopted by the government the club will ask the fair board for pig pens and a grant of $100, which will be duplicated by the Department.

Members' age limits were 12 to 22 years at fair time. Prizes from the feed companies, packing companies and drovers will be solicited, but the boys will be free to sell their hogs to whom they wish, when they wish, after the fair, it was decided. Until fair time, however, they must keep feeding charts up to date.

A vote of optimism was sounded by Fred Rutherford. "Pork prices are not going to drop this fall," he said, "you boys will market your hogs at the present price."

He also said the price of nearly all commercial feeds was down because the farmers were using more and more whole grains.

Exhibitors at fairs, especially boys, should be told by the judges why they were given whatever placement they drew. Only in this way do the boys learn proper showmanship and benefit from the fairs, said Mr. Rutherford.

Removal of Ceiling No Help To Ontario Hog Producers

OTTAWA, April 17—(CP).—The special prices committee, opening its inquiry into meat, was told yesterday that the removal of ceilings did not benefit hog producers. The committee was hearing W. E. Tummon, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association and a member of the Meat Board.

"Our position is just the same," Mr Tummon told Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw), who was seeking information on the extent to which producers had benefited from the increase in retail prices.

Mr. Tummon had presented a series of tables estimating the producers' costs and profit in raising a 200-pound grade A hog. The tables showed that on Jan. 15, 1948, the profit would have been $3.13. Mr. Tumman explained that few Ontario producers raise more than 50 hogs a year.

On October 1, 1947, shortly before price controls were removed the profit shown in the tables was $2.99. On November 15, however, the producer would have suffered a loss of $1.85. At the beginning of 1947 he would have had a profit of $2.28.

Mr. Tummon said that the period after the removal of ceiling prices on feed grains was "disastrous for hog producers." Their costs had risen sharply before the hog prices increased.

Increased Costs

He explained taht when subsidies and ceilings on feed grains were removed the hog producer found himself bearing increased costs. These equalled the formr subsidies without an equivalent rise in the price of his own product. This period lasted from October 22 until the end of the year.

He charged that feed grains were held off the market during last year's packinghouse strike, although there was a shortage of feed and producers were having difficulty because they could not market their hogs.

"The records indicated there was no hold-back in marketing on the part of the Western farmers," he said. "It was evident that somewhere between the Western grower and the Eastern feeder there was a hold-back that continued until after ceiling prices were lifted in October."

CCF Refuses Join With LPP

OTTAWA, April 17.—(CP). — The CCF National Council today reaffirmed the party's determination not to be associated in any way with either the Communists or Labor-Progressive parties.

In disclosing its policy, the CCF National Council, which opened a four-day session here, said the party will continue its membership in the International Socialist Information and Liaison Office from which certain Eastern European countries have been excluded.

These countries are excluded "because of the domination now established over them by the Communists," the statement said.

Emphasizing the party's "refusal" to associate itself with the Communist line, the CCF statement issued by National Secretary David Lewis read:

"The CCF will not collaborate with the Labor-Progressive Party in any way, direct or indirect."

of speeches by E. B. Joliffe, the party's Ontario leader. "No matter what the vote was in this Legislature, we have no choice but to their criticism" and had been organizing an active campaign against the government program through Liberals holding office on municipal electric commissions. "Significantly enough" an unsigned report from an Ontario municipal electric association opposing frequency conversion was made public on the same day "that the delegates to the Ontario Liberal Association were meeting in Toronto."

Mr. Oliver issued a statement after prorogation saying "there is no bona fide justification for doubting the public's support" of the hydro program. "Mr. Drew is, in my judgment, seeking a snap verdict because he knows that a year from now public resentment against his government's policies will have mounted to heights that would make his government's re-election even more unlikely than it is now."

OBA Registration Sets New High

LONDON, April 17—(CP)—The Ontario Baseball Association executive committee yesterday moved swiftly through a short business session and set the stage for the Association's 31st annual convention here today.

Secretary W. J. Snyder's annual report revealed OBA registrations last season were at a new high with 8,357 players registered, an increase of 1,392 over the previous year. A total of 485 clubs operated in 139 leagues.

Transfers for 12 players and two re-instatements were approved. Bulk of the transfers were on behalf of Stratford Nationals and Waterloo tigers, both Senior Intercounty Baseball League teams.

Stratford picked up Earl Boyd and Joe Kennedy, formerly of London; Murray (Lefty) Allen, Toronto; John Hutton, Brockville; Pete Long, Niagara Falls; Max Haun, St. Catharines and Don Gudin, Toronto.

Waterloo had four transfer applications approved and gained Bob Fisher and Gordon Arris, both of Kitchener, and Larry Archambault of Brockville. Cy Bricker, former Intercounty pitching star, was re-instated into amateur ball after two years in professional ranks and was expected to line up with his former hometown Waterloo.

Golf Experts Hit Trouble

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va., April 17 — (AP). — There must be something sadistic about golf galleries . . . Not only do they delight in watching the long hitters belabor a defenceless little white pellet, but nothing seems to delight the fans more than seeing one of the "name" stars get into trouble and out of it . . . The select 15 golfers who started yesterday in the Cavalier Club's "specialists" tournament provided plenty of entertainment for comparatively few spectators in both respects . . . The committee sent out the three players chosen for their long-driving power—Jimmy Thomson, Chick Harbert and Lawson Little—in one threesome . . . And within a few minutes this observer saw Bobby Locke drive one out of bounds and then have to chip out of a deep gully beside a green; Lew Worsham get into the same gully and Harbert put on a wood-chopping act after he had slammed a drive in among some pine trees.

Trouble Shooter

Locke, who got into trouble once about cleaning his ball on the green isn't going to let it happen again . . . On the first hoe yesterday Bobby noticed some mud on his ball and called for an official ruling, although spectators told him that other players already had wiped off similar splotches . . . Bobby got a "no" in reply and missed his long putt . . . Then the officials reversed their decision.

Arrival of Australians Brings Thrill To Britain

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, April 17 — (CP). — The Australians are in town today in the pink and white of an English spring, and across the land there is a curious thrill at their coming.

They are here in neat caps and white flannels, these smiling giants of the cricket bat and ball, and for Englishmen it means that the war is offiically over at last.

Once again "England is in danger" will mean what it ought to mean.

And in a few weeks, over the close-cropped green turf of Lords, The Oval, and Old Trafford, England and Australia will meet in the 149th series of Test matches, a collision of skill and personality that for England is the World Series and Stanley Cup rolled into one.

As befits a conqueror, the Australians came confidently, on their first official visit in 10 years — longest interval in the skein of friendly journeys since David Gregory led them into Liverpool 70 years ago.

They came in peacock elegance these Aussies who in 148 test matches have won 60 against 55 for England, with 33 draws. The cheeriest of all was Skipper Don Bradman, an affable fellow who at 39 calls himself a "decrepit old man," but who still is the greatest batsman in the world.

Italy

Tomorrow the Italian general elections are being held. Yes, that is so, you may say; you may say—well, what has that to do with us in this city, in this country? Our trade with Italy is not really great and we can get along without Italian wines and olives. Italy was an enemy; even when they are on our side the Italians are not much good as fighters. The people are morally bankrupt and the country is an economic liability. Some of you who were in Italy during the war learned to loathe the heat of the summer and the mud of the winter, you learned to despise the people, you were shocked by the contrast of marble and gold in Rome and the poverty and primitiveness of the peasants twenty miles away. You couldn't care less which way the vote goes; if the Commies want Italy and the Italians want the Commies, you may say, let them have each other. Then we can keep our produce and soldiers at home and let the Italians stew in their own over-ripe juice.

• • •

That point of view is impossible for Canada as a nation and for Canadians as human beings nurtured in western cultural traditions. If the Communists gain control of Italy—and even a 35 per cent. Communist vote tomorrow may give them that control—Soviet Russia's hegemony will be extended one nation nearer a world climacteric. The Mediterranean is still the central sea of western society, and Gibraltar and Cyprus alone will not keep it free. That is why France, the United States and Great Britain are actively supporting de Gasperi and anti-communist parties.

• • •

Italy matters very much to us for more than political reasons. We must have charity for her faults and pity for her misfortunes. Half a century after the Risorgimento under the leadership of Garibaldi and Mazzini and on the heels of the first Great War, Mussolini seized power, made the trains run on time, destroyed the fibre of the state and all but destroyed the soul of Italy. The Italian people whom our soldiers observed had had twenty years, a complete generation, of conditioning to bombast, rapacity and chicanery. They saw Italy reflected in a cracked mirror. Some, too, could not make allowances for the peasantry, having never before known what peasantry was.

• • •

Italy matters to us as human beings, Italy the channel of Greek culture, the inheritor of Augustan Rome, the nurse of modern western civilization. It is not to be thought that this country has nothing to demand of us, nothing to contribute to this new world. Italians created a legal code which became the basis of many other nations' laws. They created much European painting, architecture and music; they furnished models in sculpture and literature. To science Italy gave Leonardo da Vinci, Volta, Marconi, Fermi. To the new world it gave Columbus, John and Sebastian Cabot and Amerigo Vespucci.

• • •

Italy stands in need of a new Risorgimento. It is impossible to say now what direction it will take until the votes are counted. The western world is offering not a stone, but bread. The Communists offer peasants the land they now till for landowners, the workers the goods they produce for industrialists: a proletarian revolution. The liberals offer pledges of agrarian reform. Perhaps the voters will not be deluded by the Communists. Perhaps they will remember the ideal of Mazzini: "a people, one and indivisible, which recognizes no privileges or castes but those of genius and virtue, neither proletariat nor aristocracy of land or finance but only ability and active energies consecrated to the use of all in the administration of the common capital which is the terrestrial globe—a free and independent people...not lacking in respect for the right of the I".

Death Of Matheson Lang

There are a few people who insist on referring to Matheson Lang as a Canadian, because he was born in Montreal; by ancestry and education, however, he was a Scotsman, and it was interesting to note that the press of Canada paid little attention to the news of his death last Sunday. Lang last was seen in this country in 1926-27, when he toured here in some of his best roles, and made a particularly strong impression in a play called The Tyrant by Rafael Sabatini.

As an actor he was most happily endowed by nature with a fine figure, a handsome face and beautiful voice. He received his training under two of the best instructors of his time—Louis Calvert and Sir Frank Benson—and it seemed that he would make his mark in the theatre in the great classical roles—those parts in which Sir Henry Irving said that an actor must devote himself if he hopes to live in the history of his art. Lang's greatest talent, however, seemed to lie in the direction of melodrama, and it is in a series of exciting and well-contrived melodramas that we remember him.

He was immensely successful in a Chinese role, Mr. Wu. He won favour also in the title role of the play called The Wandering Jew, by Temple Thurston, and another Jewish part, in Jew Suss, brought him fresh fame. Lang was often commended for the skill with which he assumed what many playgoers thought to be a characteristically Jewish cast of face; as a matter of fact Lang used little makeup in these parts, and looked no more and no less than a Jew than millions of other non-Jewish people who happen to have aquiline noses. Though exciting, these plays were of no lasting worth as drama; Lang used them as vehicles for his own great talents.

A man who gave so much pleasure to so many people cannot be quickly forgotten, and Lang's name will live as that of one of the notable actors of his time.

Income Tax Here And In The U.S.A.

We have been making a rough comparison of Income Tax rates in Canada and the U.S.A. which we think will be of interest to our readers. It would be possible to present it in an elaborate form, but we are giving only the figures which relate to a married couple with two children; we have not considered any income over $10,000, for anything above that sum is likely to present complications which would make a simplified table useless. Here are the figures:

Income	Tax in U.S.A.	Tax in Canada
$2,000	—	$36
$3,000	$49	$230
$4,000	$199	$430
$5,000	$348	$630
$7,500	$647	$1,208
$10,000	$1,167	$1,930

These figures do not tell the whole story, of course. It costs more to live in the U.S.A. than it does in Canada, and after $10,000 the U.S.A. Income Tax is much more demanding than it is in the lower ranges—though it is still lower than the taxes which people of wealth pay in Canada.

Nevertheless, the examples which we have given show that we pay a considerable cash premium for our small population and our imperfectly developed resources. No doubt it will always be so. Although our taxes are considerably less than those which are demanded now in the United Kingdom, Canada is one of the most highly taxed countries in the world.

A Margarine Dispute

We have been accused of taking sides in the slippery question of butter contra margarine. There is one part of the struggle on which we have not made pronouncement—how to pronounce the word margarine. There are two current pronunciations—a hard 'g' or a soft 'g'. The hard 'g' as in growl is used by many Americans and by some Canadian pedants who say the word is derived from a Greek word meaning pearl and that the 'g' in the Greek word is hard as in Greek. The hard Guh is, we think, used by some of the opponents of nutritious, delectable margarine who wish to make the stuff sound unpleasant. The most cruel of the opponents of course say 'oleomargarine' (the 'o' as in pain, the 'g' as in pig). We ourselves favour the soft pronunciation, like the 'j' in jewel or the 'g' in gem. We do not care a fij for the rules of linguists; margarine is Anglicized, it is not Greek; it may even become Canadian. So boldly we proclaim margarine (softly), and even permit ourselves in indulgent, mellow-golden (like margarine) mood to talk affectionately of "marge" (softly saying Gee!)

We all admit that you can't take it with you, but toward the end of April we wish it weren't quite so hard to keep it while we're here.

Diary Of A Watery Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Invented a new musical instrument today, by one of those happy accidents so often recorded in the lives of great men. Sat down to play my piano, which gave out a loud, wiry whine whenever I touched B natural in the middle octave. Raised the lid and investigated, and found that some careless child had left a glass alley on the strings. In fishing the alley out I dropped it on the strings again, and it produced a succession of delicate, tinkling arpeggii, very pleasing to the ear. Repeated this a few times, and then got some more alleys, and tried chucking them into the piano in handfuls; this was wonderful. Then I played a little piece on the keyboard, and threw alleys into the works at a psychologically appropriate moment. Superb! I shall patent this device of mine and market it as "Marchbanks' Fairy Harp". The soap operas will all snatch at it, I expect, and the electric organ will fall into disfavour.

◇ ◇ ◇

MONDAY: There are times when I grow heartily sick of keeping this Diary. "Then why don't you give it up?" I hear several ill-conditioned readers exclaim. The reason that I do not give it up, dear friends, is that I am confident that in future ages historians will turn to it as a true and reliable day-to-day account of life as it was lived in Canada during the middle years of the Twentieth Century. It will have Historical Significance, and will be quoted in all the history books, and thousands of earnest students will thumb over newspaper files, trying to find out what Marchbanks said about contemporary dress, or contemporary manners, or the food in tourist resorts. Just as "Forever Amber" is based upon information gained from the diaries of Evelyn and Pepys, some great Canadian novel of the future called "Forever Lumber" or "Forever Mackenzie King" will be based upon information found in my diary. To give up keeping my diary would be to fail in my duty to posterity. Besides, I am paid for it.

◇ ◇ ◇

TUESDAY: Every spring my interest in photography blossoms anew. Dug up my camera today and found that there was quite a chunk of film still left in it from last Autumn's photographic spasms, so I rushed out and took a number of uninteresting pictures. My camera, though professional photographers profess to consider it a simple mechanism, has more adjustments on it than I have ever been able to master. There is a thing, for instance, which is supposed to keep me from cutting anybody's head off in a picture; its effect, in my hands, is to give me a great deal of sky in every snap, with tiny figures grouped at the bottom, sometimes with no more than their hats showing. There is another gadget which must be adjusted to the correct number of feet between the lens and the object of my picture; this is a nuisance, as I like to take surprise snaps of people, and after I have stalked them for five minutes I forget this gadget, and great fuzziness of film is the result. I want a camera which is self-adjusting; surely some attachment like the automatic compass (such a boon to sailors) could take care of this?

◇ ◇ ◇

WEDNESDAY: Had a frank talk with my laundry man about starch today. "This degraded eccentric", said I, kowtowing, "has a contemptible desire to appear well-groomed in the eyes of the world, concealing his manifold deficiencies of mind and heart under a stiffened shirt; your known charity toward the feeble-minded, O venerable one, might possibly bring you to indulge him in this folly?" The laundry man kowtowed and rejoined: "It is scarcely in the realm of likelihood, O celestial Marchbanks, that this abject wretch should dare to add a jot of stiffening to a character so notoriously upright and unbending as your own; if you insist upon such an impiety, it must be committeed by other hands than these". The upshot of this polite exchange is that my shirts will be as limp and rag-like in future as they have been in the past. Steam laundries abhor starch; they say it is unethical. Hand laundries won't hear of starch; they say it is a nuisance. But I—unreconstructed mossback that I am—like starch, even in my handkerchiefs. I want to crackle and pop like a plate of breafast food, but unless I take to doing my own laundry I shall never gain my desire, which is to be as stiff and white as a wedding cake, all day and every day.

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: Picked up a "comic book" which some children had left in my room today and read it from cover to cover with deepening melancholy. Why do they call them "comic"?....To a concert tonight at which, instead of the audience coughing at the artist, the artist turned the tables and coughed at the audience, a reversal which pleased me greatly.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: My pay envelope today had a notice printed on it in green ink, saying that the bank would be glad to grant me a loan, if my employers were not paying me enough. I think that more appropriate decorations for pay envelopes might be found in literature—in Holy Writ, for example. "Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy....At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor and setteth his heart upon it". That would be a good one And next to the deductions ordered by our benevolent government should be printed: "He exacted the silver and the gold of the people of the land, of every one according to his taxation, to give it unto Pharaoh-nechoh". And as a word for employers, I suggest a final text: "Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters, according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ". I wonder if I could not extract a labour-management code from the Bible, and if anyone would care if I did?

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: A Health Nut assailed me today. "Are you getting plenty of water?" said he. "You know, surely, that you are about 70 per cent. water?" "You astonish me", said I, determined not to encourage him. "Yep, maybe that's why so many of your ideas are all wet", he rejoined, and paused to guffaw foolishly at his own miserable witticism. "Your brain alone is 79 per cent. water", he continued, "and 90 per cent. of your blood is water. Obviously you must take care to get lots of water". "If you didn't get enough water, is there any chance that you would dry up?" I asked, but he was too full of facts to be affected by sarcasm. "Really you are just a big lump of carbon, with a few salts and mineral thrown in", he continued; "I could buy all your ingredients at a drug store for about sixty cents, and get enough free water out of a tap to mix them up". "Vain man", I cried, "in the hereafter we shall see what I am—a dollar's worth of slops and condiments, or one of the Sons of the Morning. Go, pinhead, lock yourself in a room, and stay there until some inkling of the greatness of the human spirit dawns upon you, then see if you can buy THAT in a drug store!" He fled, hustling his sixty cents' worth of chemicals and his water down the street at about 15 m.p.h.

Letter To The Editor

NOT A HOCKEY FAN

Sir: I stay in Wednesday nights to listen to the special Wednesday evening CBC programme. What did I get last night? Hockey, hockey, hockey. They had cut off the usual good Wednesday programmes to give everybody a hockey game the Toronto team was playing in Detroit, of all places. Not everybody and every young person in Canada is interested in professional hockey, a money-making business.

Since you, Mr. Editor, wrote about the good new Wednesday evening programme, I thought you would be interested to know what happened last Wednesday.

Yours sincerely,
"BILL".

Dr. Huxley On The News

Dr. Julian Huxley, Secretary-General of UNESCO, has been making a speech at the Conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva, handing out, apparently, some advice to the delegates. Dr. Huxley, a biologist by trade, is warning us against "laissez-faire anarchy" in news distribution. He suggests, according to the New York Times, that freedom of information should be described "in terms of the functional relationship of information to the needs of the people."

The use of these two dollar words does little to disguise what Dr. Huxley wants. He wants more and better news, better distributed to everyone, and nobody would disagree with that. We would, however, prefer, before going any further, to ask Dr. Huxley for a little more precision. What are the needs of the people? In western lands we use, in the provision of information, the basic law of supply and demand. In eastern lands, somebody else decides for us what news we ought to get; somebody else decides our needs for us.

Our own system has faults. There are occasions when a newspaper fails to publish something it would have been better to publish. There are other occasions when it publishes too much of the wrong kind of stuff. But the buyer of the newspaper can pick and choose, there are many sources of information—press, radio and film—and by and large the public gets itself accurately informed.

The eastern system is not so flexible. Somewhere on high a bureaucrat sits, getting his orders from another higher bureaucrat, and these people decide what the informational needs of the people are, and the whole machinery of a government monopoly grinds out the kind of dope the government wants the people to know.

This, in bald terms, is what Dr. Huxley means when he talks about the functional relationship of information to the needs of the people. Dr. Huxley, as an information expert, looks to us like a good biologist. No more than that.—Montreal Star.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy lovingkindness; according unto the multitude of thy tender mercies blot out my transgressions....Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation; and uphold me with thy free spirit. Then will I teach transgressors thy ways; and sinners shall be converted unto thee....

The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. (Ps. 51: 1, 12, 13, 17.)

Do not err, my beloved brethren... But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.

For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass: for he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.

But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed. (James 1: 16, 22-25.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father. (I John 2: 24.)

New Annuities, New Rate

Only new dominion government annuities will be affected by the proposed change in interest rates from the present four to three per cent., informed government sources said on April 13.

They pointed out that present annuities are contracts between the federal government and the individual and as such there is no power to amend the terms of that agreement which provides for a four per cent. rate.

There are minor changes due in the Canadian government Annuities act this year, and it is believed that the changed interest rate will be announced at that time in the Commons.

The changed interest rate will mean an increase of about 25 per cent. in the yearly premiums paid on these annuities by persons who in the future will take out these contracts.

It is admitted by authorities here that this will make it more difficult to carry out the goal of the act which is described in its preamble as "in the public interest that habits of thrift be promoted and that the people of Canada be encouraged and aided thereto so that provision may be made for old age."

So far, there has been 194,623 individual contracts issued up to a year ago. In 1947, for example, 43,585 Canadians took this method of building up a stake for their later years. In all, Canadians contributed $72,009,764 into this annuity fund in 1947, and it appears likely that 1948 figures will be higher.—Toronto Star.

A BRITISH OPINION

"Just in case there are any would-be office-boys-to-millionaires among you . . ."

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

LOCAL FISHERMEN in my opinion are not getting the maximum consideration in the matter of angling for pickerel. In many years, spring comes early, and by the time the season opens on May 15, the bulk of the pickerel have moved out of fast water into the deep bays and the lakes. During the period from May 1 to May 15, there is considerable poaching going on, and much of this results from a feeling that the law as it stands is unfair. Anglers are itchy to get the fishing tackle into use, just as soon as the good weather arrives, and many of them have little or no desire to try for speckled trout on May 1. They know the pickerel are up in the river and the large streams, and cannot understand why the season should be so late opening.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

TROUT FISHERMEN too are up in arms, because they claim, and rightly so, that trout streams are crowded with pickerel fishermen using heavy tackle just as soon as the season opens. These trout enthusiasts say hundreds of undersize trout are killed by anglers who use worms for bait on hooks that are far too large for intelligent trout fishing. If the season opened May 1 for both trout and pickerel then the load would be taken off the trout streams, and more pickerel would be caught. But best of all, the Canadian fisherman would feel that he is being fairly treated in the matter of open seasons. Obviously, if this should be done, then the angling from a boat during the pickerel season, using natural bait, would have to be eliminated.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

BACK ABOUT 1930, this boat clause was inserted. It was introduced as a concession to resort owners in the Rice Lake area who wanted a longer tourist season. It permits an angler to fish for pickerel from an anchored boat, using natural bait only. The law is difficult to enforce, and wide open to abuse. For instance, drift fishing is a favorite method of angling in Rice lake. If a man is caught fishing from a drifting boat, he can pull up an anchor rope and say the anchor dropped off. He can get way out in the lake and cast to his heart's content using artificial bait.... But if it were illegal to fish from a boat, then he would have no business being on the lake or river with tackle in his craft, and the law could be enforced.

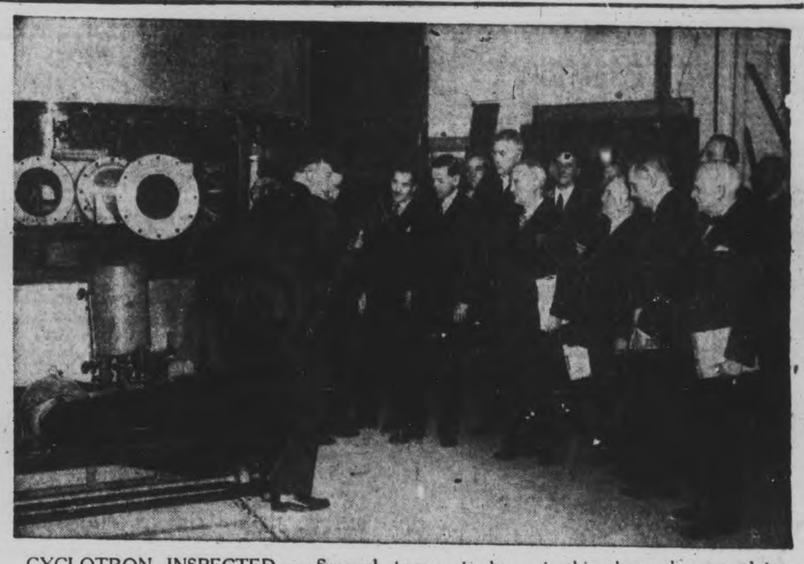
✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HERE IS THE SUMMARY. Open the pickerel season with the trout on May 1. Eliminate the boat fishing clause, making it illegal to fish from a boat before July 1. This would save the trout, take more of the predatory pickerel from the local waters, reduce the number of poachers by allowing them to fish legally 15 days earlier, and it would also permit the youngsters to fish for perch, sunfish, rock bass and mudcats from May 1 on, instead of from May 15. If the boat clause were deleted, the threat to bass and maskinonge would I believe be reduced, and because the anglers would be permitted to legally fish pickerel, I think they would be more anxious to give maximum protection to the bass and muskies. Certainly game wardens would have to be severe with offenders, and if they were, every decent, honest fisherman would back them up. I have given this problem a great deal of thought, and can see no harm in the earlier season provided that that abominable boat law is scrapped.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

HERE'S THE DOPE. Many anglers won't believe that it is unlawful to take any fish with the exception of speckled trout until May 5. Section 42, special fisheries regulations for the Province of Ontario, is a special section dealing with the counties of Northumberland and Durham, Peterborough and Victoria, the Trent River and Lake Scugog, Beaver creek, Crowe lake and Crowe river in Hastings county. The section reads "No person shall fish for, catch or kill any fish from and including the 16th day of October to and including the 20th day of June following" in any of the above waters or counties. "But this shall not apply to the taking of brown trout, rainbow trout or speckled trout in the counties of Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria during the open season in the waters not inhabited by black bass, lake trout or maskinonge".

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦



THAT'S VERY SIMPLE isn't it, and here's the balance of the section: "This shall not apply to angling from the shore for fish in respect to which there is an open season from and including the 15th day of May and including the 30th day of June". And the third part reads—"This shall not apply where the bait used is not artificial, to angling from an anchored boat for fish in respect to which there is an open season from and including the 15th day of May, to and including the 30th day of June". Boiled down this means that no person can fish for any kind of fish except trout until May 15. In other words in waters stocked with bass and muskies it is unlawful to fish for mudcats, perch, sunfish, rock bass or to even put a baited line in the water before May 15. These regulations may seem severe, but they are aimed at giving the maximum protection to the bass and maskinonge. The special regulations are not listed in the Ontario blue book, nor in the summary of fishing laws posted in post offices.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

SUCKERS ARE RUNNING. That's a magic saying, but don't forget, it is illegal to gaff, spear or take suckers by any means in waters that have game fish in them. They cannot be netted unless the person using the net has received special permission from the Dept. of Lands and Forests. No sense in kidding yourself, that is the law. I don't mind adding that I'd much sooner it was a game warden and not myself who had to chase some kids away from a creek where they were trying to get a mess of suckers. I had a heap of fun when I was a lot younger gaffing suckers in Boyler's creek. Why the dickens can't they put a wire mesh across the creek after the suckers are up, and keep the spawning muskies out of the creeks. Kids are entitled to a bit of fun, and the youngster who is out gaffing suckers is not likely to wind up in the juvenile court. I am a deputy game warden and if I see any boys gaffing suckers in a creek, I'll sit there and make it legal. PS.—That might be stretching the authority a bit too.

CYCLOTRON INSPECTED — Several other famous institutions are modelling their atom-smashers after the one which is now being completed at McGill University, Montreal, above, where members of the Board of Governors paid their first official visit to the new Radiation Laboratories. Dr. John S. Foster, director of the laboratories who is supervising construction of the cyclotron, is shown in this photo above explaining some of the unique features of the McGill atom-smasher, one of the highlights of which is the inclusion of miles of aluminum "ribbon". This hollow ribbon, in which water flows while the machine is in operation, conducts the current for the huge magnets, weighing some 300 tons. The exhaust pumps are shown in front of the cyclotron.

Old Peterborough Boy Now 81 Pioneer of Rocky Mountain House

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta.—William John Kirby celebrated his 81st birthday Dec. 30 by working all day at his job as postmaster of Rocky Mountain House. The first and only postmaster the town has ever had, he was born in Peterborough, the eldest son of Joseph Kirby, a veteran of the Civil War and the Fenian Raids.

In 1882 the family came west to homestead at Fleming, Sask., but Mr. Kirby, then 15, decided that he would not like homesteading, so he went back to Winnipeg to join the Canadian Pacific Express Company, working with them in Winnipeg, Vancouver and Calgary for 30 years.

He was with the express company in Calgary in the spring of 1912 when he heard talk of the new country west of Red Deer that was being opened up, with two railways going in, so he gave up his work with the express company and started for the new frontier.

In company with two other men, he drove the 60 miles west from Red Deer in the first car to travel that road.

The journey took six days. At first they tried to follow the winding wagon trail made by the ox teams hauling cement for the railway bridge across the North Saskatchewan river at Rocky.

But the heavy loads cut the trails too deeply, so they had to branch off on their own, often hewing the trail out of the bush, laying corduroy to cross the muskegs, throwing log bridges across the little streams.

The men carried some food and ate at stopping houses when they found them, and slept at night on the ground beside their car. On reaching the log houses on the river bank which made up the new village their arrival in a car was greeted with enthusiasm. Most of the settlers had never seen a car before and could not believe the men had driven in in six days. The same trip now is made easily in an hour and a half.

Mr. Kirby and a partner started a general store and that fall Mr. Kirby was appointed the first postmaster of Rocky Mountain House, a position he has filled satisfactorily for more than 35 years.

He has taken a keen interest in Rocky, that he has seen grow from a small log hamlet to a town of over 1,500.

In 1934 he made a tour of the British Isles, France and the Mediterranean countries. As mayor of Rocky Mountain House he was presented to the Lord Mayor of London and also had an audience with the late Duke of Connaught.

He toured the western states three years ago, went to Detroit to the World Series two years ago and last spring, when past 80, went to Windsor for a new car and drove back.

It is entirely due to Mr. Kirby's civic pride and foresight that the historic name of Rocky Mountain House has been preserved. Built near the old fort that was erected here more than 150 years ago, the young village kept the original name.

But in the early twenties some official of the CPR decided that the three-word names was too long. So the name was quietly changed to Lochearn.

Citizens were indignant and Mr. Kirby led the fight to retain the historic name that linked the modern town with old fur trading days. Dozens of refusals did not stop Mr. Kirby. It was a long fight, but finally the protests he made bore fruit.

Mr. Kirby curls, a game he learned when he was 70. He plays bridge and works every day in the postoffice, has the hearing and eyesight of a man half his age. His father was almost 96 when he died here in 1937.

Mr. Kirby's two sons are lawyers, Orville Kirby is in Kamloops and Cameron Kirby is in Red Deer, a partner in the firm McClure and Kirby. His three daughters are Mrs. Peter Batter, Hanna; Mrs. Charles Thomas, Torrance, Calif; and Miss Margaret KiKrby, Rocky. He has nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Starting With 15 Employees 20 Yrs. Ago Outboard Marine Co. Now Has Over 700

By HARRY THEOBALD

The personal contribution of Mr. Hugh M. Campbell, general manager of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company of Canada, to the industrial expansion of Peterborough is recalled in a brief reminiscence published in the March issue of The Outboard Mariner, the plant's house organ. It was written by Mr. L. L. Maguire, advertising manager, apparently with appreciation of the spirit of modesty that is typical of Mr. Campbell himself. But, some of the circumstances of his coming to this city twenty years ago were so interesting that they invite retelling from information obtained from other sources.

An element of romance is attached to the negotiations and other precedents of the Johnson Motor Company's choice of Peterborough as the site of its Canadian branch factory.

And, although a score of years has passed since that episode, the attraction of this company, then regarded as a municipal and community achievement, still carries a stimulating effect upon Peterborough's confidence in itself, in spite of all the uncertainties which today overshadow the whole field of industry and this continent's way of life.

Early in 1928, the city council received word that the Johnson Motor Co. of Waukegan, Ill., was thinking of locating in Canada. The intelligence reaching the city hall was that the company was definitely interested in Toronto. The late Roland Denne was mayor of Peterborough, and the late Simon R. Armstrong was city clerk and industrial commissioner. Mr. Malcolm McIntyre, then an alderman, was chairman of the council's manufacturers committee. They decided to go to Toronto, invade the enemy's camp, and try to persuade the company's representatives to come to Peterborough and look over several manufacturing buildings that were vacant.

The late Senator Frank O'Connor had a suite in the King Edward Hotel. He had gone from Peterborough to Toronto and established there the Laura Secord candy company. As a close friend of many years, Mayor Denne led his deputation to the O'Connor suite, and made those rooms the base of operations. First inquiries brought dark news. The Johnson company representatives were out in the city examining a building which they had tentatively decided to lease. One of them was Joseph Rayniak, present vice-president and general manager of manufacturing in the United States division of the company, and the other was Hugh M. Campbell. They arrived back at the hotel at noon, met the visitors from Peterborough, and also Senator O'Connor and Senator Wm. H. McGuire, who was born in Otonabee township, near Indian River.

Two Senators added considerable prestige to the Peterborough deputation. Several other friends helped the cause during the day, including the Hon. Peter Heenan.

"We tried to get them to come back to Peterborough with us that night," Mr. McIntyre recalled to The Examiner today. "They said they couldn't do that because they had advertised for starting employees, and they expected some immediate replies. But, they did promise to come here the next day. That was on in March, and the next day was so wintry and unpleasant that we just about gave up hope in the morning of seeing them.

But the Johnson executives were men of their word. They arrived at noon, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Rayniak. We had shown them a few pictures of buildings we thought might attract them. They expressed interest in the Schneider building at George and Dalhousie Streets, opposite the Ackerman plant. When they saw it, they immediately lost interest. It wasn't what they were looking for. So, we drove over to the vacant Henry Hope factory on Monaghan Road. It was owned by the Raybestos Company, and we had got the keys from Mr. Robert Abbott.

Conditions seemed to be working against us. We couldn't get in the front door. Rain and melting snow had frozen around the bottom, and we couldn't budge it. Finally, we found a door we could open at the rear. We left Mr. Rayniak and Mr. Campbell pretty much to themselves while they looked through the building. I formed the impression that they were really interested in those premises.

We went back to the Raybestos. Mr. Abbott said he thought the company would sell the Monaghan Road property. Our visitors left us with rental terms of $150 a month and an opportunity to buy the place in a year. The Johnson men went back to Toronto. We hadn't a great deal of hope because they had taken some steps to locate there. But, it wasn't long until we got word that they had decided to come to Peterborough."

Mr. McIntyre also recalled that when Mr. Rayniak and Mr. Campbell arrived here at noon that day, they were dinner guests of the manufacturers committee.

"We had also invited the heads of American industries with plants here whose welcome, I know, was a big help. My sharpest recollection of that luncheon were some of the favorable conditions stressed by Mr. J. H. Vernor of Western Clock Co.

That was also the year A. Wander Company decided to locate their Canadian branch in Peterborough. Altogether, it was a very satisfactory year."

Hugh Campbell returned to organize a staff, set up machinery and get into production. Johnson Motors began here with fifteen employees. Today they have more than 700. A few of their original helpers are still with Outboard Marine, as the company is now known, and there are from 50 to 60 who have been 15 or more years in continuous employment.

Here is a summary quoted from The Outboard Mariner: "Today, the Outboard Marine organization might truly be referred to as the Outboard Industry of Canada . . . the only Canadian company manufacturing outboard motors in Canada . . . and we are indeed fortunate that the same genial and straight shooting men are still directing the fortunes of the company . . .

From small beginnings up to the sturdy and aggressive business that now centres around the familiar plant on Monaghan Road South, the pattern has always been the same; keen and sympathetic management and a loyal and energetic rank and file of employees who have demonstrated to the country as a whole, and to Peterborough in particular, that fair dealing and honest effort do have a place in the industrial life of the city . . ."

Outboard Marine had acquired large industrial stature when its skills and equipment were requisitioned by the Government of Canada for wartime production. That chapter of the history of the company, which grew out of Johnson Motors of twenty years ago, has never been told. In that respect it is only part of the splendid story of Canadian industry's tremendous accomplishment to the victory of 1945. Through those exacting and exhausting years, Mr. Campbell continued as the directing head of the company, now reconverted to its own business with all the recent refinements of its motor products.

Probably Mr. Campbell is aware of one of the rewards of the decision he helped to determine 20 years ago this Spring — that his leadership in Peterborough business and community affairs is fully recognized and appreciated, that the people of this city are proud of the industry that has grown up around his ability and personality, and that he holds a high place in their respect and friendship.

He came here a stranger 20 years ago, and he has become one of the makers of the city in its present day importance as one of the industrial centres of Canada.

Bank Manager In Winnipeg

Norman G. Henderson, who left recently to take over the managership of the Bank of Toronto branch at Portage Ave. and Edmonton St. in Winnipeg, is at 37, one of the youngest bank managers in Canada. The branch is one of four in the western city.

M.r Henderson was born on his parent's farm in Emily township, three miles north of Omemee village. He graduated from Omemee high school and entered the bank there 20 years ago. He subsequently served in various capacities at branches in Colborne, Havelock, Oakville and Owen Sound. He came to Peterborough as an accountant on Oct. 4, 1939. Six months ago he was transferred to head office at Toronto in the supervision department, for special training.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Henderson and his parents still occupy the homestead in Emily. He married Elda Overholt of Omemee and has one daughter, four years old.

During his stay in Peterborough Mr. Henderson was very active in the Y's Men's Club and served a term as secretary. He is a keen fisherman and duck hunter, and was an active conservationist in the Pigeon Lake area, a section he knew well because of his early life in Emily.

H. W. McNevin, who is acting manager of the Bank of Toronto here in the absence of the manager, James Thompson, said in tribute to his colleague, "Mr. Henderson has a personality that made him one of the most popular employees in the bank."

SPORT BRIEFS

Ace hurler Arnie (Lefty) Jarrell and Outfielder Joe Lay of the Kingston Border League Baseball Club announced yesterday that they will play with Granby Red Sox of the Quebec Provincial League this season. Jarrell said he will receive $500 a month and an additional $200 for signing.

Never far off the pace, Pacer Stewart Direct got up in the final strides to win the first division of the $3,750 Inglewood pace in yesterday's program of harness racing at Santa Anita track.

GIANT KILLER—Earl McCready, shown above, who performed the herculean feat of beating the Cardiff Giant here two weeks ago, gets another important bout in the Brock Arena next week. McCready gets his chance back at the Masked Marvel and makes no bones about the fact that this time the Aurora Farmer will repeat. The Mask and Earl had several wild encounters in team matches during the winter and Earl showed that he is definitely the master of the mystery-man and figures to expose his mysterious countenance.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Entries close at the men's City Softball League meeting Tuesday at 7.30 p.m. in the YMCA, the secretary advises. Clubs craving a spot should bring a five-spot along at this time, and players' certificates will be given out. Scramble for players is on now by skippers of Knights, De Laval; B-A and the Legion. Rather looks like a four-team setup again, but it's open until Tuesday night. Umpires' applications will be considered at the huddle and other business cleaned up, with the circuit then ready to draw up a schedule when nights are obtained at the Bowl. The meeting should start on the dot and finish early so that the loop may be represented at the eight p.m. tax meeting in the Council Chambers.

At the Girls' Softball League session the other e'en, it was intimated that not more than eight teams are wanted this year, so that an improved calibre of ball in each section may be served the fans. Those expected to enter at the April 29 meeting are: Westclox, CGE, Marines, Ashby's, Quakers, Lock Co., Woollens and maybe Lakefield. If the executive is agreeable to the latter after a careful checkup on quality of players and grounds available. The colleens' circuit will again be affiliated with the Provincial Women's Softball Union, and will play three or four nights weekly at the Bowl in twin bills under the arcs.

Killing Golden Goose?

A disquieting rumor has it that the city parks committee is considering raising the rent considerably for use of the Ashburnham Bowl by girls' and men's softball leagues. We would suggest that the committee proceed with caution as the city is doing pretty well financially in this park and the cost of installation of the floodlights will be paid off in due time. While the men's loop had a most successful season last year, they have experienced many lean years and will probably run into poor summers again. And the girls' league cannot afford any higher rent. A few large playoff crowds shouldn't give civic officials the idea that gold nuggets strew the Bowl.

* * * * * *

Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, has been invited to attend the open sports' meeting in the Council Chambers at eight next Tuesday night. If he accepts, he will be asked to give his opinion on the reported government plan to include amateur sports in its 20 per cent amusement tax. Ald. Doug Miller, who has called the meeting, notified all the main athletic bodies of the city and all are expected to be represented. No doubt they all will, as that tax would cut grievously into their activity and, indeed, would kill off some sports. More particularly the minor ones. Too often provincial and civic officials give aid to our youth with one hand—and "our future citizens" prattle—and take it away with the other.

Some Football Chatter

Junior grid prospects go again on the morrow at two on the PCVS campus. Second chapter of their spring training session, 44 being on hand last week-end. They do some running, P.T., and touch rugby—just general loosening up and conditioning at present. On April 24, the juniors and minors will workout together, and the minors may be split up into six-man teams for touch rugby. It is hoped to organize a big minor league in the fall, properly equipped and all for touch football. The senior "B" school starts on May 1, and prospects will wear gym shoes and jerseys or sweaters along with old pants. The Peterborough Football Club is sponsoring the junior ORFU squad, and those handling the spring workouts are: Doc Spencely, Dick Ouimet, Dave Wilson and Gord Beatty. Good stuff.

* * * * * *

Some of the Petes' ball officials have been wondering about a setup of Oshawa, Belleville and Peterborough in one section of an OBA senior "A" circuit, and Kingston, Brockville and Smiths Falls in the other. With maybe some four-point games to cut the long hauls betwixt the sections. It's a thought, anyway. Batawa is applying for entry in the Lakeshore League, and their schedule meeting is May 6. Petes hope to start training next week-end if the weather is right. Fred Bidgood of Oshawa would like to play here again, but Red Jubenville—who has a family—is doubtful about being away from home so much. Wonder if we got a senior setting, would they put lights in Riverside.

Jake Getting NHL Trial

Hap Emms, who does some scouting for Montreal, has asked Jake Wade of this city and Joe Lay of Kingston to try out with Canadiens in Montreal next October. Jake is back here after a fine season with St. John Beavers in the Maritime senior "A" Big Four. The Beavers lost out in the seventh game of finals to Moncton, and Jake was third top scorer in the whole circuit. Had 84 points, playing 48 regular and 10 playoff games—a right hefty chore, eh? They went from the end of October till the last of March. Jake was with Boston Bruins in the 1941-42 season, playing for Hershey and then Philadelphia. He is a big, fast-stepping centre, who played junior "B" here ere starting to travel. Has kind of a hankering to take a crack at the Pacific Coast League next winter. Wade isn't sure if he'll play any local ball this summer.

Barrie Ready To Meet West For Title

TORONTO, April 17 — (CP). — A youthful crew of speedy, scrappy and team-playing puck artists may have ended the big city monopoly of the Memorial Cup.

Barrie Flyers, backed by 10,000 hockey-mad citizens, made their bigger eastern opponents, with their major league player and financial help, look weak this season. They took the Ontario Hockey Association junior title by defeating the Detroit-sponsored Windsor Spitfires four games to two and then breezed through the all-Ontario finals in two straight games and the Eastern Canada finals in three straight games.

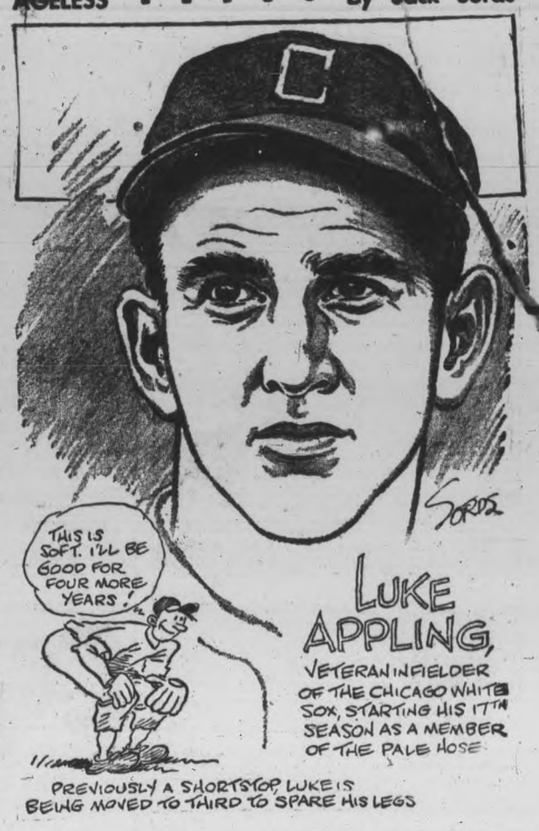
They now are preparing to meet either Lethbridge Native Sons or Port Arthur West End Bruins in the Memorial Cup finals starting at Toronto next week.

Residents of Barrie, about 60 miles north of Toronto, like Flyers' brand of hockey—hard and fast. The team features speed and team play. And this combined with a rugged defence and good goal tending swept them through their games in each fashion.

Although most fans and critics rate Flyers below the level of last year's powerful Toronto St. Michael's College aggregation, they still are the best the East has to offer and they probably will rule as favorites over the West.

Speedsters like pivot man Gil St. Pierre, among the top all season in the scoring race; Paul Meger, shifty winger with a deceptive style; Jerry Reid, a flashy centre; high-scoring wing White Mousseau; play-making Frenchy Mayer and hard-driving Red Favero, paced the club to victory.

On the rearguard, rock-ribbed Ray Gariepy and Stan Long continually cut down opposing rushers as they defended either Jim Strachan or Gil Mayer in the nets.



Spark plug of the team is coach Leighton (Hap) Emms, a former Detroit Red Wing and New York Americans player. Emms operates a business in Barrie, a farm and the well-coached Flyers.

NHL TRYOUT—Jake Wade, third in scoring in the Maritimes senior hockey setup last winter, has been invited to try out next October with Montreal Canadiens. He is shown here in the Petes' baseball uniform he wore two seasons ago.

Czech Coach Back In Regina

REGINA, April 17.—(CP). — Mike Buckna, looking as fit as he did when he set up goals for Trail, B.C., Smoke Eaters, today is en route to the home town he left to coach Czechoslovak hockey teams.

The 34-year-old coach of the runner-up Czech Olympic team, paused here last night just long enough to say there wasn't too much wrong with the much-criticized Olympic refereeing.

"The Olympics were poorly organized," he said. 'Playing conditions were bad, but the refereeing was the same for both clubs. They just interpret the rules differently over there."

He was a bit surprised at the Olympic victory of Canada's RCAF Flyers, Buckna admitted. "I saw them in early games and really thought we could take them,' he said.

Buckna said he had an offer to return to Czechoslovakia as state hockey coach next winter, but "what's the use when you don't get your money. They kept stalling me off last winter."

"THE THINKER"—Joe Lewis, world's heavyweight boxing champion, arrived in New York aboard the Queen Elizabeth after an exhibition tour of Europe. Here, the champ while waiting for the mills of custom to grind exceeding small, strikes a pose of deep thought, occasioned no doubt by the lawsuit which faces him. He is the subject of a half-million-dollar alienation of affections suit brought by Matthew C. Faulkner, 32, Baptist minister, who claims the Brown Bomber has stolen Mrs. Faulkner away.

Bruins Force Sixth Game In Junior Finals

PORT ARTHUR, April 17 (CP). —Port Arthur's hustling West End Bruins forced the Western Canada junior hockey final series into a sixth game by shutting out Lethbridge Native Sons 5-0 last night in a fixture in which the home club held a decided edge all the way.

It was Bruins' second victory of the best-of-seven series. Native Sons, leading 3-1 in games before last night's encounter—they could have moved into the Memorial Cup finals against Barrie Flyers by winning it—were checked to a standstill by the Port Arthur club, solid defensively as well as offensively.

Lorne Chabot turned in a sparkling performance in Bruins' nets. The winners earned their victory by racing into a 4-0 lead in the first period, playing the Sons to a scorless middle session and sewing the game up with a fifth goal early in the third period.

The sixth game will be played here Monday. If a seventh game is necessary it will be played Wednesday in Toronto.

Redhead Alf Childs paced the Port Arthur sharpshooters with two goals. Fred Baccari, Pete Durham and Buck Forslund scored the others. Native Sons were unable to rally from Port Arthur's goal-getting onslaught in the first; the rampaging Bruins whipped in the tallies in fewer than 15 minutes.

A roaring, capacity crowd of 4,500 saw Durham score at the 2:44 mark, Baccari follow with one 61 seconds later and Forslund add the third goal less than a minute afterwards. Childs followed with the fourth at 16:46.

LONGDEN IN SLUMP?

Veteran Johnny Longden, formerly of Taber, Alta., to whom four—and even six—winners a days isn't unusual has gone 13 straight races at Bay Meadows without riding a winner. In 10 of those 13 races—scattered over three days—the crowd made his mount the betting favorite. He needs only nine winners to total 3,000—and the crowd wants to be with him when he reaches that figure.

Busch Gardens Up For Sale; Lost To Movies

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April17 (CP)—The famed Busch Gardens, which every movie-goer has seen dozens of times, soon will fade from the Hollywood scene.

The lush Pasadena glade, a movie location site for 25 years, is being offered for sale by its owners. With its passing will ge the ghosts of many a bygone movie glory.

George Arliss trod over the vast lawns as the great Prime Minister, Disraeli. Greta Garbo looked soulful as she sniffed an armful of daisies for 'inspiration," The sprightly figures of George M. Cohan sauntered among the precisely-clipped hedges as "The Phantom President."

Worked For Weeks

Little Freddie Bartholomew in the gardens for weeks as David Copperfield. Clara Bow and Buddy Rogers romped through "Get Your Man" and Ronald Colman played cricket there in "Raffles."

In more recent times, Dotty Lamour has paddled in its artificial lake as a jungle princess. Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh spent there stormy marriage there in "Gone With The Wind."

Vanishing Castles

Palaces, Castles and Mansions have been raised on the grounds, only to disappear again at the hands of film construction crews.

The gardens were created back in 1900 by Mrs. Lily Busch, who is reported to have put $1,000,000 into making its 39 acres a botanical wonder. Every day at four, she used to ride her carriage through the grounds and admire their beauty. When she died at 82 in 1938, her will provided for use of the gardens by film companies, with proceeds to charity.

A group of business men bought the gardens from the Busch estate in 1943 and subdivided 27 acres. The remaining 12 will now be disposed of.

But the Busch gardens have a last fling at glory before the demise. Athos, Porthos and Aramis are currently swashbuckling over the green in "The Three Musketeers."

Must Still Continue To Save U.S. Dollars, Abbott Warning

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, April 17 (CP). — Government financial authorities are soft pedaling any tendency to gloat over progress of the five-months-old Canadian program for the conservation of United States dollars.

A recent editorial in Tre New York Herald-Tribune, for instance, commenting that Canada had "turned the corner" economically, met a cautious reaction in official circles.

Finance Minister Abbott admitted: "We're on our way up all right, but we're not out of the financial woods by a long shot. We've got quite a long way to go before we hit a satisfactory level of gold and dollar reserves."

One of his top advisers said: "We have stopped the drain. It doesn't go much beyond that yet."

The latest figure on reserves was given by Mr. Abbott for the end of February—$572,000,000. Still near the danger mark for a country of Canada's financial stature and trading characteristics, but considerably better than the $461,000,000 of last November when the minister announced the austerity program.

U.S. Payment Helps

However, $30,000,000 or nearly half of the difference consisted of a U.S. payment on capital account for a wartime debt on equipment used in the north.

The Government's program, now in full stride, linked import restrictions, excise taxation and limits on money Canadian tourists could take across the border.

The latest figures indicate that it slashed the negative balance of trade with the U.S. by some $39,000,000 in the first two months of 1948, entirely because of enlarged exports.

Meanwhile, the financial basis of Canada's foreign trade lies in a period of transformation from her own $2,000,000,000 post-war program of loans, grants and credits to the ERP era that will shortly succeed it.

It was the dollar shortage that ground her own program to a heat after 85 per cent of it had been spent or committed.

Last of Loan Frozen

The last $230,000,000 of the $1,250,000,000 British loan remains frozen, after withdrawal of $7,500,000 to help pay for food contracts in the first two weeks of April. The status of the credit will be reviewed in September. Less than $100,000,000 of the roughly $600,000,000 granted five other European countries has not been either spent or committed.

The remainder was made up of $154,000,000 granted UNRRA.

The problem of what will become of the remnants of the credits is linked with ERP discussions between Ottawa and Washington. So far no definite policy on continued Canadian aid to Europe has been laid down in connection with the American plan for European economic recovery.

The credits may become the basis for continuation or they may be abandoned for some new system.

Writer Chooses Best Plays On Broadway

NEW YORK, April 17 (CP).—The theatre season has but six weeks more to run and now seems as good a time as any to cast a blackward glance over the more memorable productions of 1947-48.

Broadway's critics earlier this month awarded the palm for the season's best play to "A Streetcar Named Desire," by Tennessee Williams. "Mister Roberts," written by Thomas Heggen and Joshua Logan, took honors as the most distinguished play in the Antoinette Perry awards for outstanding contributions to the theatre.

This department feels that congratulations are in order too:

Judith Anderson for her supercharged performance as Medea in Robinson Jeffers' adaptation of the Euripdes tragedy of that name;

The authors, the director (Logan) and the entire cast for a magificent all-round job in "Mister Roberts", which depicts the monotony and drudgery of wartime life on a supply ship in the Pacific;

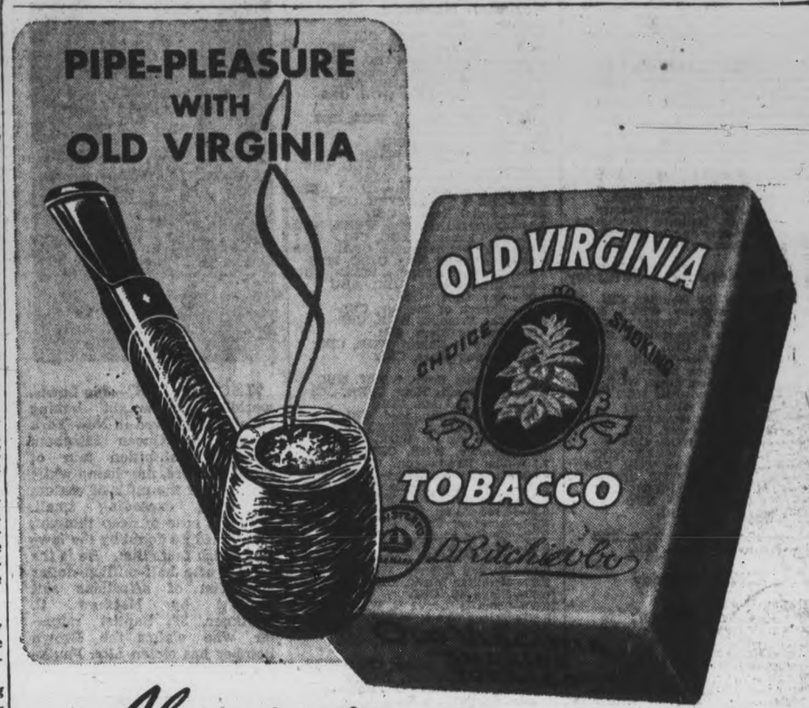
Fine Revival

Katharine Cornell and Godfrey Tearle for their fine acting in the revival of Shakespeare's "Anthony and Cleopatra";

Tennessee Williams for writing a gripping and powerful psychological drama in "A Streetcar Named Desire" and Jessica Tandy and the entire cast for their distinguished work on the stage;

Paul and Grace Hartman for a series of uproarious scenes lampooning some of the sillier aspects of American life in their revue, "Angel In The Wings";

Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein for turning out an unusual musical in "Allegro," even if it doesn't quite measure up to "Oklahoma!" and "Carousel!";



June Lockhart, daughter of Gene Lockhart from London, Ont., for her captivating performance in an indifferent comedy, "For Love or Money."

OML President Lauds Highway Improvement

TORONTO, April 17—(CP)—Tribute to the extensive road building and highway improvement program of the Ontario government was voiced today by A. M. Morrison, president of the Ontario Motor League.

"It is a source of satisfaction to the league that highway improvement is again being carried on," Mr. Morrison said in an address prepared for delivery to the association's 41st annual meeting. "More than anything else, good roads contribute to swelling the tide of motor tourist traffic. . ."

A record-shattering 14,000,000 tourists visited Ontario last year, he said, and praised the "commendable" efforts of various organizations to induce motor tourists to visit the province.

Fire Chief Rescues Eleven Month old Baby

WINS DOW AWARD

ROBERT DEY

OF PEMBROKE, ONT.,

performs gallant deed although wrists slashed by broken window

It wasn't the sight of angry flames enveloping her two-storey home that filled Mrs. Anderson's heart with terror. It was the thought of her 11-month-old baby boy — trapped alone in that blazing inferno! For a second or two she stood rooted to the ground . . . and then a scream from inside the house brought her back to reality. Three times, in spite of neighbours' protests, she tried to reach her baby. But she had to give up . . . her face and hair singed by the flames.

DEY ENTERS THROUGH WINDOW

By this time firemen were battling the blaze and Chief Robert Dey was attempting to force his way into the house. Finally he smashed a window and crawled through. Although both his wrists had been cut by the broken glass he fought his way into the blazing living room and managed to find the little boy. Then, choking from the dense smoke and terrific heat, he made his way back to the window and soon had the youngster safe in his mother's arms.

We are proud to recognize publicly the gallantry and outstanding bravery of Fire Chief Robert Dey of Pembroke, Ontario, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Desperately, Mrs Anderson tried to enter the burning house. After three attempts, her hair and face singed, she realized that she must give up.

Stumbling through the dense smoke from room to room, Chief Dey finally found the child. Then, with the terrified boy in his arms, he fought his way back to the window.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers.

Third Of Miners Absent From Coal Pits

PITTSBURGH, April 17—(AP) One-third of the 400,000 United States soft coal miners today grimly maintained their protest strike pending the federal court's verdict on John L. Lewis.

The trial of the United Mine Workers chieftain on charges of contempt ended yesterday, except for the final judgment.

The walkout, by which miners enforced their demands for $100-a-month pensions, ended last Monday. An estimated 250,000 miners have returned to the pits, the number growing from day to day.

On the fourth day after the settlement, however, more than one-third of the U.M.W. members still refused to return to their jobs. Thousands of these were in the old, strike-hardened Pennsylvania soft coal region, where the UMW has fought many of its bitterest battles.

Only about 44,000 of Pennsylvania's 96,000 soft coal diggers were at work. Most of the others had gone to their union meetings and voted to postpone their return "until after we learn what the court does about Uncle John."

The Pittsburgh Steel Company announced the re-opening today of its coke plant and one blast furnace at nearby Monessen. Another blast furnace, it said, will be returned to production Saturday.

The Lackawanna railroad will call 700 locomotive and repair shop workers back on Monday.

DELICIOUS!

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Zechariah 1:1-6; 4; 7-8

By Alfred J. Buescher

Zechariah, grandson of one of the heads of 12 priestly families who returned with the Israelites to Jerusalem, heard the voice of the Lord saying that He was displeased with His people because they turned not from their evil ways.

The Lord told Zechariah to speak to the priests and people who asked if they should weep for the days of their exile as they did for 70 years, and tell them instead to shew mercy and compassion to every man.

For their sins were they scattered, said the Lord, but He promised that there should yet be "old men and old women in the streets of Jerusalem . . . and the streets shall be full of boys and girls playing."

Thus said the Lord: "Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates; and let none of you imagine evil in your hearts against his neighbor.". MEMORY VERSE—Zechariah 7:9.

Bitter Lessons of History Seldom Long Remembered

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Scripture—Ezra 1-6;Haggai.

The Jewish people were in exile in Babylon for 70 years. In the meantime, the Persians had conquered Babylonia and in 559 B. C., Cyrus was King. Ten years later he became King of all Media, and his domain included Persia, the north Babylonia valley, Armenia, and Asia Minor to the Halys river.

Seventy years in exile in a strange lands among an alien people! And after all these centuries have passed, what do we see in the world? Not Jews only, but people of many lands who have been transported forcibly from their homes into strange lands. Jerusalem had been destroyed by the armies of Nebuchadnezzar in that far-off day, but, in this twentieth century, not only the people's temples, but their homes and even their towns, in Europe, now are only bombed out craters, Scorched earth and crumbling walls are all that is left of those homes.

Some few of these displace persons have found homes in other countries since they were placed in camps at the war's end, but the great majority are still far from their own countries, still lodged in displaced persons' camps—850,000 of them. About 80 percent of these are Christian and 20 percent of the Jewish race.

What utter despair they must be suffering, but help is being given them by Christian associations working with the International Refugee Committee. Workshops have been established in which the skilled workers among the exiles give training to those less skilled. There are teacher training centers, qualifying displaced persons for teaching, and these teachers find employment in nursies, kindergarten and primary schools of the camp. Much depends on us in more fortunate countries to help in the work among these destitute and homeless people.

In the year 536 B. C., King Cyrus of Persia made a proclamation and put it in writing, that the Jewish captives were to be allowed to go home and rebuild the temple— not the city— at Jerusalem that Nebuchadnezzar had overthrown. All the precious vessels belonging to the temple were to be returned to the priests and Zerubbabel, heir of the late exiled king, Jehoiachin, and the people of the land were ordered to give every help to the Jews to speed their return— not as entirely free people, but still as subjects of the Persians.

The priests and Zerubbabel were the leaders of the 42,000 persons who left the land of their captivity and "went back home." After a long, and what must have been a tedious journey, the Israelites arrived and offered sacrifices to Jehovah for their blessings, and then they started building the temple.

The work was interrupted in later years, however, by some people who resented the return of the Israelites. They hypocritically offered to help with the building, and when they were not allowed to do so, they wrote to the king Aratxerxes accusing the Israelites of trying to renege on their taxes. Again we are reminded of our own time when Arabs and Jews are fighting because the Jewish people yearn for their own homeland and the Arabs fear them.

Work on the temple was stopped for two years after this, but the prophets, Ezra and Haggai, encouraged Zerubbabel to begin again, and the work was resumed. Again their enemies stirred up trouble, writing in Darius who was now king. Fortunately, Darius was a just man. Searching through the archives he came upon Cyrus' letter of proclamation, so he wrote that the Israelites were to be allowed to proceed with the work. The temple was finally finished, amid great rejoicing, some of the older men weeping with joy.

Selfishness and self-interest is the root of the discord in this world of today, as it was then. Industry refuses to safeguard the workers in too many cases; labor tries to get more than its share of money and power. Not until we go back to Jesus' teachings will peace and harmony reign on this earth.

Things of World Deafened Men's Spiritual Ears

By REV. E. R. JAMES

They Bring Unto Jesus One That Was Deaf And Had An Impediment In His Speech: And They Beseech Him To Put His Hands Upon Him.

St. Mark 7: 32

A short story full of vivid thoughts; only found in St. Mark's Gospel. It is full of interest. Is your mind sensitive to the thoughts of God?

They bring unto Jesus. They—his friends. They had heard of the Healer. You may remember that four carried their palsied friend into His Presence; other frinds brought a blind man unto Him. The Healer was deeply moved by their sympathy and they all returned home rejoicing at His gifts of health. Can you bring someone into that Presence?

One that had an impediment in his speech. How sympathetic we are towards the blind; how often we forget the deaf who, in the midst of life, are very lonely. "An impediment in his speech". how true to life for speech comes from hearing. Your baby son speaks his mother tongue because he hears. Have you an impediment in your speech that hinders you from speaking about spiritual things. How can you speak of spiritual things if your ears are sealed to God and His Christ?

They beseech him to lay his hands upon him. They are in the Presence of that most sympathetic of men. No man ever came to him without receiving a blessing. Hearken to His invitation, true today as ever:—"Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." When you beseech Him for your beloved His ear is open to your cry. Remember He does not always answer as you wish but He always answers and whispers to you: What I do now thou knowest not but thou shalt know hereafter". In the light of that day you will acknowledge that He does all things well.

He took him aside from the multitude. Like all crowds the multitude is full of curiosity—wonder loving people. Moreover it is good for a man to be alone in order that a deeper impressin may be made upon his spiritual life. The Lord Christ may see fit to take you from your business or your family. He desires to come face to face with you in your loneliness. A modern thinker reminds us that the great spiritual leaders of the Church received their deepest impressions of God and His Christ in the wilderness. Have you had a wilderness experience in your lonely cot and bed chamber?

He pressed his fingers into his ears. Very probably broke the membrane givinb him pain. Pain brings us very near to God. Your pain, your sorrow opens your ears to hear His voice. "The Lord hath opened mine ears and I was not disobedient" cries an ancient prophet. In your home of pain you will begin to learn that the Lord Christ Himself suffered. He is tuched with all the feelings of our infirmities. Above all do not forget that the Captain of our salvation was made perfect through sufferings.

He spat. Saliva was looked upon as healing especially from the mouth of a good man. The Master teaches the man that the healing comes from Him, from His Body.

He touched his tongue. The faith of the deaf man must be helped. These signs created faith in his heart.

Looking up to Heaven. The eyes of the man are looking into the eyes of the pure One. The Healer lifting up His eyes would teach the man to look to God also for the gift of healing.

He sighed. A sigh of deep emotion. Virtue was going out of Him; His heart is full of pity. Keeble beautifully expresses. "The Christ thought of those moral deafnesses of ear and heart by choice".

He saith unto him Ephphatha be opened. St. Mark retains the Aramaic because it made a deep impression upon the hearers. Bishop Gore impresses upon us that this miracle is a sign for every generation. Men's spiritual ears are deafened by the things of this world and they cannot hear. "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear" is the Lord's command.

The Lord Jesus Opened Their Understanding That They Might Understand The Scriptures.

During the war Mr. Garner's activities included seven months' work with the Wartime Information Board in Ottawa, New York, and Washington, as well as being a member of the Publishers' War Finance Committee, for four years and a half, which committee had complete charge of the creating and publishing of all Victory Loan and War Savings Stamps advertising for the Canadian Government.

Other officers elected were: A. F. Mercier, Quebec L'Evenement-Journal, first vice-president; Roy H. Thomson, Thomson Dailies, Toronto, second vice-president; W. J. J. Butler, Toronto Globe and Mail, treasurer. I. H. Macdonald is general manager and Duncan MacInnes, secretary

Boy Is Dragged Underneath Car

Eight-year-old David Kiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kiff, 584 Division St., is in the Civic Hospital today recovering from what was described as "a miraculous escape" when he was struck by a car Friday evening at 7.55.

John R. Hamilton, Harrowsmith, driver of the car, told police that when turning north on George St. from McDonnel St., he heard a "scraping noise" under his car. Stopping it, he saw the boy on the road about 30 feet behind the car. He took the youngster to hospital.

The play wagon in which the child had been crossing the road was wedged under the front axle of the car. It is believed that the boy was dragged for some distance under the car.

Indications up to press time were that serious bruises on the body were the only results of the experience.

Vagrant's Body Found On Pt. Hope Highway

PORT HOPE, April 17 — (ENS). — The body of an unidentified man, of medium build and middle age was discovered about five o'clock today in a ditch on Highway 28 a few miles west of Port Hope. The body was found by Reginald Brearley, a truck driver. There were no marks of violence on the body.

5,000 Members Objective Of Cancer Drive

"We cannot buy off our personal responsibility towards cancer—to ignore it is death."

This was the message of Dr. R. K. Magee, speaking before a gathering of about 90 representatives of city organizations at a banquet which launched on Friday night the drive of the Peterborough Unit of the Ontario Cancer Society.

What the speaker termed the "universal dread of cancer" has come to the forefront with the end of the war. He warned that the fear of the disease must not paralyze action or prevent facing the problem.

Outlining the major organizations connected with the battle against cancer, he explained the function of each.

In the field of research and treatment, the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation attacked the enemy through the establishment of diagnostic centres throughout the province and intensive research along both fundamental and applied lines.

Education of the Public

The prime objective of the Canadian Cancer Society, of which the Ontario Society is a branch and in which the Peterborough unit is a part, is the education of the public to be aware of their part in defeating cancer.

Besides these organizations, there are cancer committees within the Canadian and Ontario Medical Association which tackle the problem from a professional point of view.

Not a Disease

Cancer, the speaker explained, is not a new thing—it was known as least 2,000 years ago. It is found not only in humans but in animals as well.

The disease is unique in that it arises within the body from the body cells. The body, he explained, is composed of cells which have the power to reproduce themselves, a process which is not yet fully known. Normal cells stop their growth when they have reached the proper number and stages. The cells which are cancer "go wild," continue to grow and spread. They fulfill no useful function, they are "lawless, antisocial growths," or malignant growths—cancer.

Cancer growth can also spread to other parts of the body and form secondary growths. Thus, Dr. Magee said, the important thing is early diagnosis and recognition of the presence so that it can be stopped.

The true cause of cancer is yet to be discovered, he said. It is known that irritations can cause it—pipes, jagged teeth, some tars and dyes.

A lump without a symptom or cause is a danger sign of cancer. He emphasized that, with this type or warning given, it is entirely a matter of individual action to report and receive diagnosis on cancer cases.

So-Called Cures

The doctor warned against so-called "cancer cures."

"There is no more fertile field for the quack than in cancer cure" he said, mentioning the many cases of imaginary "cancer" which had been "cured" by charlatan methods. The only agency which can properly treat cancer is the medical profession, he said. It is serious business and requires serious methods to deal with it.

There are only two ways of dealing with cancer—remove it or kill it, or a combination.

"The feeling of the profession now is that the battle will be won by a series of campaigns."

Dr. Magee said that cancer is not hereditary, although there may be families which have a tendency for it. It cannot be transmitted by contact.

The medical speaker said: "Because our watchfulness can be the means of overcoming the disaster, it gives us the control over life and death. There are only two answers to it—early action or death."

The spiritual note of the cancer battle, he said, was the grim way in which cancer challenges the individual—"do this—or else!" He compared a person's attitude towards the cancer question as the same as that concerning democracy. Both are built up of individuals bearing their responsibilities and taking an active part in the fight for the common object. Both must be nourished by personal efforts.

Chairman of the meeting was Douglas Anderson, president of the Peterborough Unit, who pointed to the objective of the campaign—to enrol 5,000 members in the city and district. He praised the groundwork which had been laid by last year's unit executive, headed by James Hamilton.

Miss Myrtle Sargent, first vice-president of the unit, outlined the maner in which the campaign would be carried on.

Speakers are available, she said, for all organizations which would care to have them address meetings on the subject. Full evening programs, with films, can also be provided.

Other points include: poster displays at conventions and meetings; radio address and mass meetings planned for the future; vital information regarding cancer control through the mailing list of members.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. R. A. Kelly, City Medical Officer of Health. He was thanked by Dr. J. C. C. Dawson.

James B. Holland, 63, Killed In Crash Near Pickering

James B. Holland, 63, general superintendent of Port Hope Sanitary Manufacturing Co., was killed in an automobile accident near Pickering Thursday at 6 p.m. Provincial Police reported that Mr. Holland was found under his car in the ditch off the new provincial highway. His neck had been broken and he had suffered internal injuries. The accident happened near the traffic cloverleaf on No. 2-A Highway, at Pickering, with no other cars near him. It was said no one saw the fatality.

Police believed that Mr. Holland was driving easterly at considerable speed, and may have got off the paved strip onto the shoulder. It was evident that his car had rolled into the ditch, turning over. Death was probably instantaneous.

Mr. Holland was born in Douro township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Holland, who lived for years in this city, on Chamberlain St. He was a younger brother of the late ex-Ald. Daniel J. Holland of Peterborough.

Started With CGE

Educated in Douro and at the old Collegiate Institute on Murray St., Mr. Holland began his industrial experience with the Canadian General Electric Company. From its machine shop he was assigned to the appraising of wage rates section, determining costs of mechanical operations. From the CGE he went to the Standard Ideal Co. at Port Hope and worked for a time in its pattern shop, remaining eight years. He expanded his experience with other companies in the United States and Canada, and during the first war had a responsible post with the Ross Rifle Co., Quebec.

In 1920 Mr. Holland returned to the Port Hope plant as superintendent and continued in that position until his promotion last year as general superintendent. The former farm boy who had risen by his own efforts to the responsibility of general management of one of Canada's leading industries took an active interest in the municipal affairs of Port Hope. He was for years chairman of its harbor commission, a past president of Rotary Club, was chairman of the committee equipping HMCS Port Hope minesweeper, during the last war, and was a member of trade associations, American Ceramics and the American Society for Metals.

Mr. Holland is survived by his widow, who was Gladys Tyrell Mason of Toronto and England, and by one sister, Rev. Sister Scholastica (Agnes) of St. Joseph's Hospital, Estevan, Sask.

The funeral will be Monday at 8.30 a.m. from the George funeral chapel to the Church of Our Lady of Mercy, for requiem mass. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Dr. Wilson Ford Visits Parents

Dr. Wilson Ford, who is on three months leave from Jamaica, is staying with his parents Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ford, 1270 Clonsilla Ave. Dr. Ford is acting deputy director of agriculture, in charge of veterinary and livestock services, in Jamaica. He graduated from Ontario Veterinary College in 1939 and in 1940 won a post-graduate scholarship to the Royal Veterinary College, London, England, offered by the British Colonial Office. At the end of 1941, he went out to the Gold Coast as a veterinary officer in the Colonial Service and spent two years in West Africa. He returned to Canada in 1944 and in 1945 went out to Jamaica to take up his present post.

"The biggest single influence in Jamaica," said Dr. Ford, 'is Canadian. The Jamaican people have frequently expressed a desire for closer ties with the Dominion. Strangely enough most of their importsof "American" goods, such as automobiles, textiles, foodstuffs and agricultural products are Canadian. The majority of Jamaicans taking university courses come to Canada in preference to the United States or Great Britain."

While he is staying in Peterborough, Dr. Ford plans to work with Dr. Hamilton practising veterinary work.

One Canvasser Turns In $450

The canvass for the Civic Arena is speeding up. Headquarters reported today that one canvasser turned in $450 Friday afternoon.

Latest company to back the project is the H. B. McGuiness Company, whose 40 employees have all backed the drive. A 100 per cent contribution has come in from the Trent Valley Feeds.

Electricity, Water, Gas Demand In City Tops Output of Year Ago

Peterborough's three public utilities are exceeding their production of a year ago, as shown in the report for March by R. L. Dobbin, manager, at the Utilities Commission meeting Thursday. Electric power peak in March was 21,800 h.p. as compared with 20,900 a year ago; an increase of 900 h.p.

Waterworks pumpage in March was 119,829,000 gals. as compared with 108,705,000 gals. in the third month last year. The increase averaged 350,000 gals. a day.

Gas production was 29.3 per cent more than in March, 1947. These are comparative totals of cubic feet of gas sold in that month:

	1947	1948
Domestic ...	3,522,500	3,789,500
Commercial .	856,900	995,500
Industrial ..	1,111,400	2,281,500
	5,490,800	7,281,500
From Jan. 1	15,671,400	19,831,000

The tabulation discloses that the bulk of the increase in gas consumption is within the industrial group of the city.

"We have succeeded in getting enough fuel oil to keep the gas plant running, and are now assured of sufficient quantity in the future," Mr. Dobbin reported.

"The large propane storage tanks arrived and were unloaded early in the month. Foundations for these tanks have been poured. Much of the machinery and material required has been delivered and we expect to have the new plant running early in June."

It may be recalled that during the winter the Utilities Commission, suddenly cut off from their fuel supply, was compelled to take emergency action. They decided to turn to propane gas. Tanks were bought for storage of this gas in liquid form. Compressors and other machinery had to be ordered for the change in method of gas production, but the method of storage remains as it has been.

Rural Work Progresses

Mr. Dobbin's review of the electric department for last month recalls the removal of restrictions from the use of electric power.

"Construction in the city consisted of a new power service for Silverwoods Ltd., and rebuilding of the lines on Monaghan Road from Wolfe St. to Romaine St.

Rural work progressed on 6.7 miles of line in Otonabee to supply farmers in the vicinity of Wallace Point. There was also a short piece of line erected in Douro. Eight new consumers were added in the Peterborough district.

Forty-two 3-wire services were run and six 2-wire. Eighteen new flat-rate water heaters were connected.

There are now 3,667 heaters served in the city with a total load of 2,700 h.p.

Work progressed on the laying of mains on Wilson St. east of Park St., and the short streets adjacent. A total of 871 feet of 6-inch main was constructed and one additional fire hydrant. Four new heater services were laid.

During the early part of the month five water services were frozen and four fire hydrants. However, the milder weather towards the end of the month resulted in the frost being largely eliminated, although in some parts of the city there was frozen ground below the surface.

New gears were installed in the control mechanism of No. 2 pump. The bearings of No. 4 pump were found to be badly scored and are now being repaired."

SIMPLE DESIGN ADDS BEAUTY TO HOME, MAKES DOLLAR STRETCH

Getting Most For Money Proper Plan Is Essential

The place to get the most for your money, when you are planning to build, is in the plan.

Actually there is no "ideal house." Each dwelling represents compromises made to maintain a three-way balanc of quality of materials and equipment, quantity of livable room space, and cost of construction and upkeep. Architects and advisers emphasize the importance of keeping these factors in harmony.

When you understand the fundamentals of planning, you can judge a ready-built house, too. If a house is efficiently laid out, well constructed and reasonably priced you can be more certain of its value.

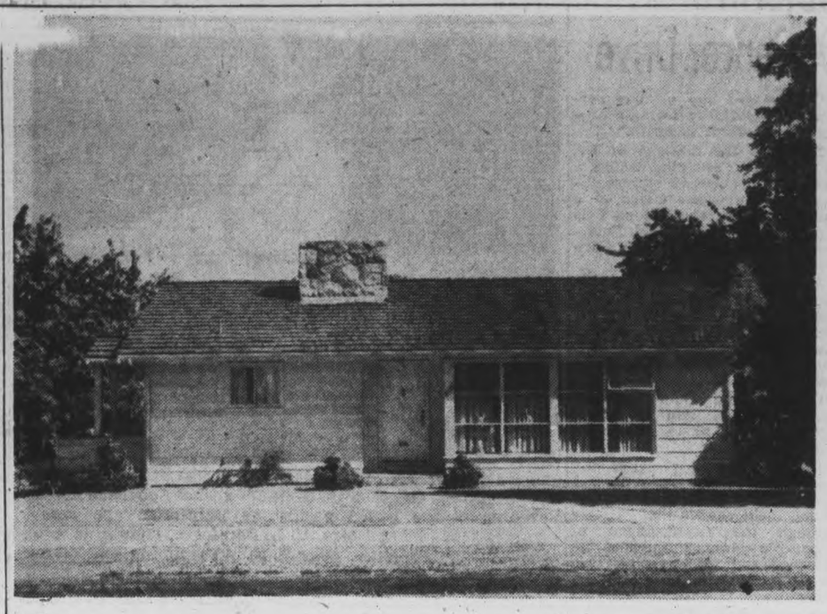
There are three basic ways to get the most house for your money in planning it:

1. Keep the house as nearly square or rectangular as possible. In spite of facetious remarks about "a box of a house," there's a reason for it. A square or rectangular house produces the most floor space with the least amount of exterior wall construction. (See diagram.) However, you may want to compromise on this, feeling that appearances will be worth the added cost.

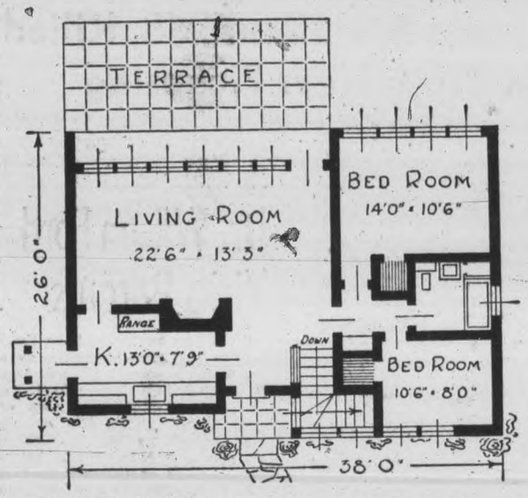
Every L or T wing calls for more labor because of the complexities of corner construction Even a bay window can add $150 or more to the cost of a house. A dormer window with its complicated roof fitting may cost $200 or more.

2. Sizable economies can be achieved through the use of standardized un.ts wherever possible Beams, joists, studs, rafters and other structural members come from the lumber mill in standard length multiples of two feet. To use them as they come, or with a minimum of trimming, keeps down wastage of material and effectively reduces labor on the job.

Have Plan Redrawn



If you are using stock plans, and if they do not call for standard lengths, it may be wise to ask an architect how much can be saved by having the plans redrawn. If you have retained an architect he will be primarily concerned in getting you the most for your money. He will plan rooms that will be finished 11 feet and 4 inches wide, or 13 feet and 4 inches, instead of an even 12 or 12½ feet. Those odd-inch widths will utilize joists 12 and 14 feet long, respectively. Four inches on each end is ample for bearing, lath and plaster, baseboard and molding.



Full economy in the use of standardized units can be achieved by specifying them in plumbing, windows, doors, trim, hardware and cabinets.

3. Arrange rooms for maximum efficiency and minimum waste space. The key to livabiiity is in the layout of your house. It is the starting point for planning. Work from the inside outward and let the exterior design take care of itself when you get there.

Layout is a problem that is never simple. A cardinal rule is to make each room actually a room and not a passageway. If you can make every room dead-end you will avoid traffic lanes that cut rooms up and make furniture arrangement a near impossibility.

Bathrooms should have only one door. If one bathroom is to serve more than one bedroom it should open from a hall.

AS CUTE AS THIS LITTLE band box looks from the street, the real spot to see it is from the rear garden! One look at the floor plan will tell you why. That great sweep of windows is a treat not soon to be forgotten. Skillful designing has given this modern small home a character all its own. It was erected to plans prepared by R. A. D. Berwick, architect. Roof is of weathered shakes.

The only exceptions that should be made to the dead-end rule are access to a living room porch from the living room, and a kitchen door to the dining room.

Requires Most Attention

Your living room will demand the most attention in your plan Its exposures for sunlight and view are permanently important It should have plenty of daylight and sunshine from at least one side. The main exposure ought to be toward a side or rear yard and not on the street.

Living room windows should exploit the view, if there is one but in planning them remember the value of wall space for accommodating large pieces of furniture.

Plan your living room as large as possible, especially if one end of it is to serve as dining space.

A dining room has long been recognized as the most expensive room of all in view of its limited use. Yet many families are reluctant to build without one and conservative mortgage lenders feel that the lack of one can affect resale value.

The result in modern planning is a dual purpose room — a library or study that can be used for dining, with a gate-leg or drop leaf table pushed against one wall when not in use. This meets a demand for a second living room in growing families where the younger generation needs a place to entertain.

On Street Side

Nowadays the kitchen often is planned on the street side of a house and with the least desirable exposure since it is a workroom keeps cooler for lack of sunshine and spare garden views for other rooms. The servant problem is changing the size of the kitchen Many housewives have found the small compact kitchen too crowded.

The problem of waste space, or space expensive for its usage, vexes many planners. Hallways, for example, are in this category If such space can be kept to 10 per cent of the total floor area an ideal has been attained. A minimum hall would be a square with doors on all four sides. Yet a two-story house needs an entry hall and space for stairs.

Architects say closets achieve their greatest efficiency when they are not much more than 24 to 27 inches deep. That depth provides more space for hanging clothes in a minimum area. Plenty of closets are important. Double bedrooms should have two.

Most houses require at least three bedrooms — one for parents, one for girls and one for boys. Fewer will restrict resale value.

Wall space can make or ruin a bedroom. One room should be big enough for twin beds.

Architects will sketch your furniture to scale in each room on your preliminary plans.

Reduce Plumbing

Upstairs bathrooms should be planned as nearly above the kitchen as possible in order to reduce the amount of plumbing. If two baths are planned they should be adjacent to each other to utilize one plumbing stack. In a one-story house the bath should be near the kitchen for the same reason.

Finally comes exterior design. You may have had a general preference for style in mind from the start, but interior plan should take precedence. Simplicity in exterior architecture not only is the most economical but it can give a small house an appearance of greater size. Its element of fitness, often called "good taste," can prove to be a real asset in resale value, which can go far in offsetting depreciation.

Householder Handy With Tools Finds Making Repairs Enjoyable Hobby

The more you can know about your house the more comfort and security you will get from it.

A house is made up of so many thousands of parts that its owner automatically becomes the manager for quite a complex establishment—"a machine for living," some architects call it. For example, an average size brick veneer dwelling has about 9,000 separate bricks, each performing an important function.

It is up to the owner, who has invested his money in the house, to see that each part continues to function and that his house stays sturdy and attractive with the least depreciation in value. When anything goes wrong only the owner can decide what to do about it. Without adequate knowledge he may be at a costly disadvantage. A repair man may tell him that an apparently minor job calls for a major operation. It is important to know if that is true in order to avoid more serious trouble.

A householder handy with tools may find the making of small repairs an enjoyable hobby. Here are some problems that may be tackled together with a brief consensus on the know-how in each case:

Repairing A Leaky Roof

When a roof leaks prompt action is required to avoid more extensive damage. It may be a risky job, so don't attempt to walk on a steep roof without support of a strong rope. Still better, fasten firm hooks on the end of a ladder and hook it over the ridge.

If the attic is unfinished even the smallest holes can be seen from the inside on a bright day and wires or straws can be pushed through them to mark the leaks on the outside. Turn the hose on the roof and watch for drips from invisible leaks.

A new shingle or a piece of well painted tin can be slipped under the leaky shingle as a temporary measure. Various roofing compounds of fibrous bituminous material are made for sealing holes. The manufacturers usually supply complete instructions.

Without experience, it may be best for the amateur to avoid slate roofs. Additional damage may be caused.

A new roof can be laid over the old, increasing its rigidity and insulating value. Use the best rust-proof nails and if one goes through a crack, leave it there and drive another in a solid place.

Storing Window Screens

Metal screens last longer when taken down and stored in a dry place for the winter. Whether copper or iron they should be cleaned, wiped with benzine and varnished. Good spar varnish should be thinned by half with a mixture of turpentine and linseed oil. This will prevent rust on iron and stains from copper.

A good storage method, if available, is to hang screens from joists in an unceiled basement.

INSTINCT UNDEFINABLE

Everyone is said to understand in a general way the meaning of the word "instinct" although even Darwin refrained from any attempt at definition.

IODE Urges Government Bans

HAMILTON, April 16 (CP). — The Imperial Order Daughters of The Empire Friday asked the Ontario Government to consider ways whereby foreign language newspapers could be published in Canada to give a picture of current events "uncolored by Communist propaganda."

In concluding sessions of the 28th annual convention of I.O.D.E. chapters in Ontario, the 500 delegates voted unanimously in favor of the resolution because many of these 16 foreign newspapers present "a steady barrage of highly colored Communist propaganda in the form of distorted versions of current events.'

The Ontario Government was also urged to ban public and private showings in the Province of "Communist propaganda films," many of which were imported into Canada.

A Provincial Food Parcel Fund was approved to enable more economical distribution of food in Britain. Contributions of food or money would be accepted from the public or from IODE chapters.

Of Interest to Women

Parasitic Parents Can Ruin Lives of Their Children

Are you a parasite upon your children? Do you prey upon your young? Do you monopolize those you love and who interest you, without thinking of their happiness and welfare? Parasitism is a vice into which it is very easy for parents to fall.

There are many fathers and mothers, for instance, who deliberately plan to make their children support them when they are old. They make plenty of money to provide for their old age, if they chose to exercise any thrift and economy, but they are too self-indulgent to do so. They spend as they go along, taking no thought of the morrow, because when they are old and their earning days are over they can always go and live on the children.

Dorothy Dix

They never think what a hardship this practically always works on the children. They never think of the privations it means to a daughter, earning a small salary, to have to divide her meager wage with father and mother. They never think what a crushing burden they are to the son, who is just getting a start in the world, and who has all that he can do already to support his wife and babies.

Of course, it is true that in many, many cases the parents always live on the ragged edge of want and cannot put anything aside for their old age. Then naturally the children are under every obligation to support them, and it is their duty to take care of them in their declining years.

Quitters

Nearly all parents who go to live with their children are quitters who give up too soon. Most of them have twenty years more of good work in them if they only had the will to struggle on and be independent. But the children offer such an easy avenue of escape from the daily grind that they take it, without giving a thought to the burden they are laying upon them.

It is oftenest mothers who are spiritual parasites upon their children. Mother may have plenty of money to maintain her own establishment, or live in a hotel, but she has no life outside of some beloved child, and so she fastens herself upon him or her. Generally the child is a daughter and Mother goes to live with her, although she knows perfectly well that her son-in-law does not want her, and that her presence in the house is a menace to her daughter's domestic peace and happiness.

Nevertheless, Mother attaches herself so securely to her daughter that she cannot be dislodged. She is always under foot. She never lets her daughter and her husband have a moment alone together. She is always sitting across the table at meals; listening in on every conversation, and always on the back seat when they go for a ride.

Many old bachelors and old maids are victims of parasitic mothers. You see these pitiful cases everywhere. Old women with gray-haired sons or daughters dancing attendance upon them. Fetching and caring for Mother, and Mother boasting of her son's devotion and how they have always been everything to each other, and telling how her daughter has promised never to marry and leave her.

And you see the old maid daughter or the bachelor son as dry as dust, with all of the freshness of life, all romantic longings, all vital interests of life filched from him or her by a selfish old woman who wanted to keep her Mary or John for herself.

Parasitism is a deadly thing, and all parents should guard themselves against it by putting their children's good before their own.

OUT OF THE OLD FAMILY ALBUM—Great Aunt Sophia's Sunday-meeting suit and other styles step out of the family album in Spring-1948 collections. Typical new look fashions which turn back to the Victoria era for inspiration are the two styles shown. The suit, right, of Adele Simpson's design, revives the Victorian shawl. Authentically fringed and made of black-and-white checked wool, the shawl shown tops a white crepe blouse and a flaring black woollen skirt which add up to a Victorian silhouette that's hot news this Spring. The black lace capelet lined with pink silk taffeta gives Victoria flavor to the gown, shown left, with which it was co-starred in Hattie Carnegie's wholesale collection. The gown which also has its prototypes in the family album boasts Victorian elegance in two-toned taffeta of verbena pink and gray.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 18

SUNDAY'S horoscope emphasizes value of indulging in either prompt action, or better yet, in keen intellectual consideration of impending and urgent moves, in which changes, travel, communications, or writings may be productive. In reflection or deep study of prospects, it is probable that a very bright lead, a possible creative urge or a stroke of genius, could bring forth a dramatic impulse for action, with surprise, elation, joy or romantic adventure resulting. Thought before action, is the routine.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are urged to take time for a careful consideration of all impending issues, before undertaking any sort of drastic action, involving travel, new contracts, fresh fields and associations, of surprising significance. A pause may give birth to a very dynamic impulse, creative, novel, or ingenious, to be worked out on brilliant but practical lines of technicalities and logical principles. Much happiness, reward, even romantic adventure are seen.

Child born in this day is richly endowed with creative ideas and urges, promising an intellectual, scientific, attaining place in the limelight.

For Monday, April 19

Monday's astrological forecast holds definite auguries for the richest fulfilments of the highest hopes and wishes. This in business ventures, financial status, credit, professional and social life, with the happy combination inviting to all sorts of festivities and celebrations to mark the special occasion. It is a time for launching all ambitious projects and worthy programs, and for making concentrated efforts for promotion and honors, as those in influence and authority are approachable. Romance and "parties" in domestic and social affairs should also rise to gay levels of joy and fruition.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of an outstanding year of fulfillment of their most ambitious projects and aspirations, with the aid of those in place and power disposed to recognize signs of merit and high purpose. It is urged that these be sought for promotion, preferment and favors. Finances and credit thrive under such good will and service gestures. Domestic, affectional or social affiliations will have the happiest outcome. Neglect no opportunity.

A child born on this day may be said to have really made its appearance with the proverbial "gold spoon in the mouth". Every advantage and culmination of prosperity, happiness and good fortune are its heritage.

Hypnotized Mother Has Painless Birth In London

LONDON, April 17 — (CP).—John Michael Dare, blue-eyed and 8¼ pounds in weight, probably is the world's youngest publicity hound. He was photographed last night one hour after he was born and had his picture published yesterday before he was six hours old.

A two-column photograph in the final morning edition of the Daily Express showed John Michael, his eyes shut and one tiny hand covering his mouth, nestled in the arms of his smiling mother Mrs. Irene Dare. Above was the caption: "The strange thing about this picture.... is the time it was taken—

"Just one hour after the mother was hypnotized."

Responsible for the hypnotic influence under which the child was born was Dr. A. P. Mangonet, youthful Canadian doctor.

One hour after her baby was born, Mrs. Dare sat up for toast and tea, posed for photographers and spoke as if she had not one worry in the world.

"Everything was wonderful," she said. "The doctor said to me: 'Go to sleep. I'll wake you when the baby is born.'

"I dozed off and heard myself saying, 'I'm going to have a baby and his name will be John.'

"I wasn't at all surprised when my husband said to me: 'We've got a son.'"

Charge Senate Letting Bills 'Slip Through'

OTTAWA, April 17 — (CP). — A Progressive Conservative and a C.C.F. member ganged up in the Commons last night to attack parliamentary procedure on some legislation.

Clarie Gillis (CCF — Cape Breton South) and T. L. Church (PC —Toronto Broadview) joined forces in protesting the practice of initiating this legislation in the Senate. They claimed the bills slipped through with little discussion.

The assault was launched by Mr. Church on a private bill to set up the National Insurance Company, already passed by the Senate.

Declaring he objected to the procedure on these bills, Mr. Church said it was becoming "a farce and a racket."

Little Consideration

"The bill," he said, "is introduced and read a first time in the Senate with hardly anybody there, and there is no discussion. Once in a while, the bill is sent to committee, where the whole discussion occupies only three or four lines, and then the bill is sent over here. . . .

"Talk about reform on the Senate! They are here today and away tomorrow. They are on holidays now."

(The Senate has been in recess since March 24.)

Mr. Church also objected to the bill itself, declaring insurance companies should be scrutinized more carefully and advantage was being taken of the Senate to incorporate new ones.

"If this house is to be flooded with bills of this kind, we are on very dangerous ground," he said. "There are too many of these companies."

Mr. Gillis agreed with Mr. Church on both counts. The Senate, he said, was "beginning to initiate too much legislation."

If this was to continue, some provision must be made for a Commons committee to scrutinize such legislation before it came to the floor of the House.

Picketed Freighter Leaves Port Safely

PORT COLBORNE, April 17—(CP)—The freighter Ashcroft, picketed for a few hours yesterday by 15 men identified as members of the Canadian Seamen's Union, sailed last night for Superior, Wis., to pick up her first load of ore this season.

The 550-foot bulk freighter, owned by Canada Steamship Lines, slipped out of her winter berth at a coal dock without incident and headed out into Lake Erie.

The pickets, members of a union with which the CSL has no contract, carried signs asking for a 48-hour week afloat and a 40-hour week ashore. They made no attempt to interfere with the crew at work.

Montreal Unearths Hochelaga Relics

MONTREAL, April 17—(CP)—Scores of relics from the ancient Iroquois village of Hochelaga, now part of central Montreal, have been recovered for the Redpath Museum of McGill University.

Excavation work for a building at Mansfield Street and Burnside Avenue turned up broken bits of Indian pottery, evidences of charcoal fires that burned in longhouses many years ago, and a number of human bones.

The village of Hochelaga is believed to have occupied an area bound roughly by what are now Metcalfe, Mansfield and Sherbrooke Streets and Burnside Ave.

The village was thriving at the time of Jacques Cartier's visit in 1535 but was non-existent when Maisonneuve founded Montreal with his colonists in 1642. It is believed the Hurons and Algonquins combined in a raid on the village and burned it.

BE HAPPY WITH A HOBBY...

Fly-Tying... For Better Fishing

The art of fly-tying is one that has brought no end of delight to fishermen in their leisure evening hours. The thrill of making lures to suit a favourite stream — the trial of skill by quiet pools and rushing whitewaters — all combine to make this a fascinating pastime.

Strangely enough, fly-tying is a much simpler and speedier art than most men imagine. Good flies can be made in but a few minutes time after a little practise. The materials are few, and inexpensive — a small fly-tying vice, or monkey wrench, a couple of small hackle pliers, some fine silk yarn, cobbler's wax, celluloid varnish, turpentine, acetone or amyl acetate, hackle feathers of various colours, some bits of fur, tinsel, and hooks.

When you begin tying your own flies, you will be surprised how many friends become devoted to the same hobby — and the rivalry that develops is a great deal of fun. Several good books are available on fly-tying, but for the benefit of beginners, we offer an easy-to-follow booklet, free:

"How To Tie Trout Flies"

Write for a copy — it's mighty interesting to fishermen.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SOMETIMES YOU MUST

BRIDGE HANDS can be like the rabbit which the Dixie porter reported as having climbed a tree. "Go on," ejaculated his friend, "how can a rabbit climb a tree?" and he answered, "This rabbit had to." It is so with the declarer in a duplicate tournament whose study shows him that most pairs at other tables will be in a different contract, which they can make. If his reckoning indicates he is beaten unless he can take an extra trick, it is up to him to exercise every resource to that end, striving to substitute a top score for a bottom.

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	2 NT

West made the unorthodox lead of the spade Q and posed a problem for South in the pair championship where this deal was produced by the shuffle. It became clear to him that most North-South combinations would get into hearts, with that nice 4-4 suit, and his estimate showed that their contract ought to be makeable. That would give them a score of 140—consisting of 90 for the tricks and 50 for part score bonus. His own contract of 2-No Trumps would net only 120, a bad score, unless he could gain an extra and so have 150, with 100 for tricks plus 50 bonus. So he aimed at that target.

Winning the lead with the spade A, he sent the heart Q through to the K, saw East lay down the spade K and rake in the diamond A, then used his K when the diamond 6 was returned. He scored the club 10 on a longshot finesse, then the club K and heart A, followed by the heart 4 to the J, the heart 10 and 7, plus the club A and Q. That gave him the nine tricks he sought, and he gleefully handed over the last trick with his spade 7 to the J.

Who was it that took all those tricks? Oh, yes, it was again that St. Petersburg, Florida, marksman, M. G. Murray, playing against two Northern visitors to his home state. We wonder if that's what he calls "Southern hospitality."

6—In Memoriam

CHAMBERS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Johnston Stewart Chambers, who passed away April 18, 1947.
Only a memory of bygone days
And a sigh for a face unseen,
But a constant feeling that God alone
Knows just what should have been.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

CHAMBERS—In loving memory of a dear father, J. Stewart Chambers, who passed away April 18, 1947.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
—Ever remembered by son Stewart and family.

CHAMBERS—In loving memory of Dad, who passed away April 18, 1947.
Although we do not have you now
We know you're in God's care
And every day my head I bow
And thank God with a prayer
That He will keep you happy, Dad,
Until we join you there.
—Sadly missed by daughter Grace.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of our daughter-in-law Nellie, who was killed April 18, 1946.

Lies within our heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Griffin.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Fred Griffin, who died April 18, 1946.
Gone is the face we loved so dear
Silent is the voice we loved to hear,
Too far away for sight or speech
But not too far for thought to reach
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by husband Fred.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of Mrs. Fred Griffin, who died April 18, 1946.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you
Life has never been the same
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly, tender, fond and true
There is not a day dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Helen and Fred.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister Nellie, Mrs Fred Griffin, who passed away April 18, 1946.
Beside your grave we often stand
With hearts both crushed and sore
But in the gloom the sweet words come
Not lost but gone before.
God knows how much we miss you
He counts the tears we shed
And whispers she only sleeps
Your loved one is not dead.
So we'll be brave dear Nellie
And pray to God each day
And when He calls us home to you
Your smile will guide the way.
—Sadly missed mom, dad and family.

TAYLOR—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, David Taylor, who passed away April 17, 1946.
Only a memory of bygone days
And a sigh for a face unseen
Knows just what should have been

Why some things have to be,
But in His wisdom He has planned,
Beyond our power to see.
—Sadly missed by his loving wife and family.

SINGAPORE—Nearly all this big port's harbor labor force of 6,000 men struck today demanding higher wages and protesting police raids on union headquarters. The strike tied up 20 ships and brought work on the docks to a standstill.

Name Champs In Table Tennis

Peterborough showed on Friday night that it contained much hidden table-tennis talent. Sponsored by the Y's Men's Club, the tournament divided into four classes—men's open, women's open, boys' junior and boys' intermediate—produced both surprise victories and unexpected ability.

Winner of the men's open was Paul Estlick who defeated Ed Nicholls 25-23, 17-21, 21-10, and 21-17 in a best three-out-of-five series to take the championship. Nicholls forced the play throughout the series but Estlick with a steady defence and fast counter strokes proved that he was master of the night's play.

The upset of the night came when Miss Joyce Dewart entering a tournament for the first time trounced Miss Shirley Freer, Ontario Class B champion, in two of three games, 20-22, 21-11, and 21-11.

Both players had a similar style of game but Miss Dewart proved that she was able to stroke back almost everything her opponent hit at her, and still retain control of her shots. Miss Freer's title was not at stake.

Lionel Hempstead won the junior championship in straight games over Don Marshall, 21-7, and 21-17.

Murray Grafstein proved that he was the class of the intermediate group by defeating Ralph Smith 21-16 and 21-17.

In the men's open semi-final Ed Nicholls whipped Dave White 21-12, 18-21, and 22-20. His hard forehand drives which broke through White's defence proved the winning factor.

Paul Estlick in the other semi-final series decisively defeated Roy Gilchrist 21-13 and 21-17.

In the women's semi-finals Miss Dewart defeated Mrs. Dobbin in straight games 21-12 and 21-10. And Miss Freer downed Mrs. Clark by a score of 21-16 and 21-11.

Approximately 100 spectators viewed the tournament from the gallery. Ernie Gibson and Dave Seymour of the Y's Men's Club said they were pleased by this first annual tournament which was undertaken ot promote the game of table tennis in Peterborough.

Refereeing and organization were handled by Al Clark and Don Duncan of the YMCA.

Oshawa Beagle Club Visits Kennel Club

The regular monthly meeting of Kawartha Kennel Club was held Friday evening with an attendance of 60 persons.

Of special interest to Beaglers was a visit of ten members from Oshawa Beagle Club, brought here by L. Courtice. A very interesting talk was given by Dr. W. J. Langmaid of Oshawa on Beagles and Beagle Field Trials, also organization of Beagle clubs in Canada and United States. These clubs are very numerous and afford a great deal of outdoor activities for those interested. It is hoped very shortly to have a run trial in Peterborough.

Another delightful item on the program was showing of his own colored pictures by Morley Powell of scenes, flowers, field and garden, also wild animals of this district.

Lunch was served following the program.

Fashion Review Tuesday To Boost Arena

"The Fantasy of Fashion" to be presented Tuesday evening, April 20, in Brock Street Summer Gardens in aid of Peterborough Civic Arena campaign shows promise of reaching the highest point of entertainment attainable in style reviews. Usherettes will go through the crowd and allow guests to draw ticket stubs that will entitle the holder to one of 125 prizes. In addition there is the grand prize of a complete bridal outfit in exclusive design, to a bride of 1948 who leaves her name with the doorman.

Miss Eva Kelzner, who has modelled in London, France, Belgium and Germany and more recently in Canada, has volunteered to lead the fashion show. Miss Blossom McGinnis of Weston, a beautiful professional model, is also donating her services for the evening.

Assisted by a group of local girls, carefully chosen for their charm and grace, they will personify the "new look", taking Milady through the day, from dawn to dark. The clothes they will wear will help one decide on the picture she wants to make before breakfast, shopping downtown, at the beach, just around her own home and garden on hot days, as the garden party or dancing on a summer's evening. All the clothes will be strictly new stock, not on display anywhere in the city previously, and some may not be purchaseable for a few weeks time as the models are being sent especially for this event. Several exclusive early fall designs are also being sent for a preview showing.

Attendance means pleasure for everybody Tuesday, and a rink for Peterborough next winter.

A former president of the Peterborough Kin, he was in town briefly and bought the tickets on the draw sponsored by his old club. The pay-off prize was valued at $258. The Carnival is also being held tonight at the Armories.

A DANGER SPOT

School children dashing across Hunter St. at the Aylmer St. intersection as southe-end plants spew their motor-driving employees northward at noon daily play tag with death. Several close calls have been reported recently indicating the recurring urgency for action in erecting signal lights at this corner, as suggested some time ago by former alderman J. E. Sullivan.

SOME EQUIPMENT SCARCE

Farmers would buy farm equipment of all kinds this spring if it were available through the dealers. There is a great scarcity of power equipment such as tractors, as well as hay loaders and cultivator implements, to name a few. Cream separators and milking machines are selling well but harness shows the lightest sales known to the business for a long time.

STRIKE OIL IN CITY

Cement footing for a new building are being literally laid in oil. The excavation goes down to the base of a disused Utilities Department gas tank that was filled with rubble in 1941. Oil caused by condensation over a period of years filled the hole with oil which seeped up through 20 feet of ground. It took several hours of pumping to keep the oil clear from the setting foundations.

TO ADDRESS EXECUTIVES

Louis H. Ingram of the Quaker Oats Company will attend the annual conference in Toronto on Monday and Tuesday of the 17,600-member Accident Preventions Associations. DOG KILLED BY CAR

A large 10-year-old pet collie belonging to Victor Sedgwick, Manlece Ave., was killed on Thursday night when struck by a car on Highway No. 7 near the Keene turn. Mr. Sedgwick's niece was walking along the highway and had let the dog loose from the leash. The animal apparently did not see a car coming because it attempted to cross the road directly in front of a car coming from the other direction. The driver did not stop to investigate.

HOSPITAL RATES UP

Aquacade Amazing Display Of Ornamental Routines

Today an aura of success again attends Peterborough YWCA Ornamental Swiming Club members, their coach Mrs. Jas. Forbes, manager Mr. N. C. Munro, and assistants. Their production "A Day at the Fair", opened Friday evening in the YMCA pool and was viewed by nearly 400 persons who expressed satisfaction at a marvelous display of skill in the water. Mrs. H. C. Sootheran, convener of the YWCA swimming committee, formally opened the showing. Swimmers appeared first, wearing specially selected bathing suits that are exclusive to this club. The opening number was a "blaze of glory" with the entire club looping the loop, doing pin-wheels and the merry-go-round, "down the midway."

Everyone was eager to see the National US Champion pair, Miss Jean Millard and Mrs. Iris Forbes-Kelly. In their attractive costumes, "Pierrot and Pierette" performed the synchronized swimming routine to the music of "Humoresque." They displayed the perfect timing and finesse which won them medals and trophies in Detroit two weeks ago when they entered another country and swam according to their rules. The audience showed they felt the judges' decision had been well made, but it seemed as though such perfect performance rated more than a hearty clap. Peterborough audiences are noted for lack of enthusiasm and do not appear to realize actors work much better if they feel they are appreciated.

Miss Anne Necky of Detroit was a guest performer in the show, having come at her own expense to honor the Canadian girls. As a near diving champion, she thrilled watchers with the neatest and most intricate takeoffs from the spring board that have been seen here. Her exhibition included jackknife, swan, back dive in lay-out position, back somersault with tuck and a hand stand dive. As former US backstroke champion she swam several lengths of the p

It may be at the Federation's new camp site. Mr. H. H. Hannam, president of the Dominion Federation, will be invited to be the speaker at the picnic. Directors allotted $50 to be sent for prizes.

Members of the general sports committee are: Harry Davey, Ralph Larmer and Harvey Malcolm, and the sports program for children will be arranged by Mrs. Larmer, Mrs. Mountjoy, Mrs. K. Ashby and Mrs. Rae Stewart.

The camp committee reported that they had attended a meeting in Toronto, and discussed plans for buildings and use of the county camp site. This report was referred to the camp planning committee which will meet and report to the next directors' meeting.

The secretary, J. J. Mellor gave a report of the fund for the aid of children in Europe. Several townships have not yet completed their canvass.

Directors adopted the recommendation of the planning committee for the organization of Cartwright township on a school section basis. The camp committee is permitted to spend $100 for equipment. It was also decided that the county Federation paper be published again in June.

Resolutions from other county groups were discussed, and were disposed of as follows: no action on an advertising campaign; endorse any move to increase the number and to improve conditions for rural doctors; support the prohibition of margarine; approved a national marketing scheme to take the place of the present provincial plan.

It was decided to take no action regarding the placing of coarse grains and protein foods under a wheat board until more information can be secured. Endorsation was given to the placing of controls on all factors entering into the cost of producing foods if price controls are to be imposed on food products. Support was also given to the floor price on butter.

The next meeting will be held May 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larmer, west of Blackstock.

$3,293 FOR CHILDREN

Northumberland Federation of Agriculture report total collection of $3,293.75 for the Canadian Appeal for Children which was sponsored in the rural communities by the Canadian Federation.

Ralph Banubury, agricultural representative in the county, writes that Public School Inspectors, A. A. Martin and W. H. Charlton, made an excellent job in the schools canvass. Contributions varied from $1 to $163.75 from the South Monaghan school area of which James Gaynor is sec.-treas. Women's Institutes gave generous grants.

Farm Service groups were headed by Hamilton township Mutual Fire Insurance with $100; Harwood Creamery and Campbellford Co-op. each $50.

"Most farm organizations made some grant from their funds, but it was the $1,000 in small donations, varying from 25c to $10, that helped achieve the fine total. Much money was deposited directly through banks. Wesley Downs, sec.-treas. of the Federation had writer's cramp signing cheques, and the staff of the agricultural office wrote eight books of receipts and had much correspondence assisting the work.

No doubt school inspectors, teachers, farm forum officers and many others concerned have the satisfaction of crediting Northumberland with a large contribution to the fund for the assistance of children in Europe, who have no responsibility for the dire circumstances into which they were born."

THE SEEDING OF GRASSES

Shallow seeding of grasses for permanent pastures is advised by Mr. Ernie McWilliam of Dewart Milling Co. in the following acticle:—

Several grasses that have been well known for their desirable feeding qualities are now being used more and more in the seeding down of long term pastures in Peterborough County. Among these are Brome, Orchard, The Fescues, Kentucky and Canada Blues, Red Top, Perennial Rye and to a limited extent the hardier Western Rye and Crested Wheat Grasses.

In general it may be said that the custom is to plant these grasses too deeply, resulting in poor patchy stands. This will be the inevitable result if these species are sown mixed with grain or sown too deeply.

It must be remembered that a seed is a food storehouse, and must support the young pant until its root system begins to function and the leaves emerge from the ground. Small light seeds such as these grasses do not possess sufficient food storage to support the young plant while it is pushing upward through two to four inches of soil—hence a great number of these plants perish, resulting in thin weedy pastures.

For maximum results the shallower these seeds are planted the better, so long as they are covered sufficintly to prevent drying out or blowing away.

As these grasses are more costly than the old stand-by "Timothy" this feature in management becomes important. It is well known that approximately one half the number of timothy seeds planted per acre never develop into plants, but as the seed is cheap and plentiful, this was a minor consideration. However with increased demand for better type of pastures and hay fields, and consequent use of more expensive seeds, proper seeding management assumes its important position in general farm improvement."

Beware Of Ergot

"Last year I wrote several articles on the dangers of using seed and feed that contained Ergot bodies. This is the dark purplish body often seen on heads of rye, couch grass and other members of the gramina family," Mr. McWilliams continues.

"Since that time the Dominion Government through its Plant Products Division has taken severe steps to halt the spread of this organism in seed grains.

It is now illegal to sell for seed any grain that contains more than two ergot bodies to the pound of seed. It is illegal to sell any registered seed that contains more than eight bodies per bushel.

The importance of enforcing this regulation cannot be over emphasised, when one realizes the dangers to livestock if growers were to continue to plant ergotized seed. The fact that ergot bodies cannot be removed from sound seed through normal seed cleaning practices makes it imperative that this new regulation be rigidly enforced.

Some types of grain are much more susceptible to ergot than others—Common rye being the least resistant, followed by couch grass, smooth awned barleys, wheat, and oats in this order. Ironically the rough awned barleys are completely resistant.

Animals fed on grain that contain ergot, even in small percentages suffer from a disease called ergotism. This causes rough coast, general unthriftiness, loss of weight and a marked decrease in the milk flow. If the feed contains up to one ergot body in one thousand parts of grain, it may result in the premature birth of the young (MacEwan, U. of Alta). This is the most serious aspect of the disease.

All farmers who purchase seed grains, especially barley, are well advised to ensure that this seed is free from ergot, as once established in the soil it will continue to multiply on the native grasses and will readily constitute a menace to the well being of all types of farm livestock including poultry."

COMMUNISTS TRAIL IN EARLY RETURNS

Find Lewis, Miners Guilty Of Criminal Contempt; Hint Jail Term Pending

Ask Gov't Recommendations In Morning On Mine Chieftain's Sentence; Says Code Words Used To Start, End Strike

WASHINGTON, April 19—(AP).—Justice T. Alan Goldsborough today held John L. Lewis guilty of criminal contempt for not sending the striking coal miners back to the pits when ordered by the court. The judge announced he will pronounce sentence tomorrow. He is the same judge who fined Lewis $10,000 and the United Mine Workers (Ind.) $3,500,000 for disregarding a court stop-strike order in 1946.

Judge Goldsborough, before adjourning court, hinted that he is at least considering a jail term for Lewis this time.

He said he did not think, because of the seriousness of the case, that it could be decided on the basis of "expediency."

When he fined Lewis in December, 1946, in the other case, the judge said he had to consider the "expediency" involved and was giving a fine instead of a jail sentence.

So his talk of not regarding "expediency" this time suggested strongly that Judge Goldsborough is thinking of a jail term for the miners' chieftain.

Asks Recommendations

Judge Goldsborough asked the government to bring in recommendations for punishment at 10:00 a.m. Tuesday.

Judge Goldsborough said:

"The court thinks there is no difficulty in deciding the evidence beyond all doubt is sufficient to show the defendants are guilty of criminal contempt."

Later, he said that "of course the defendants also are guilty of civil contempt on a technicality," but added:

"The court doesn't emphasize the civil contempt."

This indicated the judge might impose a lighter fine on the union this time.

After the judge's decision, Lewis' counsel made the usual routine motion to set aside the verdict. Judge Goldsborough denied it. Presumably

Chiang Elected President; Power Unlimited

NANKING, April 19 —(AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, who said he didn't want the job, today was elected China's first constitutional president with virtually dictatorial powers. He had asked instead to be named premier—but with just such all-out powers.

In orderly, machine-like procedure which lacked enthusiasm, the strong-willed man who has headed the government since 1928 received 2,430 votes in the national assembly.

Chu Cheng, elderly president of the Judicial Yan (council), was given 269 votes in an obvious gesture to provide the semblance of a contest.

Chiang was elected to serve six years under the new constitution. He was voted the same broad emergency powers for the "period of national crisis" that he has held.

The assembly next turns to the vice-presidential race, which evokes up in rivalry all that the presidential election lacked.

A bitter battle for votes was developing between incumbent Sun Fo, who appears to have Kuomintang (government party) support, and Gen. Litsung-Jen, whose supporters call him a reform candidate. Neither was expected to be able to win on the first ballot. Three others also seek the office.

Eire Battling Bacon Graft

DUBLIN, April 19—(Reuters). —Eire's energetic new Minister for Agriculture, James Dillon, has declared war on the bacon black market. Bacon has never been so scarce in Eire as it is now and many a Dublin household has not seen any since Christmas.

Dillon says that 40 per cent. of the bacon cured during the last three months has been secreted in cold storage to be brought out when the tourist season comes and then to be sold at high prices.

Following his announcement that "vigorous measures are now under way," police and government inspectors have been sent all over Eire to make inquiries in hotels, bacon factories, ordinary and illicit pork butcher shops.

Illicit bacon curers, like the illicit whisky distillers of old, are said to operate all over the country in backyards and disused air raid shelters. Certain regular curers are also reported to have gone over to the black market and to be "cornering" bacon.

Netherlands Honor Lt.-Gen. C. Foulkes

THE HAGUE, April 19.—(CP). —On May 3, Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of the Canadian Army General Staff, will receive the freedom of Wageningen, the Netherlands, where as wartime commander of the First Canadian Army he accepted the capitulation of the Germans May 10, 1945.

The ceremony will be attended by Princess Juliana and Princess Bernhard of the Netherlands. Gen. Foulkes and his wife will be the guest of Pierre Dupuys, Canadian ambassador to Holland, on their arrival here May 2 Gen. Foulkes expects to spend a week in Holland and later will pay a short visit to Belgium.

Foils Two Gunmen

HAMILTON, April 19 — (CP). — Caretaker John Kuzma foiled a holdup attempt by two gunmen here early today when he grabbed a chair and smashed one of them in the face with it. The act was done in terror when Kuzma, complying with order to lie flat on the floor of the Canadian-Polish Memorial Hall, saw one of the holdup men moving toward him with a heavy sledge hammer. Kuzma leaped to his feet, seized a steel folding chair, struck one of the men in the face and then fled up the stairs.

Three Children Burned In House Fire

PENETANGUISHENE, April 19 (CP)—Three small children were burned to death when fire swept their small frame dwelling Saturday.

Victims were three-year-old Diane Gilbank, two year-old Donald and six-months-old Sandra, children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbank.

Mr. Gilbank had left Penetanguishene Friday to join his lake freighter at Port Colborne. Mrs. Gilbank had gone to the home of her father-in-law 100 yards distant to get a pail of water.

When she emerged she saw her own house on fire and ran to the scene, but collapsed in a faint just outside. When firemen arrived it was impossible to enter the blazing home to rescue the three children.

Witnesses said the blaze started about 2.45 p.m. and that the cottage was a blazing mass in a few minutes. Firemen were quickly on the scene but were helpless to save either the children or the home, which burned to the ground.

Two iron cots and a badly-burned wood stove were the only things remaining.

Mr. Gilbank, 24, is a veteran of the Canadian Army Corps. His wife is the former Cecile Proulx of Penetanguishene.

Toronto Teams Unite

TORONTO, April 19 — (CP).—The two Toronto teams of the Ontario Rugby Football Union — Indians and Beaches—have amalgamated for financial reasons, it was announced today. The move, decided at a week-end meeting of executives of the two clubs, leaves a bare three entries in the depleted ranks of the ORFU. The other teams are Windsor Rockets and Sarnia Imperials. Ottawa Trojans have amalgamated with Ottawa Roughriders of the Big Four and Hamilton Wildcats have moved into the Big Four to replace the disbanded Tigers. Ted Reeve, coach of Beaches, will take over the position with the new joint entry to be known as the Beaches Indians.

Bride's Veil On Fire Husband Smothers It

MEAFORD, April 19 —(CP)—Before the horrified eyes of 75 wedding reception guests, the gown and veil of Mrs. Roy Peter—bride of less than an hour—blazed suddenly yesterday when they touched a lighted candle. The bridegroom wrapped the bride in his arms and smothered the flames with his hands.

The wedding gown was ruined and the bride suffered singed hair and severe shock. Despite the shock she returned to the reception after changing to a new dress.

The young couple are both residents of Thornbury, and the reception was being held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma McKenzie. The marriage had taken place at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Harry Pether father of the bridegroom, is Thornbury fire chief.

Open New Series of Talks On West Germany's Future

LONDON, April 19—(AP). — The Foreign Office announced today that the United States, Britain and France will open a new series of talks tomorrow on the future of Western Germany.

The Benelux countries — Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—will be represented at the talks by Baron Michiels van Verduymen, the Dutch Ambassador to London.

The three occupying countries first met on the problem of Germany nearly two months ago. Out of the talks came agreement that western Germany should have a major role in the European recovery program, for international control of the Ruhr and for ultimate establishment of a federalized Germany.

Russia was not represented at those talks.

American, British and French military governors of Germany will sit in on the conference, which will be private.

One of the chief objectives of the talks is a merger of the French with the combined American and British zones of occupation.

Meanwhile, Foreign Secretary Bevin had lengthy conversations during the week-end with Prime Minister Attlee on collaboration in western Germany for halting the spread of Communism.

Bevin reported in detail on the work of the European recovery organization and on the progress of the recently-formed western European alliance in building machinery for political, economic and military collaboration.

Thieves Take Safe, $3,000 From Brewers

Load Office Safe On Main Street Without Trouble

KINGSTON, April 19 (CP). — Thieves early today entered the front office of a brewer's' retail store on Princess Street, Kingston's main thoroughfare, and escaped with a safe containing between $2,500 and $3,000 in cash.

The battered safe and a stolen car in which the culprits made their escape were found abandoned in a field off a side road a short distance beyond Collins Bay penitentiary.

Police say the robbery was carried out some time between 2.20 and 4.15 a.m. Police Chief J. T. Trauisch and Det. Vincent McQuade discovered car and safe about 5.45.

The engine of the car was still warm. Owner of the car, Robert G. Anglin, of Kingston didn't know his car was gone until notified at 6 a.m. by police.

Noticed Safe Gone

Constables W. Brennan and Leo White, patrolling in a cruiser, noticed the safe was missing as they passed the building shortly after 4 a.m. They previously checked the premises two hours earlier when all was in order. The safe was bolted to the floor beneath a night light.

Thieves entered the front office by forcing a latch on a side window and crawling through. They hacked off a bolt, wheeled the safe to the front door and loaded it into the trunk of the car.

When the car was located, the safe was found on the ground nearby, its door battered open. Trays and sections of the safe, papers, cheques and receipts were scattered around the rear of the car.

Stolen Car Ring Around Oshawa

OSHAWA, April 19 — TCP. — Suggestion that a ring of automobile thieves are operating in this district was expressed today by the crown prosecutor during the trial of Arthur Maynard of the RCAF station at Trenton. Maynard was sentenced to eight months definite and four months indefinite on a charge of retaining a stolen automobile.

Evidence of Trenton airmen was that Maynard brought the automobile to the station without plates or serial numbers. He woke two men engaged as painter and body-worker and asked them to spray-paint the car. The automobile was stolen here and taken to Belleville where Maynard picked it up.

Atomic Weapon Test Is Held

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(AP).—A test of "an atomic weapon" has been held at the proving grounds on Eniwetok atoll in the Marshall Islands, the United States Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

This is the first such test announced since those held at Bikini, also in the Pacific, in 1946.

The Commission said that for security reasons the date the test was held is not being announced.

"A classified report of the test results is being made to the joint committee on atomic energy of the Congress," the announcement said, adding:

"The test was conducted under full security restrictions of the Atomic Energy Act of 1946, and pursuant to the provisions of the Act, the public issuance of further information concerning the test is not permissible at present."

The Commission's announcement said only that the test was of "an atomic weapon." It did not say whether it was an atomic bomb, or some new kind of atomic weapon, if such exists. If it were a bomb, it would be the sixth exploded in the world, so far as publicly announced.

ENGAGED, BUT THEY MEET FOR FIRST TIME—This is the first time Jolana Simkovicova of Czechoslovakia and Henry Goldstein of Ottawa, ever saw each other—even though next month they will be married. Here the two are shown at their recent meeting at Montreal's airport which climaxed their air mail romance, started when Henry noticed Jolana's picture on an apartment wall in Brooklyn and began to write her three letters a day. In the rather strange position of having to introduce the married-couple-to-be is BOAC stewardess Felicity Fraquharson, hostess in the 'plane that brought Jolana from Europe.

Britain To Claim Compensation For Transport

LONDON, April 19 — (Reuters). — Britain is to claim compensation for the loss of the British Viking airliner with 14 lives after a collission with a Soviet Yak fighter over Berlin April 5.

Foreign Secretary Bevin announced this today after the British court of inquiry into the accident had reported that the accident was caused by the action of the Soviet Yak fighter.

When a member urged that jet fighters should be unhesitatingly be used if there was any further interference with British aircraft, Bevin, speaking in the House of Commons, commented: "I am going to assume that the Soviet is going to be sensible and therefore I will not indulge in any threats of any kind."

Bevin said he was satisfied that no blame could be attached to the pilot of the Viking.

A copy of the court of inquiry's report was being sent to the commanders-in-chief of the Russian, United States and French forces in Berlin.

The court, whose report was published today, declared that the collision was caused by the action of the fighter aircraft which was in disregard of the accepted rules of flying and in particular of the four-power flying rules to which the Soviet authorities were parties.

The pilot of the British Viking airliner, the report stated, was in no way to blame for the collision and had no opportunity to take avoiding action.

The court said that the presence of the Soviet fighter was never notified to the British authorities. The fact of its being in the air at the time was not known to the Soviet officials of the Berlin air safety centre.

Costa Rican Capital Swept By Fighting

CARTAGO, Costa Rica, April 19 (AP)—A battle for San Jose, Costa Rican capital 14 miles west of here, was reported in progress last night in the city streets.

The word reached here through the lines from a reliable source Jose Figueres, leader of the rebel "Army of Liberation has chosen Cartago as the capital for his "second republic."

Foreign diplomats in San Jose had been negotiating for an agreement between the Figueres forces and President Teodoro Picado Michalski's government. The fighting, which started Saturday, endangered these efforts

Claim Russians Drafting Young Germans Into Army

BERLIN, April 19—(AP).—The German Socialist press claimed today the Russians are drafting young Germans in their zone into the Soviet army. The newspaper "Social Democrat" declared it had such reports from two cities in the Russian zone—Frankfurt-on-Oder and Jena—[illegible] said the Russians especially picked former Wehrmacht veterans who did not serve on the eastern front in the war.

No official Soviet comment was available on these reports. Previously the Russian-controlled press has dismissed such reports with the claim that Russia has enough men of its own.

Meanwhile, Russian-licensed papers here resurrected an old charge that the United States and Britain were forming a German army in the western part of the country.

The charge was attributed to reports in a Prague newspaper (Obrana Lidu, organ of the Czechoslovak army). It claimed the alleged army would serve under former German Field Marshal Gerd Von Rundstedt and that he would have on his staff numerous German generals who have been writing a history of the last war from German records.

Von Rundstedt, 72 and ailing, is a prisoner-of-war in England.

An official of the United States military government's armed forces division, which had charge of the interned generals, commented:

"That allegation is so ridiculous it's laughable. Most of the generals are now discharged civilians and a good many of them are about to die of old age."

Ulstermen Honor Lord Alexander

LONDON, April 19 — (CP). — Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, as an Irishman among Irishmen, was presented with a model of a historic cannon and heard the praise of Ulstermen at gatherings today.

Lord Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, received from Sir Basil McFarland, Mayor of Londonderry, a silver model of the famous siege gun "Roaring Meg," used in the defence of Londonderry in 1688-89.

Sir Basil made the presentation in his Northern Ireland office here. Lord Alexander was given the freedom of Londonderry in 1945 before leaving for Canada, but at the time there was no opportunity to give him the gift of a model of "Roaring Meg" which went with the freedom of the city.

Sir Basil said that he had planned to travel to Ottawa to present the model to Lord Alexander until he was informed that the Governor-General was to visit London.

Bridal Party Helps Fight Omemee House, Shed Fire

OMEMEE, April 19 (ENS)—A large frame house, several solid barns and sheds were completely destroyed by fire here Saturday night. A major part in the battle against the flames, fought in the centre of the village, was taken by the bridal party of John Dayman, Lindsay bus driver, who was the first to spot the fire. Attired in their wedding clothes, the party—groom, bride, bridesmaid and best man — helped remove furniture and other household contents from the flaming building.

The house was on King St., and owned by John White.. The fire is believed to have started from a spark from a burning rubbish heap at the rear of one of the sheds.

The bridegroom first noticed the blaze returning from his wedding and warned Mr. and Mrs. V. Saulter, who occupied the other half of the White home with their four children. Mrs. Saulter put in the call to the Omemee Fire Department.

The flames spread rapidly and hope was soon abandoned for the White property. Efforts were directed to saving the brick house of R. Girvin, 30 feet to one side. Homes beyond it and across the road were also into danger as the wind shifted the flames.

Danger was worst when the local department had drawn all the water from nearby wells, with no further supply available. The arrival of the Lindsay Fire Department, equipped with longer hoses, enabled them to obtain water from the river.

Most of the house contents were saved by neighbors and organized firemen of the village. The White family was the heaviest loser with their furniture and property. Rough estimates place the loss at $7,000.

De Gasperi Party Leads Reds 2 to 1

Estimate 90 Per Cent Voters Turned Out, Find Little Violence

ROME, April 19 (AP)—Premier De Gasperi's Christian Democrat Party took a lead of more than two-to-one over the Communist-led Popular Front today in first returns from Italy's fateful election.

These returns in the Senate contest, which is being counted first, were mostly from the Rome and Milan areas, Turin, Venice and Florence.

Milan, in the heart of the strongly Leftist north, was giving the Catholic premier's party a comfortable lead over the Popular Front. Unofficial returns from 86 Milan voting sections gave the Christian Democrats 31,-108 the Popular Front 21,246 and the Rightist National Bloc, 206.

The voting was extremely heavy—estimated at 90 per cent of those eligible—and this was regarded as good news for the anti-Communists.

In Rome, two voting precincts a block away from De Gasperi's home gave the Christian Democrats 817, the Popular Front 175; and the pro-Fascist Italian Social Movement 76; Republican, 62 and National Bloc, 21.

Tranquil Period

Minister of Interior Mario Scelba announced the voting in this crucial test between Russia and the western democracies ended with "tranquility." He warned against "alarmist news" being circulated by secret radios and unnamed persons. He said some arrests already had been made.

The polls closed after 21 hours of voting full of meaning for the future of Europe and possibly for the peace of the world. Officials estimated 90 per cent of the 29,-000,000 eligible cast ballots.

The threat of violence which hung over the two-day voting never materialized. The government had 330,000 armed watchers on duty. Heavy police detachments guarded the streets. Radio-directed tanks, armored cars and jeeps patrolled the cities.

There were reports of irregularity, but these seemed to be minor. The Right and Left charged and counter-charged that ballots marked in advance were being handed to the voters.

Reliable Barometer

Votes were cast for a total of 6,591 candidates of eight major parties and 39 minor groups. The most reliable barometer of the Italians' choice between Communism and western democracy

Goderich Asked Police Help

TORONTO, April 19—(CP)—Ontario provincial police were sent to Goderich at request of local authorities who feared they could not maintain order in event of violence arising from the seamen's dispute, Attorney General Leslie Blackwell said today.

The attorney general said the only duty of the police was to maintain order. "The department never allows itself to become involved in the merits or demerits of an industrial dispute," he said.

Mr. Blackwell said the police simply warned the people against violence and remained only long enough to assure order. The request for OPP aid come through the crown attorney in Goderich.

Soldier Stopped Train Before Wreck

WINSFORD, Cheshire, England, April 19.—(AP).— Police said today a soldier in a hurry to get home has admitted he pulled a train emergency cord, causing a wreck fatal of 24 persons.

The soldier said he stopped the train Saturday because he wanted to get off at Winsford, an unscheduled stop. Seven coaches on his train were crushed when a speeding mail train struck it from behind.

Bogota Parley To Introduce Anti-Red Bill

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 19.—A strongly-worded anti-Communist resolution will be introduced in the Pan-American conference here in a day or two, with the backing of the United States.

Delegates from Brazil, Chile, Cuba, the United States and Uruguay, agreed informally yesterday to draft a resolution condemning Communism. One delegate said it was the intention those present to work out wording more pointed than in a resolution suggested by Chile when the conference opened March 30.

Jucenal Hernandez, chief Chilean delegate, said he believed the the conference would end in about two weeks.

There was more firing in the rubble-strewn city yesterday as troops exchanged shots with snipers for more than an hour.

Five hundred Canadian, British and United States nationals, all employees of the Tropical Oil Company as its Magdalena river production and refining plants 180 miles north of the capital, have been cut off from communication since the revolt April 9.

American officials expressed concern, but not alarm, concerning their safety. Planes flying over the area reported no signs of disturbances.

The employees normally communicate with Bogota by radio, but the transmitter fell into the hands of members of the Oil Worker's Union when rebels seized a Bogota station and began calling upon the country to join the revolt. Oil union leaders here have since advised the oil workers to go back to their jobs. Tropical Oil is a subsidiary of the Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Could Increase Wages Without Price Rise

HAMILTON, April 19.—(CP).—George Burt of Windsor, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CIO) said in an address yesterday that trade unions feel Canadian employers could grant "substantial" wage increases this year without increasing prices.

He told a gathering sponsored by the Workers' Educational Association that Canadian companies increased profits last year despite two rounds of post-war wage increases.

"We don't want wage increases if we can increase the value of our dollar by reimposing price controls and the excess profits tax," he added.

Code Words

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough ruled Lewis and the United Mine Workers (Ind.) guilty of both civil and criminal contempt.

Judge Goldsborough also decided that the 29-day mine shutdown was a strike called by Lewis.

He said the terms "dishonored" and "honored" were words used by Lewis as a code to start and end the walkout.

Judge Goldsborough said a strike can be called without using the word "strike".

He declared:

"If a nod or any wink or a code was used in place of a word 'strike', it was just as much of a strike as though the word strike had been used."

HOUSEWIVES FAIL — Determined to "picket Parliament," 300 irate and militant housewives arranged a mass parade in Ottawa, carrying signs and posters saying "Restore the 10-cent loaf" and "Prosecute profiteers." This was the third attempt of the Housewives' Consumers League to get an interview with Finance Minister Douglas Abbott. Mr. Abbott has steadfastly refused to see the women, on the grounds that the League is used to spread Communist propaganda.

Douro Postmaster 52 Years P. G. Towns Dies Suddenly

One of the most outstanding and respected citizens of Douro, Patrick G. Towns, age 75, died today at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a short illness of five days. He was owner of the general store in the hamlet of Douro in which he had operated the post office for 52 years. He was also township treasurer for the past 42 years, and was one of the men responsible for bringing Hydro - Electric powe to Douro township.

Mr. Towns was born of a pioneer family of Douro. His parents were George Towns and his wife, Margaret Limerick. He was a man of retiring nature, but possessed initiative and enterprise which were reflected in his private and community affairs. The Towns general store was always well stocked, and was one of the largest retail businesses in rural Peterborough. In the organization of the Douro Old Boys' reunion in 1925, Mr. Towns was the chief promoter, and the parish picnic was an established Labor Day event, apparently developing a year or two after the re-union. He was general chairman of its committee, supervising many of its details, including the advertising. Its posters were usually under the caption "Douro Doings." Mr. Towns had also built a large building at the rear of his store which was used partly as a warehouse and also a community centre. He gave it the name "Harmony Hall," and placed it at the disposal of the neighborhood for public meetings and social affairs. In his quiet way, P. G. Towns was for many years one of the leaders of the people of Douro township, and was widely known in the city and throughout the county.

He leaves his wife, the former Ellen O'Brien, two daughters, Mrs. Francis Heffernan of Douro and Mrs. Joseph O'Leary of Sunderland. There are four sons, William, Charles, Joseph and Francis, all of Douro, and one sister, Mrs. Albert O'Connor of Detroit. A brother, Paul, lives in Douro and another brother, Joseph, resides in Rochester, N.Y.

He was a prominent member of St. Joseph's Church, Douro. Funeral arrangements are to be announced later.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 9 a.m. from the home of his son, William Towns, to St. Joseph's church, Douro, where requiem mass will be celebrated. Burial will be at St. Joseph's cemetery.

DIES SUDDENLY—Patrick G. Towns, of Douro, died today in St. Joseph's Hospital. He had been postmaster in the township for 52 years.

Three Months In Jail

Douglas Self, 270 McDonnel St., was sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in court today when the accused appeared. He had pleaded guilty on first appearance to a charge of taking a taxi without the owner's permission.

P. C. Gordon Trennum said that on April 10 the accused had been seen from a hotel window by a taxi-driver. Self had been sitting in the car behind the drivers wheel, the witness said. The driver followed Self and saw him try the doors of three other cars.

In his own behalf, the accused said that he had been drunk and did not recall anything that had happened.

Court Docket Light

Court cases before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, were light for Monday morning.

Grace Ephgrave, 854 George St., was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs for creating a disturbance on Simcoe St.

William Henry, 630 Brown St., was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs for creating a disturbance on Simcoe St. and John Smith, 963 Ford St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for creating a disturbance in a George St. restaurant.

Norman Thorne, Omemee, pleading guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Harry Seahaver, 341 Rubidge St., was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs on a guilty plea of careless driving.

Dismiss Charge Neglected Cows

LINDSAY, April 19—(CP).—Charges that Kenneth McMahon, 37-year-old Ops township farmer, failed to provide food, shelter and water for livestock were dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee today. He ruled there was insufficient evidence.

Defence Counsel A. T. Lacey had contended that cows found dead on McMahon's property could have died from anything and that there was no proof it was malnutrition.

McMahon was wintering 14 cattle belonging to Edward Mitchell, a neighbor. Provincial police found three of them dead when they visited the farm. The others, they said, were in "shameful condition."

McMahon said he was receiving $3 a month per head to keep the cattle. "I couldn't afford to feed them anything but straw at that rate."

Base Metals And Oils Continue To Advance

TORONTO, April 19 — (CP). — Stocks continued to follow the established trend of advancing industrials, base metals and oils and retreating golds on the stock exchange today. Action was fairly light. Newsprints were firm with B.C. Pulp featuring on a rise of $7 at $108 with a high of $112 during the morning session.

Volume for the first three hours was 582,000 shares, about 157,000 below Friday's similar period.

There were no outstanding group trends among industrials as fractional gains were scattered about evenly through the list. Among stock ahead were Canada Wire A, Canadian Canners, C.P.R., Distillers, Dominion Foundries, Gatineau, Walkers, Imperial Oil, International Petroleum, Steel of Canada and International Paper.

The downward trend in golds persisted although a few issues moved ahead. These included Bralorne, Campbell, Central Patricia, Discovery, Hollinger, Kirkland Lake, Lake Shore, Little Long Lac, Madsen and Upper Canada. Base metal gainers were Pend Oreille, Labrador, Hudson Bay and Eureka.

LINK IN EVOLUTION CHAIN? — This tiny mammal, held in palm of man's hand, may be a definite link in the chain of evolution. Some authorities claim the skull resembles ape type more than any other lemur. The creature is one of three Tarsiers that have been acquired by London Zoo from the Philippine Islands, where they feed on insects at night, hide in day, leap from tree to tree aided by tiny sucker-like discs at end of fingers.

will be in the vote for the Chamber of Deputies.

Early returns from another Rome Senatorial district gave the Christian Democrats 2,583, the Popular Front 505.

The precincts in the city of Bologna, often called the Italian Kremlin, gave the Popular Front a lead — 2,691 to the Christian Democrats' 2,089.

In Turin, under Communist municipal government for three years, 54 precincts gave the Christian Democrats 6,262, the Popular Front 2,557. These figures, representing less than 10 per cent of the Turin precincts were announced by the Interior Ministry.

Complete unofficial returns from a seventh of Florence precincts gave the Christian Democrats a 3 to 2 lead.

Government spokesmen made light of two attacks on army ammunition dumps in northern Italy early Sunday—the only incidents of violence reported. They termed one a "false alarm" and minimized the importance of the other.

Rome's four populous districts polled 88 per cent of their vote yesterday. Only four provinces in the north—the leftists' stronghold — failed to reach 80 per cent, but voting in the south lagged.

It appeared that the significance of the election was driving virtually every eligible Italian to the polls.

The Communist newspaper L'Unita charged Christian Democrat poll officials with passing out ballots with their emblem ready checked. The paper asserted that 20 nuns and priests had been arrested for irregularities.

A statement from Interior Minister Mario Scelba's office said a reported attack on an ammunition dump at San Rocco El Porto, near Milan, was a false alarm.

The statement said a "rigorous investigation" is being made of an affray in the outskirts of Pavia, were an army officer was shot. Unofficial reports said an attempt was made to blow up the army dump there. Officials in the north discounted the report.

The predicted 90-per-cent vote would be an all-time record for a free Italian election, eclipsing even the 89.2 per cent of Italians registered in June, 1946, when they chose between the monarchy and a republic. Now they are choosing members of a Chamber of Deputies and a Senate for the new republic.

With four exceptions — Milan (78), which had torrential rains part of the day, Forli (79) Belluno (76) and Massa-Carrara (75) — every province in the north voted 80 per cent or better yesterday. The north generally is considered the stronghold of the left.

Central Italy had about the same turnout. Voting was lighter in the south.

Mario Scelba, Christian Democrat Minister of the Interior, had warned voters to turn out. He said those whose certificates showed they had not voted were in danger of losing good conduct cards necessary to Italians in travel and business.

Ambulances carried the sick and injured to voting places. Polling booths were set up in hospitals for those who could not go out.

Pope Pius could not vote. He and his cardinals and prelates of the Vatican Curia are citizens of the Vatican State. The Pontiff wound up his morning round of audience early yesterday so Vatican employees having Italian citizenship could get away.

Given Remand

Noah Taylor, Curve Lake, was remanded today without plea until Wednesday. He is charged with theft of a portable radio and some war service medals from the North Monaghan summer cottage of David Buchan, 240 Simcoe St. The charges were laid by Provincial Constables Joe Hanson and George Stevens. The alleged offences occurred during July, 1947.

On an even earlier charge — in June, 1946—the accused pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance. He was also remanded on that count.

Say Toronto, Not Montreal Base of Red Operations

MONTREAL, April 19 — (CP) — Three law-enforcement agencies—federal, provincial and city police — have so cramped operations of Montreal's 3,800 Communists and fellow-travellers that the Red movement is fast disappearing underground, directors of the co-operative drive said today.

Raid after raid has produced a wealth of information. Police files are filled with lists of individual names and organizations, documents, leaflets and other publications and a mass of detail on Communist ramifications.

The files themselves tell the story. Of the 3,800 Reds and sympathizers in the city, 1,800 are registered members of the Communist Party. Ringleaders, taking orders direct from Moscow, number about 100.

There are 33 organizations "fronting" for the Reds under innocuous names. Communist publications in 15 languages are circulated in Montreal from all parts of Canada.

The Communist ramifications have reached into 12 industrial councils and trade unions in Montreal alone.

Toronto, not Montreal, is the body of the Red octopus.

The latest Communist propaganda campaign in Quebec Province tells French-Canadians they will be conscripted for military service unless they take a determined stand. The literature points to steps in the United States toward universal military training and says Canada is preparing to act accordingly.

Police authorities said every branch is on the alert against subversive organizations, and more raids are in the making.

CLSU Sailors Safe On Ships

GODERICH, April 19 (CP).—Picket lines of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) tried—and failed—early yesterday to prevent crew members from going aboard the Colonial Steamship Lines freighters Laketon and Bayton.

The vessels sailed for Sarnia with the crews, said to have been recruited in Toronto, Port Colborne and Sarnia, by the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, an independent union headed by J. A. (Pat) Sullivan.

Under protection of about 20 Provincial Police, the crew members—estimates of the size of the group ranged from 25 to 60—passed through the rival union's picket lines with only one flare of violence. That came when a seaman who had lagged behind the police was pushed into the water. He was rescued immediately.

Another vessel, the A.A. Hudson, left here yesterday with a crew said to be composed of "licensed" men taken from officers and crew aboard still another vessel, the Superior.

All but six of the CSU men walked off the ships Friday. T. G. McManus, CSU, national secretary, charged the walkout was a lockout brought on by alleged threats the seamen would lose their jobs unless they journed the CLSU.

The six men who remained aboard the Laketon went ashore Saturday night on urging of a CSU organizer who accompanied a board party to the ship.

Would Outlaw LPP

SARNIA, April 19 — (CP). — About 300 Canadian Legionnaires at a district rally yesterday voted in favor of outlawing the Labor-Progressive party in Canada. They attended a district "A" rally here. In another resolution delegates voted to have all alien Communists deported from Canada and urged that Communists be prohibited from entering this country.

Foreign Doctors Inspect Unit

COBOURG, April 19.—(ENS). —Communicable disease reported in March almost equalled the cases for January and February combined, the March report of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit, reveals. Of the 401 cases reported, 210 were mumps and 158 were red measles. Measles reported for the previous month were 20. Of the 11 cases of scarlet fever reported, six occurred in Newcastle and unit nurses visited the local schools regularly, excluding children with sore throats, this supervision being considered a factor in helping to localize and restrict the outbreak.

A travelling chest clinic was held at Brighton where 45 persons were X-rayed. At the regular Cobourg and Port Hope clinics, 35 people had chest X-rays taken. The Bowmanville Lions Club were able to purchase an X-ray machine through the purchase of Christmas seals. This machine is to be donated to the Bowmanville General Hospital. Accordingly there will be a chest X-ray clinic once each month at Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg to which doctors can refer cases, contacts and suspects of tuberculosis cases for X-ray.

Medical officers and nurses from many parts of the world have visited the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit, in order to observe its organization and operation, it was reported. Visitors have come from various parts of Canada, the United States, South America, Norway and India.

During May, two nurses, Miss Mary Scott at the Port Hope office and Miss Fern Barker, are going to the Hawaiian Islands to take up public health positions.

SPOKANE—The use of dry ice in preventing lightning-caused forest fires was described by H. T. Says Espionage "Trumped Up"

BERLIN, April 19 (AP)—Correspondent Robert Magidoff said yesterday spy charges that brought his expulsion from Russia were "trumped up," apparently as a Soviet smear of foreigners.

An American, he told interviewers upon his arrival from Moscow that he believed the accusation was "for internal propaganda purposes," part of a campaign to discredit foreigners, especially Americans, in Russia.

Magidoff said Soviet leaders want to isolate their people from such foreigners and also are trying now "to make their people believe they are just as good or better than any other people.

"One way of doing this is to try to discredit the foreigners by trying to make them appear as evil people, degenerates or spies."

Magidoff flew into Berlin with his wife. Both are U.S. citizens, Russian by birth. He spent 12 years in Moscow as a correspondent, most recently for the National Broadcasting Company, McGraw-Hill Publishing Company and British Exchange Telegraph Agency.

He said their baggage and even the linings of their clothes had been searched thoroughly before they left Russia and all his manuscripts, letters and photographs taken.

INDIA TO HAVE WOMEN'S POLICE FORCE—One of India's newest and smallest police forces, the women's branch of the Delhi police, is shown as she trained in the usage of Sten guns. Although numbering only a score, the force is trained in self-defence and firearms. The group have already been in action several times to assist the police in matters of law and order where the mere male finds himself at a disadvantage. The women in the force are all specially selected and must be between the ages of 35 and 45. It is hoped that the force will grow into an autonomous branch of the police with its own officers and a separate headquarters.

ADULT INSURANCE AT BABY RATES

LIFE, WITH ITS FUTURE, IS BEFORE YOUR CHILDREN. DOMINION LIFE, WITH THIS NEW PLAN, WILL STAND BEHIND THEM WITH FINANCIAL PROTECTION . . . AT AMAZINGLY LOW COST.

Insure your son NOW, with this new Plan. When he reaches the age of 21 years the amount of insurance payable becomes 5 times the original amount—yet the baby rate you pay at the start remains the same.

And note this, the increased protection is automatic—no Medical Examination is required for this five-time increase in amount, so that at no time under this plan will your son become uninsurable by reason of unforeseen illness or accident.

Think what this new Plan of insurance means! With this policy you give them a lifetime thrift plan—you establish a substantial emergency fund—you protect your children's future insurability—and you establish for them an economical retirement fund at 55, 60 or 65.

• REMEMBER •
A Policy for $1,000 on this Plan pays $1,000 in cash, in the event of death from 10 years of age up to age 21. (Smaller amounts by Law up to 10 years). At 21 years of age the face of the Policy automatically becomes $5,000, payable in the event of death. Yet, although the face amount of the policy increases, the rate remains the same.

THE SAME YEARLY BABY RATE CARRIES ON TO RETIREMENT AGE—NO INCREASE
This Policy has various options at retirement. At the selected age of 55, 60 or 65 the plan will provide:—
(1) a monthly income for ten years, and as long thereafter as your child lives—OR—
(2) a fully paid-up policy (no more premiums to pay) and a substantial cash payment—OR—
(3) a cash settlement on the surrender of the policy.

Premature Provincial Elections

Premier Drew seems to like to call general provincial elections early and often. The Legislature just prorogued was elected on June 4th, 1945, for a maximum duration of five years. Instead of five years, it will have lived (by election day next June 7th) for less than three years. Mr. Drew's government first came to power after the elections of August 4th, 1943. He ended the life of the Legislature then elected in fewer than two years.

• • •

Premier Drew's habit of calling elections two and three years before the Legislature's term must legally end is an expensive habit. General elections cost a great deal of money. There are often very good reasons for having elections prematurely, for instance if some important contentious issue must be referred to the people or if there is a sudden lack of confidence in the existing Government. What are Premier Drew's reasons? The forthcoming elections have been called, Mr. Drew explains, because the Government's expansion program, particularly the 200 million dollar Hydro conversion and extension plans, should be submitted to the people for approval. Fewer than three years ago the people elected ninety M.P.P.'s to be their voice. These M.P.P.'s unanimously approved the Hydro conversion bill just a few weeks ago. Every member of every political party voted for it. Outside the Legislature the scheme has been quite favouably received. What stronger approval can Mr. Drew properly require? That excuse for calling the elections is so palpably thin that it is ridiculous.

• • •

Mr. Drew has other reasons. He has the good political reason that he wants to make hay while the sun shines. These are boom times, times when large budgetary surpluses are possible, times when the electors are inclined to be apathetic. A government in power can claim that the bright present has been its own creation.

• • •

Another reason for the early elections may be Mr. Drew's fondness for Mr. Mackenzie King's government. This was revealed three years ago. Federal elections had been called for June 11th, 1945. Premier Drew suddenly announced that Ontario general elections would be held on June 4th, a week earlier. The large majority Mr. Drew's Conservatives secured did not, however, keep the Federal Liberals out of power. Mr. Drew may be anxious to show his strength to the Federal Conservatives, with an eye to future leadership.

• • •

The Drew government goes to the people with a good financial record, but it goes too early, too greedy for power, and at great cost to the public purse.

Firemen Go To School

On the last two days of this month a regional fireman's training school will be in session at Kingston. The course has been arranged in co-operation with the Fire Marshal of Ontario and the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs by the Department of University Extension of Queen's. Professors will lecture on the chemistry of fire, hydraulics, first aid treatment of burns; practising firemen and experts will talk on "Discipline and The Firemen", "Electrical Fires", "The Fireman's Responsibility in Arson Investigation" and other subjects.

Firemen and education (which is, by the way, one of the scheduled lecture topics) seem odd in harness together, for firemen are traditionally Fiorellish La Guardish or practical philosophers by the chimney-corner—not students. We shall gladly accustom ourselves to the new conception of firemen as scientists of combustion and scholars of arson. Fires must be fought with brains as well as brawn and water.

Harold Stassen's Second Victory

Harold E. Stassen, ex-Governor of Minnesota, is now rated by United States political observers as a leading contender in the race for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. Mr. Stassen's impressive victories in Nebraska and Wisconsin provide evidence that his personal appeal and his campaign tactics can win against efficiently-organized state political machines, well-filled war chests and "favourite sons". With thirteen of Nebraska's fifteen delegates pledged to him on the first ballot at Philadelphia, Mr. Stassen has gained thirty-two votes out of a possible forty-two in Wisconsin and Nesbraska.

The Nebraska result also confirmed the Wisconsin verdict on General MacArthur and Governor Dewey of New York. The former is now considered hopelessly out of the running; the latter's cause has suffered another serious reverse. Governor Dewey, however, is still very much a contender, with his practically solid New York support and strength elsewhere in the East, and he at least fared better in Nebraska than Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who ran a bad third. This was a blow to Taft supporters, for the state's Republican leaders and political machine were working for the Senator from Ohio.

The other three candidates in the Republican "popularity contest", although they trailed Senator Taft, were actually unaffected by the result, since no effort was made by any one of them to seek votes. Senator Vandenberg of Michigan even requested that his name be left off the ballot, but Nebraska likes to have all candidates listed. Senator Vandenberg finished in fourth place, ahead of General MacArthur, with Governor Earl Warren of California and Speaker Joseph Martin trailing. Warren and Martin still retain their home support, and Vandenberg is still by far the most acceptable compromise candidate in the event of a deadlock at the Republican convention.

Two more interesting tests of strength involving Stassen, Taft and Dewey are scheduled for next month. On May 4th, Mr. Stassen will invade Senator Taft's home state in an effort to take away from the latter some of Ohio's fifty-three delegates. The outcome there may afford material by which the future comparative strengths of the two candidates may be appraised, and the Oregon Republican primary later in the month may allow similar comparison of the chances of Mr. Stassen and Governor Dewey.

Painting In Peterborough

The recent exhibition of the Men's Sketch Club shows that there is more painting talent and more interest in the graphic arts in Peterborough than is generally realized. There are at least a hundred amateurs active in various painting groups. With this interest and skill, and with its attractive surroundings of lakes, woods and pastoral countryside, there is no reason why Peterborough should not become an art centre.

Much could be done now to make it one. There are enough interested people to warrant our having, especially during the summer months, one or two resident artists prepared to accept temporary students. A summer exhibit of the work of local painters could be hung in the Public Library, with the co-operation of the various art groups and the Library staff. Even tourists who come to this district only to fish might be interested in such an exhibit and eager to buy paintings of the beauty spots they visit. If a beginning were made, a Peterborough Summer School of Art might be developed, and professional and amateur painters could be attracted to this district not to fish but to paint. Not all potential tourists are fishermen.

This district is ideally situated for an art centre. A first step would be a summer exhibition to which in later years visitors who are amateur or professional painters could contribute. We need, too, the personal direction and stimulus of one or two professional artists. Surely among the various Peterborough art groups there are enough people to take up the opportunity to hold a summer exhibit and to invite a crusading artist to summer here.

The director of Hamilton's Miss Canada pageant says that the selection of the beauty contest winners is based on "talent, poise and finally beauty, with the greatest number of points being given to the girls for the talent they display". The talent they display in displaying what?

"Of Cabbages and Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

"T invented a young American theological student, like himself a 'spoiled priest' and a 'poet', who had made a pilgrimage to Palace Court to read his poems to the honoured lady of the house." ("T", of course, is Punch's famous writer and critic, and has given us his life story in "Friends and Adventures", to his friends he was James Thorpe.) "He was impersonated by a young painter, Charles Stabb, a constant visitor to the house, most unplausibly disguised with a false moustache from a cracker and a little burnt cork. The young ex-student was, of course, much too shy to read his work himself; so T., who had composed a quite preposterous parody of one of Thompson's (the author of the "Hound of Heaven") sonorous masterpieces, with actual phrases lifted from this or that of his poems, volunteered to do the reading, which he achieved with due solemnity.

◇ ◇ ◇

"THERE was poor Francis in his ancient overcoat, rampaging up and down like a caged bear, covering the parquet with murdered matches, making strange noises in his throat as he recognized phrase after glorious phrase of his embedded in this magniloquent tosh. Mrs. Meynell, who foresaw that she would have to deliver some sort of verdict, was preparing kindly, non-committal phrases while vainly endeavouring to suppress the uproarious laughter of her younger offspring —in the sacred name of hospitality. The end came. She swam gracefully up to Stabb and said, heaven alone knows how, some kind words. Stabb, meanwhile, scraped his moustache off with his hands, grinned, and was at last recognized."

◇ ◇ ◇

"THE occasions when Boswell provoked Johnson unintentionally" (writes Hugh Kingsmill in his biography of "Samuel Johnson", a pleasant book)—"were quite as numerous as his intentional provocations. His worship of Johnson was as constant as any of his emotions could be, and made him relentless in his demands to be edified and instructed. Mixed with his worship was the desire to accumulate material for the Life, and the double pressure was often too much for Johnson. 'I have been put so to the question by Bozzy, this morning, Johnson once complained to Mrs. Thrale, 'that I am now panting for breath'. Mrs Thrale pressed for details. 'Why', Johnson replied, 'one question was: "Pray, Sir, can you tell me why an apple is round and a pear pointed?" Would not such talk make a man hang himself?'"

◇ ◇ ◇

"PLAGUED in this fashion, Johnson used to round on Boswell, and though Boswell's dramatic sense would make him record the punishment, his self-respect usually concealed the victim, whom he would refer to as a gentleman.

"BOSWELL'S importunity and his protration before Johnson are both illustrated in a scene recorded by Fanny Burney. Miss Burney, shortly after her great success with her first novel 'Evelina', was on a visit to the Thrales, and Boswell, who had not read 'Evelina', was present.

" 'Boswell's tone and manner', Miss Burney says, 'had an odd mock solemnity, in unconscious imitation of Dr. Johnson; and there was something slouching in his gait and dress as though he had modelled himself on Dr. Johnson here, too. His clothes, were always too large for him; his hair, or wig, was constantly in a state of negligence; and he never for a moment sat still or upright upon a chair. Every look and movement displayed either intentional or involuntary imitation. Yet certainly', she says, 'it was not meant as caricature, for his heart, almost even to idolatory, was in his reverence of Dr. Johnson. In the company of the Doctor', she continues, 'Boswell seldom answered anything that was said, or attended to anything that went forward, lest he should miss the smallest sound from Dr. Johnson's voice, which when it burst forth, excited in him an attention that amounted almost to pain. His eyes goggled with eagerness; he leant his ear almost on the shoulder of the doctor; and his mouth dropped open to catch every syllable that might be uttered; nay, he seemed not only to dread losing a word, but to be anxious not to miss a breathing, as if hoping from it, latently or mystically, some information'."

◇ ◇ ◇

"AS my daily beat became known," (writes Ernest Rhys in his "Wales England Wed" —an interesting account of the co-founder of 'Everyman's' popular library but sad in spots) "I was often waylaid by would-be contributors who tried to buttonhole me, and pour out endless suggestions. They even pursued me into Dent's office, and the same chase went on under the big dome of the British Museum. That recalls long winter afternoons when a lurking fog had stolen in, and cast a haze over our seats, when the electric lights going full blast made the place look like a monstrous wheel.

◇ ◇ ◇

"ITS spokes were the lines of reading desks at which the bookworms, and what somebody called 'the Museum beetles', sat in a silence only broken by the flutter of papers or voices speaking in undertone. Occasionally a newcomer, who did not know the ropes, would engage in lively conversation, and the poor beetles would raise their mournful heads and look aghast at the outrage."

Unconsidered Trifles

Nurse: "Do you know what happens to little girls who tell fibs?"

Betty: "Ho! You can't scare me. I've already told three fibs in my lifetime."

A somewhat stout actor was late for rehearsal one morning and the producer was annoyed. He said, "Does anyone know where Blank is?"

"Yes," said one of Blank's friends. "He's gone to the tailor to be measured for a suit."

"Measured," shouted the producer. "You mean 'surveyed', don't you?"

An Old Oak For The New House

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

Shrawley (Worsc.)

DETAILS of the supply and treatment of English oak for the woodwork of the new House of Commons were given today at Shrawley Park, when a tree which has been standing for some two hundred and fifty years was felled.

There was some doubt when the plans for the new House were prepared whether there was enough matured oak in this country for the job, but the contract now being carried out will supply all the oak needed. The quality of the wood has been approved by the Ministry of Works and by the Forest Contracts Research Laboratory at Princes Risborough, and the wood carvers, who have been at work now for six months, are said to be well satisfied with the texture of the oak so far delivered.

Traditionally, oak was left to mature in the open, which took many years. But the contractors apply a system of artificial drying at their sawmills in Newport, Shropshire, and the timber is treated to resist the effect of air-conditioning, which might otherwise distort the wood and spoil the surface in the new House of Commons.

Future members of Parliament with an eye for timber will be able to refresh themselves with the spirit of the English countryside when they survey their new Chamber. Shrawley Park has been a nursery of timber since the seventeenth century. The Severn flows along one side of it. Lord Baldwin's Bewdley is only a few miles away, and in another direction there is a bridge giving a distant view along the broad valley of the river to the tower of Worcester Cathedral, with the stump of the Malvern Hills rising up a little to the west.

Shrawley has been in the Vernon family for many generations. The present owner—Mrs. Vernon Horton—today produced a fine volume of estate plans "mappt by Jos Dougharty, surveyor of Worcester" for Bowater Vernon, 1733. The plantations in which the timber is now being felled existed then, but they have been thinned out during this century. The setting showed the essence of the English spring. The ground was powdered with wood anemones shining in between masses of the new leaves of bluebells which by June will have changed the colour of the woods. Primroses and violets are out and the red earth churned up by the tractors after two days of rain suggests the fertility of the district.

The tree that was felled today stood about 50 feet high, but all that can be used of it for the House of Commons is the straight stem as far as the first branch—perhaps 25 feet. This will produce about 80 cubic feet of workable timber with a value of between £80 and £100. In 1733 the trees were valued at £1 each.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him. (Luke 20: 37, 38.)

◇ ◇ ◇

O Lord, thou art my God; I will exalt thee, I will praise thy name; for thou hast done wonderful things; thy counsels of old are faithfulness and truth . . . And in this mountain shall the Lord of hosts make unto all people a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined. And he will destroy in this mountain the face of the covering cast over all people, and the veil that is spread over all nations. He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces, and the rebuke of his people shall he take away from off all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

And it shall be said in that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation. (Isa. 25: 1, 6-9.)

◇ ◇ ◇

When Ephraim spake trembling, he exalted himself in Israel; but when he offended in Baal, he died. And now they sin more and more, and have made them molten images of their silver, and idols according to their own understanding, all of it the work of the craftsmen. . . .

Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no good but me: for there is no saviour beside me. . . . I will ransom them from the power of the grave, I will be thy destruction. (Hos. 13: 1, 2, 4, 14.)

Letter To The Editor

Sir: Re union activity for and against. We often read and hear of company profits, some seem normal and some stagger the imagination. The fact that good profits are possible proves volume purchasing, low profits or losses prove to be lack of buying. This proves another important feature, a company has to hold its own and labour has to hold its own. In plain language companies shouldn't let labour put it over them and labour shouldn't let companies put it over them. Illustration—butcher, baker, peddlar and salesmen knock on your door, they have wares to sell you which you need, you have the cash which they need (if your wages are adequate)—you purchase and everybody's happy. If your wages are too low no sales are made, you are disappointed and go without and so are the agents of various wares.

Wreck companies and you scuttle all, wreck labour and you've done the same trick. To solve wage and profit disputes let labour and management man the boat of "live and let live" on smooth seas of accord in order to avoid scuttling all and creating discord. And so dear readers one and all, whether they call you a grafting capitalist or a Red Communist let's aim to keep the ship on an even keel. Moral—"Pile up profits and goods on low wages and you sell nothing and pile up high wages and do little and you have lots of cash but nothing to spend it on

Yours for smooth sailing,

Two Provinces

The considerations that may be expected to be operative with Premier Drew are much the same as those likely to influence Premier Duplessis (in the matter of an election), except that the latter has held office for four years, as against three.

Both men are striving to maintain the local autonomy of their respective provinces against the centralizing encroachments of the Federal authority, which seeks unceasingly and by every means to overthrow them. Consequently, it is sound policy for Drew and Duplessis to take their cases to the people before Dominion elections are brought on.

If the people of Ontario and Quebec give them votes of confidence, the Federal Liberals will have to base their campaign upon some other issue; whereas, if that campaign were to precede the Provincial ones, it would certainly be made with the cry of "Down with Drew and Duplessis" as its slogan. —Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Self-Discipline

If people would discipline themselves in the spending of money and provide against old age and the rainy day, Governments would not have to be so austere in their taxing program.—Farmer's Advocate.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED — Less than 24 hours after their father had left home for a summer's sailing on the Great Lakes, Diane, Donald and Sandra Gilbank of Penetang lost their lives when fire destroyed their home Saturday afternoon. Their mother had been absent from the house only four minutes getting some water when the flash fire was discovered. All that remains of the little home which was the funeral pyre for the three children is shown above. Twisted crib and bedstead offer mute testimony of the tragedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbank, bereaved parents, are shown above in their wedding portrait. Mrs. Gilbank collapsed after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue her children and is under a doctor's care.

Follow Huge Cranes North To Save From Extinction

REGINA, April 19—(ENS)—Up across the great plains of the Middle West some 30 Whooping Cranes, the last of their species, are speeding to their unknown breeding grounds in Canada's Far North.

Following them are two American ornithologists, anxious to discover their secret northern nests in a last-ditch gamble to save the species from total extinction.

Since 1945 Robert P. Allan of the National Audubon Society and Robert H. Smith of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service have scoured the North West Territories each summer in a fruitless air search for the Whoopers — the loudest, tallest and rarest birds in North America.

Fred Bard, curator of the Saskatchewan Natural History Museum and a collaborator in the search, said this year the two probably will concentrate on the MacKenzie River country between Great Slave Lake and the Arctic Ocean.

If they can find the nests, the information they can gather about the birds' habits may help them save the species. Otherwise, the hazards of the annual migration probably will wipe them out faster than they can reproduce.

Already 14 birds in four separate flights have left their winter home, a wildlife refuge at Austwell, Tex. Sixteen more are expected to leave momentarily or have already left.

Smith is expected here later this month to commence a waterfowl survey of the North West Territories. He will be joined by Allan in June for the air search that will carry them across thousands of miles of uncharted country.

The Whooping Crane — which once migrated up the Mississippi River according to early 19th-Century observers—stands four feet high and has a seven-foot wingspread. Its head is bricked-red, its wings tipped with black and its powerful cry, amplified by an extremely long wind-pipe, can be heard from three miles away on windless days.

The southern limit of the nesting grounds — the birds need extensive marshlands for mating — has been pushed farther and farther north by civilization. The last known nest was near Kerrobert, in West-Central Saskatchewan, where eggs were found in 1922.

Wo'n't Arm Hagana

LONDON, April 19 — (CP). — Prime Minister Attlee has turned down a proposal for Britain to legalize and help arm the Jewish Palestine force Hagana, it was disclosed yesterday. He said Britain does not see that it would be conducive to peace either to recognize "this independent and purely Jewish force" or to furnish offensive weapons for either Jew or Arab.

6 People Perish In Weekend Fires

By The Canadian Press

Three children were burned to death at Penetanguishene and an aged Indian couple died in their flaming home at Orillia, during a week-end which saw loss of four lives in automobile accidents.

A Canadian Press survey showed 12 fatalities reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end, with a drowning, an accidental poisoning and a steel plant accident causing the other deaths.

Victims of the Penetanguishene fire were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gilbank. They were: Diane, 3; Donald, 2; and Sandra, 6 months. Police said the fire broke out during a few minutes the children were left alone.

In the fire eight miles east of Orillia, Mrs. Clarissa Ingersoll, 79, was burned to death in a vain attempt to save Alexander Ingersoll, 85, her bedridden husband, from the flame-filled kitchen of their log cabin.

Head-On Collision

On his way to a Saturday night dance, Earl (Bud) Hunt, 21, of Hagersville was killed when the automobile he was driving came into collision with another car near Simcoe. Injured were William Burbidge, 24, also of Hagersville, and Edmond Zelensky, 24, and Ernest Draegnen, 30, both of Hamilton.

Injuries in separate automobile accidents proved fatal to Petty Officer Kenneth Hulley of Lethbridge, Alta., injured near Halifax; Margaret Joan Ward, four, Toronto, and Florence Mernick, 16, also of Toronto.

Floyd McComack, 30, was killed when struck by a steel plant slag train at Sault Ste. Marie. An inquest will be held.

Near London, Mary Jean Lawson, 13 months, died after drinking a medicinal mixture when she strayed from her parents' sight. Her death was declared accidental.

Gary Lessard, three, was drowned in a cistern in the backyard of his parents' home, at Waterloo. The cistern cover collapsed.

Veterans Charter of 1946 Undergoes Several Changes

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL.

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP) — The Veterans Charter of 1946 — a compilation of legislation passed for the benefit of former servicemen— is to be partially revamped.

Veterans Minister Gregg told the Commons last night that experience had shown the need for changes. He made the statement while piloting legislation that would make changes in the War Services Grants Act, the Veterans Rehabilitation Act, and the Veterans Assurance Act.

Other developments:

1—Labor Minister Mitchell announced settlement of the West Coast six-weeks-old strike of deep-sea ships' officers. The strike on the East Coast ended last week.

2—Trade Minister Howe tabled the annual report of Trans-Canada Air Lines, showing a 1947 deficit of $1,761,000.

3—Mr. Howe announced that he will go to Washington "within a week or so" to discuss Canadian participation in the European recovery program.

4—Members passed through committee a bill that would give the government power to channel exports to countries receiving aid under the ERP.

Exatend Insurance

5—A bill was adopted authorizing extension of the insurance which the Export Credits Insurance Corporation gives on exports to foreign countries.

6—A long-standing bill to increase the capitalization of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada from 150,000,00 to 500,000,000 was talked out for the fifth straight Friday night in the hour devoted to private bills.

In the veterans debate, Brig. Gregg said amendments to the Veterans Rehabilitation Act were necessary to eliminate anomalies and contradictions.

The new legislation would provide allowances for children in the process of adoption by veterans. It would provide similar allowances for the illegitimate children of a veteran's wife, providing the children are being maintained by him.

Another change would provide for payments to veterans who started a college course and later decided to drop it. Under existing legislation a veteran student who discontinued a course was barred from benefits of the Veterans Land Act. The bar would be lifted under certain conditions.

Three-Year Extension.

Main change in the Veterans Insurance Act consisted of a three-year extension of the time in which applications could be made for policies.

Some veterans still were under treatment and were ineligible for insurance. Others were not financially able to take insurance at present. The extension would be of benefit to these men.

Besides, the bill would clarify the eligibility of veterans' widows for insurance under the Act.

Since 1945 some 19,280 policies covering 55,353,500 worth of insurance has been issued. About 210 applications covering $900,000 in insurance were pending and would be invalid unless the extension was granted.

PCVS Cagers Take OABA Crown In Overtime Against Hamilton

A wildly exciting finish brought PCVS its second basketball title of the season in the final of the OABA Midget tournament Saturday at the PCVS gymnasium. The same seven boys who won the COSSA Junior championshipp a month ago won added laurels by defeating Hamilton Sports Centre 41-40 in overtime in this one-day tournament which brought the best under 17-year-old teams in the province to Peterborough to settle this all-Ontario title.

The PCVS team had advanced to the final by defeating Napanee Collegiate 59-9 in a very one-sided afternoon semi-final. The Sports Centre team from Hamilton had a much more difficult time reaching the final at St. Jerome's College, Kitchener; only lost out in the last few minutes 46-42, in the second afternoon semi-final.

The evening preliminary between the two losers was almost as one-sided as the first afternoon game, St. Jerome's having little trouble winning from Napanee 53-18.

Large Crowd

A big crowd was tense as the final started. The taller Hamilton boys seemed to tower over the home youngsters, and not too many of the spectators figured a Peterborough victory. The teams opened slowly; Hamilton scoring first as 6' 3" Cam Fraser found the mark twice. Don Griffin tied the score at 4-4 on two pretty hoops as the crowd roared its appreciation. However, the strong 3-2 Hamilton zone defence stopped further PCVS scoring during the quarter, with the exception of Griffin's foul shot. Big Al Foreman, centre of the visitors, scored twice and Gerry Urquhart added one hoop to put the Sports Centre ahead 10-5 at this first rest.

Hamilton mastery continued and mid-way through the second quarter the visitors' margin had mounted to 10 points, with the score standing at 19-9. Red-headed Rich Bethune featured during this time as his tricky change of pace dribbling set up his teammates for scores. However, the PCVS defence tightened with Al Lee taking over to check Bethune successfully. Before the quarter ended PCVS had whittled the margin to five, once more, as the teams went to the dressing-rooms at 21-16. Don Griffin had scored 12 of his team's 16 points at this stage.

Forced Play

PCVS came out determined to win, forcing the play from the ouset. A Neil Thompson basket wat matched by Al Foreman before Don Griffin found the mark twice in quick succession. A successful foul shot by Rich. Bethune made the margin two points at 24-22 to set the stage for the roof-raising tying basket by Griffin, who continued his deadly shooting to put his team four points ahead at 28-24. Then two Al Foreman hoops were split by Al Northcott's PCVS score to leave the Peterborough boys ead 30-28 at three-quarters.

The tense final quarter saw many chances missed and many fouls called. Neil Thompson regained the four-point margin for PCVS with a basket to open the scoring. Al Foreman reduced the margin to two once again at 32-30 before successful foul shots were traded by Neil Thompson and Cam Fraser. Neil Thompson scored again to put his team up 35-31, only to have Rich. Bethune count at the other end on a field goal and Al Foreman on a foul shot, making the score 35-34 with a minute to go. Then a double foul called on Bethune and Griffin saw the former shooting first to count and tie the score. Don was not to be outdone and coolly swished the ball through the hoop at the other end to put his team ahead once again 36-35. A wild last few seconds resulted in Bethune being fouled by Neil Thompson with two seconds to go. His shot was good and the teams had to go overtime.

Counted Fast

The Peterborough boys were not to be denied and counted five points in the first half of the three-minute overtime period as Al Northcott scored first for a two-pointer and Don Griffin made the margin five on a foul shot and a field goal. Momentary over-confidence, with the PCVS team seeking to add to their margin, backfired as Hamilton got possession and Cam Fraser counted. With seconds to go Al Foreman reduced his team's deficit to one, but time ran out before any more damage could be done. The crowd swarmed on the floor to congratulate the winners on their triumph. Space had to be cleared for Wilton Marks, president of the OABA, to present the St. Jerome's College trophy, emblematic of the Midget championship.

Don Griffin was top scorer with 26 points, made up of eleven field goals and four foul shots. Al Northcott and Neil Thompson had seven each to account for all the rest of the PCVS scoring except for Henry Dinsdale's foul shot.

Al Foreman with 19 points was high man for Hamilton, Cam Fraser had nine, and Rich. Bethune eight. Gerry Urquhart had four to account for the remainder.

The teams:

PCVS—Grafstein, Griffin 26, Lee, Sergeant, Dinsdale 1, Northcott 7, Thompson 7—total 41.

Hamilton Sports Centre — C. Fraser 9, Marko, R. Fraser, Markle, Foreman 19, Bethune 8, McAuley, Wade, Leyland, Urquhart 4—total 40.

Referees—B. Lowes, Toronto, and M. N. Leeson, Merriton.

The consolation game:

St. Jerome's College, Kitchener—Rederer 3, Darasch 2, Miehm 8, Livingstone, Ford 19, St. Denis, Nowak, Karai 19, Holle 2—total 53.

Napanee Collegiate — Finlay, McWilliams, Huyck 2, Clark 2, Creighton, Madden, Hogarth 3, Thomson 8, Sexsmith, Finlay 3, Vine—total 18.

Referees — R. Dyer and D. Plunkett.

HOGAN'S YEAR—Ben Hogan, who succeeded his fellow Texan, Byron Nelson, as golf's best player, showed, by the way he won the Los Angeles Open, that 1948 may be his best year. He scored 275 for four rounds over the tough par 71 Riviera course.

Legions Enjoy A Wind-Up Hockey Banquet

The Legion Hockey Club held an enjoyable wind-up banquet and evening's entertainment in the Legion Hall on Saturday night. About 40 were on hand, including players and officials, with their wives or girl friends, and some guests. It marked the end of Legion's most successful hockey season when they won their OHA senior "B" group title, eliminated Orillia in provincial playdowns, and lost out to Toronto in Ontario semi-finals.

Cyril Withers, manager of the hockey club, was chairman for the banquet, with the Legion ladies' auxiliary catering. Several brief congratulatory speeches were made, before the gathering adjourned to the upstairs hall for dancing and games. Group photos were taken and the party enjoyed itself until midnight. Mrs. Percy Nicholls—whose husband started with Legion this year and ended up by assisting in a hockey championship recently in Vancouver—was among the guests.

Nobody Loves a Bedbug . . . But Bedbugs Love Everybody Too Much

If a family moves away from a batch of them, what do they do but crawl into cracks and wait for newcomers. That is why you catch them out of a clear blue sky. But don't cry—in the morning you won't be able to find them. The young ones will all be in school, learning how to bite you better. The old ones may be "dead drunk" in your mattress tufts and may not appear for days. Sorry, maybe you're sensitive. Bedbugs can be an awful prick in the pride . . . and hide. If you've been wounded, you need help, not sympathy. The best place to find it is at Burton's Pest Control. Call the number of your local Pest Control, 6693 Kingston. He knows the habits and the hide-outs of the cimex lectularius (bed-bug) and how to get after it direct . . . in the good scientific way. It's your best bet.

In beds only? Golly no. Bedbugs may nest in a hat band or behind a picture frame. You can get them from your neighbor's clothes basket or catch one on a street car. They like cracks in floors and loose mouldings. For riddance trust only experts!

The first game of the 1948 Allan Cup final will be played in Regina, the date depending on the outcome of the eastern final series between Hamilton Tigrs and Ottawa Senators, president Al Pickard of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said at Regina last night.

The Cup final will begin April 24, Pickard said, but if a fifth game becomes necessary in the best-of-five Hamilton-Ottawa series the opening game will be postponed to April 26. Second game will be in Calgary April 27 or 28, depending on the eastern series, with the third and fourth games scheduled for Edmonton beginning May 1. The remaining games and dates have not yet been scheduled.

Hamilton Lady Zion Ramblers Saturday night edged out Cornwall O.C.O.T. Golds 22-20 to win the Canadian Women's intermediate basketball championship. Playing a two-game, total-point series, the Ramblers took the title with only a four-point majority. On Friday they claimed the opener 26-24.

The Dominion gymnastic championships, scheduled for University of Toronto Hart House May 1, have been indefinitely cancelled. Chairman A. E. Chilcott has announced. Inability of out-of-town competitors to attend and the high cost of the competition which would not be justified by the entry list, were given as reasons for the cancellation.

Official Professional Golf Association figures Saturday listed Lloyd Mangrum as top cash-collector during the 1948 winter tour with $12,205. Bobby Locke of South Africa was second with $8,093 and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis third with $6,992.

Toronto Yorkminsters captured the Ontario Basketball Association Intermediate B championship at Tillsonburg Saturday by defeating Tillsonburg Trojans 63-59. Yorkminsters carried a 27-point lead over from their first game to take the two-game total-points round in easy fashion.

Central United of Welland swept to a 61-42 victory over Riverside United of Windsor at Welland Saturday to capture the Ontario Church Basketball Junior B championship. Riverside won the first game of the two-game total-points series 34-33, but lost out on the round, 94-76.

Henry Cotton, British professional won his first United States golf tournament at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., yesterday. He had a consistent 136 for two rounds over the par 70 old White Course in the first annual Greenbrier pro-amateur handicap.

Amherstburg won the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association Intermediate C championship Saturday by defeating Brampton 70-35 in the second game of the final series. The winners took the first game 58-39, to give them the two-game total-points round 128-74.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Headlining the three-bout pro grapple program at the Brock Arena this Wednesday evening is the Masked Marvel against Earl (Moose) McCready. Fans will recall their last meeting here sometime back—ere the Mask suffered a broken arm—when McCready actually outfought the powerful hooded one. They expected a return go the next week but that fracture put the Mask out of commission for quite a spell. However, they're ready to mix it here once more, and it should be a dandy between the unscrupulous and strong Marvel and the experienced and drive-ahead Earl. Larry Moquin (whom many thought was the Mask) will be in the semi-final against big Lee Henning, so that should dispel that rumor. And with Irish Tom Collins versus Strangler Bob Wagner in the prelim, it ought to draw another hefty crowd.

Two classy Kingston ballsters — better known to local fans as Kingston hockeyists, Joe Lay and Arnie Jarrell—have jumped organized ball. They've passed up pro ball with Kingston in the Class "C" Border League to go with Granby Red Sox of the Quebec Provincial League, an independent semi-pro outfit. An item says: "Jarrell made no secret of the fact that he will receive $500 a month, a sum far in excess of any he was paid in professional company. In addition, he was given a bonus of $200 for signing." Hm, that's hardly a fortune, either. Two former Montreal Royals, Gladu and Roy (who jumped two years ago to the Mexican League) are with Granby, too.

Can't Beat The King

King Clancy is talking, as usual, according to Bill Westwick: "During the Detroit-Leaf series I was having trouble one night in faceoffs. Mortson and Abel wouldn't put their sticks on the ice so I could drop the puck. They kept waving them up a few feet like lacrosse sticks. Finally, I says O.K. so you won't put them down, eh? Then I wham the puck down as hard as I could. It must have bounced a couple of feet and it was anybody's puck. Well, a moment later we have another faceoff and Abel looks at me with a withering look and says: 'New rules now even for faceoffs, eh? The referee doesn't drop the puck any more, he just bounces it, and the centre player grabs it with his teeth on the fly like a spaniel!' "

Legionnaires wound up a successful puck season with an enjoyable evening at the hall on Saturday p.m. Some 40 there, including girl friends, wives and guests. Club officials were on deck, too, which is as it should be—since the officials play as important a part (though in the public background) as do the players themselves. Cy Withers was in charge, and Coach Ned Vitarelli in thanking the puckists for their 1948 efforts said he hoped to be back with 'em next season. They concluded the evening with dancing, games and whatnot.

No Tax On Amateurs

Ald. Doug Miller advises us that the meeting tomorrow night for sports bodies to discuss the proposed government tax has been cancelled. No need for it. Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, phoned the provincial treasurer and was assured that the Ontario government intended only to take over the amusement tax fields presently invaded by the federal government. Hon. Frost said: "We have no intention of taxing amateur sport", adding that they were inclined rather to further assist amateur athletics. He intimated that the newspapers were unduly worried and this had started organized protests by athletic bodies. We are glad this tax won't take effect on the amateurs, and express apreciation to both the Hon. Scott and to Doug Miller.

At the OLA annual in Toronto on Saturday, 'twas ruled that senior "B" teams delaying start of lacrosse games will be fined $15. Referee's fees in this section was raised to $10. Over 70 entries were accepted at this session, many of them for the minor divisions. Pete King missed out on the executive election, these officers being named: President, Fred Sandford; first vice-prexy, J. C. McLeod; second, G. Hipkin; secretary-treasurer, Gene Dopp; assistant, C. W. Rowan; council, W. Pearson, J. Worthy, F. Curran, A. C Brown, and Mel White—the latter from Oshawa and the only from up this way. And it won't be long now before the Petes know their 1948 grouping.

PCVS Cagers Champs

Congratulations to Coach Bev Goulding and his classy PCVS cagers, who won the OABA midget championship here Saturday. Snuffed out Napanee 59-9 in the semi-final but had to go overtime in the evening to squeeze out a 41-40 final against Hamilton—which team had knocked off Kitchener 46-42. A real thriller with the PCIers (who previously this season won the junior COSSA title) finishing like champs against stiff oposition. Fine stuff, and the sizeable crowd got a big thrill out of that windup. In the evening prelim, Kitchener romped through Napanee 53-8. And now, with no more hoop worlds to conquer this year, the Collegians can take a well-earned rest. Our thanks, also, to Mr. Goulding for his cage coverage for us through the season.

Ray Donnelly Is Winner Of Road Race

Ray Donnelly, 32-year-old local long distance runner, won Peterborough Harriers Club three-mile road race here Saturday and the Peter Dominik Trophy, finishing ahead of a field of 16 in 16 minutes, 49.50 seconds. Bill Thistlewiate of Norwood, was second in 17 minutes, 42.50, with Jack Brown third in 18 minutes, 16 seconds, and Bill Crowder fourth in 18 minutes, 47 seconds.

Donnelly, running in second position, took over the lead at the mile mark and set his own pace the rest of the race. Thistlewaite trailed the bunch at the mile but he turned on the heat and pulled right up to second spot at the finish. Brown, the indoor mile champion, came on strongly for third place. It was anyone's race till the home stretch when Donnelly's experience paid off in the good time of 16 minutes, 49.50 seconds.

Many of the runners trailed and finally dropped out due to lack of condition or coaching. Youthful Ed Moir, lone Lindsay entry, made a good showing by staying up front till the latter part of the race. Wally Bowes, 16 years old, was he only junior entry and he did well by finishing sixth.

Soccer Field Up As Posts Broken

Local soccer fans and players anticipated a perfect opening exhibition game on Saturday afternoon, bektween CGE and O'Hallorans at King Edward park, but some person broke the goal posts that had been erected during the week. Players had been using the goal posts as late as Friday night and they were in perfect shape. The cross-bars were broken in two, thereby compelling the players to erect and repair the damage before getting the game started.

Art O'Halloran, along with a few enthusiastic helpers, procured new bolts and wood to fix the posts and had to dig new holes for the boxes to hold the uprights. Eventually Tom Gallen, as official referee, got the game started. Many new faces were in the Electrics' camp.

Strong Side

O'Halloran's eleven included Harry Pyle at centre half, late of the CGE and his versatility in that position strengthened them considerably. Walter Dinisen and R. E. Smart broke into form at full-back along with Art O'Halloran in goal.

Sparton team were in full force at the practice game and looking forward to the opening game with the CGE next Saturday afternoon.

Nothing definite has been given out from the Canadia Packer camp although the brother Downers, Jimmy Buchan, Smith, Art Bromley and others were interested spectators. The soccer exectutive expect a concrete answer from the Packers tonight at the YMCA at 7.30.

Marg Baker And Bud LaBranche Take Badminton Singles Titles

The Peterboro Badminton Club finished a successful season Saturday night with some fine matches, and the election of officers for next year.

The men's singles was a hard fought match with Bud LaBranche defeating Ed. Johnston, the defending champ. The tilt went to three games, with La Branche finishing stronger and in the ladies' singles Marg Baker took Audrey O'Donoghue in two straight to hold the cup for the fifth time.

Marg Baker and Audrey O'Donoghue were too strong in the ladies' doubles for Joy Elmsley and Ruth McKee and took the match handily.

The first game of the men's doubles was close, but V. O'Donoghue and Bob Baker won the second one fairly easy to down Ed. Johnston and Ralph Charlton.

McCready Given Bout With Mask

It will be Earl McCready versus the Masked Marvel in the main bout on the Brock Arena mat on Wednesday. McCready has been asking for a chance at the hooded terror ever since the team bout last Winter when Earl indicated pretty definitely that he is the better man. If the Mask is beaten he must remove his long-worn hood and it begins to look as if Peterborough could be the right place for that exciting event to happen.

Lee Henning

The extremely colorful Montreal wrestler Larry Moquin will meet the blond Iowa cornhusker Lee Henning in the semi-final. Irish Tom Collins and Strangler Bob Wagner will meet in the opening match.

No Tax Planned On Sports Hon. Frost Says

The provincial government has no intention of invading the amateur sports' field with the amusement tax, it was learned here last evening. The Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, who had been invited to a Tuesday meeting—now cancelled—to discuss this suggested tax, assured Ald. Doug Miller that amateur athletics had nothing to fear. Mr. Scott said he had phoned the provincial treasurer, Hon. Leslie Frost, who said: "We have no intention of taxing amateur sports."

Mr. Frost said the provincial government planned to continue the amusement tax along the same lines as the federal government is presently doing, when the Dominion government gives up this field of taxation. He felt that newspapers had become unduly alarmed, which resulted in a number of protests from athletic bodies. Mr. Frost said that, on the contrary, the government was inclined to give more assistance than before to amateur sports. In view of this statement, Ald. Miller cancelled the proposed local meeting of sports' bodies to discuss the question.

Only Accept Birth Certificate As Proof Of Age; OBA Rules

LONDON, April 19—(CP). — Approving a lengthy list of amendments, many of which will have a far-reaching effect upon the game, delegates of the Ontario Baseball Association, meeting here for their 31st annual convention cleared the decks for what they hope will be the greatest season in Ontario's baseball history. Fred Bradley, veteran Hamilton sportsman, was elected president of the association.

Stormiest moment of the convention came when the association amended the by-law on birth certificates. They approved a rule which will demand that birth certificates only will be accepted as proof of age in all minor series and struck out the clause which formerly accepted baptismal certificates as valid proof of age.

Dr. H. J. McCann, Toronto, voiced strong opposition to the change, charging that if it was approved "hundreds of boys in minor ball in Toronto, would be kept out of the game. He said that most of these boys were members of CYO leagues, and that the only proof of age that they possesed was a baptismal certificate. When the amendment was carried, he walked out of the meeting.

Speaking of the new rule, Jim Marnell of Tilbury told how an entire team was tossed out of a western counties playoff because one boy was playing under a certificate which was proved to be false. Tory Gregg of Wingham also backed up the measure.

Other amendments approved included:

Fees for each league or association which now operates four or more series or has two or more leagues in two or more series have been increased from $20 to $30.

Juniors changing residence must now apply to the OBA for permits and pay a $2 transfer fee.

Minor players may now advance to any higher class of ball on their minor certificate.

In a move aimed to stop the packing of all-star teams, it was ruled that "all clubs of any classification desirous of entering OBA playoffs must affiliate either directly with the OBA through the affiliated association in their area, or, if intending to operate a city league, that league must affiliate directly wit the OBA. The winning club of such a league and not the pick of all teams, will represent the league in OBA playoffs.

J. J. Turner invited the association to meet in Peterborough in 1949. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Fred H. Young, Chippewa; 2nd vice-president, W. F. Nickel, Stratford; secretary-treasurer, W. J. Snyder. Four directors were elected: James Millman, London; Vern Clark, Hamilton; Garret Frankland, Toronto, and Tory Gregg, Wingham. Four others will be named by the president.

Major Leagues Opening 1948 Seasons

NEW YORK, April 19 — (AP) — Major League baseball teams knuckle down to serious business today with both the National and American Leagues opening their 1948 seasons.

The blue chips will be on the line at Washington, Boston and Cincinnati with 125,000 fans expected to witness the proceedings.

The world champion New York Yankees, picked by the experts to win their second straight American League pennant, will begin defence of their laurels at Washington.

A crowd of 31,000 including President Truman, who will toss out the first ball, is expected to watch the New York-Washington battle.

Allie Reynolds, who blanked Washington in the 1947 inaugural, is slated to hurl for the Yanks and Early Wynn for Washington.

However, before either Reynolds or Wynn even warm up, the first official game should be in the record books.

This game is scheduled to start at 10:15 with Joe Dobson on the hill for the Red Sox and Phil Marchildon from Penetanguishene for the A's. Either Denny Galehouse or Earl Johnson will pitch for the Sox in the afternoon tilt against rookie Lou Brissie.

National League warfare opens at Cincinnati where the Reds entertain Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ewell Blackwell, the majors' top winner with 22 triumphs in 1947, has been nominated to hurl for the Reds against Pittsburgh's Hal Gregg, off-season acquisition from Brooklyn.

The remaining clubs will begin playing for keeps Tuesday.

The east-west battle for the Canadian women's senior basketball crown gets under way tonight at Toronto with Cardston, Alta., Shooting Stars meeting Toronto Montgomery Maids in a best-of-five series.

Two-Man Duel

BOSTON, April 19.—(AP). — Forced to the wall, Marathon experts predicted that the 52nd Boston Athletics Association Marathon today would be a two-man duel between such youngsters as Ted Vogel of Tufts College, National Amateur Athletic Union champion, and Tom Crane of Springfield. But there are 190 others down to start, including several Canadians and three former winners, and at least a half-dozen of them rated as serious contenders.

Amazing Tigers Get One-Game Jump On Ottawa

By DON HUNT

MONTREAL, April 19 (CP). — If it wasn't for a grey-haired gent named Art Childs, Ottawa Senators today would be in the driver's seat in the Eastern Canada senior hockey final.

Childs, goalkeeper for Hamilton Tigers, stopped the Ottawa scoring attack cold here Saturday night to give Tigers a 4-1 triumph in the third game of the Allan Cup semi-finals. Hamilton leads the best-of-five series 2-1.

The scene now shifts to Toronto for the fourth game Tuesday. A victory for Tigers will put them in the Allan Cup finals against Edmonton Flyers, the first game to be played in Regina, April 24. If Senators win, the fifth and deciding game will be played in Ottawa Thursday.

Outplayed most of the way Saturday, Hamilton made good use of their limited scoring chances, netting two goals in the first frame and one each in the second and third. Senators lone tally came late in the middle session.

Paced Attack

Hamilton's first-string trio of Clare Shillington, Tommy Smelle and Johnny Conick paced their scoring attack with a goal apiece. Shillington and Conick also picked up a pair of assists each. Swat Mason, aging Tiger forward notched the fourth counter.

Eddie Ember, aggressive Ottawa playmaker, potted Senators' lone goal.

The Ontario champions vaulted into an early lead when Shillington slapped a loose puck past Legs Fraser from 20 feet out at 4:20.

Tigers made it 2-0 with only 30 seconds left to play on Johnny Conick's goal.

Tigers played cagey hockey early in the middle canto, waiting for the breaks. Their first opportunity came at 6:33 and they made use of it. Smelle deflecting Johnny Conick's blueline drive into the open corner of the net.

Trailing 3-0, the Quebec champions finally hit the score sheet at 16:01 while Mason was sitting out a slashing penalty. Emberg lifted a loose puck over Childs who was flat on the ice.

Mason score the only goal of a dull third period batting in Frank Liscombe's pass with less than four minutes to play.

Loretta Young Not Worried About Roles

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, April 19 (AP) —Loretta Young has a fight on her hands trying to keep Oscar from running her life.

Queen of the Hollywood acting realm for one year, she was told she must choose her parts carefully, now that she has won an Academy Award.

"But being careful didn't win me the Academy Award," she protests. "Why should I change my ways just because of the Oscar?

"I want to continue doing things the way I used to. After all, you have to take chances. There is no such thing as knowing a picture is going to be good."

When I saw Loretta working as a psychology prof in "The Accused," she was still glowing over her Academy victory. She told of sitting up till dawn at the home of Dore Schary, the man who picked her for "The Farmer's Daughter" role after Ingrid Bergman refused it.

As for other changes wrought by Oscar, Loretta said her asking price for pictures hasn't been altered. It has gone up, but that was before she won the Award. She intends to continue her usual routine of three films every two years—unless something "sensational" comes up.

Margarine Issue Will Enliven Senate Debate

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP).— The Senate goes back into action Monday night after a 26-day Easter recess—and there may be fireworks right off the bat. First item on the order paper is scond reading of a contentious measure to lift the ban on oleomargarine.

The bill, sponsored by Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario) probably will not be discussed until Tuesday. If so, it may mean both Senate and Commons will be arguing margarine at the same time. A similar private bill by James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North) is scheduled for Commons attention Tuesday night.

It promises to be a busy week for Senate committees. The Transportation Committee will dig into the Canada Shipping Act amendments Tuesday. The next day the Trade Relations Committee will continue its study of the Geneva agreement.

The Banking and Resources Committee will meet Thursday, and the Divorce Committee, busiest of them all, will be meeting day after day.

Governor-General

The proposal that Prime Minister Mackenzie King become the first Canadian Governor-General of his own country has died away but probably will be revived in coming months.

The August convention that will nominate his successor as the Liberal Leader may become the forum for a resurgence of the suggestion, placed before the Commons some months ago by Bona Arsenault (L-Bonaventure).

It gained some support in private from Liberal members from various parts of the country, but never achieved notable, continuing public support.

AS REVOLUTIONISTS SACKED BOGOTA—Carrying weapons of every description, rioting and shouting mobs surge down a street in Bogota, Colombia, after setting fire to a street car. Below, flames lick through loot taken from a merchant's store in the riot-torn city after the looters had dropped it in the centre of the street. Although much of the rioting and bloodshed has ended, the entire country has been placed under martial law.

Plan To Combat Lamprey In Great Lakes

By MARILYN LAMBORN
Canadian Pres Staff Writer.

TORONTO, April 19 — (CP). — Justice for the vampire-like sea lamprey would be to pop the two-foot fish-parasite into the frying pan—and that is exactly what officials of the Ontario Department of Lakes and Forests would like to do to him.

They suspect the blood-sucking invader of Great Lakes waters of reducing the annual fish-catch, and their suspicions are shared by North Channel net-setters who say lampreys leave the lake trout dead or unmarketable.

But before the eel-like lamprey, alias Petromyzon Marinus, becomes a delicacy on Canadian menus, the Department wants to do a lot of research with a view of curtailing his harmful activity to lake trout and other species of Great Lakes fish.

The number of pounds of lake trout caught in Lake Huron, in Georgian Bay and the North Channel fell—3,797,975 in 1925 to 862,166 in 1945. Officials don't know how much of this reduction has been caused by sea lampreys, but they have been trying to find out for the last two years.

A questionnaire sent out to the Great Lakes fishermen presented sufficient alarming evidence to launch the government on experimental operations to determine the abundance of sea lampreys, their life history and the methods of control.

What they now know is almost balanced by what they must still find out. They are certain the lampreys originated in Lake Ontario and spread into Lake Huron through the Welland Canal in about 1921. Now they are appearing for the first time in eastern waters of Lake Superior.

Control By Trapping

With a row of dangerous looking teeth inside its sucking mouth, the bluish-colored lamprey grasps the side of the fish, works its way through the scales, and drains the blood. Tons of fish are caught alive with large scar holes in their bodies, but it is difficult to determine how many actually die from sea lamprey attacks.

Experts say the only feasible method of control is trapping in spawning grounds — usually a stream of clear, rapid water with a stony bottom. Favorite spawning ground is the Little Thessalon River, some 50 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. They can only guess why lampreys do not spawn to any extent in neighboring streams with similar characteristics to the Little Thessalon.

Information gathered in experimental operations shows that the lampreys spawn between May and June and run shortly after midnight. This coincides with the spawning period for suckers, another victim of the lampreys. In a catch of 10 tons of suckers, 75 per cent bore the deep scar of the lamprey's teeth. As the numbers of lampreys increased in waters, the number of suckers decreased.

Officials suggest that any experiments aimed at control of the lampreys should be extended to Lake Ontario, a potential supply source. They also feel that if there were some practical use for the parasites, their numbers would be reduced shortly. Although they are reported to be an established European delicacy and King Henry I is said to have died from eating too many, department officials won't stick out their necks too far in proclaiming them "delicious on rye bread."

A few years ago fresh lampreys were packed in ice and sent to a Canadian packing plant to be canned. The edibility was reported satisfactory, but more experiments were suggested.

Cottesloe Group Hears Fine Talk

COTTESLOE, April 19—(ENS)—The spring thankoffering service was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Gallaher, with Miss Tedford presiding and Mrs. Jas. Hawthorne, of Warsaw, guest speaker.

The scripture was read by Mrs. Thos. Webster and prayer was offered by Mrs. W. Forsyth.

Mrs. Hawthorne chose as her subject "The Life of Faith" studying it under three headings: (1) God's care for you; (2) God's need of you; (3) God's presence with you; quoting:

And right the day must win.
God,
"For right is right, since God is
To doubt would be disloyalty,
To falter would be sin."

Ending by quoting the text "The life that I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me."

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Hawthorne. Mrs. John Gallaher sang a solo. Miss Tedford offered the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. J. S. Kidd, when articles for bale will be packed. Mrs. Gallaher served lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed. The thankoffering was taken and dedicated by the president, and Mrs. Forsyth presented the temperance problem as outlined by advertisements. Members are to bring such advertisement to next meeting to be put in scrap-book.

Australia Debates Citizenship Bill

CANBERRA, Australia, April 16 (CP).—Legislation is before the federal parliament to confer Australian citizenship status on Australians. The bill has been approved by the federal cabinet.

By introducing the legislation, Australia is taking advantage of the British Nationality Act, which was brought into the House of Commons after the Canadian government had granted Canadian citizenship combined with maintenance of the status of British subject to Canadians.

The government has defined the conditions which give the applicant the right to become an Australian citizen. These conditions will be different to the Canadian conditions owing to the White Australia policy which bars the entry of all colored people into the Commonwealth.

Housing Project North Of City To Be Reviewed

Representatives of the Board of Education, Smith Township Council and Utilities Commission have been invited by the City Council to discuss with them tonight an integrated housing project north of the city.

The council has been consulted by several contractors who are interested in a housing operation north of the Brookdale property of Sands and Bateman. An optional procedure was purchase of the property by the city, and sale of the land, lot by lot, as houses are built on it. Aldermanic opinion has hardly been favorable to that method, but there has not been much objection to a housing plan similar to those in the south end of the city.

At any rate, as a preliminary to this new proposal the council decided to submit it to the other municipal bodies that would be directly affected by it. The land is in Smith, whose interests and wishes are to be consulted.

Additional houses in that area should it be taken into the city will likely impose a problem on the Board of Education. Queen Elizabeth School, in Smith township is said to be occupied to its capacity, and some development is required. And the Utilities Commission still have a large program of work on their hands.

"We felt that they should be asked to sit in with us and hear what is proposed," Mayor Ovens remarked to the Examiner today.

Teacher Supply Remains Same Inspectors Told

In speaking to district school inspectors and Normal school masters last Friday, Mr. H. E. Elborn, inspector of Norami schools for the Department of Education, stated that the supply of elemenary school teachers would likely remain about the same for the next year. Provincial Normal schools were up slightly in enrolment this year, but both regular Normal courses and shorter summer courses could hardly supply enough teachers for usual yearly replacements. In speaking of possible enroiment in next year, Mr. Elborn noted that there were 300 fewer pupils in the Grade XIII classes of secondary schools this year and that the veteran enrolments would drop considerably. On the other hand, improvements in salaries for elementary teachers might attract others to the profession.

The one day session was addressed also by Mr. George Pearson, assistant superintendent of elementary education, and Dr. C. D. Gaitskell, provincial director of art. The morning session included a panel discussion and demonstration of primary reading methods by Normal school students and a a review of modern tendencies in art. The afternoon session permitted inspectors and masters in attendance to hear from departmental officials, discuss school ground improvements and school libraries.

District inspectors in attendance were: A. A. Archibald, Whitby; T. R. McEwen, Oshawa; H. Bolinbroke, Uxbridge; K. O. Birkin, Peterborough; W. H. Carlton, Cobourg; E. C. Anderson, Lindsay; C. W. Lees, Lindsay; A. F. Brown, Picton; A. A. Martin, Brighton; R. H. Macklem, Belleville; A. W. McGuire, Tweed; H. H. Langford, Napanee; A. Stouffer, Minden; L. Kells, Belleville; K. S. Wightman, Peterborough; W. A. Hayden, Toronto; C. P. Matthews, Kingston.

Minister Given Protection Following Phone Call

Despite the telephoned, blunt threat that if he "delivered his address on the subject announced he would be shot in the back," the Rev. Walter S. Crone, pastor of the Church of the Open Bible, delivered a sermon about the Italian elections Sunday night. There was no disturbance in the church, which was jammed with a record crowd of close to 500.

The announcements of the Sunday night service in Saturday's Examiner intimated that the clergyman would discuss the Italian elections in the light of the prophecies of the Bible. The first question listed in the advertisement of the service was: "Will Italy be Communist-controlled?"

The threatening message was received by Mr. Crone about nine o'clock Saturday night.

The voice was cold and calm, he reported. It had quietly advised him that he would be killed if the address were given as scheduled.

City police escorted the minister to and from a morning radio broadcast without incident.

At the evening service, when the election discussion was to be delivered, one uniformed member of the city force and two plainclothesmen mingled with the crowd. They reported no suspicious actions anywhere.

The phone call, it is believed, may have been the work of a crank and not necessarily connected with those opposed to the decision of the sermon—that the Bible can be read to prove that Italy will not vote Communist.

Two Men Seek Nomination CCF Convention

With the provincial elections called for June 7 major party organizations for Peterborough Riding are preparing to launch their campaigns.

Two men who have definitely declared themselves as standing for the nomination are John Beggs, president of the Quaker Oats local of the UPWA and Jack Morton, a member of the CGE local of the UEW

In the federal field, only CCF man to definitely declare his intention to stand for the House seat is Howard Miles, auctioneer of the city. The Liberals will enter the contest party officials say. A nomination convention will be held next week. As yet no candidates have announced their intentions of seeking nomination, however several names are being mentioned.

Silence London Factory Whistles

LONDON, April 18.—(CP). — Police Saturday cracked down on the blowing of steam whistles in the city.

One factory was ordered to suspend use of its whistle immediately while others were warned that a city bylaw prohibits the use of steam whistles.

Action followed a series of complaints about the whistles, one of them being voiced by Magistrate Donald B. Menzies in city court Friday. The magistrate said the blast of the whistle from a nearby factory disturbed the thoughts of those in the courtroom.

Scores of factories in the city use the steam-whistle method of summoning employees to work and to signal the end of operations either at noon or at the end of the day.

A city bylaw says, in part, "No person shall blow or cause to be blown within the city of London the steam whistle of any stationary engine as a signal for the commencing and suspension of work." The bylaw points out that whistles may be used to sound fire alarm.

United Electical Workers Establishing CCF Clubs

CCF members from the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America (CCL-CIO) set up a "UEW-CCF Unity Committee" at a meeting held here over the week-end. The new group has as its aims the establishment of CCF Clubs with membership drawn from various plants organized with the UE in Ontario.

CCF members from Ward St. GE, Toronto; Ferranti Electric, Mt. Dennis; Westinghouse, Hamilton; Hoover, Hamilton; English Electric, St. Catharines; Phillips Electric, Brockville; and GE, Peterborough, stated their agreement with the proposals.

Jack Morton, a post president of Local 524, Peterborough, on being elected chairman, said: "With the recent announcement of the date of the provincial election, it becomes more than ever important to immediately mobilize all our forces to elect a government acceptable to labor. This committee aims to assist in the UE policy of 'electing a CCF government,' and hopes to work in harmony with the other groups having the same aims, within or outside of the trade unions. Our union has only recently declared its electoral support of the CCF.

"Many of us in the UE have felt that our union has lagged behind the rest of Canadian labor in taking a positive stand in favor of political action. Our union has made many worthwhile gains for our membership in Canada and we can now make a very important contribution to the election of a CCF Government."

Speaking following his election as secretary-treasurer of the new committee, Joseph Bacon, chief steward of Local 529, St. Catharines, said:

"The CCF has earned Labor's support. It is the only party in Canada which has agreed to implement the program and policy of labor, as expressed by both the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

VANDALISM

Perhaps the thoughtless action of a small boy in smashing and mutilating trees with a hand axe does not come under the head of vandalism, but the results are the same. Some youngster in the Carlisle Ave.-Munro Ave. area cut down five lovely pines and a spruce on top of Armour Hill recently, and used a saw to remove the limbs from another which he left standing. Constable McDonald of the city force investigated the damage and police are new checking to locate the offender.

Claims Profit On Carrots Less Than Cent

"The profit on a pound of imported carrots isn't enough to pay for the paper bag to put them in," said a corner grocer to The Examiner today.

"The ceiling price is 10c and the cost is now up to 9.3c, so you can see for yourself how little there is in this business for us. Carrots and cabbage were both to be bought by wholesalers at five cents a pound, but it didn't stay at that level very long. Producers across the line demanded more and got it. As long as our wholesalers continue to buy carrots, I suppose we'll have to help them out; but if they asked me about it I'd tell them to bring in no more. Just forget it."

More Butter To Be Had

The supply of butter has increased behind retail counters. An independent grocer said: "I got three extra boxes at the week-end. This means I' mnot hiding any under the counter to dole it out. It is going out to my customers as they ask for it."

Clarence E. Lackner, director of the dairy branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said recently: "With butter still at the bottom of the price structure for dairy products, only surplus from the milk producing sections will find its way into butter production. Indications in some sections show a switch to milk plants as soon as the busy season starts. It is expected that the tight supply situation for butter will be greatly removed after the middle of April. Cream quality has ben exceptionally good all winter, with correspondingly high quality current make butter being made."

Castors Hand Raiders A 4-3 Defeat

TSHAWA, April 19 — (CP). — The Dolbeau Castors, Quebec champions, defeated Georgetown Raiders 4-3 Saturday night in the opener of a best-of-five series for the Eastern Canada intermediate hockey championship. It was the first loss on Oshawa ice for the Ontario Hockey Association intermediate titleholders this season.

The second game will be played here Monday night, after which the teams travel 800 miles to St. Joseph D'Alma to conclude the series.

Max Bradbury opened the scoring on a play set up by Storey and Gibson to give Georgetown an edge but a penalty to Birtwhistle, veteran rear guard bulwark of the OHA champs, gave the Castors their opportunity. Pruneau, 19-year-old stickhandling smoothie, moved in with two quick goals, Hebert, their rugged defence star aided on both tallies.

A few minutes after Bellemare topped off a nifty three way passing attack with a sizzling shot to make it 4-1.

The OHA titlists came back strongly in the second period and Max Bradbury got his second goal, with Gibson and Birtwhistle helping out, but three minutes later Lawrence Blackburn got back on the ice and combined with Pruneau to set up Paul Tremblay for a Dolbeau tally.

In the third period Georgetown came within a goal of tying the score, when Storey's shot hit the goalpost and spun inside for the third goal.

EDMONTON, April 19 — (CP). — Edmonton Flyers will represent the west in Canada's senior hockey playoffs for the Allan Cup against Hamilton Tigers or Ottawa Senators.

The Albertans earned the honor Saturday by defeating Winnipeg Flyers 3-2, their fourth straight victory after an opening game loss in a best-of-seven series for the western senior championship.

It was a hard game for the vastly-improved Manitobans to lose. Behind 3-0 midway through the game, they scored a goal in each of the second and third periods, waging an all-out but unavailing offensive in the final frame.

Bing Merluk scored twice for the winners, Doug Lane adding the third. Paul Platz, flown from Winnipeg for the Edmonton fixtures, scored both Winnipeg goals.

Winnipeg's only triumph in the series was a 2-0 shutout in the opening game. Subsequent encounters showed the Manitobans sadly outclassed by 8-4, 7-3 and 11-0 counts.

Winnipeg netminder Hal Thompson was injured late in the second period. He twisted his back diving for a loose puck and aggravated an earlier injury. He was replaced by Lionel Wright.

Lane opened the scoring in the first period with a waist-high, 40-foot drive on a pass from Morey Rimstad. Merluk added the second on a pass from Doug Anderson early in the next, while midway through the same second he scored again after Platz had been penalized for boarding him.

Platz return in the same period to score from a scramble while Edmonton's Bud Manpherson was off for boarding.

Platz scored again in the third period on a brilliant rush.

Thinks Yankees Pennant Team

VIRGINIA BEACH, Fla., April 19.—(AP).—Since there's a good chunk of mileage between this resort and any major league baseball cities, this looks like a good spot to indulge in the sports writers' spring pastime of picking the pennant winners....Any fans who object to the selections can't throw brickbats this far....At that, it's fairly safe this time because this observer, on the basis of early spring observations, is obliged to string along with the majority in picking the Yankees and Cardinals.

The Yanks look like a better club that 1947 world champs, especially in pitching, while the impression gained at Sarasota was thta Joe McCarthy may have a fine collection of players for the Red Sox but he hasn't got a ball team yet.

There's some temptation to choose the other Boston club, principally because of Billy Southworth's leadership, but there are too many 'ifs' attached to the Braves. We'll stick with St. Louis as a sounder, more experienced club.

Ex-Model Dead

OHA Executive Turns Down Special Player Contract

TORONTO, April 19. — (CP). —Ontario Hockey Association executive turned thumbs down on a special player contract proposed by President George Panter at an executive meeting here Saturday.

Panter drafted the wording of the contract, a variation of the one suggested by National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell, to carry notice of OHA intention about it to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association meeting here this week.

Campbell had sugested to the CAHA that its senior players sign a contract binding them to one club. If a player from any club was taken up by an NHL team, the amateur team would receive $5,000 from the NHL. If taken up by an American Hockey League team it would receive $3,500 and a smaller sum from any lesser professional league.

The $31,000 which the NHL now grants the CAHA would not be given under these conditions.

Majority of the Senior A and Junior A club delegates expressed fear that their young athletes would be regarded as professionals.

Voted Against It

All senior A teams represented, Kitchener, Owen Sound, Hamilton, Stratford and the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, represented by President Max Silverman, voted against acceptance in principle of the suggestion.

Junior clubs were undecided on merits of adopting the contract, with four in favor, four against, one undecided and two not represented.

In favor were Windsor, Oshawa, Guelph and the NOHA.

Opposed were Stratford, Barrie, St. Catharines and Toronto Young Rangers. Galt was undecided and did not vote, while Toronto Marlboros and Toronto St. Michael's were not represented.

One of the objections to the contract was that the teams might be regarded as professionals and subject to the Federal 20 per cent amusement tax.

"I was going to suggest that I think there is reasonable hope we might be able to pay a 10 per cent tax to the Provincial government on tickets over 50 cents and let this be applied to hospitalization or some other worthy cause," said Panter

"I've repeatedly said you are not being forced to accept this contract," he added. "Clubs which wish to can use it, others are not compelled to do so. It is merely a matter of standardizing things so that clubs and players are protected."

In the proposed contract, teams would pay a player so much per week or find "fair and reasonable employment" up to 15 players each, a pool of all the available players who have not been listed will be formed; the best of which will go to the weakest team. In this way much keener competition would be provided which makes crowd-pleasing games.

A motion by B. McComb called for all players in the Town League to be residents of Seymour township, and must take part in three league games to be eligible to play in the play-off. The motion carried.

Lionel Holmes and Russel Ayrhart were in favour of building bleachers and charging admission to them but no action was taken on the matter. Mr. Ayrhart estimated the cost at $700 to $1,000.

Mr. Holmes also proposed the Public Utilities Commission be asked to install a set of flood lights to illuminate deep centre field. However, most of those present thought there was sufficient lighting installed to illuminate that section of the field if it were focused properly.

The four teams will be sponsored by Smith's Billiards, Maybee's Billiards, the Campbellford Cloth Mill. Junior Farmers team have yet to get a sponsor.

The opening date was tentatively set at May 24, as were the game nights, Tuesdays and Fridays, and the starting time 7.30.

C'ford Softball Season Planned

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19 — (ENS)—At the annual meeting of the Campbellford Softball League Friday the executive officers for 1948 were elected. A discussion took place on ways of having teams ready to start games on time.

W. McComb called the meeting to order and was appointed president for 1948. Other appointments were: Ernie Ayrhart, honorary president; L. Shillinglaw, vice president; Howard Wilson, secretary and E. Craighead, treasurer.

Last year, fans were repeatedly kept waiting for the games to start and as a result public interest dwindled it was reported.

Paul O'Sullivan proposed that a bond of $25 be posted by each team, either by the sponsors or by the players, five dollars of which would be forfeited to the club treasury by the offending team or teams. As only one sponsor was present the matter was laid over until a later meeting.

Six team were entered last season and it was decided to have four this year. In this way stronger teams of more equal calibre could be organized in the Intermediate B class.

Another means to equalize the teams was suggested by W. A. Wordley. Representatives from the four teams were present and Mr. Wardley suggested they each pick 12 men and turn names in to the executive by April 24. Then to bring the teams

Price Stability No Worry To Officials

By The Canadian Press

Much current thinking has been haunted by the thought that there was a recession after the First World War, and that history must repeat itself.

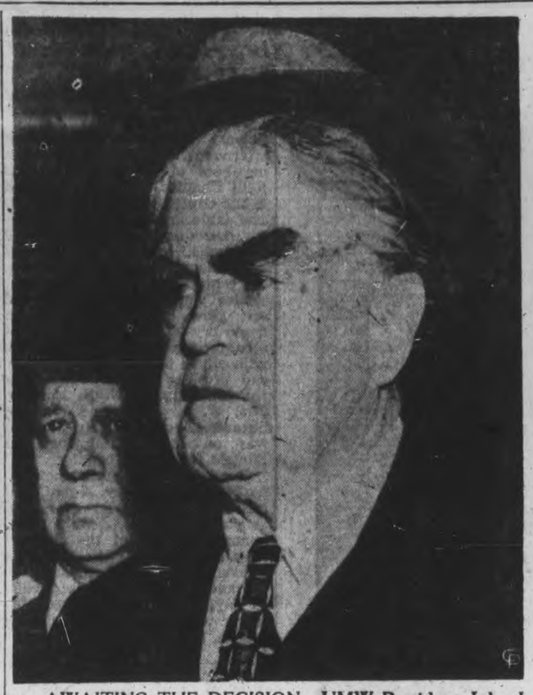
Those who keep in mind the nature of that recession are not unduly disturbed, but unfortunately the word frequently gets confused with the depression of the 30s which was a different thing.

For those who wish to read the future by the past, the current issue of Canadian Statistical Review, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, has some comment. Among other things, it seems to support predictions that the general economy is operating at a new level. It says in part:

"One outstanding feature of the period after the First World War was the remarkable stability of prices following the sharp recession in 1921. During the eight years from 1922 to 1929 the cost-of-living index did not vary more than about three per cent in either direction from its average level.

"The wholesale price index, though slightly more variable, was also quite stable...

"Because prices had also been fairly stable in the period immediately before 1914, it is possible to give an accurate measure of the extent to which prices rose as a result of the First World War.



"Comparison of the average level of prices for the period 1922-26 with the average 1910-14 shows that the cost-of-living index stabilized at a level slightly over 50 per cent higher than pre-war and the wholesale price index levelled out at about 55 per cent above its pre-war average. Not even in 1933 in the depths of the depression, did either the cost-of-living index or wholesale price index fall below their levels in the period just before the First World War."

Partially Lift Ban

NEW YORK, April 19—(AP).—The American Federation of Musicians (AFL) will spend $1,736,721 during the next nine months to provide free music for public service projects. Federation President Petrillo said yesterday the music will be presented in veterans' hospitals and other institutions in the United States and Canada.

Four Children Burned

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 19—(AP).—Four children were burned to death Saturday in an explosion and flash fire that demolished a farm southeast of Oklahoma City.

AWAITING THE DECISION—UMW President John L. Lewis is shown as he left U.S. district court in Washington after Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough deferred until Monday, a ruling on the guilt or innocence of Lewis and the United Mine Workers for contempt of court in connection with the 29-day soft coal strike. Justice department officials said the government is prepared to make recommendations on the punishment of Lewis, if he is found guilty. A verdict of guilty would make the UMW president liable to a fine, imprisonment, or both.

Five Provinces Expected Hold Elections

By The Canadian Press

Five provincial general elections, involving close to 10,000,000 Canadians, are expected in Canada this year.

Only one has been called so far—that in Ontario, set for June 7—but its announcement Friday touched off election talk in all the other provinces where balloting appears likely in 1948.

The provinces which expect no vote this year are Prince Edward Island, which had a provincial general election last December, and Nova Scotia, Manitoba and British Columbia, all of which have legislatures elected in October, 1945.

The decision of Ontario Premier Drew's Progresive Conservatives administration to go to the country for a vote of confidence in its proposed $800,000,000 expansion program stirred speculation in Quebec that Premier Duplessis would call an election for approximately the same date.

Grudge Against Ottawa

Issues in Quebec are expected to revolve around the Quebec administration's long-standing grudges against the Federal government, which Premier Duplessis has charged with trying to invade the provincial rights field.

Best guess on the Quebec election date is June 9.

An election has been predicted for New Brunswick ever since the provincial house started its 1948 session last March 2. The date most mentioned is July 15, although Premier J. B. McNair insists publicly that he knows nothing about the possibility of an election.

The five-year term of Saskatchewan's CCF government normally would expire in 1949 but political observers in Regina say four years is the usual term in that province and consider an election this year 'almost certain'. Unless a late spring makes postponement to fall desirable, the vote may be held in June.

No issues have appeared yet in Alberta where speculation has it that an election will be held in August. Premier E. C. Manning's government was elected in August 1944.

New Books At Public Library

The Amateur and the Theatre by Bonamy Dobree

A reprint of the lecture given by Professor Dobree to the Summer School at the Civic Playhouse, Bradford, England. He discusses the function of the amateur in the theatrical life of the community and maintains that an amateur performance is, and should be, different from a professional performance, but in its own way just as good. A most fascinating little book for anyone at all interested in the theatre.

The Twenty Year's Crisis 1919-1939 by E. H. Carr

A study of the period between the two wars, written Professor Carr says in his introduction "with the aim of counteracting the glaring and dangerous defect of nearly all thinking, both academic and popular, about international politics in English-speaking countries from 1919 to 1939—the almost total neglect of the factor of power." He discusses power and morality in international politics and the relationship between politics and law. The sub-title is "An introduction to the study of international relations."

Communism and the Conscience of the West by Fulton J. Sheen

Monsignor Sheen regards Communism "as both an effect and judgment on western bourgeois civilization," the decline of which he attributes to "historical liberalism." "Communism," he says, "is related to our materialistic civilization as putrefaction is to disease.' In his opinion, the crux of the problem of Communism is not economic or political but religious, and his solution is a return to the Catholic philosophy.

Medieval Panorma by C. G. Coulton

A brilliant picture of life in England in the period between the Norman Conquest and the Reformation. Medieval life is described in all its aspetcs; village and town, home life and the church, universities and the court.

Unpopular Opinions by Dorothy L. Sayers

A selection of essays on a wide range of subjects from Christian morality to the effect of the Gulf Stream upon the English character; from manly men to Aristotle on Detective Fiction A third of the book consists of an analysis of the private lives of Sherlock Homes and Doctor Watson done in the manner of "higher criticism." Questions are examined such as where Sherlock Holmes went to college and the first name of Dr. Watson.

Mirabeau by Antonina Vallentin

A biography of the great 18th century French statesman, who was a highly influential figure in the French Revolution. It describes his early life, much of it spent in prison, his series of violent love affairs and then his life as one of the most brilliant politicians of his day, whose advice to Louis XVI, if it had been taken, might have altered the course of the Revolution.

Baudelaire - Rimbaud - Verlaine Edited by J. M. Bernstein

A selection of translation of poetry and prose poems of the three French poets, including the Flowers of Evil of Baudelaire and, A Season in Hell of Rimbaud. In the 80 years since his death, Baudelaire's reputation has continued to grow until today he is regarded as one of the greatest of modern European poets. Arthur Rimbaud and Paul Verlaine were both greatly influenced by Charles Baudelaire and are two of the outstanding French poets of the latter half of the 19th century.

A Canadian classic, which was originally written to discourage prospective emigrants from facing the hardships of life in Canada. Mrs. Moodie came to the Cobourg district in 1932 with her husband, J. W. Dunbar Moodie, and moved later to Lakefield. The period covered in the semi-diary is 1832-1839 and it gives an accurate picture of pioneering conditions and life, which Mrs. Moodie most certainly did not enjoy.

Say Grain Shipments Sabotaged By CSU

MONTREAL, April 19.—(CP).—J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, president of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, in a statement last night charged that the rival Canadian Seamen's Union (CIO) was "sabotaging the shipment of grain to Europe" by trying to prevent sailing of CLSU-manned ships from Great Lakes port and will continue to leave despite efforts by Communists and CSU to sabotage the shipments of grain to Europe," said Sullivan.

Games, Fashions Please 250 At Bridgenorth

More than 250 guests attended the Bridgenorth Home and School Association's euchre party and showing of fashions, old and new, Friday evening, in Pine Pavilion, and were unanimous in their approval of a program packed with enjoyment.

Mr. Al Crowe, who was in charge of games, introduced the president, Mrs. Clifford Hartman, who extended a gracious welcome and thanked all who had helped in any way with the successful evening, and especially Mr. Herb Payne, who loaned the hall for this occasion.

The fashion show, under very capable supervision of Mrs. Edward Whitehill and her committee, was an outstanding feature. Mr. Gordon Carman acted as commentator and gave a splendid account of each gown, adding his own humorous quips to keep the audience in a gay mood. He also entertained with several pleasing vocal selections.

With every detail retained to perfection, the old gowns of rustling taffeta, gleaming satin, santoy, lawn and poplin were enchanting. Some had lace or net over-dresses, others were trimmed with sequins or jet, and very high boned necklines which kept "ye olde time" lady's head high were worn. Tiny bonnets with satin bows tied under the chin and gorgeous ostrich plumes waving tently were reminiscent of the olden days.

Modern dresses shown were of taffeta, net and cottons and suits were of gabardine and woollens, all very attractive and smart.

Mrs. Elizabeth Telford and Mr. Tony Siedal completed the fashion picture with suitable musical selections on the piano and violin.

Models for the evening were Misses Gerry Dunford, Ruth Mills, Doris Fowler, Dorothy White, Lois Murray, Marjorie Forsythe, Florence McKay and Sally Anne Hartman, Mesdames R. Jopling, T. Brioux, R. Cormier, D. Findlay, G. Ray, L. Mills, G. Heard, J. Hardill, J. Pettersone, A. Crowe, E. Ball and J. Jopling.

Presentation of euchre prizes were made by Mrs. Whitehill and Mr. Crowe. Winners were: First, Mrs. S. McManus; second, Mrs. M. Dobson; consolation, Mrs. S. Trude; gentlemen's first, Mr. Jim White; second, Vince Anthony; consolation, Mr. Louis Fry.

Lucky draws were won by Miss O. Haskill and Mrs. M. McConnache.

Children who attended played games of ping-pong, croquinole and checkers. Prize-winners were Sylvia Nicholls, Phyllis Heard, Harry Heard, Garry Hardill, Billy Lawrence and Don Bell. The gifts to the children were donated by Mrs. Hartman.

James Scollard Wed at Whitby

A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Roman Catholic rectory, Whitby, Saturday afternoon, April 10, when the Rev. D. V. Hickey united in marriage Nora Margaret Gouldburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Gouldburn, of Whitby, and James Miran Scollard, son of Mrs. Scollard and the late Wm. Y. Scollard, of Peterborough.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of light blue crepe, matching halo hat, and corsage of Talisman roses. She was attended by Miss Anna Marie Scollard of Peterborough, sister of the groom, who wore rose crepe and corsage of cream roses. George Edward Gouldburn, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

At the reception, held at the bride's home, 1608 Dufferin St., the bride's' mother received the guests wearing navy crepe and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a grey suit and corsage of yellow roses. Spring flowers decorated the home.

For a wedding trip to Cleveland the bride wore a grey top coat, brown hat and accessories and a brown hand-made leather purse. Mr. and Mrs. Scollard will reside in Ottawa.

Five Attend Thelma Batley At Park St. Church Nuptials

Spring flowers and fern were the setting for a pretty wedding Saturday at Park St. Baptist church, when the Rev. E. J. Whan united in marriage Thelma Ileen Batley and Anthony Joseph DeCarlo. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Batley, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls DeCarlo, all of Peterborough. Mr. Adam Hawley at the organ played traditional music and during the signing of the register Mrs. George Batley, aunt of the bride, sang "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and had chosen a bridal gown with long-sleeved bodice fashioned of white brocaded organdy-taffeta and a full gathered skirt of tulle illusion. A diamond and pearl neckpiece with cameo centre highlighted the neckline. Her full-length skirt fell in double folds from a crown of tulle and she carried a cascade of red roses with garednia centre.

Miss Margaret Batley was maid of honor for her sister, frocked in yellow dotted organdy. Miss Shirley Garner and Mrs. George Zacchrow were bridesmaids wearing similar dresses of blue, all fashioned with floor-length full skirts and bustle backs on fitted tops with short sleeves. Each wore mittens of the same material and heart-shaped headdresses tied at the back wth matching satin bows, and they carried rings of snapdragon and iris. Mary Jane Zacchrow was a dainty flower-girl in frilled pink satin elbow-length mittens to match and frilled ribbon headdress. She carried a nosegay of sweet peas. John Todd, the ring-bearer, was her escort, and he wore a long pant suit of blue with white shirt and ribbon bow tie. The groom was attended by Mr. George Zacchrow and ushers were Mr. Donald Batley and Mr. Tony Titus.

For the reception afterward Club Aragon was decorated with lovely flowers and more than 100 guests were entertained. Mrs. Batley received, wearing a grey suit, black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. DeCarlo assisted, attired in black crepe with flowered top, black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to Toronto and other points the bride changed to a red gabardine suit with matching tam, and wore grey accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. DeCarlo will live at 397 Downie St.

Selected Flower Shades Effective Tea Table Setting

Exquisite bouquets of spring flowers highlighted a delightful afternoon tea Saturday when members of Lieut. Col. Agnes Neill Chapter, IODE, entertained in the Green Room of the YWCA. The table arrangement of purple iris, daffodils and pink and mauve snapdragon in a low crystal bowl was reflected from a circular mirror centrepiece and the beautiful shades were heightened by the soft glow of yellow tapers in triple crystal holders. A cloth of ecru lace covered the tea table, with silver tea services at either end presided over by Mrs. Roy Hutchinson, Mrs. N. H. Hamley, Mrs. W. E. Curry and Mrs. A. Shearer. Another lovely bouquet was on the mantelpiece and flanked by lighted candles.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Mary Curry, regent, and Miss Isabel Shearer, secretary, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Turner, honorary regent of the chapter. Miss June Finnie was acting as treasurer for the afternoon.

Piano selections by Miss Eleanor Taylor and Miss Mildred McIntyre were much enjoyed during the tea hour.

Refreshments were served by Misses Wilma Hunt, June Ballard, Dorothy Franks, Helen Mathais, Eleanor Taylor, Mrs. Harold Shaw, Mrs. Lloyd Routley, Mrs. Rod Blackwell, Mrs. S. R. Adamson and Mrs. Wm. Messervey. Miss Corinne Coones was in charge of replenishing plates, assisted by Miss Dorothy Allen, Mrs. Gordon Vallery and Mrs. A. Marshall.

Pretty decorations of yellow and mauve were on the table and the box which held tickets on an electric tea kettle with Misses Betty Meacher and Margaret Quinlan in charge of the raffle. The winner was declared by Miss Curry when Mrs. Turner drew the ticket purchased by Mrs. Lockhart of 19 Charles St., Lafayette, Quebec.

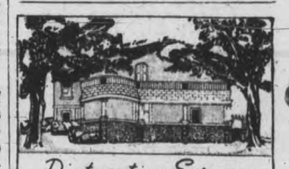
At a similarly decorted booth Miss Eleanor Jobbitt was in charge of the display of delicious home cooking, and Miss Mildred McIntyre assisted with the sales.

Misses Dorothy Allen and Nancy Collins were general conveners of the event, and the table arrangements were done by Miss Shearer.

Marjorie O'Donoghue Weds Francis Behan Saturday

Immaculate Conception Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday morning when Marjorie Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. O'Donoghue, and Francis Behan, son of Mr. John Behan, exchanged vows. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Killen. Bouquets of roses and daffodils decorated the altar table. Mrs. C. O'Donnell played wedding music and accompanied Mrs. D. Campanaro who sang "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Marie".

The bride's gown was an original model of white transparent velvet with the full skirt extending in a long graceful train. Floral buds of the same material outlined a deep yoke beneath the round neckline the fitted bodice had long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil was of scalloped net and caught to a similarly designed headdress. She carried a bouquet of red roses and was given in marriage by her father.



Miss Margaret Behan, sister of the groom, as maid of honor was in a frock of blue net over matching taffeta and wore mittens to match. Miss Gertrude O'Donoghue was her sister's bridesmaid in a bustled full-skirted dress of pink nylon with fitted top, short sleeves and elbow-length gloves of the same. Each wore a shoulder veil caught to a wreath of flowers, and their bouquets were of sweet peas and roses.

Mr. Joseph Behan was groomsman for his brother. Ushers were Jerry and Robert O'Donoghue, brothers of the bride.

The reception was held at Club Aragon and for the occasion Mrs. O'Donoghue wore a tailored dress of blue crepe with matching accessories and corsage of red roses. Mrs. Behan, step-mother of the groom, also received, and was attired in navy, wearing shoulder bouquet of pink roses.

The bride's travelling ensemble was a suit of navy combining a full skirt with loose style short coat. Her halo had and gloves were pink and other accessories navy.

Following a wedding trip to Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Behan will take up residence in their new home on Arndon Ave.

Woman Wants Suitor's Wife To Surrender Her Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a well thought of young woman in my thirties and am in love with a married man whose wife refuses to divorce him. His wife is a respected and nice person, but I feel she is only a hag to continue living with the man I want. She knows about our affairs, but seems utterly unmindful of it and continues to hold her head high, and she and her sons ignore me with perfect graciousness.

I make insulting remarks about her to my friends and tell things about her that are not true, but I know my friends don't believe what I say, and this humiliates me.

Dorothy Dix

Will you please write an article telling this woman that if she loves her husband as she pretends she does, she will divorce him, break up her home and go out of town and live with her married son so her husband can marry me and we can enjoy a happy and wholesome life together.

DESPERATE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you think that you can establish a "happy and wholesome marriage by stealing another woman's husband, breaking up her home and half-orphaning her children, you are making a fatal mistake. It is one of the things that can't be done, because those who go into marriage and make a success of it have to have clean hands and a clear conscience.

Fooling Yourself

If you are in your thirties, you have cut your wisdom teeth and you know well enough how the world looks on the husband-snatchers. It rates them among the most dangerous of petty thieves. Nor do wives see any beautiful romance in their husbands' little affairs with other women. So you deceive yourself if you think you are still admired and respected. Everybody has your number and it isn't good for admission into the best homes.

And your idea that it is the duty of a wife to present her husband to you on a silver salver because you happen to fancy him, and give up her home because you want it, and even move out of the town she lives in and where her children are, because it will be less embarrassing to you, is so fantastic as to be funny. Just think of what a mess the world would, be in if it were filled with the kind of "happy and wholesome" homes that you plan to establish!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a happily married woman with two fine children and a good husband. Everything is okay with me, except that I have Ma-in-law trouble. My husband's mother has come to live with us and she cannot speak one word of English, and she claims that if I love my husband I should learn to speak his language.

My husband and I continually fight about this, for he thinks it is a fine thing for people and especially children, to learn different languages. Please tell me what you think I should do. Should I sit pat and let Mother-in-law jabber her own lingo, or should I tell her to go and live somewhere else, as she has an allowance and is not dependent on us? Or should I just ignore her? Maybe I am selfish.

MRS. P. S.

ANSWER: Whether you are selffish or not, you are certainly making a very great mistake and one that is going to react badly on your children by forbidding them to learn a foreign language.

Consider the situation from this point of view—that the children's grandmother is offering them a great advantage in wanting to teach them her language, and you are blocking their way to receive it. Every foreign language is another tool with which a man or woman has to work, and the more they have, the better chances of success they have. It is a matter of dollars and cents to be a fluent linguist. I have known many men and women of very ordinary abilities otherwise, who held positions of high importance simply because they spoke in many tongues.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young man and recently I took a young lady to a college game. During the evening when I noticed her shiver I asked if she were cold. To my amazement she answered: "No, just lonesome."

Now what is wrong with me to get such a reaction, and what can I do about it?

IN A QUANDARY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is a poser, but evidently the young lady didn't fall for your line of attractions. My diagnosis of the situation is that your love-making wasn't hot enough. She wasn't interested in your telling her all about what a fine record you are making in college. She wanted to be told how beautiful and wonderful she is, and how you adore her. No girl ever gets lonesome as long as she has the spotlight turned on her.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Pardon me for troubling you, but last year (in June I think), you had an article on how to make Maraschino cherries.

I tried it and they turned out allright, but the colour was spotty in places. I had to use fruitkepe to bleach them as the ingredients mentioned were unobtainable locally. I tried most of the druggists in town. They had never heard of Sodium Acid sulphite and sodium besulphite crystals and Poinceau Red.

Would you tell me where these items are obtainable. I enjoy your column every week as I get many useful recipes from it.

Thanking you for a reply before the cherry season. (Mrs.) I. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have answered your letter by mail.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: On one of your menus—not your reducing menus!—you mentioned Banana Chiffon Pie, but did not give the recipe I would love that. I would also very much like to have the recipe for Banana Cake—we like bananas in any form and I think we should serve the fruits and vegetables we can get as often as possible now,' don't you?

Verona.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Indeed we should, Verona, and I can vouch for these two recipes.

Banana Chiffon Pie

One cup mashed bananas, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup orange juice, ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon grated orange rind, 1-3 teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, 3 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon gelatine, 1-3 cup cold water, 3 beaten egg whites, 1 baked pie shell. Mix together the mashed bananas, juices, rinds, salt, sugar, and yolks. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring. Stir in the gelatin which has been soaked in the cold water 5 minutes, and stir until dissolved. Fold in beaten whites, pour into shell. Chill uniti set.

Banana Cake

I like them in it, but they may be left out if desired.

Two and one-quarter cups sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup mashed ripe bananas (about 2 or 3), 2 tablespoons milk. Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream the shortening very well, then gradually add sugar while creaming. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating until fluffy, between additions. Add nuts and beat. Add vanilla to milk. Sift in the flour mixture alternately with the bananas and milk-mixture, beating well between additions until smooth. Bake in greased and floured square cake pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 1 hour.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Please send me your recipe for Cheese custards that could be used in place of meat for dinner. My sister and I both read your recipes every week. Sister Ann.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER

Individual Cheese Custards

One cup small bread cubes, 2 cups milk, 3 eggs wel-beaten, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon mustard, dash of cayenne, 1½ tablespoons butter, 1¼ cups grated processed cheese, 1 tablespoon either minced chives or olives. Soak the bread in the milk 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and beat with spoon until well mixed. Pour into 6 large greased custard cups, and stand in large pan of warm water. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 60 minutes or until custard is set.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 20

It is a day for directing all the energetic and initiative on desired plans of major importance. Such must be tackled with energy, skill, constructive ability and well-executed techniques, which are quite likely to run up against a difficult snag or impasse of tenacious reistance. Flying off the handle, attempting to force issues by main force or unwise changes could prove disruptive, as could unfair criticism or rancour. There is much progress and production for calm and planned action.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have the augury of a progressive and productive year, with growth and expansion of a new buildup of major significance. This against disruptive and unexpected forces, upsetting plans and blocking constructive work, largely by intemperate words and deeds, acrid criticism and enmity, with lack of amiability or efforts for friendly co-operation for point benefit and progress. Moderation and good will have more power than aggressive or rash moves.

A child born on this day has spiendid abilities and energy for success and exceptional expansion in life, but its over-strenuous tactics might work against its highest aims.

Fatal Industrial Accidents 10 P.C. Lower

TORONTO, April 19 (CP). — Ten per cent fewer fatal industrial accidents were reported in Ontario last year than in 1946, but other accidents were up 21 per cent, James Preston of Stratford said to-day in his president's report to the annual meeting of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

Other reports prepared for delivery to the meeting included one by General Manager R. B. Morley on safety inspections and another by H. V. Kenerson of Paris on accident causes. T. A. Rice of Hamilton, vice-president of the International Harvester Company of Canada, Ltd., told of safety activities at his plant.

Mr. Preston said fatal accidents last year numbered 396 and other accidents 168,768. Compensation paid by the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board amounted to $17,760,743, an 8 per cent increase over 1946, and the highest amount ever paid in one year.

During the year the number of companies seeking IAPA help in reducing accidents increased 15 per cent. Accident prevention courses were held by the University of Toronto and Carleton College in Ottawa. A course will be held in Hamilton later this year.

Mr. Morley reported 20 IAPA inspectors last year made 9,183 inspections of the nearly 18,000 member companies in Ontario in addition to special calls. In all, they made 15,588 recommendations for safety measures.

Workers between 20 and 30 years of age are the most likely to be injured, Mr. Kenerson told the group. Statistics show those over 30 usually suffer the most severe injuries.

Political Work Stepped Up Across Ontario

TORONTO, April 19 (CP)—Political activity in Ontario was stepped up during the week-end in preparation for the provincial election June 7.

Some candidates already have been named by dissolution of the legislature is not expected immediately.

Upon dissolution, returning officers will be appointed by the government in each of the ridings, paving the way for the issuance of writs. These are issued by C. F. Bulmer, clerk of the crown in chancery.

Preparation of the voters' lists then will follow in cities and towns of more than 10,000 population and in township adjoining cities of 100,000 or more. Only four cities, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Windsor, are in this category.

In the smaller centres, municipal lists are used. A person wishing to have his name added to them appears before the local election board, which is headed by the county judge.

At Strathroy, the executive committee of the South Middlesex Riding Liberal Association set May 4 as its convention date and asked all township Liberal associations to name delegates to attend the convention in Mount Brydges.

The London Liberal Association executive, with a convention set for next Wednesday, met Sunday to discuss final plans for the meeting, which will name the candidate to contest the riding.

Progressive - Conservatives at London said they anticipated that 19 sitting members from the 22 constituencies of western Ontario will again contest the seats they hold with Hon. W. G. Webster again contesting his London seat.

Cut In Factory Building Cripples New Industries

By STUART UNDERHILL.

LONDON, April 19 — (CP). — A country-wide economy campaign which cut factory building has put a crimp in one of the government's pet projects — establishment of new industries in the country's Development Areas.

Development areas used to be known as distressed areas—districts which suffered most heavily during the depression years usually because they relied for employment on one heavy industry.

The Labor Government's plan to prevent a recurrence of such disastrous slumps is to establish a diversity of industries in each area. Up to last December, when a six-months ban was placed on new factory building, more than 100,000 workers had found employment in new plants.

There are six development areas in Britain—the North-east Coast, South Wales, the Wrexham District, South Lancashire, West Cumberland, and the Scottish Industrial Belt.

"From all those areas in the years between the two World Wars the life just drained away," says the recent government publication, "something done," which chronicles the Labor Government's achievements since it took office in 1945.

Workers Drift Off.

They were centres of coal mining, shipbuilding, and iron and steel manufacture. When they closed on curtailed staff, workers drifted off to other parts of the country.

To-day heavy industries in those areas are working at full blast. Against the day when business slackens, the government is trying to "set up other industries which in many cases can serve as basic industries; to ensure that trade is as varied as possible, and so to prevent a temporary depression in a single industry from bringing misery and starvation to an entire area."

Sometimes factories are built at the manufacturers' expense and sometimes they are rented from a government-financed industrial estate company. With total powers over the issuance of building permits the government has pretty well been able to direct new factories to areas it considers suitable.

Weather Delays Trip

HALIFAX, April 19 — (CP). — R.C.A.F. officers said here last night that a mercy flight from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Baffin Island, scheduled to start yesterday, has been postponed until today because of poor flying conditions. A single-engined Norseman will take off for Cape Doruet, Baffin Island, to fly out a seriously ill woman.

Mr. King Better

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King, his cold almost better, expects to be back at his Commons desk today, a spokesman said last night. Mr. King was ordered confined to his home Thursday because of the cold.

A "BUG" GOES AFTER BUGS — A Bell model 47-D Utility Helicopter (above) is shown dusting a citrus grove near Houston, Texas, with sulphur. Until now, dusting with sulphur has been considered highly dangerous. Now, for the first time, all aircraft of the above model have been given a blanket license to dust with sulphur. This paves the way for expansion of helicopter dusting to growers where sulphur is widely used to fight insects and disease. It is especially helpful on citrus fruits, cotton, peanuts and apples.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"VULNERABLE" IS RIGHT

WHEN the lawmakers selected "vulnerable" to describe the condition of a pair which has won a game, it picked a good word. The high cost of an unsuccessful doubled contract then causes crafty players to consider carefully before venturing a doubtful low bid or a high sacrifice. It is true that being vulnerable—having a game—is more desirable than being not vulnerable and having no game. But that asset can be turned instanter into a terrific liability if a player doesn't watch his step.

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1♣	Pass	1♥	1♠
2♥	3♠	4♥	4♠
Pass	Pass	5♥	Dbl

East lived to rue the moment he stuck his neck out with that sacrifice. South inaugurated the hatcheting with his lead of the spade K. Seeing his impending punishment, he took that trick with the A and led back the 4, to clear both his hands of the suit and thereby give the defenders a chance to make a mistake, which might reduce the disaster.

He was not too wrong in that hope, since North, who won the second spade, returned his diamond Q. Anybody should have been able to see that, if this caused the K to be bumped off by the A, the J would be set up as a trick winner for East. The rest of the way the defenders pulled no more such boners, so East lost all told two tricks in clubs and one in each other suit to be set three. That cost him 800 points, and he would have lost 1,100 if it had not been for North's ill-advised diamond Q lead.

East tried to defend himself, in the post-deal argument with his partner, by pleading that West's pass of 4-Spades was a "forcing pass," since West had opened the bidding. He held that his own duty therefore was to double or sacrifice, and he took his choice. What he failed to consider, even if he thought of the forcing pass principle, was that he had a third alternative, when vulnerable especially, which was merely to pass.

How should South try for maximum results at his 3-No Trumps if West leads the heart 3?

Routine Work Will Precede Budget Day

OTTAWA, April 19 —(CP)— With the symptoms of crisis apparently drained out of the freight rates issue, parliament is heading into several weeks which promise to be a relatively unspectacular prelude to budget day.

Finance Minister Abbott's budget, now anticipated sometime in May, is the most immediate major development on the Ottawa political horizon. Its contents have already been the subject of considerable speculation, with the chief interest centering in the possibilities of large income tax cuts. There have been predictions both ways, that they will be and that there won't be.

The week immediately ahead will see the freight rates issue—touched off by the decision of the Board of Transport Commissioners to grant the railways a 21-per-cent increase in rates—probably brought to a head Tuesday in Commons' votes on two opposition amendments which amount to non-confidence motions.

Any threat that the government would be overthrown by recalcitrant Maritimes and western Liberals was wiped away last week when Prime Minister Mackenzie King flatly told a party caucus that the rates question was hardly one on which to fight a federal election.

Another big issue of the present session—veterans' pensions—may see another development during the week as the Commons in committee on veterans affairs sits through three meetings on the bill containing the government's proposed 16 to 20-per-cent increases.

Its members may get down to a vote on motions for increases of 25 and 33⅓ per cent, even though Veterans Minister Gregg has informed them that the government will go no further this session.

Every drop of blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every 7 minutes. When kidneys fail to filter out impurities, your system slows down. You may feel tired, headachy—with painful joints and aching back!

Because both kidneys and liver act as purifiers of the blood, the most effective treatment should help both. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do this, thoroughly and efficiently. 10,000 Copies Spy Report Have Been Sold By Ottawa

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, April 19—(CP)—Andre Naubert and Paul Frenette spelt one another at half-hour intervals on the Commons' most tedious job. As Hansard shorthand reporters, they sometimes sit for hours waiting for some member to speak in French. A few feet away, other Hansard men scribble fiercely to catch the flood of English.

The two agree they'd rather have more work, less waiting. They think the surprisingly small amount of French spoken—many French members use English—can be attributed to the fact that most Quebec and other French-speaking members are on one side of the House, the Liberal side.

Circulation.

Canadians can subscribe to Hansard, the official report of the proceedings of the Commons, for $3 a year, but only 2,600 individuals and groups do.

The Hansard Society of Canada, a body interested in promoting the study of parliamentary activities might try getting it on the newsstands. At five cents a copy, it might find a market among thousands for whom it now is remote and unavailable.

Spies

The Government Printing and Stationery Office has sold about 10,000 copies of Canada's big, blue Spy Report, the findings of the Royal Commission that investigated Russian espionage in 1946. Still on hand after a second big printing last Summer: about 8,000 copies. They now are moving slowly.

Commons Lobby Scene.

Douglas Abbott and Jim McCann chewing the rag over Thomas Costain's novel, "The Moneyman." No financial pikers themselves, Moneyman Abbott, as Finance Minister, will shortly inform Canadians he needs something like $2,000,000,000 to run the country! McCann, as Revenue Minister, is currently collecting that annual beast of prey, the personal income tax. Their consensus on "The Moneyman": excellent.

Tibet Missionary Will Address WA

HASTINGS, April 19—(ENS)—For several years St. George's W.A. has had a special missionary meeting in the parish hall, when a missionary on furlough at the time has addressed the W.A. and other interested ladies of the district.

On April 21, Miss Elsa Peter (as Payter) will be the guest. Born in Leh Ladakh (border of Tibet) her father Bishop Peter, head of the Moravian Mission, was missionary there and her grandfather was also missionary there, making her a third generation missionary in India.

Beaver Pelts Now Reminder Of Day Canada Was New

A fur trader in Peterborough has, besides thousands of muskrat skins, some mink, ermine and a few wolf, 70 prime beaver pelts neatly piled about 30 inches high in his vault.

The sleek, rich dark brown pelts are approximately four feet in diameter and will bring a handsome price on London and New York fur markets.

Most of the skins are from Haliburton, a few from Peterborough county but very few local people have seen beaver sapling cuttings.

There are some at Stony Lake, or beavers in their wild state or the pelts. This small pile of pelts is a far cry from the early days of the fur trade when it is reported that a native was compelled to stack skins to the height of a six foot muzzle loading rifle in order to make an even barter.

It was fitting that our forefathers chose the beaver as the Dominion's emblem, symbolic of a country of industry. This small animal contributed pelts for more than three centuries in countless millions and, in fact, were it not for strict government trapping regulations it may have become as extinct as the buffalo. The Hudson's Bay Company, established 278 years ago next month, rightfully calls the beaver its foundation stone. The fur trade shaped the destiny of Canada and North America and rivalry between tenders over their trapping territories lasted as late as 120 years ago.

The history of Peterborough county is recorded very plainly before the lumbering phase of development but for the very reason that beaver still exist in the northern section in limited colonies indicates that the district undoubtedly contributed a small part in fur trading age. It is fitting that Peterborough should recall this during Jack Miner Week when wild life conservation is being suitably featured.

ONLY SURVIVOR — Mark Worst (above), manager of the Lockheed Aviation Corp. base at Shannon, Eire, was the only survivor of the Pan-American Airways Constellation tragedy in which 30 persons lost their lives. Worst miraculously escaped by jumping through the fuselage before the plane was consumed by fire. Nineteen of the 30 dead were Americans. All of the bodies were recovered and taken to a shed at the airport in Shannon.

Other Charge Considered On Friday

Judge Prefers Jail Sentence Given, But Follows Advice

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP) —John L. Lewis escaped a jail sentence today but was fined $20,000 personally and his United Mine Workers (Ind.) $1,400,000 for contempt of court.

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough accepted a government recommendation for those fines, but said it had been his own inclination to send Lewis to jail.

The fines are just double what the bushy-browed U.M.W. chief and his miners had to pay after they similarly were found guilty in 1946 of contempt for ignoring a court's stop-strike order.

Judge Goldsborough fined Lewis $10,000 and the union $3,500,000, but the Supreme Court cut the union's fine to $700,000 in 1946.

The fines Goldsborough imposed today were only for criminal contempt. The judge granted a government motion to consider a penalty for civil contempt against Lewis and the union on Friday.

Lewis and the union each were held guilty by the judge yesterday of both civil and criminal contempt.

Aising Club

Graham Morison, assistant attorney-general, told reporters after the court hearing that the reason for delaying the civil contempt sentencing until Friday was to exercise a club over Lewis and the union to get all the miners back to work.

He said another heavy fine — and even a jail penalty against Lewis — is possible if all the miners are not back at work by that time.

"The idea is to provide time to see what they will do by Friday," Morison said.

Asked specifically if the justice department may recommend jail for Lewis if part of the miners are still out Friday, Morison said: "We might."

In civil contempt, penalties are usually based on damages done. So penalties are often fixed to increase if damages continue.

This might result in Goldsborough's imposing a daily penalty in event the miners do not work in protest against the criminal contempt fines.

Wait Outcome

Many were out of the mines today, waiting to see the outcome of the case.

While Lewis sat stony-faced, Judge Goldsborough told him in passing sentence:

"If this court was to use its individual judgment it would impose a prison sentence."

But the judge added that he was only one man and was accepting the advice of the government.

H. Graham Morison, assistant attorney-general, had recommended only the fines and said nothing about prison.

When he proposed them, Morrison reminded the judge that Lewis and the U.M.W. were "second offenders."

Morison said the court should "discipline these defendants sufficiently to impress upon them permanently," that they must obey the courts.

AHEAD OF COMMUNISTS — The battle of the Italian elections has so far gone in favor of Premier Alcide de Gasperi (Right), who is fighting the Communist party under the leadership of Palmiro Togliatti (Left). Reports today indicate the anti-Communists lead 2 to 1.

Predict De Gasperi To Get Absolute Majority As Communists Crushed

Will Not Admit Any "Red" Politicians Into New Government; Promise Italy Takes Place With West

ROME, April 20—(AP).—Returns from Italy's crucial elections indicated today a smashing anti-Communist victory and Vice-Premier Guiseppe Saragat announced "the Communists will not be admitted into Italy's new government." Saragat, head of the anti-Communist Socialists, told newspaper men:

"The Italian election means a re-birth of democracy in Europe. The victory of Democratic forces is a great setback to Russia and Communist plans for expension.

"Italy is now a part of western Europe and not of the Balkans."

The returns from three-fourths of Italy's senatorial districts showed the anti-Communist parties two to one ahead of the Communist-led popular front coalition.

Premier De Gasperi's Christian Democratic party had almost half the total votes in the election test between the East and the West, and may yet get an absolute majority.

Same All Over

Early returns on the Chamber of Deputies indicated a similar crushing defeat for the Communists. The returns raised the possibility that the anti-Communists had seized undisputed control of both Houses of the new parliament.

The Interior Ministry's tabulations on the Senate vote, counted first, gave the Christian Democrats 8,171,569, or 47.4 per cent. of the vote. The Popular Front Coalition of Communist and Left-wing Socialists got 5,382,976 votes, or 31.3 per cent.

Returns from 4,478 of 41,525 sections in the vote for the Chamber gave the Christian Democrats 2,131,608; the Front, 936,207, and the anti-Communist Socialists, 269,393.

The votes for minor parties swelled the anti-Communist total.

Alcide De Gasperi, Italy's Christian Democratic Premier, said the returns were beyond his fondest dreams.

Expects Plurality

The Premier's statement, broadcast over the Italian radio network, said he anticipated his party would have a plurality in the vote Sunday and Monday for selection of members of the republic's first parliament.

Heartbroken Recluse Leaves $35,000

TORONTO, April 20—(CP)—A broken-hearted 85-year-old recluse was found dead in his seven-roomed house here yesterday—with $30,000 worth of cash, bonds and various other valuable papers hidden in different rooms.

Doctors said Henry Metcalfe died of "natural causes" and neighbor David Ellis accounted for his shutting himself out from the rest of the world.

"He was a woman hater," said Ellis. "No woman ever went into that house and he lived there for 25 years, I guess. He must have been disappointed in love—terribly disappointed."

Ellis yesterday forced a window in the Metcalfe home because he had not seen the old man since last Saturday and his knock went unanswered. He found Metcalfe lying dead in bed, fully dressed.

Detectives searched the house and discovered bills and bonds in practically every room. Under the bed they found an old handbag with $2,300 in bonds. They found about $600 in cash all told, also mortgages, deeds and bank books.

"He owned at least two houses in the city but he didn't bother to furnish his own home with anything except the bare necessities," said Ellis. "Most of the rooms were filled with stack and stacks of old magazines and newspapers piled up to the ceiling. There were many boxes of junk."

Metcalfe's only companion was his radio, but two years ago he stopped playing it even though he renewed his radio licence.

U.S. Prepared To Send Troops To Holy Land

LAKE SUCCESS, April 20. — (CP).—The United States said today it would provide troops for Palestine if other countries to be selected by the United Nations would join them.

Warren R. Austin, chief U.S. delegate, told the special Palestine Assembly's 58-member political committee that his giverment "is not prepared to act alone in this matter."

Austin admitted that direct talks with certain governments over furnishing troops so far had been fruitless.

Pleading for U.N. Assembly acceptance of the American program for a temporary U.N. trusteeship in the Holy Land in lieu of partition, Austin said:

"The United States is willing to undertake its share of responsibility for the provision of police forces which are required during a truce and temporary trusteeship, along with other members who may be selected by the General Assembly and who are willing to carry out such a task in accordance with the will of the Assembly and with the provisions of the charter.

'Our participation will be conditioned upon a readiness of other governments to provide similar assistance."

Austin did not specify which countries had been approached on providing troops but it was understood overtures have been made to Britain and France.

Austin laid primary blame for failure of partition on the Arabs but also accused Jewish elements of wilful murder.

A 47-point trusteeship plan for Palestine was offered earlier by the United States for consideration.

The plan provides for a U.N.-appointed governor-general who would rule the Holy Land with an advisory council until a trusteeship government could be set up. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's chief delegate, has been mentioned as one of the favorite American nominees for such a post.

Will Give $1,324,300,000 Of ERP Fund To Britain

WASHINGTON, April 20 — (AP). — Britain is due for a $1,324,300,000 slice of the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program, the United States Congress learned today. The next biggest aid allotments, all of them tentative, are: $1,130,300,000 to France, $703,600,000 to Italy, $599,600,000 to the Netherlands, and $437,400,000 to the United States-British zones of western Germany.

In translating the dollars into the things western Europe needs most to regain its ecoromic feet, the recovery program planners expect to spend $957,200,000 for grain, $511,300,000 for cotton, $379,700,000 for petroleum and $110,200,000 for tobacco.

These and many other long-secret figures were submitted to the House of Representatives appropriations committee by Paul G. Hoffman, Economic Aid Administrator.

They were made public by the committee as it summoned Hoffman to a closed-door session to determine how much money congress should make available for the actual operation of the program.

In passing the European recovery act earlier this month, Congress simply gave the go-ahead signal, leaving the issue of funds to be decided later. But to provide a quick start,' Congress said the reconstruction finance corporation could put up $1,000,000,000 that sum to be repaid later out of the E. R. P. appropriation. Also, of the total another $1,000,000,000 is to be raised by export-import bank bond issues. And before Congress got around to acting finally on the Recovery Bill, it approved a $55,000,000 stop-gap advance to keep earlier supply lines to Europe filled.

Kingston Mayor Resigns

KINGSTON, April 20 (CP). — Mayor J. Stuart Crawford, 56, has tendered his resignation to city council on the grounds of ill health. In a letter read to council last night, Mayor Crawford asked that his resignation be made effective April 30. He served as alderman from 1941 to December, 1945, when he was elected mayor for a one-year term. The following year he received an acclamation for a two-year term.

Arab Raiders Attack Convoy

JERUSALEM, April 20 (AP)—Arab raiders tried again today to cut the communications lifeline of Jerusalem's 100,000 Jews with the Palestine coastal belt.

The Arabs attacked a Tel Aviv-to-Jerusalem convoy in which David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jewish agency executive, and other agency leaders were travelling.

Jewish sources reported that most of the convoy, including Ben Gurion and the other leaders, got through to Jerusalem with more than 100 food trucks.

The rear guard of the convoy was reported sacked. Hagana, the Jewish militia, said six armored cars were lost.

Most of the food in the convoy consisted of provisions for the Jewish feast of the passover, beginning Friday night. The feast celebrates the Jewish exodus under Moses from Egypt.

A Jewish agency spokesman said an appeal was being made to the Palestine government to take measures to guarantee that Jews will have access during the passover to the Wailing Wall.

Man, 33 Horses Die In Race Track Fire

BURRILLVILLE, RI, April 20—(AP).—At least one man and 33 valuable racing horses perished when fire swept four barns at the Pascoag race track today.

Officials said the man burned to death was a groom known at race tracks throughout the country only as "Henry Nuts and Bolts." He was about 45 years old.

All other men sleeping in the barns are believed to have escaped.

Panic broke out when the flames made headway as the grooms threw open the stable doors and the horses began running wildly. Twenty - seven horses were dead in the ruins; four were burned so badly they had to be destroyed.

Ukrainians Protest Montreal School Raid

MONTREAL, April 20—(CP)—The Association of United Ukrainian Canadians, in a letter today to Premier Duplessis, protested last Friday's raid on the association's school at nearby Point St. Charles by provincial police who claimed it was a Communist school for children of Ukrainian descent.

"We object to you playing politics by making police raids," said the letter over the signature of S. Dobrowolsky, provincial secretary. "Our organization is and educational and cultural society, and we have carried on this cultural work for over a generation."

3 Canadian Customs Men Fired For Allowing US Goods Across Border

OTTAWA, April 20—(CP).—A Revenue Department official said today three Canadian Customs officials had been fired for allowing United States goods through at Lacolle, Que., in violation of restrictions imposed by the Federal Government to conserve US dollars. He said the Department was considering further steps in the line of legal prosecutions, but had reached no definite conclusion. Officials had made "certain seizures of a variety of goods," but it was not known just what their value was.

The three officers were let out some weeks ago.

$100,000 Equipment

A Montreal paper said today it had learned that more than $100,000 worth of electrical appliances had been seized in Montreal following investigation into reported violations of dollar control regulations.

The newspaper said court action against 10 persons reported to be involved in the case is expected within the next few days.

The articles seized were said to have included refrigerators, washing machines, stoves, radios and sewing machines.

The paper said it had learned the goods were brought to Canada after the ban on purchases in the United States but had been reported "in transit" before the restrictions became effective.

Investigation was said to have shown that the goods were ordered after the restrictions went into force and were brought into the country illegally.

Mitchell Raps Attitude Of Ship Lines

OTTAWA, April 20 — (CP). — Labor Minister Mitchell today released a report of an industrial disputes inquiry commission charging that Colonial Steamships Limited and Sarnia Steamships Limited used "the worst possible weapons any employer could use" in their dispute with the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC).

The commission was composed of Leonard W. Brockington, chairman, and J. D. McNish. The report said the companies, which have signed a separate agreement with the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, had ignored meetings of a conciliation board appointed this year and declined either to meet their men or to attempt conciliation and negotiate by using the services of the board or of the present commissioners.

"By their action and inaction," it added, "the companies have also broken the admirable, long established and beneficial practice by which Canadian employees and employers sit down together around a table in an attempt to settle their difficulties. They have admitted that they have made an agreement with a rival organization. The reasons which they advance are their objection to the alleged political opinions of certain officials and the alleged infiltration of their ideas in the Canadian Seamen's Union."

"We are unanimous in stating our belief that the defiance of the existing law, the breach of the existing agreement, and the failure to fulfil the promise made by these companies to the Government are a serious threat to the recognized practice of labor conciliation, and are moreover the worst possible weapons any employer could use in a dispute with the legally constituted bargaining representatives of his employees.

11 Men Killed In Mine Blast

LILLE, France, April 20.—(AP).—A coal-dust explosion ripped through a coal mine in Sallaumines, 15 miles from here, last night. Police officials said 11 miners were killed.

Twenty-one miners are missing. At least 40 were injured in the blast which sealed off the entrance to the mine. About 300 miners were brought out alive through a connecting shaft.

Rescue workers said some bodies had been blown 30 yards from where the men were working. The force of the blast was so strong even above ground that a huge steel trestle over the mine entrance shifted and bent.

BRITISH TRAIN DISASTER—Wreckage is strewn over the tracks after a Scottish mail train rammed a Glasgow-London express, killing 21 persons and injuring 31 others. Express was reported to have halted north of Winsford station when a passenger pulled the emergency brake. Seven coaches of the London-bound train were telescoped and four cars of the mail train derailed. A British soldier, coming home on leave, is said to have admitted that he pulled the communication cord bringing the train to a stop.

Mayor Outflanks Council Refuses To Resign Post

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., April 20 — (CP). — Mayor W. M. Rae last night survived a tempestuous city council meeting, remaining in office despite a 6-2 no-confidence motion passed against him by the members. And though strong voices were heard against him, it wasn't sure that much could be done to unseat him.

Seven thousand books — just half the contents of the municipal library's shelves — have caused the whole thing.

Last autumn chairman Alexander Calhoun of the Alberta Library Board recommended, after a survey, that the 7,000 books be ditched as "obsolete." His discard list included books of reference and religion, biography, history, fairy tales, detective and western stories.

The "purge" aroused an outcry from the Property Owners Association, which asked the recall of the library board and reinstatement of Librarian Harry Burbidge.

Last April 7 the Mayor attended a board meeting, differed sharply with the members and resigned. Eight days later he withdrew his resignation and when a city council meeting was called to "consider the mayor's resignation" he ruled that as it had been withdrawn there "was no cause for such consideration."

The members then said they would pose a non-confidence vote at the next meeting—last night.

More than 250 ratepayers attended the hectic session and scores were turned away for lack of space.

Despite the mayor's charge that council was attacking him in "a vile, vindictive way", the vote was 6-2 against him.

Mr. King Makes History Equals Walpole Record

OTTAWA, April 20 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King is about to make history—again. He is to become the prime minister with the longest record of service in written Commonwealth history.

Today, he equals the record of Sir Robert Walpole, the 18th century British prime minister who served in that office for 7,620 days—a total of 20 years, 10 months and nine days.

Tomorrow, he will surpass that record and will have gone Sir Robert one day better—7,621 days—setting a historic mark of his own.

That has long been a cherished ambition of the 73-year-old Canadian Prime Minister, who came to office Dec. 29, 1921, and now is within four months of his retirement in August. There have been two breaks in his prime ministership—three months in mid-1926 and five years during the early 1930s.

Sir Robert ran his record out in one stretch, holding office from April 3, 1721, to Feb. 11, 1742.

In 1946 Mr. King hung up a record for the office in Canada On June 8 of that year he broke the record of Sir John A. MacDonald, who had served 18 years, 11 months and 26 days.

While there will be no special ceremony to mark Mr. King's achievement today, he is expected to receive tribute from opposition party leaders and his own followers at the opening of the Commons. A flood of congratulatry telegrams and letters likely will flow into his offices at the parliament buildings.

Mr. King doesn't admit—in public, at least—that these record breaking performances impress or concern him. But sources close to him indicate that he is fully alive to them and takes a secret pleasure in reaching another milestone in his career.

Livestock Producers Present Problems.

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP).—Two disturbing factors in livestock production—fears that exchange difficulties might partially close the British market and resistance to present prices from Canadian consumers—were brought to the attention of the Special Prices committee today.

They bulked large in a brief presented by Hugh W. Allen of the Alberta Livstock Co-operative Ltd., which handles 30 per cent of hog marketings in that province.

"The livestock producer feels very strongly that he was fully entitled to the increase in prices which went into effect at the first of the year,' he declared. "He feels that Canadian consumers have been subsdized out of the pockets of producers all during the war and that even yet livestock prices to producers are comparatively lower than the cost."

Judge Charges Cabinet Men Too Dictatorial

OTTAWA, April 20 —(CP)—A judge of one of Canada's highest courts said yesterday that official powers, if not used wisely, may lead to "dictatorial" rule.

The warning was in a judgment by Mr. Justice E. R. Angers of the Exchequer Court. He said he believes there are "far too many" cases of cabinet ministers, assistants and officials overstepping the limits of their authority.

"If they are not curtailed, the government may in a not-too-remote future be ruled by a dictatorial government," he said.

The decision was on a case in which the powers of a cabinet minister and one of his officials were questioned.

The minister is former Health Minister Claxton, now defence minister. The official is Col. C. H. L. Sharman former chief of the health department's narcotic division, now Canadian delegate to the United Nations Narcotic Commission.

War Veteran

The plaintiff is Paul Belleau of Montreal, a veteran of the First World War who was discharged with a 100-per-cent disability.

The case arose after Col. Sharman, with Mr. Claxton's consent, ordered doctors to cut down the morphine dosages Mr. Belleau was receiving. This was to continue until it was no longer necessary for him to take the drug.

Mr. Belleau asked a ruling that Mr. Claxton, Col. Sharman and the health department were legally unable to interfere with the prescriptions of a doctor in good standing.

Mr. Justice Angers said he could not make that ruling. He added:

"The actions done by the minister of national health and welfare in the administration of the opium and narcotic drug act are not subject to review by the court if done by the minister in his administrative capactity."

He was "loathe to admit" the cabinet should be allowed to violate the rights of judges. But the court had no power in law to prevent a minister from entering the field of law.

Workmen Open Concession 12

A group of parishioners of the new Otonabee Church of the Assumption approached the Otonabee township council in the Fall of 1947 to have Concession 12 opened. This right-of-way runs east and west between the Crowley Line and Keene road, and has not been used since horse-and-buggey days, chiefly due to a very steep hill at the Keene road end. The council members looked over the abandoned roadway and has some re-surveying done.

Some large elms have grown on the concession since its disuses and on Saturday a group of 15 men, parishioners of the new church, commenced to clear the trees. Leonard Clancy, age 74, and his son Michael were injured when one large tree swung on its stump as it was falling and pinned the two men under limbs. The former suffered a broken left shoulder blade and his son, torn hip muscles.

Thomas Weir, clerk of Otonabee, advises that road estimates this year call for an expenditure of about $35,000 and that the council are expecting delivery of a new grader valued at $14,000. It was ordered in 1947. The primary project, according to Mr. Weir, is completing the cutting down of the Hiawatha Hill, south of the Keene road. The road bed was widened in 1947 and with the new grader, which is on order, it is proposed to lower the crown of the hill and carry the overburden south. The second project for the new machine will be to grade the newly-opened 12th Concession when trees and brush have been removed from the right-of-way.

Industrial Milan, in the heart of Italian Communism, surprisingly reported the Christian Democrats running well ahead of the Popular Front in the chamber races. Even in Bologna, often called "Italy's Kremlin," the Christian Democrats were making a strong challenge.

In Bologna, the first reported incident of post-election violence was reported this morning. A bomb exploded in front of the store of Attilio Morselli, an ardent Christian Democrat campaigner. The explosion wrecked the store, but Morselli was not hurt.

In Milan, police said unknown attackers raided an army ammunition dump early today. It was the second such attack reported in northern Italy. Government troops repelled the first one.

In the six Milan Senate races, complete unofficial returns gave the Christian Democrats 343,658 votes to 254,875 for the front, 132,475 for a joint Socialist-Republican ticket and 3,863 for the National Bloc.

High Housing Rent Rapped

OWEN SOUND, April 20 (CP) —"People right in Owen Sound are starving," Ald. Duncan McLellan said last night, as he assailed high rentals to be asked for 25 wartime houses to be erected here.

Rentals are expected to range from $33 for a four-room house without basement to $37.20 a month for a five room house with basement.

Ald. McLellan said that the average income of 128 veterans who have already applied for these houses was only $120 a month. They could not afford to pay such high rentals, he said.

However, council decided to proceed with the project, feeling it was the only method of relieving the housing shortage.

5,000 Buzzing Bees Bewilder Customs Men Escape From Damaged Crates In Office

Things were not all milk and honey at the Customs House today. To add to the hive of industry brought on by the Howe-Abbott importation restrictions were some real hives of honey-bees. A shipment of them arrived this morning and just as they were unloaded inside the Customs House, four or five of the crates broke open. Five thousand of the bees escaped.

When the Examiner arrived cautiously on the scene, things were really buzzing—five thousand bees whooping it up in the little back room, a bevy of shippers and customs men hopping around, and thousands of bees in the unbroken crates lusting to get out too. Signs of confusion could be heard afar off. Even before the reporter stuck his neck out (literally) to see the bees, he heard someone yelling: "Where's the Queen? Anybody seen the Queen?" The voice was as frantic as a poker player's down to his last chip.

The reporter seized an umbrella before he went in to survey the scene — any weapon was better than none against 5,000 bees. But he did feel a bit like a coward when he saw that the customs men were busier trying to find a way to get the bees corralled than in protecting themselves.

The bees had come from 'way down in Georgia and were consigned to an apiarist at Burleigh. The customs officials were taking the affair with remarkable calm—after the first few minutes—for nobody had been stung. The owner was on the scene— it may be that he had arrived hurriedly by helicopter — and the customs people maintained that the baby (4,995 bees—five escaped to Charlotte Street when the reporter opened the door) was his. The customs men were there to collect duty, not stings and bees.

The remarkable fact was that the bees, despite their vicious buzzing, were not stinging anybody, not even the collectors of import duties. Without special knowledge of bees' tactics, a person can only think that the Americans are just good friendly businessmen. They wrap up their export parcels in nice packages, so, for the sake of friendly business relations, they probably take the sting out of bees before they ship them across the border.

It was not always that way. A few years ago, in the days of Imperial preference, which the Americans did not like, a crate of bees broke open in our Customs House and stung like fury. One of the customs men was so badly pierced that he had to go to the hospital for treatment. At the time of going to press, the bees are still loose.

Imperial Trade Margins Strong

LONDON, April 20 (Reuters)— Harold Wilson, president of the board of trade, told the House of Commons last night that nothing had happened since the recent trade negotiations at Geneva to weaken imperial trading margins. He was speaking in a debate on exports.

Lennox Boyd, for the opposition, earlier said the attempt in the subsequent Havana trade conference "to break up the British system of imperial preferences" was a "tragic error."

In the Havana recommendations were "all the old alarming phrases which marked the Geneva conference such as reduction of tariffs and reduction or elimination of imperial preference.

Wilson said the government did not contemplate asking parliament for its views on the Havana pact until it had a clear idea of what other countries were going to do.

But he declared, there were no serious inroads in imperial preference at Geneva, and nothing had happened since which had in any way destroyed or weakened imperial trading margins.

Replace Mayor On Gas Group

LONDON, Ont., April 20 (CP) —City council last night replaced Mayor George Wenige as the city's representative on the western Ontario natural gas negotiating committee and appointed City Solicitor Huron R Davidson in his place.

Before the stormy debate on gas opened however, council did receive good news. The 1948 tax rate dropped a mill to 42 mills due to a mistake in the original figures.

Mayor Wenige reminded council he had taken the post on the negotiating committee only with reluctance and voted in favor of his discharge.

Held For Murder

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 20 (AP).—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today charged a 67-year-old Indian with murdering the brother he accused of bewitching him. Felix Verdugo, 67, the defendant, accused brother James Verdugo, 48, of using witchcraft to induce chest and leg pains in Felix. Felix ignored a tribal medicine man's explanation that age probably caused the aches. Saturday, James was killed with a rifle slug.

Butter Shortage Nears End For Most of Dominion

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP). — Canada's cows are putting butter back on the kitchen table.

After five weeks of butter shortage, National Dairy Council officials today sighted relief for most parts of the Dominion.

Surveys show greatest bovine activity smack in the centre of Ontario. In other centres, too, there are signs that spring has accelerated production, making real those golden bricks which did a disappearing act, especially from eastern Canadian cities, at the beginning of March.

From now until June, officials of the Council and of the Agriculture Department say, production will increase. In June, no part of Canada will be without adequate supplies.

This is being accomplished even with a noted drop in milk production and a continued overseas demand for Canadian cheese. Milk production had declined three per cent in the first three months of the year.

"Perhaps for this reason," a dairy official said, "a drop in the price of butter should not be anticipated. In fact, the 21-percent freight rate increase granted railways has made it necessary to add a half-cent to the pound price."

In Ottawa there had been rumors that the retail price, now 72 and 73 cents a pound, might be shaved to 67 and 68 cents by mid-day.

Spiking the rumor, the dairy spokesman disclosed that his organization had received reports of butter black-marketng during the shortage. Consumers in unidentified cities had been paying as high as $1-$1.50 a pound.

C'ford Kinsmen Plan Playground For Town

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 — (ENS). — A playground for children including slides, swings and a wading pool is the next project to be undertaken by the Kinsmen Club.

Milk for school children in the lower grades, the last project instigated, will end this month. This was jointly sponsored with the Rotary Club.

At the Kinsmen dinner meeting Monday night, Wesley L. Sweet of Edgewater Park, was introduced as guest speaker by president Joe Smith.

Mr. Sweet expressed himself in accord with the plan for providing entertainment for children and offered the club a suitable location for the playground at Edgewater Park, which was accepted.

Moving pictures were shown of skiing, tobogganing [illegible] winter [illegible] in the Haliburton Highlands and the Laurentians.

Glass Window Allows View Cow's Stomach

LANSING, Mich., April 20.—(C).—Maud is a cow who has bared her soul to the world—or more accurately, her stomach.

Scientists at Michigan State College have installed a window in Maud, the better to study the mysteries of digestion in the largest of her four stomachs.

Dairymen hope that by getting a better insight into diets better cows may be produced. Another phase of the experiment is the determination of parasitic diseases in cattle.

Oh, oh—it's that sign again!—the one saying "Postage Due" on the letter. So she shells out a shilling—or maybe some francs or lire, and all for the sake of a letter that hasn't been properly prepaid!

And what a pity—because generally, friends like to hear from each other—but nothing takes the joy out of mail so f-a-s-t as postage due. Because the addressee—either here in Canada, or abroad, must pay double the deficiency.

So next time you use AIR MAIL—at home or overseas, be sure to check it for weight.

Today, OVERSEAS AIR MAIL rates are lower than they've ever been in history. A letter mailed to Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Eire and Europe costs only 15¢ per ¼ oz. This allows about 1 sheet of thin airmail paper and envelope. More than this may overtip the scale—and that means extra postage.

Play safe—don't take chances on embarrassing your friends . . . or straining business relationships. Always check the weight of your OVERSEAS AIR MAIL before posting.

Market Prices Dispel Gloom

By The Canadian Press

A full month of steadily rising stock market prices has dispelled the heavy gloom that prevailed in financial circles only two and three months ago.

The sharp break in the commodity markets of last February brought in its wake the fear that a downward price adjustment—which was generally considered inevitable and good for the economy—might well snowball into a serious economic recession. Reports spread that consumers were holding back to wait for further price drops; retailers were said to be re-stocking on a day-to-day basis; some sections of industry were beginning to enlarge special reserves for inventory depreciation.

The price structure, however, did not break. Commodity prices held at the lower levels established mid-February and even the securities market, long in a special depression of its own, began to show firmer tendencies.

Investors began to see a clearer future for industry as plans crystallized for large-scale re-armament in the United States. At the same time the European recovery program took form as it passed through Congress and Senate.

The happy parents last week were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Redcliffe, Springbrook; Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Lee, Seymour East, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Grills, Seymour East. Daughters were born to the first two couples and sons to the last two.

Miguel Brenes, a former labor minister, was designated minister of war with authorization to form a new cabinet.

Tourist Business Is Job For Everyone, Not Resort Owners Alone, Rotarians Told

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 — (ENS). — Gilbert Watson, president of the Ontario Tourist Association, speaking at a Rotary dinner meeting on Monday, stressed that making Canada attractive to American tourists was not the job of the resort owner alone, but each and every Canadian could help by being courteous and willing to give information.

Last year over 200,000,000 American dollars were spent in Canada by tourists, he said, and not all of that went for accommodation and amusement — a large share of those badly needed dollars was spent for food. It is the type of business everyone benefits from and everyone should feel an obligation to help promote it, he said. Mr. Watson is well versed on the tourist situation. He has owned and operated Gil-Mar Lodge, on Sturgeon Lake, for the past 11 years, and is a lecturer at the University of Toronto in the instructional management course on the development of tourist business.

He was introduced by Ernie Ayrhart and a vote of thanks was moved by Walter Wiggins and passed on to Mr. Watson by the president, Dr. O. C. Watson.

Port Hope Man Sentence Suspended

Appearing for sentence before Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday, Norman Hayes of Port Hope was allowed on suspended sentence for a period of two years and bonded in the amount of $500. Hayes pleaded guilty to theft of an indefinite sum of money from his former employer, Coleman and Philp of Port Hope. He had originally been charged with theft of $3,500 over a period of one year but this charge was withdrawn and Hayes pleaded guilty to the substitute charge.

"You have friends in Port Hope. If you try to find a place to start again where nobody knows you, sooner or later somebody will come along who knows that you were in trouble. I would suggest that you get a job where there is no handling of money and show the people who know you that you have straightened yourself out and can be trusted," the magistrate counselled him.

Herman Nelson of Cobourg pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge and paid $10 and costs. Nelson was pulled out of the harbor two weeks ago and charged with attempted suicide. This charge was withdrawn and replaced by the drunk charge.

Concurrent terms totalling five years in the penitentiary were imposed by Magistrate Baxter upon Roger La Plante of Montreal. The accused received five years for shopbreaking at Colborne on April 8 and for breaking and entering the Scarboro public utilities office on April 8. On the charge of theft of the Scarboro utilities truck on the same date, he received two years.

COBOURG, April 20—(ENS)—Workmen putting in the sewers on University Ave. East, have run into a hidden spring that had been flowing underground from the top of the College St. hill towards the lake. The spring is welling up over the ditch and will be restored to its underground course after the sewer job has been completed.

Young People Hear About Newfoundland

CAMPBELLFORD, April 20 — (ENS).—An address about Newfoundland was given by Fern Chevalier, president of the St. John's Young People's Association at its meeting in the Sunday School rooms Monday night.

Miss Chevalier spoke of the missionary work being done in Newfoundland and showed pictures of some of the 300 churches which dot the rugged coast line.

Rule Divorces Legal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 20 — (AP). — The Arkansas Supreme Court yesterday made legal an estimated 1,750 divorces it previously had invalidated. An Opportunity For The Temperance Federation

At a meeting of the Peterborough County and City Temperance Federation on Thursday last the president, Mr. G. A. Brethen, was critical of what he called the Examiner's editorial policy on matters relating to liquor; he referred specifically to an editorial which, he said, defended a school-teacher who had been dismissed for drinking. No such editorial appeared in this paper during the past six years, nor have we found any trace of such an editorial during the regime of the former editor, Mr. A. R. Kennedy. Indeed, Mr. Brethen's criticism of this paper's stand on liquor appears to have been drawn from his lively imagination, rather than from anything which has appeared in our columns. Furthermore, Mr. Brethen said that he had been treated with discourtesy when last he visited this office; as Mr. Brethen was taken into the editor's room at the earliest possible moment, and as we recall a fifteen-minute conversation with him which was conducted with the greatest amiability on both sides, we cannot understand what Mr. Brethen is complaining about. This visit occurred on January 22nd, and on January 24th we published a letter of approximately 900 words from Mr. Brethen on total abstinence. Last week we received a further letter from Mr. Brethen, in which was enclosed a personal note asking that we publish his letter on Tuesday, in order that it might be timely for his meeting on Thursday, and we complied with his request. If this is Mr. Brethen's idea of discourteous treatment, we should like to know what would satisfy him?

• • •

Another speaker at the Thursday meeting, a Rev. Dr. C. W. DeMille, is reported to have said: "God only knows what has been done for welfare by the press, but not one case in three relating to liquor is ever mentioned as such in the newspapers". This is nonsense, but it is a type of nonsense in which the Temperance Federation deals very extensively. Newspapers report every case in which liquor figures which appears in court, and mentions the fact whenever liquor is a factor in a chargeable offence.

• • •

It is a lucky thing for such speakers as Mr. Brethen and Mr. DeMille that they are not held answerable for every foolish statement they make when addressing their followers. It apparently means nothing to Mr. Brethen that his charges against this newspaper cannot be supported by fact: it does not concern Mr. DeMille that his blanket charge against the press bears no relation to the truth. If these men are so careless in their public speeches how can they expect the public to retain any respect for their opinions or for the statistics which they present from time to time? If they really believe that truth is great and will prevail, why do they not stick to the truth in their public statements? The answer, we fear, is that they are generally disgracefully drunk when they speak—drunk with the heady liquor of their own zeal.

• • •

On Friday last, however, a great opportunity appeared upon the horizon of the Temperance Federation. Premier Drew, who has done more than any other Ontario leader to make liquor easily available in this province, has called for a vote of confidence from the people. If the total abstinence cause is confident in its righteousness, let it set up anti-Drew candidates in such ridings as this, where the defeat of the Drew candidate would be significant, and call for public support. Mr. Brethen, who has had political experience, would be the logical candidate for this riding, and as Peterborough is about as evenly divided between city and rural voters as most constituencies, this would be a very fair testing-ground. But if, in his heart of hearts, Mr. Brethen regards total abstinence as a lost cause, he will permit this golden opportunity to pass.

The CBC Rewrites Shakespeare

A newspaper is on dangerous ground when it takes issue with the CBC, for it is widely acknowledged — especially in broadcasting circles—that the radio men have intimate and intuitive knowledge of all matters relating to the Dominion. Nevertheless, we must protest against a remark which appears in a piece of CBC publicity which has reached our desk. On April 21, it says, somebody will read some of Shakespeare's sonnets at 8 p.m., and it then refers to the sonnets as "poetry which is seldom read by other than Shakespearean students".

We have always thought that a majority of educated people, at some time or other, picked up Shakespeare's sonnets and read them; we know for a fact that great numbers of educated people quote readily from these poems and return to them again and again; young men and women, when they fall in love, find in Shakespeare's sonnets a testament of emotion—a surpassing expression of what they themselves feel. We had no thought that the sonnets were little read until the CBC told us so.

On the same evening the CBC is going to present a reading of Shakespeare's play Richard II, in a chopped-down version; in the list of the principal characters of that drama we see no reference to the usurper Bolingbroke, though we do see that a character named "Bollingbrook" has been introduced into the play by the CBC, rather as Stephen Leacock introduced a character named "Saloonio" into The Merchant of Venice. Having pondered this matter we offer the opinion that it may be that Shakespeare is not much read at the CBC. But we wish that the CBC would not, for that reason, assure us through its official publicity that the greatest sonnets in our language are seldom read in Canada; we feel that such statements come oddly from an institution which frequently uses the word "cultural" in referring to itself and its activities.

Who Touches Pitch . . .

There was some discussion of Communism at the Ontario Liberal Association convention on Tuesday, and one speaker expressed himself thus: "The only thing we can do is not talk about them, but to act just the way they would act with the advocates of democracy in Moscow. There they are put to death. I say that here these Communists should be put out of the way". A news report says that "some laughter greeted the last remark", and we are glad to hear it. What the speaker said was outstandingly foolish, even for a speech at a political convention.

There is no argument so contemptible as that which insists that democracy should meet the threat of communism by adopting the totalitarian methods of communism. Once we adopt the tyrannical methods of the Russians and the Germans in dealing with Communism, we may be sure that it will not be long before we are using the same methods against Canadian citizens who disagree with us on other matters. The downward path toward tyranny and injustice is easy to follow.

There is a threat from Communism in Canada, and it must be met. But democracy, in its long history, has shown that it has other ways of meeting crises than the methods used by tyrannical states, and it has adhered strongly to the principle that a man may not be persecuted merely because he holds an unpopular opinion.

That such nonsense as that which we have quoted should have been heard at a Liberal convention convinces us that there are many people who call themselves Liberals who have no understanding of the historical position of their party, and are oblivious to the implications of its name.

Hangman's Holiday

The new British legislation to abolish the death penalty for a trial period of five years will put the United Kingdom's hangman out of a job, almost. We say 'almost' because Eire, having no hangman of its own, uses his services and has shown no inclination to abolish capital punishment. On the other hand, the British hangman may not be able to afford a life of comparative leisure; his stipend from Irish hangings may give him too thin a livelihood; he may have to take up another career. If he does, Eire's new Minister of Justice, General Sean MacEoin, will be in the predicament of having a scheduled legal hanging and no executioner. It is rather a different spot from the one on which he stood a generation ago when he himself was under sentence of death imposed by a British court martial.

We read that there are 3,000 sweat glands in each square inch of a man's palm. Except during the five minutes before he makes a public speech, of course, when the number miraculously multiplies by ten, and they all work overtime.

Memories Of A Match-Maker

By FRED M. DELAFOSSE

I WAS told that a flock of wild geese had been seen flying north a day or two ago, a sure sign that Spring would soon be here with its cheering days of sunshine and warmth again. The news brought to my mind memories of the millions I had seen years ago in Alberta when engaged with a survey party in surveying townships in the district lying midway between Medicine Hat and Battleford. The sloughs and watercourses were filled with them and they were so outrageously ubiquitous that when we desired to obtain pailfuls of water we were compelled to chase them away far enough from us to get sufficiently clear pailfuls to drink or cook with. We often had to chase them and hit them over the head with our theodolite markers or shovels. There were quite as many ducks as there were geese and they were interesting to watch as well as to eat.

❖ ❖ ❖

THINKING of them made my thoughts revert to the year 1878, the year that I landed in Canada, for that was the last year so far as my memory goes when the wild pigeons were seen in Canada.

❖ ❖ ❖

I ARRIVED at my destined home in May of that year and the feathered host had soon before arrived from their winter quarters in the sunny south. The nesting season was in full swing. I was treated to a perfect ornithological spectacle. Every tree around the shores of the lake on which I lived was loaded with these aerial tourists. So huge were their numbers that when moved by sudden impulse to rise they darkened the air in their flight. They were beautiful, blue-plumaged creatures and everyone was sorry to see them go. But this time, when returning to their southern homes, something dreadful must have happened for they never returned. That was over seventy years ago. Many guesses at the cause of this sudden extinction have been aired in the papers and magazines from time to time but the mystery still remains a mystery and in all likelihood will remain so till the end of time.

❖ ❖ ❖

LOOKING among my old notes yesterday I came across several interesting experiences that somehow gladdened my heart. They happened at a time when I was living quite a swanky and happy life among our lake society, which had now increased to quite respectable dimensions. All of us had money—not much but enough to be able to live in a way somewhat removed from the poorer but respectable degree of living of our hard-working neighbours. As some ladies were now among our little circle we naturally began to assume airs that earned us the not entirely respectful title of 'English Bloods'. But reporters even used to come from as far as Bracebridge and thought it a great thing to present to the public of that day accounts of our wonderful possessions. One of those accounts I remember in particular as being particularly flambuoyant and tasty. It was a description of the furniture in our instructor's drawing-room, and ran in these exact words: "Lounges, sofa and a grand piano, whose thorough bass resounds sweetly with the treble over the placid waters of the lake of a summer's evening". I ask the reader if that is not a thoroughly genteel piece of writing. To most of our neighbours of that far-off day a five-dollar bill almost looked like a king's ransom and we benefitted by being accorded suitable measures of respect as possessing a few of them.

❖ ❖ ❖

ONE day a very worthy neighbour of mine came to see me to ask my advice on a subject that had been greatly bothering him. He had unfortunately lost his wife about two years before and had been obliged to suspend all outside work in order to look after two sturdy youngsters that she had left behind her. I sympathized with him in his misfortune for he was a thoroughly good sort and had done his best for his partner in life when she was alive. "What can I do?" he asked me sorrowfully. My reply was prompt. "You silly oaf", I said, "marry again. You are in good financial position, and almost any woman would be pleased to marry you if she was in the same lonely spot that you are", and I mentioned the name of a most estimable woman who had been a widow for the past fourteen years. My friend was almost petrified with fright at the thought. "Yer don't really mean it", he gasped. "Why she'd never look at the likes of me". "Well", I said, "take my advice, and try".

❖ ❖ ❖

I DIDN'T hear from him for fully three months and one day I received a letter from him in Toronto carrying the following joyful news:

Deer Frend,

It's proud indeed I am to be tellin' you that I've took yer advice and that Mrs. Amanda ——— is now Mrs. Robinson for ever and ever Amen, so let it be Thank yer frend. I'll be blessing yer"—I never heard how they fared but I am sure happily for she was an estimable woman.

The Politic Art Of Being Non-Committal

(From Hansard for April 12th)

On the orders of the day:

Mr. STANLEY KNOWLES (Winnipeg North Centre): I should like to address a question to the Prime Minister based on reports appearing in the press last week. Is there to be held this year, and if so when, a new dominion-provincial conference on old age pensions and other social security matters?

Right Hon. W. L. MACKENZIE KING (Prime Minister): I regret that I am unable to give my hon. friend an answer to that question. I cannot say whether or not there will be a conference.

Mr. KNOWLES: Is it under consideration?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: Well, I suppose everything is under consideration.

Mr. GRAYDON: Better not spread yourself too thin.

"FRIENDLY RELATIONS"

The Social Morals Of John L. Lewis

(MONTREAL STAR)

JOHN L. LEWIS has won another victory over the United States. He may go to jail or be fined heavily for contempt of court when his case comes up tomorrow, but he has had his way and will not care. Martyrdom would suit his dramatic bent. But while Lewis is being punished for contempt the American people must still look around for some means of curbing this man who, twice within a year, has shown his contempt for the democratic process, the courts, the Congress and the nation. He has invited retaliatory legislation and the framers of the Taft-Hartley Act which was designed to cut Lewis's talons are out, to quote Mr. Hartley, "to drive Lewis into a position where his arbitrary actions are impossible."

When this happens Mr. Lewis and other American labour leaders will scream to high heaven about anti-labour legislation. But what alternative is open to the American people? Sweet reasonableness has failed. Laws establishing fair labour practices have failed. The appeal to common decency doesn't get past Mr. Lewis's shaggy eyebrows to his ears. The only alternative is restrictive and punitive legislation and Mr. Lewis can hardly complain when it is passed.

The appeal to common decency should be effective. Twice within a year Mr. Lewis has taken control of the American economy. Last year the wheels of American industry ran slower and slower as coal piles dwindled. During the past month the process has been repeated. Trains were unable to run, factories have slowed down. Production lags at the very moment when production is the answer to the problems of the United States.

One man exerts this power to imperil the national economy, one man who in his every action exhibits the corrupting influence of absolute power. This must be taken from him in the national interest. Last year the problem was to find an effective compromise between the rights of labour and the national interest. Today labour so far as it is represented by John L. Lewis has forfeited its right to compromise.

Last year the Supreme Court ruled that "the course taken by the (mine workers) union carried with it a serious threat to orderly constitutional government and to the economic and social welfare of the nation." This year Mr. Lewis's threat has been much more serious. At a moment when the United States is trying to develop a responsible foreign policy, to assume world leadership because it is the only nation with the productive capacity to sustain leadership, Mr. Lewis takes his men out of the mines. We are not concerned with whether this was a strike or not within the meaning of the law. We are concerned over the fact that one-twelth of the year's production of bituminous coal has been denied in industry. The nation's available coal reserves have been cut to less than twenty days' supply. Twenty days is all that stands between the nation and complete industrial stoppage.

One man wields this authority over the nation and if he is not shown now that responsibility must go hand in hand with power he may put the American people — and with them many more millions—at his mercy at a much more critical time than the past month has been.

Liberalism Is Progress

Liberalism, Benedetto Croce has written, "goes beyond the formal theory of politics and, in a certain sense, even beyond the formal theory of ethics; it coincides with a complete idea of the world and of reality . . . the liberal conception is not meant for the timid, the indolent and the pacifist, but wishes to interpret the aspirations and the works of courageous and patient, of belligerent and generous spirits, anxious for the advancement of mankind and aware of its toils and its history . . . it is absurd to suppose that the moral flame which burns in the heart of humanity has ever been or can ever be extinguished . . ."

In times such as these, it is useful to restate the liberal case, if only to unmask those who seek falsely to deceive people into thinking that, in the modern brand of authoritarianism, there can be found the slightest trace of the liberal philosophy.

There are easy tests.

As a creed, liberalism can be stated shortly and simply. It derives directly from Christianity. Hence it exacts personality; declares the state to be the creature and servant of the individual, not his master. It demands responsible government by persons elected by universal suffrage and the secret ballot. Freedom of speech is restricted only by the law against treason, sedition and defamation.

Liberalism includes economic freedom because without political freedom no kind of freedom can exist. The authoritarian idea, whether it be communist or fascist, can meet none of these conditions. It is reaction, not progress; it restricts, not frees; it makes the individual the slave of the state; it forbids free thought and free speech.

The communist represents, not the new, but the old and the discarded. "Reactions are always crises and illnesses," as Croce says, "and the liberal regime stands for health and vigor."—Winnipeg Free Press.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Depart from evil, and do good; and dwell for evermore. For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved for ever: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off. . . .

Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright: for the end of that man is peace. (Ps. 37: 27, 28, 37.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame. (I Cor. 15: 34.)

❖ ❖ ❖

He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be holy still. And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.

I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last. Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. (Rev. 22: 11-14.)

Letter To The Editor

IS THIS CHISTIANITY?

Sir: Easter has come and gone, its Hallelujahs has faded into another past, and we hear again news of strife between Arabs and Jews and Communism and Democraticism.

Is our boasted Christianity only a label, a password, a disguise? Are we so barren, so frigid with God, that we cannot conceive of the way to peace?

Let us contact Him and discover this way, and for the nonce invite the Jews to gather in Canada in hope of evading another war (at least they do not connive with Communists) and in so doing fine a blessing Genesis 28: 14-15.

COUNTRY E.

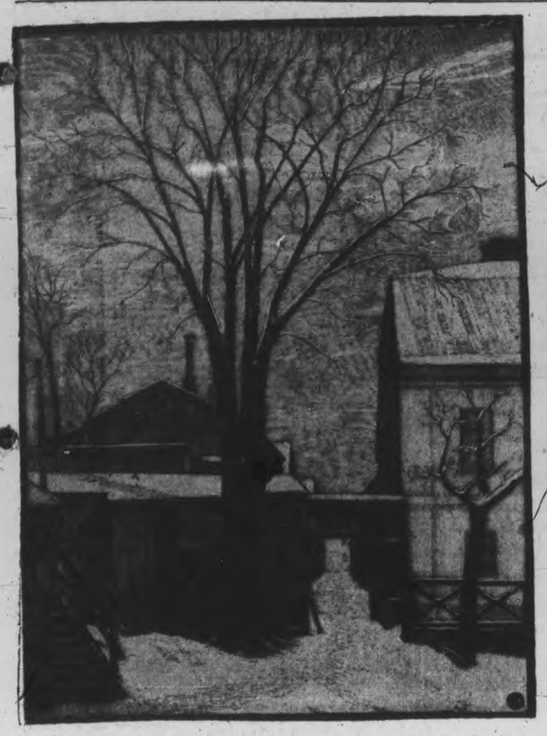
NEW NAME FOR MARGARINE

Sir: In Saturday's paper you had an interesting note on the pronunciation of "oleomargarine". Here is a further thought regarding its derivation.

The name "oleomargarine" comes from that given the first margarine by its inventor, a Parisian chemist who entered the winning product in a contest sponsored by Napoleon III during the Franco-Prussian War to find a cheap substitute for butter. The main ingredients were oleostearine and oleo oil, both by-products of the meat-packing industry. Hence "oleo" which means beef.

Today practically all margarines are made entirely from vegetable oils, the principal oil being soy-bean. Clearly the old law prohibited the use of oleo-margarine. Would it not be better to re-name this new product (for that it is) "Soya-Butter" against which there would be no prohibitions.

No one truly interested in Canada's welfare could well oppose a new product, equally or more nutritious than butter, made from Canadian raw materials, by Canadians, at less than half the price, for the greatest good of the greatest number.



Thank you,

FAITH.

British Authorities Spreading Welcome Mat For US Tourists

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, April 20—(CP).—British authorities are spreading the welcome mat for Canadian and United States tourists this summer. As much hospitality as post-war austerity permits will be offered travellers from the dollar area—partly because North Americans are well liked in Britain, but also, as Government spokesmen are the first to admit, because the United Kingdom hopes to make more than £10,000,000 ($40,000,000) out of them in 1948.

Bigger source of profit in Britain's export drive than the 1947 overseas sale of Scotch whisky or textiles was last year's "invisible export" of tourism—which realized from 300,000 visitors, about £30,000,000, of which about 40 per cent. was in hard currencies.

This year, with the Olympic Games as the chief added attraction, the British Travel Association hopes for 500,000 guests with a proportional increase in dollars.

"Frankly," Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade, told a recent luncheon of hoteliers, "We are going to discriminate between tourists who are bringing us dollars and those who are not."

Other Steps.

These are subsequently-announced steps to implement the "discrimination":

1. Visitors may obtain tourist voucher books after May 1 on presentation of a passport and cashing of £25 in foreign currency. The books, available on major trans-Atlantic liners enable the holder to make six purchases of rationed articles of clothing for delivery in the United Kingdom.

2. Visitors bringing automobiles into the country will be allowed enough gasoline from port of debarkation to farthest destination and back to port of embarkation, plus a graded fortnightly allowance starting at 300 miles' fuel weekly.

3. Visitors using hired cars will be permitted to disregard the 20-mile radius limit which applies to British hirers.

Britain's visitors will find most of her pre-war tourist attractions on view — the Tower of London and House of Parliament; the Lake District, the Scottish Highlands, Royal garden parties, a lengthy list of international sports events topped by the Olympic Games, the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon and the hundred-and-one other things that tourists come to see.

There is also the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama, Aug. 22-Sept. 12, which will present many noted British and European artists to packed houses.

Fewer Accidents If Personnel Chosen Wisely

TORONTO, April 20 — (CP). — Selection of the right man for an industrial job can greatly reduce factory mishaps, C. G. Macdonald of Niagara Falls, Ont., today told the annual conference of the Ontario Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

"The unsafe acts of persons now account for nearly 90 per cent of all industrial accidents," he said in an address prepared for delivery to the meeting, now in its second day.

"Factors of vision, hearing, perception, muscular speed, sense of rhythm required for some machines can be measured and the right man can be fitted in the right job.

"But the 'unteachables' — the chronic day-dreamer, the preoccupied the emotionally upset—are all accident-prone and are the human factors that are the crux of the problem. Polls show that more than 50 per cent of workers dislike their jobs."

Elected President

The organization, which yesterday elected L. H. Ingram of Peterborough president, also heard W. A. Osbourne of Galt speak on accident reduction and Dr. C. D. Russell of Oshawa link poor diets and social maladjustments with industrial accidents.

Mr. Osbourne said that at the plant of Babcock-Wilcox and Goldie-McCulloch, Ltd., of which he is vice-president and general manager, 1,550 accidents were reported to the first-aid department in 1947 and only 90, or about six per cent, were serious enough to require medical aid and be reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario.

"That is probably representative of other industries," he added.

Dr. Russell, plant doctor at Duplate (Canada) Ltd., said lack of interest in proper diets and social maladjustment often caused accidents.

"The efficiency of the worker depends upon his social, mental and physical well being. Even a proper diet for an overweight employee or interest in an adolescent with acne may play a part in the improved state of mind that will be reflected in a lower accident tendency."

The group yesterday chose C. H. Kercher of Toronto and R. G. B. Anderson of London, Ont., vice-presidents and added E. S. Currie of Mount Dennis and D. B. Greig of Windsor to the advisory committee, which also includes C. G. Cockshutt of Brantford and R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa.

EN ROUTE TO UNITED KINGDOM—Prominent British Columbia businessmen, forming the B.C. Buyers delegation to the United Kingdom, are shown arriving in Montreal recently on their way overseas. The group is sponsored by the British Columbia government. In the group above, left to right, crouching: H. Hacking, William Pinfold, Fred McGregor, and J. C. Pendray. Standing: Arthur Nelson, Ralph Davenport, E. G. Rowebottom, Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry for British Columbia; W. J. Fletcher, Hon. Leslie H. Eyres, Minister of Trade and Industry for British Columbia; J. A. H. Irving, J. E. Whitton, and F. Ross. With the exception of Mr. Eyres and Mr. Rowebottom, who are from Victoria, all are from Vancouver.

Beat Off Arab Attack

JERUSALEM, April 20 (AP)—Jews still held Neve Yaacov today and told of fighting off an attack spearheaded by Arab Legion armored cars, a dispatch from that Jewish settlement said. British and Arab reports last night said soldiers of the Trans-Jordanian Arab Legion had seized the settlement but a reporter found the place still in the hands of the Jewish militia Hagana today.

Self-Government Remains Keystone of Colonial Aims

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 20 — (CP). — The growing pains of an empire in transition are felt in London as cables pour on to the desks of the Colonial Office with news of local disturbances and discontentments around the world.

Riots on the Gold Coast, disorders in Aden, South American claims on British possessions, Chinese digs at British "Imperialism" in Hong Kong, harass the officials whose avowed policy is to guide 60,000,000 persons scattered over 3,000,000 square miles toward self-government.

In headquarters in Church House, which share with Church of England bishops, Colonial Office administrators prefer to talk of the millions whose progress is peaceful rather than the few who are involved in tumult.

But change is in the air. Sometimes the demand of colonial people for a greater voice in their own affairs runs faster than the policy-makers think wise. Then there are clashes, like those in Kenya, where police bullets halted fanatics. Elsewhere they may speed indeepndence, as in Ceylon, where 6,500,000 persons on February 4 became citizens of a Dominion, as free from United Kingdom control as Canada.

Burma left the Empire altogether on January 4, the day chosen for independence by her astrologers, with an assurance of British goodwill and the return of national treasures she desired.

India has become two Dominions.

Widespread Interest

This very progress toward self-government fans the hopes of others and is one of the factors behind the disturbances. There are many others.

The House of Comomns was told there was "almost certainly Communist" incitement in the Gold Coast riots whre 26 Africans were killed. In the Asiatic colonies white prestige was shattered by the victories of the invading Japanese.

Reduction in Britain's military and financial power have been publicized. There were claims by Argentina and Chile on the Falkland Islands and Guatemala cast hungry eyes on British Honduras.

The United Nations original decision in favor of partition in Palestine resulted in riots in Aden Protectorate, where British airborne troops were hurried to restore order.

In United Nations councils, the Egyptians dispute British policy in the Sudan, South Africans opposed United Nations trusteeship for the South-west Africa mandate, and the British decision to lay down the Palestine mandate on May 15 is alternately praised and blamed.

These troubles have failed to curb or hasten Britain's basic policy, enunciated by E. Creech Jones, Colonial Secretary, endorsed by other parties of Parliament:

"The test of our policy should not be British advantage, but the happiness, prosperity, and freedom of the colonial peoples themselves."

In 1943, Conservative Oliver Stanley, Colonial Secretary in the Churchill wartime coalition, stressed the sincerity of "Britain's ultimate aim in her colonial empire....to see self-government established in the various territories."

Creech Jones said Britain's primary object in administration is to train the native inhabitants "so that they may be able, in the shortest possible time, to govern themselves."

Then he emphasized the difficulty which prevents Britain simply turning over the colonies to their native inhabitants without more ado:

"I want political responsibility considered in a proper perspective. The granting of responsible government in plural societies or regions of tribal animosities or of racial complexity is not easy to achieve, and comparatively few of the British territories are simple.

"What I want to stress here is the importance of underpinning political responsibility at the centre with sound social and economic organization.....But the pace of change is quickening and we must be prepared to take few risks because we know that there is no greater educational force than the exercise of responsibility itself. People learn by practice."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Girls' Basketball League concludes a successful season tomorrow evening with the annual banquet in the YWCA at 6.15 o'clock. Players, coaches, officials and some guests will take in the affair. This loop has been operating a long time and doing a fine job of it in providing healthful recreation and exercise for 100 or so girls each winter, and the officials deserve credit. The past season saw Nurses win the senior loop title, Normals capturing the intermediate crown, and St. Paul's taking the junior championship. Towne Togs played exhibition games and went into LOBA playdowns, losing out to Toronto. And so the spread tomorrow eve winds it up for this year.

Manager Ron Menzies is wondering if Frank Dohaney—local entrant in the Olympic boxing eliminations next month might not have made too good a showing in Hamilton recently when he knocked out Harry Marshall halfway through the first round. Dohaney's bout with Gord Wallace, billed for Hamilton tomorrow, was called off yesterday, a wire saying: "Bout cancelled as Wallace too light for Dohaney". Wallace is a lightheavy, and now Menzies is calling the bluff by guaranteeing Dohaney will weigh in at 175 pounds or he will pay all expenses for Wallace. Frank is 179 but can sweat off another four pounds to make the lightheavy division. We may hear more later in the day.

Minors Getting Set

An executive meeting of the City Baseball League has been called by Prexy Phonse Brioux for tomorrow eve at seven sharp in the YMCA. General plans for the season will be outlined and all officials should be on hand. The executive committee now consists of: Pat Calladine, Fred Scates, Ray Pammett, Wimpy Borland, Percy Killingbeck, Bo Hunt, Art Pagett Sr. and Nels Foster. Phonse is president, Jack Turner the vice-prexy, Jack Billingsley secretary, and Gord Young treasurer. Alex Kay continues as commissioner for minor ball here.

* * * * * *

Jack Turner failed by a single vote to make the OBA executive at the annual meeting in London, though he is likely to get an appointment yet. Ken Colling, now in London, had said he wouldn't run for office this year as he couldn't represent Central Ontario properly. However, he changed his mind at the last moment and that split the votes up this way—Niagara Falls delegates all voted for Jack—and neither got in. Jack later invited the delegates to hold their 1949 annual OBA convention in Peterborough and they accepted unanimously. Last one held here was in 1931 when Bill Kay was on the executive.

* * * * * *

Some OBA Changes

The OBA amended the bylaw on birth certificates, so that it is now necessary to supply birth certificates for minors as proof of age—baptismal certificates not being sufficient. This caused a lot of controversy and it was argued that such a ruling will keep a lot of Toronto boys out of the game. Fee for each league operating four or more series has been jumped from $20 to $30, and will affect Peterborough. Juniors changing residence in future must apply for OBA transfers at two bucks a crack. Minor players can advance to higher series on their minor certificates. Only winning clubs in loops—and not all-star ones — may go into playdowns. Those are some of the main points decided.

* * * * * *

Manager Johnny Russelle of the new B-A softball entry in the men's loop is calling several open practices this week, commencing at six tonight at the Bowl. He expects to have another drill there at six p.m. Thursday and at two Saturday aft at the same spot. If any changes in the place after tonight, he will notify the players. It is an open workout tonight, he emphasizes, with everyone welcome. Johnny handled the Knights last season and they took the city championship. Other clubs are planning initial practices now, too. The league executive meets at 7.30 tonight in the "Y" to close entries, pass out certificates and clean up loose details.

They Join Forces

The two Toronto teams of the senior ORFU, Beaches and Indians, have amalgamated and will be known as the Beaches Indians. With Ted Reeve as coach. That leaves but three clubs at present in this setup, Toronto, Windsor Rockets and Sarnia Imperials. They'll have to scrounge around and line up a fourth, but they needn't look to Peterborough for another year or two yet. Our last venture in senior ORFU competition was a costly one. In fact they all find it right expensive and that's why Beaches and Indians (Don Crowe was one of the Indians' directors) joined forces. And Ottawa Trojans are reported joining up with Rough Riders. The Big Four still rides the gravy train.

19 Rural Schools Enter Houses, Drawings, Essays In Millbrook Bird Week

MILLBROOK, April 20 — (ENS). — The competition sponsored by the Lions Club, in observance of Jack Miner Week, April 11 to 17, was highly successful, with 19 schools participating. The waiting-room was filled with exhibits submitted in the three classes: bird house, bird drawing, and essays on "Our Bird Friends."

Saturday afternoon saw the climax of the competition.

Registration of the competitors, arrangement and tabulation of the several classes, was in the hands of the public school staff, Principal P. E. Hamilton, who is also secretary of the Lions Club, and Misses Jean Burnham and Gladys Williamson, who also kept the record of the prize winners.

Alex Kay, Peterborough, well known ornithologist, with assistance from T. A. Campbell of the Lions Club, judged the bird houses, and while workmanship and design were excellent, these were secondary to the question: Could, or would, a nesting bird live in it?

Mr. Kay also judged the drawings finding coloring and execution up to a fine standard, while judging of the essays was in the hands of the ministers of the area covered by the competition.

Narrowed down to four, final decision was left with the city editor of the Peterborough Examiner, Pete McGillen.

The Masked Marvel and Earl McCready will settle several things here in their main bout Wednesday, depending on who comes out on top. If the Marvel beats McCready the latter may go on another tour of the Antipodes as he has a number of offers from "Down Under". On the other hand if Earl pins the mystery-man that means the big Unknown will have to un-mask and reveal himself at last. Since McCready's sensational victory over the Cardiff Giant his stock has risen mightily.

Bob Wagner

Earl is one of the best wrestlers to ever appear here and he is determined to give the Mask his "come-uppance."

Brilliant Larry Moquin, the French-Canadian star meets riotous Lee Henning in the semi-final. The Iowa Cornhusker is a noted badman while Moquin is considered one of the best wrestling prospects to come along in many a moon.

Another starry mat encounter will bring in Irish Tom Collins and Strangler Bob Wagner. The Strangler needs no introduction to the local fans who know him as one of the most ruthless matmen in the game.

Wednesday night's card shapes up as one of the best to be shown here, with a great array of mat talent.

Five Teams In Schedule Of Soccer Loop

The teams registered with the Peterborough and District Football Association are Canadian General, Petes (named changed from Spartons), Canadian Legion, O'Hallorans, and Lindsay. It was stated that a representative would be present from Canada Packers but none arrived at the meeting thereby leaving the league with five teams.

A setback was given to the official opening of the league when the Electrics representative made a request that the scheduled game for Saturday be postponed owing to the greater number of the players going to the wedding of Ernie Cotton. The executive had no alternative but to accept the request. But O'Hallorans will travel to Lindsay on Saturday to meet the Scugog eleven. Kick-off is scheduled for 3.00 o'clock.

The schedule committee and the rules executiev were requested to meet and adjust the rules and regulations immediately so that the clubs may have a constructive program for the season.

The Petes (Spartons) will hold a practice game tonight and a special meeting immediately after the game. Then another practice Thursday evening.

Any veteran or player interested in playing with the Vets is requested to get in touch with Jack Adams at the Legion.

There will be no game in the city on Saturday.

Packers Take The Title In YM League

Canada Packers won the championship of the YMCA Men's Five-Pin League last night when they defeated Tip Tops 4-2. They also won the Canada Packers Trophy, emblematic of the league championship. This cup was donated a few years ago by Gordon Matthews and it is the first time a team representing his firm has won the trophy.

Commercials finished in second place just two point down on the Packers. They defeated Quakers 4-2, and they dropped the last game by five pins. Had they won that game they would have finished in a first-place tie.

Jay Bees upset of Artists kept the latter crew in third place, four points down on Commercials. Jay Bees took a 4-2 decision. In the other fixture Aberdeens defeated B'nai B'rith 4-2.

Hughey Siddall was high man with 825 for three games, his huge total being a big help to Canada Packers. "Deb" Callan was next best with 723 and Vic Sedgwick with 694 and Joe Weir with 693 were just a few pins short of the 700 mark.

Siddall's 327 and 314 gave him high single honors while Al Worsencroft with 324 and Vic Sedgwick with 304 were the only other 300 men.

Canada Packers won team honors with 3393 triple and 1290 single.

Team-player contracts, which headlined the Ontario Hockey Association executive meeting Saturday, will hold the spotlight at the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting at Toronto Friday, Saturday and Monday.

The special contract plan presented to OHA junior and senior A clubs by association president George Panter, which was turned down is a variation of the one that National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell would have the CAHA adopt.

It is expected Campbell's plan will be given a full hearing. He would have senior amateur players sign a contract binding them to one club. If a player from a club was taken by an NHL team, the amateur club would receive $5,000 from the pro league. It would receive $3,500 from the NHL and a lesser sum from any other lesser pro leagues. If the plan is accepted the annual grant of $31,000 from the NHL to the CAHA would be discontinued.

Drunken sulky drivers came in for strict censure by members of the Western Ontario Racing Association which held its annual meeting at Chatham yesterday. Ways and means to rule drunken drivers and incompetent horse handlers off tracks were discussed but outside of urging all tracks to take control measures, nothing was done. The Association will investigate feasibility of saliva tests at all Ontario meets. If the investigation is found reasonable all tracks will be urged to adopt the tests.

Dennis White, manager of the Canadian Olympic boxing team, announced last night at Montreal that entry forms for the Dominion boxing championships and Olympic trials have been sent all ranch secretaries and affiliated bodies. The meet will be held in Montreal May 28 and 29 and the championship division will range from 112 pounds to heavyweights.

Toronto Montgomery Maids whipped Cardston, Alta., Shooting Stars 47-35 at Toronto last night in the opener of their best-of-five Canadian senior women's basketball final series. Second match will be played tonight.

The Swedish Amateur Athletic Union ruled yesterday that Arne Anderson, Swedish miler, is a non-amateur. Anderson, Gundar Haegg and approximately a dozen Swedish athletes were suspended more than a year ago on charges of professionalism. Anderson recently sought a pardon. Haegg has virtually retired from track and now is employed in a sports shop.

South African Bobby Locke ripped into the first round of the Carolinas open golf tournament yesterday with an eight-under-par 64 to take the lead by five strokes. It was the competitive course record.

Windsor AKO juniors moved to within one game of the Eastern Canada junior basketball championship at Windsor last night when they trimmed Montreal Canadians Converters 55-36 in the first game of the best-of-three series. Second game will be played at Windsor tonight.

Bruins Force Final Game, Edge Lethbridge

PORT ARTHUR, April 20 (CP). —Port Arthur's West End Bruins forced the Western Canada junior hockey finals to go the limit by downing Lethbridge Native Sons 6-4 last night and squaring the best-of-seven series at three games each.

Bruins scored the victory—their second straight win and their third in four games on home ice—by scoring two goals in the last two minutes of play. Native Sons won the first two games at Lethbridge 6-1 and 7-6. Bruins, on home ice, won 7-4, lost 5-4 and then won again 5-0 before tying things up last night.

The seventh game of the series will be played Wednesday in Toronto.

Bruin Heroes

Centres Barton Bradley and Rudy Migay were the heroes in Port Arthur's victory. Bradley flipped in the winner on a pass-out from Fred Bacarri at 18:08 and 48 seconds later Migay checked at the Lethbridge blue line to break in alone on goalie George Rodzinyak and put the game on ice.

Deflections caused the first three goals. Dave Creighton tipped in Pete Durham's shot for the first Port Arthur goal. Durham made it 2-0 fewer than three minutes later in the first period when his hard drive caromed off a defending player. Roy Richardson countered for the Sons when his shot was deflected by Benny Wolt, Port Arthur defenceman.

Creighton converted a goal-mouth pass by Bradley for the Bruins' third goal at 14:30 and with Milford in the penalty box, Danny Lewicki whistled in a high corner shot to make it 4-1.

The second period was scoreless.

George Murphy touched off Lethbridge's rally with a backhand shot at 4:25 in the third period. At 9:30 Leclair caught an open corner and two minutes later the same player tied the score 4-4. Then came Port Arthur's two-goal outburst.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Quebec Star Gerry Cote Wins Marathon

BOSTON, April 20 — (CP). — Gerry Cote, 34-year-old track star from St. Hyacinthe, Que., who won the gruelling Boston Marathon yesterday, is confident he will be selected for Canada's Olympic Marathan team.

But Cote, who covered the 26-mile 385-yard course in 2 hours 31 minutes 2 seconds, also predicted that a British athlete would win the Olympic Marathon.

"I did much running when I was stationed in England during the war," he explained. "It was so damp over there I was unable to breathe properly after running 20 miles or so. The American Marathoners will run into the same difficulty. That is why I am picking an Englishman to win the Olympic race—the climate does not seem to bother the British runners."

Ted Vogel, United Station national champion, ran second to Cote after a shoulder-to-shoulder duel over much of the hilly course. He complained that Cote had bumped him, crossed in front of him and sprayed his legs with water when the Quebec runner doused his own head. Cote denied he had resorted to unfair tactics —"I won fair and square."

Third place went to Jesse Van Zandt, Boston entry running his first Marathon. Two-time winner Johnny Kelly was fourth, and Ollie Manninen fifth.

Two other Canadian stars, Lloyd Evans of Montreal and Walter Fedorick of Hamilton finished sixth and seventh.

Britain Has Worst-Fed Team In Olympics

LONDON, April 20 — (AP). — A leading medical authority here predicts that British athletes will make a poor showing in the summer Olympics, because "our athletes will turn out in July the worst fed by far of any competing nation."

Dr. C. R. Woodward, medical officer to the British Olympic cycling team and head of a London athletes clinic, wrote in the London Star that the Olympics will be a "fiasco" for Britain.

"Our athletes are too under-fed for competition with those of other nations," he said, "and they are badly handicapped by officialdom during training."

The British ration of 2,700 calories daily was enough for ordinary people but not for athletes, who required a minimum of 4,000.

"A sprinter running 100 yards uses an enormous amount of energy," the doctor said, "more, say than a miner uses in a week."

Swimmers, cyclists and other athletes use nearly as much, and "to ask them to train and race on present day rations is to ask the impossible."

Marchildon, Brissie Crush Red Sox In Doubleheader

By Associtaed Press

Joe McCarthy is back in baseball today — but please, mister, don't remind him.

The former manager of the New York Yankees still doesn't know whta hit him in yesterday's American League opener — his first day back since he went into his self-imposed exile a year and a half ago.

Old Connie Mack brought his upstart Philadelphia Athletics to Boston for an opening day morning-afternoon double header, welcomed McCarthy back with a "how are you, Joe?" then proceeded to rip McCarthy's Red Sox apart with a double-barrelled 5-4 and 4-2 triumph.

Mack used two war heroes—pitchers Phil Marchildon of Pentanguishene and Lou Brissie — to lead the charge.

Marchildon, shot down by the Germans while flying for the RCAF, and held a prisoner for nearly a year, spaced seven hits over 11 innings to win the first game. Brissie, for whom doctors once gave up hope after his left leg was nearly torn off by German shrapnel, limited Red Sox sluggers to four hits to win the afternoon tilt.

Yankees Down Senators

There were two other openers yesterday—one in each league—and they ran true to form. The world champion New York Yankees spoiled Washington's annual inaugural by knocking the stuffings out of the Senators 12-4 behind a 16-hit attack.

Even an eighth-inning free-for-all scuffle failed to ruffle the calm exterior of lanky Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati right-hander, who fashioned a neat seven-hitter in pitching the Reds to a 4-1 triumph over Pittsburgh Pirates in Cincinnati.

The majors get into full swing this afternoon with all other clubs making debuts in the National League: Brooklyn is at New York; Boston at Philadelphia; Cincinnati at St. Louis and Chicago at Pittsburgh. The American League has St. Louis at Cleveland, Detroit at Chicago and New York at Washington, with Philadelphia and Boston idle.

Early Golfing Very Different

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP). — Walter Hagen, who doesn't make many public appearances these days, was reminiscing for the Norfolk Sports Club yesterday when somebody asked him to compare modern golfers with the old-timers . . . "I can't do it," replied the Haig. "When I first started playing, we didn't have as good equipment, golf courses weren't so well groomed and we didn't have the same objectives to shoot for. We patterned ourselves after Harry Vardon, a fine golfer, but there wasn't any sense in trying for distance the way they do now. there wasn't any sense in trying to stay out of trouble or to get out of it as well as we could. Then, when better instruments came along, somebody learned you could take a double swing and hit the ball a mile. Now everybody does it . . . after all, you can control a double swing if you start learning it early enough."

Pop Shot

Illustrating the differences in golf equipment, Haken told of playing on a park course at Rochester, N.Y., years ago with a golf ball which had compressed air in the centre . . . The Haig sliced a drive deep in some bushes and was trying to hack his way out when a mounted policemen galloped up . . . While the cop was trying to see what or who was hidden in the shrubbery, Hagen topped a shot and the ball exploded. "Hey," shouted the cop. "No shooting allowed in there." . . . Hagen just stuck his head out and said, "Mister? I sure wasn't trying to make that kind of shot!"

All-Star Casts To Revive Sick Box-Office

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (AP). —One of Hollwood's proposed remedies for a sickly box-office is an injection of all-star casts.

Big-name casts of the "Grand Hotel" calibre have been scarce in recent years except for some helter-skelter musicals. Several studios now are planning films with casts that will add high voltage to theatre marquees. With less pictures being made, the film minds figure they might as well double or triple up their stars in single movies.

M-G-M is currently working most of its long contract list in two pictures, "Command Decision" and "Words and Music." It has announced plans to put six stars into the forthcoming "Vespers in Vienna."

David O. Selznick says he'll feature all his players in "The Greatest Show on Earth," story of the Big top. R-K-O has all-star plans for its Unknown Soldier film, "Honored Glory," and also 20th-Fox with "Letter to Four Wives."

Odds and Ends

Shirley Temple and John Agar agree never to fly in the same plane now that they have a child . . . Remember Clara Kimball Young?" She is living quietly in a comfortable home near the heart of Hollywood. The silent film star has been out of films since 1940. "I started acting when I was two and I've had my fill of it," she says.

Dana Andrews got a phone call on the "No Minor Vices" set that his yacht was sinking. He was about to dash to the harbor when he discovered it was a prank. Dana wasn't amused — he's trying to sell the boat and fears such stories will frighten buyers . . . Lilli Palmer is telling interviewers she won't discuss her married life . . . Bob Hope says he could make a fortune developing his Palm Spring subdivision, but he hasn't the time to devote to it. Too busy making money, I guess.

OWE VICTORY TO HIM — Art Childs, whose brilliant goal-tending has been one of the chief reasons Hamilton Tigers hold a 2-1 lead over Ottawa Senators in their Allan Cup semi-finals. Childs will be blocking pucks tonight at Maple Leaf Gardens when the Tigers and Senators clash in the fourth game. A win for Hamilton will give them the right to play Edmonton for the Allan Cup.

Castors Down Raiders 3-2

OSHAWA, April 20.—(CP). — Dolbeau Castors, Quebec champions, defeated Georgetown Raiders 3-2 last night to take a lead of 2-0 in games in their Eastern Canada intermediate hockey final series. Dolbeau won the first game of the best-of-five series here Saturday 4-3.

Pruneau score the winning goal at 4.55 of the second period after Georgetown had twice come from behind to tie the score on goals by Birtwhistle and Gibson.

Dolbeau first went into a lead on a counter by Lalancette and after Georgetown tied the score for the first time R. Blackburn put the Quebec champions in front again.

Tigers One Game Away From Cup

TORONTO, April 20 — (CP). — One game away from the Allan Cup finals— that's the position of Hamilton Tigers as they tangle with Ottawa Senators here tonight in the fourth and possibly deciding game of their best-of-five Eastern Canada senior hockey championship series.

Tigers can advance into the Allan Cup finals by taking one more game. They won the opener at Ottawa 5-4, lost the second game at Toronto 2-1, and then took a 4-1 victory at Montreal last Saturday.

If Tigers win tonight they will meet Edmonton Flyers in the first game of the Canadian senior amateur hockey final series at Regina on Saturday, April 24. If they lose, the fifth and deciding game of the eastern series will be played at Ottawa Thursday, with the winner meeting Edmonton April 26.

The most surprising part of the eastern series is that Tigers were clearly outplayed in two of their games and also overshadowed slightly in the other tilt.

Ontario CCF Starts Campaign

WINDSOR, April 20—(CP)—The Ontario CCF began its formal provincial election campaign here last night as E. B. Jolliffe, provincial leader, described Premier Drew's election appeal as "the strangest ever put forward by a politician in Canada."

In an address prepared for delivery to a public meeting sponsored by Essex County CCF associations, he said the Progressive-Conservative appeal had only two important points—"a $25,000,000 surplus and a $600,000,000 mortgage."

"We of the CCF advocate a program of planned expansion," Mr. Jolliffe said. "We know of the great productive potentialities of Ontario and the need for well-planned development. But we don't believe that any government can tax its way into prosperity in the hit-and-miss manner of the Tories."

"Thousands more immigrants are being invited to Ontario by a government which makes no provision for new housing and which knows—or ought to know—that industry won't have enough (Hydro-Electric) power in winter to employ all these people—or even the people who are here now."

Dr. Semple Addresses Springville YPU

SPRINGVILLE, April 20 — (ENS)—The Young People's Union of Springville United church held their last meeting for the season on Friday in the form of a banquet.

Rev. Dr. C. S. Reddick, introduced the Rev. Dr. James Semple of George St. United church, Peterborough, who was guest speaker.

His talk was the five C's—Conception, Confession, Constancy, Co-operation and Consecration.

Roger Henbidge, president of the YPU, was toastmaster. Eleanor Bowles proposed the toast to the church and Mrs. Bert Visee responded. Raymond Kelk proposed the toast to the ladies and Myrna Seymour proposed. Agnes Downes proposed the toast to the winning side and Clarence Johnson responded.

Edna Davis gave a guitar selection and Hazel McIntosh gave a reading.

Protests Delay On Margarine

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP). — Senator Arthur Hardy (L-Ontario) last night protested the Senate's delay of the margarine question.

On the order paper as the Senate met after a 26-day recess was a long-standing motion for second reading of an Act amending the Dairy Industry Act. It would remove the ban on importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute.

Senator P. H. Bouffard (L-Quebec), who adjourned the margarine debate last Feb. 18, was not in the chamber.

Senator Hardy, noting that the matter had been standing for more than two months, said he intended to proceed Tuesday, whether Senator Bouffard was present or not. He believed Senate rules were that Senator Bouffard, through his absence, had surrendered his right to speak on the matter.

Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario), sponsor of the bill, was in the House.

A similar private bill, sponsored by James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North), is scheduled for Commons debate today.

Hint Federal Election

OTTAWA, April 20 — (CP) — Members of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada were warned today to be prepared for a Federal general election this year. Charges 19 Papers Preach Communism

KITCHENER, April 20—(CP)—Secretary of State Colin Gibson said here yesterday that 19 of 78 foreign language papers printed in Canada are preaching Communism.

"Some people suggest that the Communist party should be outlawed and its papers banned," he said. "I do not believe this is the answer . . . if we have nothing better to offer than the Communists, then we have no excuse for opposing them; but if, as we generally believe, our system is superior, then our people of all groups and classes have a right to know in what ways they benefit by supporting our democratic system."

He said Communists are trying to make new Canadian citizens unfaithful. This problem has been effectively tackled in Ontario. The government has organzied 260 citizenship classes, with a total membership of more than 4,500.

Beef Producers Anxious Cattle Ban Lifted To US

OTTAWA, April 20 — (CP). — The Commons Price Committee yesterday strayed from the causes of higher meat prices into a discussion of the pros and cons of permitting Canadian beef-producers to sell their cattle in the United States.

The issue, which committee members believed representatives of Western producers will push further, was raised in a brief presented by two officers of the Ontario Beef Producers' Association. Since 1942 an embargo has prevented sales in the American market.

"With cattle selling in the United States at almost twice the price prevailing in Canada, beef producers are eagerly awaiting the day when the embargo will be lifted," the association said in its brief. It was presented by Stewart Brown, president, and E. M. Bateman, secretary of the association.

They conceded that the British food contracts have helped stabilize the Canadian meat industry and added:

"Producers well remember the deflation that took place after the last war, and would willingly forego extremely high prices prevailing in the United States for a greater degree of stabilization. They are firmly convinced that the stabilized price should bear a closer relationship to those prevailing in the United States."

Jean Lesage (L-Montmagny-L'Islet) was the first to seize the point.

"If the embargo were lifted the Canadian price would rise to the American level — practically double—would it not?" he asked.

Mr. Brown said there were the freight rates and duties to be considered, which would reduce the levelling-up process.

"Well, 90 per cent higher," Mr. Lesage said. Finally, he asked if Mr. Brown would agree that removal of the embargo would raise Canadian beef prices by 75 per cent.

"From a consumer's standpoint this embargo is a good thing?" he asked.

Mr. Brown nodded.

"If we had an increase of about 75 per cent it would be just terrible," Mr. Lesage said.

R. W. Mayhew (L-Victoria, B C) told him the actual rise would only be in the neighborhood of 35 to 40 per cent.

In their brief the two witnesses had told the committee that the stockyard prices are "little if any higher" this year than during May and June of 1947.

"If the consumer paid substantially more for beef that increase could not be attributed to any appreciable rise in prices paid to the producer," they said. "Moreover, present prices are no more than adequate to cover costs of production."

Mr. Brown said the position this winter had been aggravated by poor crops in the East, forcing farmers to buy their feed.

"Unless we have better crops I don't think there will be as many cattle fed another year," he said. "We just could not carry on.

"To a certain extent there is a danger of depopulating the farms of cattle."

John C. Morton, Reeve Grant CCF Candidates

Premier Drew's announcement that there will be a provincial election on June 7 has started the political pot simmering. On Monday night the CCF swung into action when they held a dual nomination meeting electing John C. Morton, Sherbrooke St., as the party's provincial candidate, and W. C. Grant, Lakefield, candidate in the federal field.

More than 60 party members crowded into the Knights of Columbus Hall to pick the CCF standard-bearers in the forthcoming Ontario election and also select their candidate in the next Dominion election, which some observers believe is not far off.

As the election day is a bare seven weeks away interest was focussed on the provincial candidate in particular. Mr. Morton, 34, a CGE-UEW member, has never been a candidate for public office before.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Morton said "I know that social legislation we have received up to the present time has never been given by the good will and good heart of the old parties but through the pressure of individual organizations, such as trade unions and farmers."

He said that if returned to power the CCF would enact the proper social legislation without the necessity of having to be "pressured" by these organizations. Also falling under his criticism was the Drew-goverhment's move of cutting the milk subsidies. This was done, Mr. Morton contended, because the present Ontario government wanted to show a budget surplus regardless of its effect on young children.

After thanking those who had balloted for him Mr. Grant said: "At the moment there is a great fear about the threat of Communism, and that fear will become a bugaboo to scare people from voting CCF. He said neither he nor his party wanted the electoral support of Communists.

Charges Conspiracy

"In my many years as a CCF worker I never knew of a saw-off between CCF-ers and Communists." Then he charged that this was more than the Liberal party could say. He contended that in the 1945 provincial election saw-offs were arranged between Liberals and Communists. And he singled out Alex A. Parent, MPP for Essex North, and Joseph Meinzinger, MPP for Waterloo North, as cases in point. "Meinzinger was elected on a Liberal-Labor ticket with LPP support," he said.

"The best cure for totalitarianism of any kind is democratic practices," he said, and one of these democratic practices is the right to vote. "As citizens of this municipality we should be ashamed of the number of people who turn out to vote."

Concluding he said, "the CCF is the one party today that gives its members the opportunity of participating in its work, and I am appealing o the other parties to give their members that privilege."

Oliver Hodges, Political Action Organizer, CCF Trade Union Committee, reaffirmed the other speakers' repudiation of Communist support saying "they support the CCF because they are told to, even as they support Wallace in the United States."

By creating conditions of full employment and by maintaining good health and adequate housing standards, he said there would be no room for Communism.

Chairman of the meeting was J. W. Noseworthy, ex-MP for York South, and Ontario organizer for the CCF. In a brief address he said, "I suspect if Christ himself were elected in Ontario at this time he would be criticized. Somebody would call him a Communist; or somebody would say he was trying to take your farm away from you."

"The man you choose must be prepared to battle for the rights of the common people. He must be willing to sacrifice time, energy, and self-interest, and battle to see that the people who actually produce goods and services receive a fair share of these goods and services."

John Beggs said "if it weren't for the CCF members, we would find the Trade and Labor Council dominated by Communists."

Walter Dinesen, president of the local association, opened and closed the meeting.

Kawartha Resort Operators To Revive Old Association

Tentative plans for the formation of a Kawartha Lakes Tourist and Development Association and Associated Districts were discussed at a meeting on Monday evening at the Empress Hotel. Gilbert Watson, president of the Resorts Section of the Hotel Association of Ontario, opened the discussion.

"I wish to pay tribute," he said, "to all organizations, which have publicized the Kawartha Lakes. They have done a splendid job up to a point, but past that they have failed. A better job can be done. The time has come when this district can be better represented and better put across than it has been up to the present time. Discussions have taken place in the past, but nothing has been done. We have the finest summer resort district in the Dominion of Canada, but who knows about it? We must put forth a highly intensified and well-organized campaign."

He then asked for an opinion on the question, "Do you think this project worth going ahead with and developing?" which met with an affirmative answer from all present, and pointed out that having accepted the proposal for an organization, a large amount of work would have to be done.

"Unless we are willing to work, we might as well call a halt right now," he continued. "We should now get an organization going and develop the county to the limit, to hold the present business and to see that the customer gets a fair deal. Tourists definitely have been "gouged" by a certain type of operator in all districts."

"The Mexican and South American governments have been making a terrific play for Canadian business, as have the British West Indies. They are using men of great ability, but here we sit back contented, when we have a job to do. It is too late to do anything this summer, but we can organize, formulate by-laws and a financial structure to be handed over to a general meeting to be held next fall."

H. L. Garner of the Peterborough Examiner told how he was present at the demise of the Kawartha Lakes Resort Association ten years ago. "I always felt it was a great pity," he said, "that the association ended. Other similar organizations have done an excellent job." He mentioned how the Peterborough Examiner had gone ahead and produced the Vacation Edition, and at the same time had taken action against "fly-by-nighters" with valueless advertising schemes. Mr. Garner said that with an organization existing, it would not have been necessary for the paper to take the lead to eliminate unscrupulous promoters.

European Competition

C. O. Phillips, of Fenelon Falls pointed out that there would soon be strong European competition for the tourist trade, particularly as a result of increased air travel. He said that the Russians were planning to build ships carrying 2,500 people on trips to Europe at a cost of about $200. "We must educate the tourist resort people," he continued, "and improve the standard of accommodation."

W. Grant Mitchell, president of the New York State Travel Council, advocated the distribution of a district folder, which could be distributed at sportsmen's shows. "The travel business," he said, "is everybody's business. It doesn't mean profit for the transportation lines, hotels and retail stores. It means profit for every business. It includes the utility company, the bank, the newspaper and the theatre—they all get their share of the travel dollar." He said that there were three fundamentals in the tourist business: having beautiful country, letting the tourist people know about it, or advertising and publicity, and letting the tourist go away satisfied.

Everybody present at the meeting was willing to support the proposed organization, and many speakers paid particular tribute to the work of the Peterborough Examiner in fostering the tourist trade. A proposed constitution and by-laws were then discussed.

Those present were Gilbert Watson, W. Grant Mitchell, Robert Mitchell, A. R. Bennet, E. A. Balmer, William Ianson, Harry Morgan, Tom Lawler, Jack Marshall, C. O. Phillips, Mrs. Albert Nicholls, Miss Anne Digby, Wilfred Havery, H. L. Garner.

It was decided to have a meeting of the same group of people early in September to finally decide upon the decisions made at Monday night's meeting, and to call a general meeting of all resort owners later the same month.

They were taken by car to the Clancey farm and Dr. M. O'Brien was summoned to give medical attention, and sent the older man by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital for observation and treatment. Michael went to his home in the city and was attended by his own physician, Dr. Bob Young, who treated him for strained hip muscles. He was back at work on Monday morning. To Study Plan For New Homes In Smith Twshp.

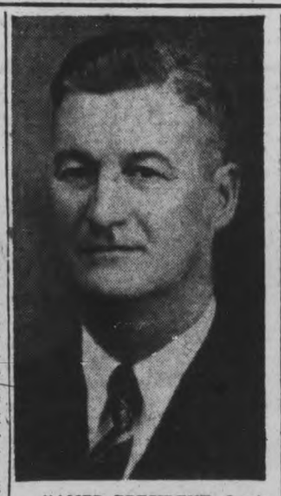
Financing of municipal services, sewers, roads, sidewalks, schools, and so on, was the chief problem of a new housing project in Smith Township discussed Monday night at the city hall.

Representatives of the Board of Education, Utilities Commission, Queen Elizabeth School Board, all the members of Smith Council, with their clerk, A. L. Edmison, sat in at a meeting of the committee of the whole of the City Council as they approached this proposed undertaking.



It has been suggested that Smith might assume the financing of various necessary works and collect from the people who buy the houses; or the city might buy the land, put in the improvements, and resell the lots as the houses on them approach completion. Three contractors are said to be interested in the acquiring of two fields, north of Brookdale subdivision and west of Chemong road, of combined area of 30 acres. An additional 100 houses would be built in this block, according to the present prospects, with financing by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Several groups of so-called integrated houses have been built here. One is the Arndon subdivision, the other the McKellar area. G. Wilson Craw and Public School Inspector Keith Wightman told the informal meeting that another 100 houses anywhere, except in the south-west of the city, would aggravate the school accommodation problem, and require capital expenditure.

Ross L. Dobbin, manager, of Utilities Commission, said that if the properties were annexed the commission would have to finance the water mains, but if the land remained in the township then Smith would have to finance the laying of mains. Mr. Dobbin said the Utilities department had an accumulation of work, and could not promise to undertake any other jobs this season unless the present list of streets to get mains was upset.

Nothing definite was decided. Reeve Ross Harrison, sitting beside Mayor Ovens, asked for a report of the alternative plans outlined by the city. City Council later referred the matter to the board of works which is meeing next Monday. In the meantime further information will be obtained from the Board of Education.

Ald. Armstrong said there was urgency of action because one of the contractors would soon be completing his present work and might lose the staff he had assembled during the last year or more if the proposed new work was not available.

The option and prize list, which will be available to all pupils, fully describes the preparation of ground and gives detailed instructions for planting. It also gives a list of points a judge looks for when judging flowers and vegetables. There are 20 classes of entries in the junior section of the senior show, and 40 classes in the junior flower, vegetables and crafts show.

An awar wil lbe given at the end of the season to every junior member who exhibits in any of the flower and vegetable classes for the first time. This applies to exhibits in either the junior section of the senior show or the junior flower, vegetable and crafts show, and will be made whether any prizes have been won or not.

Four Industries Supporting Civic Arena

Heads of four more industries have spoken in support of the Civic Arena project, and reports from the committee reveal good progress in the collection at the various industrial plants across the city. A substantial amount from business men is expected this week.

Gordon Monkman, general manager of the G. Whitaker and Company, Peterborough branch said this morning, the company donation and that from the employees would be in the neighborhood of $300. "We are in complete sympathy with this venture and expect to have all canvassing completed today," Mr Monkman said.

Ernest Young, general manager of the Ontario Marble, is awaiting approval of the parent firm on an industrial grant to the Arena and said: "I hope this arena scheme goes through. The youngsters need a lot of looking after and this would provide a place for their winter activity when parents could see them play in comparattive comfort."

The G. Walter Green Company has sanctioned a company donation and a shop canvass, and good support is coming from the Colonial Weaving Company and its employees. William Fisher of Fiser Gauge Works, who plans to give a company donation, and has also permitted a canvass in his shop said "Anything we can do for our youth in Peterborough is certainly worth the effort. We have good youngsters here and it is up to us to provide recreational facilities and keep them good."

All those who have been delaying their donatons are requested to hand in the money or cheque this week, as the committee wishes to get every available bit of money before starting the building on May 15.

Deputation Protests No Action In Opening Up George St.

Fear Erection Of Memorial Gates Into Morrow Park Will Bar Opening Of Street Through The Park

Mayor William Ovens and Ald. Adam Sands were appointed by the council Monday night to consider and recommend the next step in the projection of George St. through Morrow Park, commonly known as the Exhibition Grounds.

This action was taken in response to a deputation from the new south ward, headed by Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Church, enquiring about what had been done since their appeal to the council in March, and expressing alarm at recently published reports of building plans of the Exhibition Board and the Morrow Trust.

When the council, in general business, turned to the subject of the petition, City Clerk Outram read a minute of the meeting early in March to the effect that the members of the Morrow Trust had affirmed their willingness to support an application of the council to a judge of the Supreme Court to determine the authority of the Trust to assent to the road extension through the park.

"I've been just as riled as Rev. Mr. Moore at the delay since March," Mayor Ovens told the council. "I've called up our Solicitor several times about it. The latest was on Friday. If this matter is not dealt with soon, it may be laid over until the fall, because the judges are busy, and they take quite a long holiday in the summer. People probably feel that the council has been responsible for delay. I personally assured Mr Moore that the council was in favor of the opening of George St."

Some Alarm Felt

Rev. Mr. Moore informed the council that many of the residents of the area south of Morrow Park felt alarmed when they read recently that the directors of the Exhibition were planning several permanent buildings, and that the trustees of the Park were preparing to erect a memorial gate."

Oppose Erection of Gate

"We have not heard of any result of the council's action, and we were wondering whether the wishes of the people had been disregarded," Mr. Moore said. "If the gate is erected, it is felt that it will settle for all time any development on that property. If the road was put through, it would be on sufferance of the Exhibition authorities, and it could be closed at all times they wished. That is an important piece of property. It is no longer the south end of the city. It has become part of the city. You can put up new buildings or a new gate, but try to get them down. The people need to be long-sighted before such things are done."

Rev. Mr. Moore said he wished the Trust was thinking of a memorial library instead of a memorial gate. "I should be glad to subscribe to a branch library for the south end as a memorial Mr. R. A. Morrow. The people of that district are much concerned about buildings in that park. They don't wish it to be carried on as an Exhibition ground. If the Board could obtain accommodation elsewhere, we'd rest very happy. It is not just a problem of the south end, but of the development of the city as a whole."

Facilities for children should not be confined to playgrounds and swimming pools, Mr. Moore said. In these times when democracy was more important than ever, the knowledge of it should begin with the children. They should be provided with a library and encouraged to use it.

Suggest Expropriation

"This is a matter that rests on your shoulders," Mr. Moore concluded. "If you cannot come to other terms, you might consider expropriation. Then when we would pass through the grounds we would be on our own property as citizens, and not at the sufferance of some Board. But, it does seem there has been unwarranted delay somewhere."

Mayor Ovens said, in part: "The council has been just as disturbed as the people by the delay. We had read the report of the Exhibition Board meeting. We'll bring this question up for discussion and action later tonight."

In that phase of the meeting Ald. Dick Raine said he had been surprised that nothing had been done "since the meeting we had with the City Trust."

Ald. Swanston: "I'll move that Mayor Ovens and Ald. Sands, chairman of the legal committee, go into this matter, take it up immediately so we can put it through." Ald. Anglesey seconded the motion.

"I think we should take the long view, and ask the Morrow Trust to stay their gate," Ald. Grant Miller proposed. "Citizens have come here and spoken, and we should listen to them. I have been of the opinion that ultimately the city would have to take a stand on that property. It is too important not to be used more fully than it is."

"I thought the board fence was coming down, but not to be replaced by a steel one," said Ald. Herbert Young. "If that is done we won't be any further ahead in opening up the property. I understood the place was going to be beautified."

Ald. Sands: "My understanding was that George St. was going through. We'd pay for the application for a judicial decision, and the Exhibition Board could close up the street once a year. The land would still belong to the Morrow Trust. Right now we are not in the picture. We don't come in at all, unless it becomes a city park. I'd like to see the fence down, but we should know where we are going. In any case we'd be asking only for a roadway. It's not going to be a city street."

Mayor Ovens: "Why there has been dilly-dallying I don't know. I have felt the property should belong to the city. Two questions are involved, one the immediate need and the other of the future."

Ald. Sands: "If we want a street, we'll have to expropriate."

References to the possibility of expropriation, inspired a comment by Ald. Swanston: "If you want to go the whole way, you'll need $150,000,—if we've got the money. I think there may be a vote of the people in June, I don't mean political, but to provide more money for the hospital. We could put it to the people then."

If the people approved of buying the park, Ald. Grant Miller said the council would be relieved of all the neckling and criticism there had been about acquiring part of the park as a site for the Memorial Community Centre. If the people defeated the proposal, there would be nothing more heard of the Centre going there.

"You can be certain be a long drawn out legal battle if we went the limit," said Mayor Ovens.

The council contended itself with the Swanston motion requesting Mayor Ovens and Ald. Sands to consider the petitions from the south ward, and report to the council probably at its next meeting.

Speaker Claims State Control Slows Progress

"Despite the problems she faces today, Canada is at the height of her power and influence and at the greatest peak of promise. She can look forward and build for the future with confidence." This was the statement of Bert Kesler, Ottawa sales executive and national past president of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce speaking at a meeting of the Peterborough Jaycees Monday night.

Canada's first and greatest need, said the speaker, is for national unity. With mutual understanding, tolerance and interests, her differences should not divide her but add a "spice" to the job of working together for the common goal.

The big problem facing the world today is Capitalism versus Collectivism. Capitalism Mr. Kesler described as "the system of free men." He said that, during the war years, despite the necessary extension of government controls, the burden of production still fell on industry which had been trained and developed under a system of free enterprise.

The world's need to be met today is two-fold: a higher standard of living and security. They must be attained without loss of freedom of the individual, he emphasized.

"There are some in this country who would wish to obtain these by a sacrifice of freedom for full employment. This way means the loss of personal liberties."

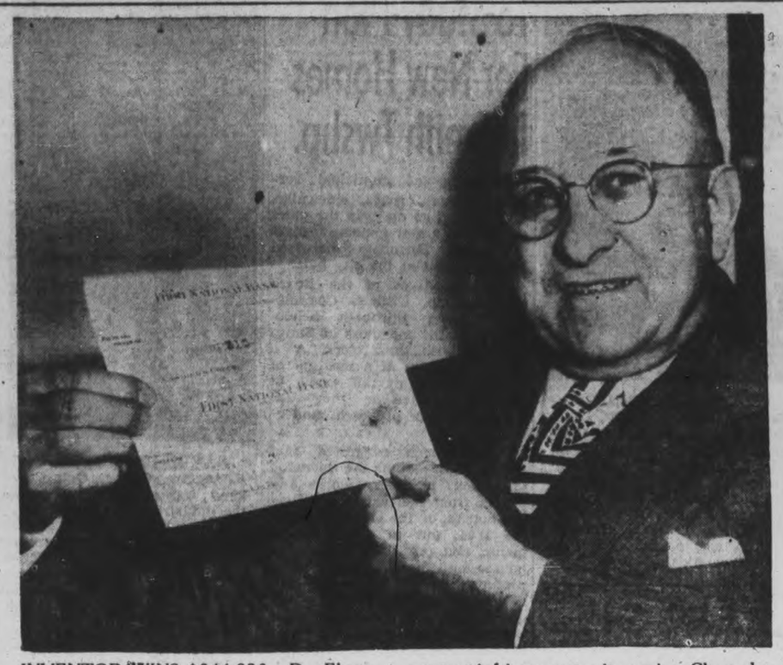
"Canadians are a proud people, unwilling to surrender their rights. They cannot be ordered and pushed around like domestic animals."

The practical way to development, he maintained, was not centralized planning but encouragement of private incentive. All four major groups must benefit—consumers, workers, investors and farmers.

On the unemployment situation, he warned that "we cannot delegate responsibility to government without delegating authority with it."

He drew a distinction between necessary government regulations to curb unscrupulous business practices and control which aimed at controlling industry.

"Too much state control means an end to development," said Mr. Kesler.



Douglas Britton, another Ottawa visitor, outlined the program for the convention of Region Six of the Jaycees to be held in Ottawa May 14 to 16. There will be several carloads of local members attending.

The speaker was introduced by Marlow Banks and thanked by Claude Hewitt.

President Ken Jones was chairman.

CALLS FOR PLANNING

Pulp and paper mills cannot be moved to tap new forests. They depend on perpetuity in their existing forests.

INVENTOR WINS $344,893—Dr. Elmer G. Kesling, dentist, holds two cheques, one for $310,486 and the other for $34,407, which he received in St. Louis after winning a patent infringement suite against Chevrolet Division of the General Motors Corp., which had to pay him for use of a vacuum booster mechanism used as an aid in shifting gears. Kesling invented it in 1936.

The three men—Dalls Johnston, Stanley Johnston and Gerald Johnston—had all pleaded guilty to the charges. Charges of creating a disturbance were also dismissed against the three and against Lloyd Brown.

Discuss Methods Of Bolstering Conservatives

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP). — Methods of strengthening the Progressive Conservative party's organization across the country will be discussed today.

A select committee, chosen from among the 1,000 party supporters attending the three-day annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, will tackle the organizational problem:

It will be one of several committees that will meet behind closed doors. Another will nominate officers for the coming year. Publicity, public relations, policy and resolutions will be discussed by other groups.

The day's heavy schedule will conclude with the Association's annual meeting at which John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, will give an account of his stewardship.

Highlighting the opening sessions yesterday were statements by party officials which indicated they expected a Federal general election this fall.

All meetings were closed to the press except a dinner meeting of the Young Progressive Conservatives of Canada.

Earlier, Mr. Bracken and party officials spoke briefly to a closed general meeting. Summaries of their speeches were handed to newspapermen by public relations officers.

Mr. Bracken said the delegates were meeting in "critical days for Europe."

Princess Elizabeth, 22 After Year of Milestones

LONDON, April 20 — (AP). — Princess Elizabeth turns a wifely 22 tomorrow after a year of exciting milestones. In these last 12 months she has come of age, become engaged, married, and started the adventure of life on her own. By the end of this year she may be a mother. Only a royal family announcement cancelling her engagements, however, will settle whether that is speculation or fact.

Elizabeth's 21st birthday came at the wind-up of the long, arduous royal tour of South Africa and Rhodesia — her first trip overseas. Ahead of her now lie a brief Maytime trip with Prince Philip to Paris and—another first—the big chance to rule the Commonwealth for several months.

That will be made possible by her expected appointment as Chief Councillor of State while her parents and Princess Margaret tour Australia and New Zealand.

Weathers Crucial Year

All who know the Princess agree she has weathered this crucial year triumphantly. She remains friendly, poised, eager. She has kept her head. Her reserve is still there, and a certain diffidence, which sometimes is mistaken for sulkiness.

She and Prince Philip have moved from Kensington Palace to Windlesham Moor, their country home in Surrey.

Although Elizabeth has little time at the moment for housework, she knows how food should be cooked and served, how to make a bed properly, and a good deal about interior decoration.

Like other members of the Royal Family, she prefers plain to fancy cooking, and light, quick meals to banquets. She doesn't smoke, rarely drinks, and when she does it is a weak cocktail or a bit of champagne.

Conservative Taste

Conservative is the word for most of her tastes. She dislikes fancy wallpaper, brilliant paints, modern furniture and too-highly-decorated furnishings.

She has taken the lead herself in decorating and furnishing her new home. Workers find her a knowing boss.

She sets great store by the home—and by that she means having children.

"The strength of our country—of any great country—lies in the home and the family," she says.

Elizabeth is quiet but not dull. Less openly merry than Margaret, she can be just as highly amused. She doesn't say so herself, but intimates speak for her: "If you knew you're to be a Queen one day, you can't be too madly gay, a glamour girl, or social butterfly."

Even so, Elizabeth is a fine dancer, "adores" the rumba, is devoted to Bing Crosby and is as high-hearted as a co-ed about her pending jaunt to Paris.

NOT AS MUSICAL

In early times bells were not cast in a mold but were made of thin plates of hammered iron, riveted together.

Alberta Rejects Daylight Time

By The Canadian Press

It's illegal in Alberta, it's required by law in British Columbia, but to most Canadians in towns and cities the introduction next week-end of daylight time will mean the loss of an hour's sleep Sunday morning and re-adjustment of living and working habits to a new spring and summer schedule.

Staunch opponents of daylight time are found in other places besides farms. Railway schedules, for example, ignore the clock fixing.

The largest region to reject daylight time is Alberta. Its legislature at the last session passed a law prohibiting daylight time in the province unless the time change is adopted on a national scale or in agreement with two or more provinces such as neighboring British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

Ontario cities and towns which will switch to daylight time include: Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, Windsor, London, Oshawa, Chatham, Brockville, Galt, Cornwall, Brantford, Niagara Falls, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Woodstock, Sarnia, Stratford, Kingston, Waterloo, Kitchener, North Bay, Guelph and Timmins.

Consider Meat Ceiling

OTTAWA, April 20.—(CP).—The cabinet is again considering whether or not it should impose temporary price ceilings on meat. High government sources said the whole meat structure is being examined. The reason for this review is the approach of the annual seasonal shortage of meat.

Sees No Future For French Authors Here

By GUY GAGNON

MONTREAL, April 20 (CP). — Rev. Rodolphe Dube, whose philosophical works have appeared in Quebec under the pen-name "Francois Hertel," feels there is no future for a French-speaking author in Canada.

That is one reason why the 42-year-old Roman Catholic priest and writer is leaving for Europe tomorrow — to "escape" from what he calls "half-civilized America.

Another reason for his trip, which will take him through France, Italy and Spain, is to see Paris publishers about his latest book — a volume of short novels — which will probably appear under the title "Contes" (Novels).

French-Canadians are already familiar with Abbe Dube's "Ordre Personaliste," which he believes to be his best philosophical work, his "Cosmos" and "Monde Chimerique."

America Old

"I'm returning to the New World because I'm weary of the old one," he said in an interview in his book-lined apartment on mid-town Sherbrooke Street. "Contrary to geological and geographical opinion, I claim that America is the Old World. The cultural revival in Europe, especially in France, makes America look old and decayed."

Being a member of the secular clergy — his title "Abbe" distinguishes him from members of other religious orders who live in monasteries or colleges where they teach — the author-priest can live in his own home and travel and work at will.

Abbe Dube, a native of Riviere Ouelle in Kamouraska County, came to Montreal several years ago after spending many years in Three Rivers, Que., where a brother, Raymond Dube, is news editor of Le Nouvelliste.

PLANE CRASHES BUILDING—Ray Holland (left), 21, of Brownsville, got off with only minor injuries when his light plane dropped nearly 3,000 feet in a spin, then bounced off side of factory wall at Tillsonburg. Minister Of Health Suggests Program To Combat Disease

Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, was the guest speaker at the Rotary lunch on Monday at the Y.M.C.A. In his address, he suggested a practical program to assist the prevention of disease, and in particular, mental illness, cancer, tuberculosis and polio.

Mr. Kelley said that the provincial government was spending $22,000,000 on public health, of which one-half was being spent on mental disease. There are 17,500 people in mental hospitals in Ontario. "In the past we have taken these people as a matter of course," he said. "Mental illness is just another form of illness, and we must get boys and girls to have a little kindness in their hearts and not go saying harmful things to a boy or girl, whose mother or father is in a mental hospital. There are two things we want to do; we want to prevent mental illness, and secondly we want to reduce the $11,000,000 we are spending on mental illness."

No Definite Cure

The minister went on to discuss cancer. "There has been no definite cure found for cancer," he said. "The minute you have a lump, a swelling or a sore, go and see your doctor. Don't look on it as an expense, look on it as an investment."

On the subject of tuberculosis, he said: "We should try to keep ourselves in perfect health. In too many cases, the young men and women are running the homes, not you. We all want our young people to have a good time, but the latest a party should start is nine o'clock, and they should be home by one. I have seen many of these boys and girls and I regard them as run-down. So many young people get tuberculosis because they get run-down, and it is costing us four of five million dollars a year. Tuberculosis is not by any means a fatal disease. We give the very best care and thus we must try and get across to the young people the idea of healthy living."

"Polio," he said, "is something we should do something about." He quoted three cases in his own experience, when nobody had the slighest idea how the victims had caught the disease, and mentioned that his own eldest son had died from polio, about which very little is known. "I do not think," he continued, "that we should let the children get too tired. We should insist on the boys and girls, and all of us, washing our faces and hands before we eat. I also advocate the washing of fruit in the summer."

Eight Health Points

Before giving eight points of health, he mentioned lives lost by drowning and the work done by the YMCA in teaching swimming. "If the YMCA's did nothing except have swimming pools," he said, "they would be worth while." The eight health rules he gave were: look after your diet, your posture, rest after lunch if possible, see your doctor when you are well, take care of your teeth, your eyes, looking on the bright side of things, do something good for somebody each day and be kind to children and old people.

Dr. R. A. Kelly introduced Mr. Kelley, who was thanked by Leslie Woodruff. Dr. R. K. Magee gave a short address on behalf of the Canadian Cancer Society, which is having a campaign to increase its membership throughout Ontario. Hon. Harold Scott, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests; John Hornal, Superintendent of the Peterborough Civic Hospital, and Dr. P. C. C. Dawson, president of the Peterborough County Medical Association, were among the guests at the luncheon.

City Of Future Planned Very Carefully

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Most towns grow up hapazardly. But in Peterlee, the city of the future, each street and building will have been planned down to the last pavingstone and doorknob.

Peterlee will be the home town of some 10,000 families now living in the straggling mining villages of Durham County in Northeast England. More than 2,000 acres of rolling countryside near the town of Easington have been taken over for the site. It is estimated that the project will be completed in 10 years.

"It is a dream of our time," said Berthold Lubetkin, London architect of Russian descent, who is drawing up the plans for the Ministry of Town and Country Planning.

"In the midst of national austerity, we are going to build an entirely new town, lock, stock and barrel," Lubetkin said. "There will be houses, not chicken coops, schools, creches, shopping centres, church, hospitals, railway stations, a civic theatre and cinemas, pubs, restaurants, cafes, a library and museum and a mining research institute."

Organize Survey

A survey now is being organized to determine the views of the 30,000 to 40,000 future citizens of Peterlee, mostly miners and their families. It will be used in the guidance of the number of detached houses and apartment blocks to be built.

Another problem in laying out the town is that it will have to cater not only to its own population but to some 60,000 other persons living in the surrounding area. Stores, theatres and other community centres will be built with them in mind.

The reason why Peterlee is getting a go-ahead while other planned towns, like the "satellite" ring of communities intended to draw off some of London's surplus population, are stopped or slowed down in its relation to the mining industry.

THE FAMOUS
PASQUALE D'ANGELO SCHOOL OF CHARM

PASQUALE D'ANGELO, Canada's foremost authority on feminine beauty. In his School of Charm, founded three years ago, his philosophy of "intelligence plus charm" has become a reality.

To-day, women must have ingenuity, intellect, self-reliance, charm, wit, as well as efficiency. Realizing this, Pasquale D'Angelo three years ago founded his now famous SCHOOL OF CHARM—where women of all ages and types, with every conceivable ambition, learn to be their most naturally attractive and smartest selves.

Proof of its success lies in the accomplishments of its hundreds of graduates. On our third anniveraiy, we are justly proud of our record, having made a constructive contribution of Canadian business and social life, imparting to so many women the tenets of grace, poise, assurance and confidence that they may represent the idealization of the true Canadian natural beauty—charming, smart and lovely.

Mr. D'Angelo believes that a self-conscious girl who is always worrying about herself, the way she looks, walks, talks, etc., is a liability; but the self-confident, poised woman, knowing that her bearing, speech and appearance are attractive and correct, is a distinct asset to herself and the community.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men and Women Possessing Tact in Arguing Are Rare

Probably the greatest accomplishment that any human being can possess is the ability to disagree with others without being disagreeable. No other talent is more valuable or serves more useful purposes, for it is a first aid to success, a promoter of popularity, and the one sure recipe for making a marriage a little bit of Heaven on earth.

Yet this precious asset is as rare as hens' teeth. Miss Americas and prima donnas and millionaires and spellbinders are as common as pig tracks, but men and women who can argue without getting into each other's hair are so scarce as to be practically museum specimens. And this is strange because, in reality, few people are conceited enough to expect everyone to think as they do and yes-yes them.

Dorothy Dix

Certainly it would be a dull world if it were only filled with repeaters and no one had an original idea or thought. There is no one whom we avoid more assiduously than we do the bores who have a theme song upon which they harp continually. Yet the minute one of these pests changes his tune and begins to descant upon some subject with which we do not see eye to eye with him, we smite him hip and thigh.

Stingy In Opinions

No matter how generous we are about other things, we are stingy with our opinions, and we can't abide having our families and friends and neighbors think differently from the way we do. If we belong to a different school of thought from Mr. Jones, we can't let him enjoy his religion and his politics and his prophesying about how the election is going to go, in peace. There is a compulsion upon us to correct him and tell him what sort of a dunderhead he is. And before we know it, a pleasant friendship has been smashed into smithereens.

Same way about women. Only women are more careful about putting on the gloves before they tangle with their sisters, and if a woman wants to be elected president of a club or head of an altar guild, she keeps her opinion of Mrs. Jones' hats and the way she is bringing up her brats to herself. That is why women have a larger circle of friends than men have.

But the inability of people to disagree without making themselves disagreeable gets in its most deadly work in domestic life. It is of course, impossible that a husband and wife should realize the poet's ideal of two souls with but a single thought. They are bound to differ on a thousand issues, and the pity of it is that they can't talk things over without getting in a fight and calling names and digging up old grievances.

When a husband, in the heat of an argument, calls his wife a fool, and she sobs out that she doesn't know why she married him, it is the end of a happy marriage. Wounds have been given that never heal. An insult has been given that not a thousand kindnesses can wipe out.

The one cast-iron resolve that every husband and wife should make is to treat each other with kindness and tact and suavity, and to do even the disagreeable chores in domestic life without becoming disagreeable themselves.

For The Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may find themselves in a rather tight place, when quick decisions, with originality, innovations and keen analysis of existing circumstances, may find a happy solution to strange demands, by a flash of inspiration, when an emotional or spectacular impulse could exact serious penalties and substantial loss. Funds, friends, progress and peace of mind are involved, all being jeopardized by false contacts, sublety, or influence of designing associates. Shun queer persons.

A child born on this day while having a brilliant mentality, yet may be defeated and "used" by designing associates. Original and inventive, it may be easily duped.

Britons Told Old Duds or Rations Cut

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 20 (CP).—Britain's threadbare millions have been warned they may have to sacrifice new shirts to earn more dollars in Canada.

Chancellor Sir Stafford Cripps and Harold Wilson, Board of Trade president, tell the country that increased shabbiness is better than further food ration reductions.

Wilson told the Drapers' Chamber of Trade that if the Chamber has to choose between government earnings and maintaining a dollar ing ration, "then we ... the clothto reduce the ration." would have

Cripps backed him up with the budget statement:

"The whole economic situation of 1948 will be dominated by our difficulty in paying for the imports without which we can neither live nor produce."

He believed the whole country was becoming aware of the urgency of ... arriving at a balance of with ... payments, particularly E... the dollar countries.

To... earnings in Canada from cot..., wool and similar exports are ...sed to pay for food. Britain depends on the Dominion for four-fifths of her wheat, most of her bacon and large quantities of eggs, cheese and similar essential foods.

Campaign For Dollars

Wilson revealed:

1. The wool industry is being asked to export to Canada 75 per cent more this year than last.

2. Textiles, more than any industry, can make an important contribution towards closing the dollar gap with Canada."

Already, authorities had announced that Britain hopes to increase her cotton goods exports to Canada by 12½ times this year.

For five months, Oct. 1-Feb. 29, the British consumer was allowed 20 clothing coupons as his ration. A man's suit requires 26 coupons and a boy's 11 coupons. A woman must give 11 coupons for a wool dress and three coupons for full-fashioned stockings.

The ration for the six months starting March 1 was set at 24 coupons, but Wilson said the public should remember that much greater expansion in textile output is needed to reach export targets for the latter months of 1948.

"If it comes to a choice for the next ration period between dollars and the home ration, I must say that we shall have to reduce the ration rather htan lose dollar earnings.

"In short, a very great increase —much greater than is now in sight—in production is needed in a very short time indeed. The greater the increase, the less will be the inroads into supplies for the home market."

MUTED MINK PELERINE—The breath of Spring can be a fairly chill blast even during the sunny day; all Summer, one can feel a touch of the same breath after dark, especially dank when one is dressed in filmy evening dress. For such occasions, the muted mink pelerine, or palatine, however one might call it, is just the sartorial ticket. The bluish mink is pure white next to the skin, giving a particularly lavish effect, far handsomer than many other mink mutations. Longer in front than behind, in the way of pelerines and palatines, the wrap is dandy to sit in, and can be draped as shawl, cape, stole or wrapped as is, with the holding help of the jewelled clasp.

Aussie Fair Sex Smart At Chess, Patience Counts

SYDNEY, Australia, April 20 (CP)—Women are invading the chess world according to New South Wales champion Gregory Koshnitsky, who is teaching more women than men.

Koshnitsky taught thousands of men and women in the services to play during the war and he said recently that it was quite wrong to assume that chess is purely a man's game. Women exhibit the same qualities of mind that characterize a good male player, and their temperament is frequently superior.

Among his students are several women who rank with Sydney's leading "A" grade men players. Mrs. M. Gheysens, for example, reached the final of the last major open tourney, beating several first-class male opponents.

The reasons given by his women students for taking up chess are varied.

Said one: "The power of the queen as she fights for her man, surrounded by her retinue of knights, bishops and the rest, is fascinating to me. Whenever the king is in a tight spot, you'll generally find the queen nearby, protecting him—so romantic and exciting. For a business woman like me, chess is a marvellous relaxation."

Said another: "The beauty of the quaintly carved pieces, and the pageantry of their manoeuveres attracts me strongly. It is just like a stage play."

A bank girl has 10 pupils in her office: "It is a home game and so sociable—and no gambling. Chess is not confined to highbrow people as some think. All types of girls and women are playing now. Our minds may not be so mathematical and precise in their calculations as those of men. but we make up for that in our extra patience and intuition."

There are over 50 women players in the Metropolitan Chess Club and the manager is a woman.

Leads to Romance

Chess romances are by no means uncommon. Many marriages have resulted from chance meetings over the chess board, notably that of the Australian chess champion, Lajos Steiner, whose wife was Miss Edna Kingston, outstanding among women players in New South Wales.

Mrs. Mabel Davey, the present woman state champion, was asked by a doctor to teach a nervous male patient chess, with highly beneficial results to his health. Other students have taken up chess on medical advice to steady their nerves.

"Women rarely take a very deep interest in chess theory," says Mrs. Davey. It is just good entertainment and relaxation for most of us."

Faced with the prospect of becoming "chess widows," more and more prudent women are choosing to learn the game, and thus become "chess wives."

Incidentally, the familiar principle that husbands make poor tutors applies equally to chess.

Chess is making rapid progress among boys in New South Wales. Many boys' schools have clubs—but not a single girls' school.
